DESCRIPTION OF THE CROSSING OF THE ZAND

Roberts Tells of it in an Official Despatch and the Newspaper Correspondent Gives Give Descriptions--The Sussex and Lancashire Regiments Made a Gallant Charge.

Casualties Were Not Heavy--The Advance Continues all Along The Line and the Free Staters are Disheartened.

ROBERTS' REPORT OF THE CROSSING OF THE ZAND

London, May 11.—10.30 a. m.—Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office from Riet's Spruit under date of May 10—Evening—as follows: "We have had a successful day and have driven the enemy from point to point. French, with Porter's and Dickson's brigades of cavalry and Hutton's mounted infantry, crossed the Zand at Vermenten's Kraal, and then worked round in a northeasterly direction to Maatschaphy, being opposed continuously by the enemy. Pole-Carew's division and Gordon's cavalry brigade, augmented by "J" battery of the Royal Horse artillery, and by Henry's and Ross' mounted infantry, crossed the river by a drift near the railway bridge. With the infantry portion, we are eight miles north of the river. The cavalry and mounted infantry are at Ventersbery Road Station, and Tucker's division is at Deelfosteinnord. Ian Hamilton's force and Broadwood's cavalry brigade were making for the cross roads near Ventersberg, when I last heard from them. Hamilton's column met with stubborn resistance and Smith-Dorrien's Brigade was engaged for some hours in protecting the rear and flank of his force. The only casualties reported at present are: killed, rank and file, four; wounded, five. No returns yet received from the cavalry or Hamilton's force."

THE BOER LOSSES HEAVY

London, May 11.—The Daily Express in its second edition to-day publishes a despatch dated Riet Spruit, May 10,—Morning. Describing the crossing of the Zand River by the British, it says: "The rear guard of the Boers with their guns resisted the advance. The mounted infantry, two batteries and pompoms cleared the way and the Trird Cavalry Brigade acted as a screen before the main column. Gen. French was on the left and Gen. Hamilton on the right. The Boers had destroyed all the bridges during their retreat. It is impossible to ascertain the Boer losses but they are thought to be heavy. Those of the British considering the important advance made are considered light

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF THE CHARGE

London, May 11—A special despatch from Riet Spruit, dated May 10, describing more fully yesterday's successful operations, says: "Gen. Hamilton's scouts had on two previous days ascertained the Boers' position and strength. On Wednesday night the Cheshire regiment crossed the river, entrenched themselves and prepared to hold the passage for the regiments following them. At daybreak on Thursday, the main body crossed at two or three points. The mounted infantry were then in action driving off the advance Boers preparatory to a general forward movement. The Boer right first gave way, but Tucker and Hamilton had a tougher task on the left. The Boers had six guns and served them well, working with great determination but the British worked up closer and closer, their guns meantime firing incessantly. The East Lancashire and Sussex regiments by 11 o'clock had worked well to the front. The order was given and like a flash the two regiments sprang forward simultaneously and in a few moments had secured two commanding ridges. The advanced line was now within 1200 yards of the Boers' main trench, and the latter were already losing heart from the demonstration on their flank but they kept up a rapid though wild fire. At this moment the final charge was ordered and away went the Lancashires and the Sussex regiment again but the Boers could not stand and they fairly bolted and the route of the Boers along the whole line was then complete."

PRISONERS TAKEN

Riet Spruit, Thursday, May 10, Morning—The Boers opposed the British advance, holding positions north of Zand Drift bank along the whole line from Gen Hamilton on the east and General Hutton on the west. Chiefly artillery was engaged. The Sussex regiment charged a kopje at the point of the bayonet and the East Lancashire captured another. The British loss is insignificant. Gen. Hutton had a series of artillery duels, the Boers always retiring. Twenty Boers were taken prisoners. The advance continues. The Boers are fighting half heartedly. The Free Staters [illegible] sick of the war.

WEST ELGIN CROOKEDNESS.

One Man Swore He Was Honest and That He Had Conducted a Fair Poll—In No. 11 Subdivision, St. Thomas, There Was Personation—The Culprit Not Discovered—Some Funny Introductions.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 11. — The continuance of the West Elgin Investigation Commission yesterday afternoon brought forth nothing but repetitions and tiresome immaterial details. The two principal witnesses examined were J. T. Pritchett and Tommy Lewis, the latter flatly contradicting every statement made by Pritchett. The latter's wife has been subpoenaed and also his brother-in-law, Thomas Hastings of London. Witnesses for the St. Thomas polling subdivisions were examined up till noon, and nothing worth recording was elicited from any of the testimony offered.

Swore He Was Straight.

At the afternoon session Edward Croden of London, who acted as deputy in No. 7, St. Thomas, swore that he conducted a fair poll. He was introduced to the sheriff by Dan McIntyre, a nephew of McNish's, as a resident of the city of St. Thomas, giving his occupation as a lumberman.

Stranger Voted for Montgomery.

No. 11, St. Thomas, was investigated during the afternoon. It was discovered that a stranger impersonated A. B. Montgomery, a former resident of this town, and was introduced to the sheriff as Montgomery by Dr. Donahue, V.S., of St. Thomas. The latter told a story to the effect that he was asked by Cahill to take him to the sheriff's office. In No. 4, St. Thomas, a stranger also acted in the capacity of D. R. O. He received his appointment by being introduced to Sheriff Brown as Christopher Stratford of St. [illegible]. Mr. Stratford was not in the city that day, and did not act. The name of the imposter is not known.

RELIEF FUND IS $750,141.

The Indications Are That the Eddy Company Will Rebuild.

Ottawa, May 11. — The Bank of Ottawa reported over four hundred thousand dollars in the vaults yesterday morning, and the funds were coming in by every mail to the Relief Committee.

In the bank, acknowledgements yesterday were six subscriptions from different places in New York State, $1,000 from the Legislative Assembly of the N. W. T., $4,500 from the Archbishop of Montreal, and smaller amounts from the Archbishops of Quebec and Toronto and the bishops of Pembroke, Springfield, N.Y., Pogia, N.Y., and Valleyfield.

The official statement of the fund yesterday showed that it amounted to $750,141.77.

Eddy Company Will Rebuild.

The indications are that the E. B. Eddy Company will rebuild their works. This is borne out by the action of Mr. Eddy in awarding Holbrook & Sutherland a contract to erect a new machine shop, which will be located on the site of the old drying kiln. The new building will be 180 x 80 feet, two storeys high, of brick and with a tar and gravel roof. It is thought that the new machine shop is wanted to place the large quantities of valuable machinery damaged by the fire into shape for use, and it is thought by some that a short time will see the award of further contracts for the erection of more of Mr. Eddy's buildings, and that he wouldn't need the present shops if he did not intend rebuilding.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at J. Adams and Sculpture.

President John Quincy Adams once asserted that he would not give 50 cents for all the works of Phidias and Praxiteles, adding, "I hope America will not think of sculpture for two centuries to come."

When some one quoted this to William Morris Hunt, he asked dryly, "Does that sum of money really represent Mr. Adams' estimate of the sculpture of these artists or the value which he places upon 50 cents?"

A Diplomatic Poet.

An eastern poet has penned some rhymes that show he is a born diplomat. Here is a sample verse:

And the goldenrod droops down its head
In sullenness of despair,
For its splendor that flamed in [illegible] and shamed
By the gold of Evadne's hair!

If that isn't a neat and unobjectionable way of calling a girl redheaded, we don't know what is.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Beginning of ....Heart Failure

Persons subject to thin blood and nervous exhaustion may well tremble at the mention of heart failure, as they have in their system the beginnings which lead to weakness of the heart.

The vitality of the heart is amazing considering the immense amount of work it does, and so long as it is supplied with plenty of rich, red blood it plods on unfailingly, rebuilding its waste as the blood passes through.

Once the blood gets thin and the nerves starved and exhausted the waste gradually becomes more rapid than the restoring process and finally some nervous shock or over-exertion causes the beating to cease and life departs.

Headaches, pains in the back and limbs, sleeplessness, weakness and irregularities of the feminine organs, palpitation of the heart and nervous disorders are sure indications of thin, weak blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food forms new red corpuscles in the blood, puts vital energy into the nerves, and stops the wasting process that would ultimately end in heart failure, nervous prostration or paralysis.

It is the world's greatest restorative for men, women and children. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Book free. 6

LETTERS FROM THE WAR.

Dear Anna,—The last mail brought me yours of Feb. 14; also R. J. M's and Ella's, of 12, and some papers. One of them, the Orillia Packet. I never expected to see myself in print, and I assure you my letters were not written with that in mind. In the limited number of private letters published in the papers which have come to my notice I have seen a good deal of—well, fiction. The last English papers inform us of our movements since leaving Graspan so you see although I am on the ground, you know what is going on better than I do.

You will know by this time I will not be back within the six months, nor do I want to leave S. A., till the back of this business is broken. I think Bobs is now able to say "Now Jew (bert), I have thee on the hip." I hope not to exceed the term very much. We have been issued pretty nearly full rations, and I have been eating about a pound of bread daily extra. The consequence is I have regained what flesh I lost on the march here. I am in good run save one veldt (pronounced felt) sore on one hand and a couple on the other and they are felt some too. Except when it rains the weather is lovely, balmy north winds during the day, and rather too cool at night. The health of the R. C. R. is not as good as one would like. Considerable fever and veldt sores. I think it must be the re-action after the work from Graspan to Bloemfontein. The Dr. says if you have the sores, you are not liable to have the fever. There was quite a movement of troops towards Pretoria yesterday and day before. From all the evidence at hand I don't think we will be in that move, but if we are, my feet are good and boots not bad, so I will be able to get along with the rag tag and bob tail of the Regt. at least.

The Army Christian Association have three tents here. I visited one on Sunday night. Mr. Black, of Belfast, a typical Irishman spoke. He was very interesting. I felt like asking him if he knew John McCrea, of Newry. About 50 per cent. of the letters I get are marked "Too Late." Lying full length with an oil cloth sheet and newspaper for a desk, is not a very comfortable position for writing.

March 30.—The R. C. R. was photoed this a.m. In illustration note me with bandaged hands, bewteen Maxim and first shelter. Joubert is dead again. Will write Bob soon. It is pretty warm today.

JOHN.

ANOTHER LETTER.

In another letter Sergt. McCrea says: —One hand is better, the other improving. Our Regt. has been out twice since I wrote. Boers gave the British the slip both times. I had a lot to write but my right hand is not quite well yet. It rained from all quarters yesterday. Our tents, blankets, rubber sheets and clothing arrived from Belmont yesterday all very welcome.

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wrestling the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. Nerviline, or nerve pain cure, represents in very concentrated form the most potent pain relieving substitutes known to medical science, and strange to say, it is composed of substances solely vegetable in origin. Poison's Nerviline is the most prompt, certain, and pleasant pain remedy in the world. Sold in 10 and 25 cent by Ormond & Walsh, and all dealers in medicines.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

Rev. Mr Fusse Invited to the Warsaw Circuit for a Third Year.

The following resolution was unanimously passed at the last meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Warsaw Circuit:—

"At this the last meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Warsaw Circuit for the Conference year, we the members of the Board, desire to place on record our hearty appreciation of the services of our pastor, the Rev. C. H. Fusse.

"The second year of his pastorate with us is now about closed, and the reports from all the appointments on the circuit are most encouraging. He has preached the Word with great acceptance—felt deeply the good news which he had to proclaim and under the guidance of the Spirit he has been enabled so to speak that sinners have been brought to a knowledge of the truth, ignorant have been instructed, backsliders reclaimed, mourners comforted, perplexed guided, and the people built up on their most holy faith. We unite in extending to him a cordial invitation to return for a third year and trust the Conference in its wisdom may so dispose."

Dr. Coach was elected delegate to Conference which will be at Port Hope first week in June.

—A branch of the [illegible] Association was organized in [illegible] on Sunday night.

HOT POLITICS IN P. E. ISLAND.

Government Had a Majority of One After a Lively Discussion.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 11.—The House met at noon yesterday, with closed doors, while reading the journals. The journals read that Wise had been removed from the House and placed behind the bars. The Opposition charged that this was untrue, that, in fact, Wise was removed and imprisoned in the Speaker's room, and moved that the journals be amended. A hot and violent discussion took place, ending with the motion being lost by a vote of 14 to 13, Pineau voting with the Government. The Speaker had several times to give rulings. Committees were then appointed.

The afternoon session was also very violent, arising out of a motion of the Premier to appoint two more doorkeepers to preserve order, alleging that they were necessary owing to the tactics of the Opposition. Most of the afternoon was spent on this motion, during the course of which Mr. McWilliams charged that the Conservatives had set Wise drunk. He was compelled to withdraw the statement, stating that he did not wish to charge any member of the Opposition. The Speaker had to again rule on many questions. The Premier threatened that he would back the Speaker up in placing the Opposition members in jail if they did not desist from their course. The members of the Opposition laughed at the threat, and Mr. Shaw humorously replied to him. The Premier's motion was carried by 14 to 12, Mr. Pineau again voting with the Government.

A GOOD COMPLEXION

Depends on Good Digestion.

This is almost an axiom although usually we are apt to think that cosmetics, face powders, lotions, fancy soaps, etc., are the secrets for securing a clear complexion. But all these are simply superficial assistants.

It is impossible to have a good complexion unless the digestive organs perform their work properly, unless the stomach by properly digesting the food taken into it furnishes an abundance of pure blood, a good complexion is impossible.

This is the reason so many ladies are using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they promptly cure any stomach trouble and they have found out that perfect digestion means a perfect complexion and one that does not require cosmetics and powders to enhance its beauty.

Many ladies diet themselves or deny themselves many articles of food solely in order to keep their complexion clear. When Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets are used no such dieting is necessary, take these tablets and eat all the good wholesome food you want and you need have no fear of indigestion nor the sallow, dull complexion which nine women out of ten have, solely because they are suffering from such form of indigestion.

Bear in mind that beauty proceeds from good health, good health results from perfect digestion and we have advanced the best argument to induce every man and woman to give this splendid remedy a trial.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found in drug stores and costs but 50 cents per package.

If there is any derangement of the stomach or bowels they will remove it and the resultant effects are good digestion, good health, and a clear, bright complexion.

Another Success of Weyman's.

A new book by Stanley J. Weyman is always welcome, for the fortunate reader is sure of something of interest. His latest book is entitled "Sophia." Following up the success which he attained in "The Castle Inn," Mr. Stanley J. Weyman has laid the scene of his new romance, "Sophia," in the England of George II. This is a novel of character as well as of plot. Sophia, a rich prize in the matrimonial market, is beset by intriguing suitors and harassed by scheming relatives, but, in spite of all, discovers the man of her choice where she least expected to find him, and grows under our very eyes from a sentimental girl into a woman of ready wit and noble nature. It always increases the interest felt in a book if there is something in it to provoke discussion. As with Sophia; her right to the heroineship has been questioned, some critics asserting that Mr. Weyman erred in not calling the novel in honor of Lady Betty, whom they believe to be the more deserving character. We advise you to read this most interesting story and decide for yourself. Issued from the presses of the Copp Clark Co., Toronto, and for sale by all booksellers.

Rev. Charles Phillimore Suicides.

Port Dalhousie, Ont., May 11. — Rev. Charles Phillimore, son of ex-Reeve Phillimore of this place, committed suicide in his father's barn at 5 o'clock last evening by taking carbolic acid. He made a previous attempt on his life a few months ago by cutting his throat, but was frustrated. The family missing him at tea made a search for him and found him in the barn just gasping for breath. The family have the sympathy of the whole village in their affliction.

COST OF THE CONTINGENTS

Dr. Borden Gives Transportation and Provisioning Terms.

Messrs. McMullen and Charlton Indignant Over the Canadian Exhibit in Paris Being Opened on Sundays—Canal Attendance on Sunday—The U.S. Alien Labor Law—What Seed Grain Indebtedness Bill Aims to Do—Many Topics.

Ottawa, May 11. — Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, has returned from Boston, and in answer to Mr. Clarke, said the Allan Line and the Elder-Dempster Line transported the Canadian contingents. The terms of transportation and provisioning for the first contingent were £35 for every officer and £30 every non-commissioned officer and £22 every private and horse.

The terms for the second contingent were 20 shillings per ton per month for transportation and provisioning.

The steamship owners furnished the first contingent with provisions. They gave provisions to the second contingent also, but the Goverment repaid all charges accrued in this manner.

When the Prince of Wales' Rifles and 6th Fusiliers were fused into the 1st Prince of Wales' Fusiliers, the officers of the old regiments were given by the Government an amount equal to two-thirds of the value of a new uniform. When the 2nd Batt. 5th B.C. R.C.A. was changed into the 6th Batt. of Rifles, each officer got $28.90.

Canals on Sunday.

Mr. Blair was asked: Is there any regulation in force which obliges lockmasters to attend on the Lachine Canal for Sunday work? He replied that it was entirely optional.

This motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's was carried:

That from this date to the end of the session, Government orders have precedence on Mondays, after private bills and questions to be put by members.

Paris Fair on Sunday.

Mr. Charlton wanted to know: (1) What was the character of the protests lodged with the Imperial Government by the Canadian Government against the keeping open of the Canadian exhibits at the Paris Exposition on Sundays? (2) Why were these protests ineffectual? (3) How was it that the United States could close her exhibits on Sunday? (4) Why was not the same law applied alike to Canada and the United States?

Mr. Fisher, in reply, said that the Government had pressed its desire to have Canadian exhibits closed on Sundays. Mr. Tarte had written that he had failed to obtain this desire and that all other exhibits would be open on Sundays. Mr. Fisher believed that the United States exhibits would be open on Sundays.

Mr. McMullen said he would prefer to withdraw from the Exposition rather than to desecrate the Lord's day. There the incident was left.

The U. S. Alien Law Working.

Mr. Taylor called the attention of the Government to the fact that a Canadian workman named White living in Ogdensburg had been told recently to get out of the country or suffer arrest. He got out. Mr. Taylor thought this was a violation of the alien labor law.

Sir Wilfrid thought it was not a violation of the alien labor law, yet if White had been deprived of his position, it was an abuse of the American law. This was the second instance that had of late been brought to his notice. In the first instance investigation proved there was no violation. He promised Mr. Taylor that the matter would form the subject of diplomatic communications to the United States Government, pointing out that under color of the alien labor law officials were going beyond and altogether outside of the law.

Seed Grain, Indebtedness.

From 4.30 to 6 o'clock the House was in committee on Mr. Sutherland's bill to amend the act respecting securities for seed grain indebtedness in the N.W.T.

The bill aims to remove the liability of bondsmen who went surety to repay seed grain furnished by the Crown. Mr. Davin wanted all seed indebtedness removed. The conclusion of it all was that the bill passed committee, and Sir Wilfrid said he would confer with Mr. Davin concerning his desires prior to its third reading.

The House arose at 6.

The Pilotage Bill.

The evening session was devoted to a discussion of Sir Louis Davies' bill to amend the Pilotage Act, looking to the creation of a Pilotage Court at Montreal. The bill was opposed and discussed by the Opposition, almost to a man. Its scope affected Montreal and Quebec. The bill was reported, and the committee asked leave to sit again.

The Political Farm.

The next bill taken up was one of Mr. Fisher's relating to the Experimental Farm Station. The officers and the laborers will, according to it, be appointed henceforth by Order-in-Council solely. The bill was read a second time, and passed.

A bill respecting the incorporation of live-stock associations was read a second time, and passed.

The Admiralty Courts.

The bill to amend the Admiralty Act of 1890 was read. The object of the bill is to give the Governor-in-Council power to divide districts into subdivisions. It was read a second time.

To Keeps Tabs on the Packers.

Mr. Fisher's bill to provide for the marking and inspection of packages of apples and pears for export passed the committee after a second reading. All closed packages must be marked with name and address of packer, size, grade and quality of fruit. A packer who puts in fruit not up to the grade marked will suffer a penalty, and be liable for prosecution, and his fruit liable to confiscation.

Mr. Pattee wanted the provisions of the Act to apply to goods shipped to the west. Last year the dishonesty of the packer was sadly in evidence when apple packages were opened.

Major Guillet said that the packers from his constituency were opposed to the bill, because they thought inspection would injure the trade. It would be impracticable.

Mr. Clarke declared that the shippers of Totonto were opposed to the bill, considering it impracticable.

Mr. Fisher agreed to have the bill discussed at a later stage.

The House adjourned at 12.30.

THE SENATORS AT WORK.

Patterson Divorce Bill Voted Through in Spite of Objections.

Ottawa, May 11. — In regard to the Patterson divorce bill, Hon. Mr. McMillan in the Senate yesterday moved the six months' hoist, because the evidence showed perjury or collusion.

Hon. David Mills seconded this.

But the motion was lost on a division.

The bill was read a third time and passed.

Hon. Mr. Watson moved the second reading of the bill to extend the time for the construction of the Red Deer Valley Railway and Coal Co.

Hon. Mr. Lougheed read a resolution from Calgary opposing the bill.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell opposed the sending of the bill to the Railway Committee, because it was time to stop giving paper charters to more chartermongers.

Hon. Mr. Mills said that he understood that the charter was in the hands of men who would go on, and thought the promoters should be heard. The bill was allowed to go to the committee on this understanding.

The Ontario Power Co. of Niagara Falls bill was similarly objected to hy Sir Mackenzie Bowell, but was allowed to go to committee.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Cyclists Holds Up Another and Pounds Him Into Unrecognizable Shape.

Toronto Junction, May 11. — A brutal assault occurred about 11 o'clock last night, near Lambton Mills, in which a young man named Queen, who lives on Edmund street, Toronto Junction, was so pounded as to be unrecognizable. Queen went out to Lambton on his wheel with three other young men, and had a quarrel with one of them. His assailant and another youth started from Lambton first, but turned back after the other youth had passed him on the road, and unknown to those who had gone on ahead, he went back to meet Queen, whom he met near the Belt Line Railway and pounded him for about 10 minutes in the face. When Dr. Tremayne arrived, Queen was motionless, his eyes bulged out, his nose was so flattened as to be undiscenable, and his head was twice its natural size.

When winter comes the vital forces of nature are low, and the tree stands like a solitary monument to the dead summer. In the winter of life, active men experience a similar lowerring of vitality. In some the effect is startling. They loose their grip on life. They seem like monuments of a buried past. At this crisis there is need of a medicine which will nourish and build up the body, and increase its vital power. Such a medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches the blood, purifies it, carries off the clogging waste of the system, increases the nutrition of the body, and produces a sound, healthy condition with abundant vital power and physical energy.

David [illegible], Esq., of [illegible], Ohio Co., Ky., writes: "When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I thought I had nervous or general debility of three years standing. I took three bottles of the 'Discovery,' during the time I was taking it my sleep was refreshing and I gained fifteen pounds in weight and also gained strength every day. It has been six months since I took the medicine and I have reasonable health. I am willing to have you publish this, and also my former letter, if you wish to, and if it proves to be of benefit to any afflicted person I will feel well repaid."

There is no alcohol or other intoxicant in "Golden Medical Discovery," neither opium or other narcotic drugs.

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is seeking to profit himself, not to help you. Insist on having "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free, on receipt of stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for edition in paper cover, or 31 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Peterborough Markets

Friday, May 11.

This has been another dull week on the market very little produce of any kind came in. Farmers are all busy but expect to be through with their rush this week. Next week's market should be a fair one. The following prices ruled for the week:—

Wheat—There were a few loads offered and sold readily at last week's quotations, 63 to 64 cents.

Oats—As intimated to the farmers in last week's report there was a good demand for oats and quite a few loads came in. There is a ready market for more, prices 30 to 31 cents.

Peas—There were a few loads of peas in this week, and prices were firm. Small peas selling at 63 to 65 cents, and Canadian Beauties at 75 to 78 cents.

Rye—A few loads of rye came on the market and sold readily at 50 cents.

Barley—The buyers were inquiring for barley but only two loads were on the market this week. Quotations about 45 cents.

Butter—There was a good supply of butter on the market and prices remained the same as last week. It is particularly requested that pound rolls be well up to weight. Quotations 15 to 18 cents.

Cheese—Several loads of April cheese were marketed this week being sold to Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald for Hodgson Bros., of Montreal. The prices realized were better than March, 10 1-4. The factories which weighed on the market were Central Smith, Trewern, Shearer and Lang.

Hay—There were nearly 50 loads offered this week and sold from $7.50 to $8.50, but the average load sold for $8.00. There was very little clover hay in and some inquiries were made for small loads.

Straw—A number of farmers have asked as to the chance of marketing straw. There have been few inquiries for it this week but no doubt the livery men want it. Prices $2.00 to $3.00.

Hides—There was very little change in prices this week with the exception of deakin skins which were a little firmer.

LIVE STOCK.

The live stock market this week has been fairly active, quite a few cattle coming in as well as a large quantity of hogs. Prices all round seem to be very much firmer. There seems to be no appearance of a change in the hog market although a decline in the price was looked for.

Mr. McPartland, of New York, shipped several car loads of yearling calves to American points. He has been paying $3.25 to $3.40 per hundred for good colored steer calves and $2.25 to $2.40 for heifer calves. The American market in this respect seems to be firmer.

Mr. J. Douglas, of Cavan, brought in five very fine steers and cows which he sold to Messrs. Letellier & Grady at $4.25 per hundred. There were two very fine export steers which weighed 2,580.

Mr. John Mervin bought a fine steer and a bull from Mr. Geo. Russel at 4 cents per pound.

The hog market on Wednesday was a very large one and the quality of hogs brought in were much better than what has been brought in heretofore. Mr. R. Stewart bought his usual quota and Stabler Bros. had a very large drove. The prices paid were in the neighborhood of $6.00 per hundred for select hogs.

Light hogs were only worth 5c, and thick fats sold at $5.25 to $5.50. All these hogs were weighed on the market and the drovers and sellers were generally satisfied with the weighing done by the Market Clerk.

The town are assisting the new Market Clerk in every way in order to have every thing handy for the farmers. A new set of platform scales will be installed shortly and the pens will be enlarged in order to accommodate the increased number of cattle and hogs.

Farmers having heavy finished steers would do well to leave their names with the Market Clerk at the first opportunity as it will assist him in giving information to the buyers who are looking for such stock.

Mr. Wm. Stabler will be on the market every Wednesday and Saturday for the purpose of buying hogs, cattle and sheep. The highest market prices will be paid by him. His two sons, Nate and Fred, are assisting him and will be calling on the different sections during the next few weeks. These gentlemen will ship regularly to Toronto in the future.

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

Toronto Section Canadian Press Association Wants Paper Duty Suspended and Postage Tax Removed.

Toronto, May 11. — An emergency meeting of the Toronto section of the Canadian Press Association was held yesterday and the following resolutions were passed unanimously:

"Resolved, That in view of the unfairness of the zone system in the present law and of the great rise in the price of paper we appeal to the Postmaster-General to recommend the Government to remove the postage from newspapers and periodicals."

"Resolved, in view of the great rise in paper prices, and in view of the scarcity of paper, resulting from the destruction of some mills, the Government be asked to request Parliament to pass an act empowering the Governor-in-Council to temporarily suspend or reduce the duty on news and printing paper under such conditions as may be deemed advisable."

Messrs. W. J. Douglas of The Mail and Empire; J. A. Cooper of The Canadian Magazine, and D. T. McAinsh were appointed a deputation to wait on the Government at Ottawa and press for action on the lines of the resolutions.

Justice Forbes, in the Supreme Court at Ithaca, N.Y., on Thursday, sentenced Charles Ingersoll, the defaulting treasurer of Tompkins County, to four years and six months' imprisonment at Auburn, and to pay a fine of $6,000.

PRITCHETT TOLD HIS TALE.

Slipped 18 or 20 Votes From Conservative to Liberal Candidate.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 10. — A number of witnesses were examined yesterday before the West Elgin Commissioners, to inquire into the election frauds committed in January, 1899. J. C. Pritchett, of London, who acted as deputy at No. 6 division, Southwold, testified that he slipped 18 or 20 votes from the Conservative to the Liberal candidate. He alleged that he was paid money by John O'Gorman of Toronto, to leave Canada, in order to avoid arrest. He was promised $100 a month, and as soon as he failed to receive it, he made affidavit, giving away the frauds committed, on condition that the warrant for his apprehension was withdrawn. This was agreed to, and he made the disclosures. Con. O'Gorman of London denied the allegation made in Pritchett's affidavits, and said he did not see him in St. Thomas at the time of the election. Pritchett will be further examined to-day.

KILLED BY HIS SON.

Toronto, May 11. — Mr. Peter McIntyre, freight agent of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, was shot down by his 13-year-old son, Arthur, in his office on the wharf at the foot of Yonge street yesterday morning. The deed was committed at exactly 10.25, and was witnessed by no one excepting the young lad. Mr. McIntyre went to his office yesterday morning about 8 o'clock, and was accompanied by his son. Arthur was sent to change a $10 bill, and when he returned he entered his father's office and closed the door behind him. Arthur had only been in the room a few minutes when Daniel McCaig, customs officer; Edward Calligan of the Hamilton Steamboat Company, and Edward Niven and Clarence E. Watson, two clerks, who were in the building, heard a pistol shot.

Thinking that the shot was fired outside the building they all ran out onto the wharf, but immediately returned. As Mr. Niven was about to enter Mr. McIntyre's office, the deceased opened the door himself and fell to the floor across the doorway between the two rooms. The son was standing beside his father, and in a hysterical manner exclaimed that he had killed him. The revolver was found lying on the floor, where it had been dropped by the frightened boy.

Dr. Edmund E. King, who was summoned, was soon on the scene, but his services were of no avail. He said that death had resulted instantly. The police were communicated with, and Detective Forrest and Verney, Sergeant Hales and P. C. William Patterson hurried to the office.

To the officers Arthur said that he had taken the revolver from his father's trunk in the morning and brought it to the office with him. He had asked his father for permission to visit an uncle in St. Catharines, and because he refused, he pointed the weapon at him. He did not mean to shoot, he says, but it exploded accidentally.

Arthur was walked to No. 1 police station, where a charge of murder was preferred against him. He was arraigned before Magistrate Kingsford and remanded for a week. At the coroner's inquest last night the boy maintained that the shooting was without intent and accidental.

The Queen in London.

London, May 11. — The Queen arrived in London at noon yesterday. She will spend three days here and attend to-day's drawing room. Her Majesty appeared to be in excellent health, and evinced keen pleasure at the warmth of the popular greeting which she received along the route to Buckingham Palace.

Mrs. Mooney Goes Free.

Quebec, May 10. — The case of Mrs. Mooney, accused of murdering her husband, was put in the hands of the jury fifteen minutes before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at half-past 5 they came back in court with a verdict of "Not guilty."

On the 27th day of October last, Thomas Adams Mooney, her husband, was found killed in the woods of Lake Beauport, and after the coroner's investigation she was arrested on the suspicion of having solicited and incited David Dube to kill her husband. The evident prejudice of Dube during her trial saved the accused, and the jury gave her the benefit of the doubt.

Vitalist Charged With Manslaughter.

Ailsa Craig, Ont., May 10. — Victor B. Hall, describing himself as Vitalist of Philadelphia, was brought up before Police Magistrate Smith of Ailsa Craig yesterday on two charges; viz., practising medicine without a license, and for manslaughter in causing the death of Mrs. William Charlton of East Williams, who was suffering from typhoid fever. He was remanded to the County Jail for five days for further evidence.

22 Were Drowned.

Melbourne, May 10. — The British ship Sierra Nevada, Capt. Scott, from Liverpool, Jan. 16, for this port, was totally wrecked outside the Heads. Five of her crew were saved, but it is believed that 22 others, including the captain, perished.

The Plague is Declining.

Simla, May 10. — The bubonic plague is generally showing a material decline throughout India.

One in Seven Dies ...of Consumption

And Consumption Begins with a Cold that Could Be Cured by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

That one in every seven persons dies of consumption is proven by government statistics, and when it is remembered that it is usually the young men and young women who succumb to the effects of this terribly fatal disease, the ravages of consumption are more fully realized.

Consumption always begins with a neglected cold—and how dreadful must be the [illegible] mother whose dear ones fall [illegible] as a result of mother's [illegible] cold.

[illegible] that consumption is ever cured, but it can always be prevented by a timely use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the most popular and far-famed remedy for throat and lung diseases.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is composed of the best ingredients ever used for coughs and colds. It is pleasant to take, prompt in its action, and a positive cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, sore throat, hoarseness, asthma and coughs and colds of every description.

AN ENJOYABLE "AT HOME"

Peterborough Degree Team Score a Great Success.

The "At Home" given in Oddfellows hall last evening by the degree team of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F., was a most enjoyable affair. Arrangements had been made to afford all who came an evening of enjoyment, and the efforts made in such good taste and with excellent judgment were most successful. All pronounced the evening a great and delightful success.

An excellent programme was first rendered. During the rendition of this, Mr. M. W. Matchett occupied the chair, and in a short and timely addressed in opening made reference to the history of the Order and extended a cordial welcome to all the guests present. The programme included the following:—A brilliant instrumental duet by the Misses Hurley; a vocal quartette by Misses F. Hall and M. Stevens and Messrs. W. Squires and F. Skitch, which was an excellent number enthusiastically received a clever whistling solo by Mr. E. Hall; two readings in his own inimitable style by Mr. C. N. Brown, the first being "Paddy Slocum's Bugle" and second "The Irish schoolmaster"; an instrumental trio by Misses Wynnie Dobbin and J. Morrow, and Mr. L. Best, a rendition which being capitally given was warmly received and an encore demanded; a vocal duet "Music and Song," by the Misses Parnell; a cleverly given recitation "Bobs," by Miss Aggie Patterson, who was forced to respond to an encore, giving "Kitty of Coiraine," a second vocal number by the quartette, Misses Stevens and Hall and Messrs. Squires and Skitch; a comic song by Mr. J. G. Scott, who was a favorite, who was recalled twice. The accompanists during the evening were Miss Stephens, Miss Hurley, Miss Dawson, and Miss Hall.

After the formal programme the rooms were thrown open and refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed by all present. Misses Hurley supplied music during the evening for dancing.

Scottish Humor.

It will pay to drop all work on Monday night for everybody is going to hear Rev. A. Logan Geggie's address of "Scottish Humor," in St. Andrew's church, May 14th. An excellent musical programme will be given. Free-will offering for Foreign Missions. 2d

HOW PEOPLE COVER UP THEIR SINS

REV. MR. GEIL OPENS HIS REVIVAL AT MURRAY-ST. CHURCH

A Strong Address on the Falsehoods and Deceits by Which Sins are Hidden—A Large Congregation Hears an Address Marked by Some Unusual Features.

The evangelistic services to be held by St. Paul's and the Murray-st Baptist churches opened last evening at Murray-st church and will continue for the next ten days. The church was fairly well filled.

After prayer and music Rev. Mr. Bastow expressed the confidence that the coming of Rev. Mr. Geil to town will be a great blessing. He hoped that all would take full advantage.

The evangelist, Rev. Mr. Geil, is a young man, a tall, robust, dark man, clean shaven, thoroughly American in appearance. He says that his methods are very conservative. His method of expressing himself is sometimes very original, his language being picturesque and unhampered by any conventionalities. This is especially noticeable in his denunciation. In exhortation he is strong and powerful.

Mr. Geil stated that he felt proud to be on the platform with Rev. Mr. Bastow, who is held in high esteem in the speaker's country. It was his first time to speak in Canada but he was prejudiced in our favor. He would reserve any criticism of the people until he had seen more of them and he hoped he would be treated in the same way. "I am sure" said he, "that many of you will not like the preaching to-night. So get ready for it."

They got ready and he started by quoting the 28th chapter of Proverbs and 13th verse, "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper, but who so confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." There are six coverings for sin. Some folks cover their own sins with the sins of other people. Two people went into the temple. One cried "I," "I" five times. He struck everybody but himself. The other cried "Lord be merciful to me a sinner." That man went home justified. The Pharisee covered his sins with the sins of other people. We thank the Lord we are not as others, we look at the sins of others, we measure ourselves with a crooked measure to make our crookedness seem straight.

Some folks cover their sins with gold and merchandise.

There are others who cover their sins with pleasures, go out and have a merry time by night when there are thousands of men, women and children perishing.

There are others who cover their sins under unanswered prayer. That is the darkest, densest, most impenetrable blanket that is ever flung over sin.

There are other people who cover their sins with gifts to the church. Christ said "If ye love Me keep My Commandments." But they buy off the Lord with a grant of $500.

The last class cover their sins with excuses. A revised way of spelling "excuse" very much in use in church work, is "l-i-e." People will give excuses and we preachers and evangelists must be soft-soaping people and bowing to them. The speaker told a story of the excuses of two deacons which he called "bald-headed, long-whiskered lies." Excuses are lies with a button hole bouquet of a few flowers.

"He that covereth his sin shall not prosper." God has said it. It holds good this solemn and momentous hour.

Rev. Mr. Geil then took a few examples from the Bible. The first was the man in the camp of Joshua who had hidden the gold beneath the soil in his tent. When it was discovered the army of God went to victory. I say it most solemnly that we are responsible for the reputation of the Lord Jesus Christ. I would like to know if the Lord Jesus Christ has the reputation of being able to save a thousand people a day? If he has not who is to blame?

Mr. Geil went on:—Then there was the case of Jonah. The Lord commanded him north-east. He went south-west. He went down into the side of the ship and paid his fare. Probably he snored. I was at a prayer meeting one night and heard a snore. I caught it. It was labelled "prayer." It was not prayer; it was snore. They who go north-east pray; those who go south-west snore. Jonah kept on sleeping despite the threatened destruction. What did he care? He had paid his fare? The ship is going to pieces, the heathens are praying to their idols, said the shipmaster. But Jonah had paid his fare and did not care. Men pay their pew rent. They have their ticket. They want no revival. To hell with the church! But Jonah's foolery passed away and he was willing to be a sacrifice. That is the difference between a live church member and a dead one. We have now Jonah out of the ship and in the whale and if ever a big fish felt queer and wiggled his tail and waved his fins this one did. He headed for shore and made a little noise "Ech!" and Jonah was cast up. Never mind this description. You do not study your Bibles enough. If you would drop some of your Phariseeisms it would be better. As soon as Jonah was on shore he began to preach the most wonderful preaching ever heard and it is said changed 600,000 people. He went north-east and saved the city. If this city is to be saved you must go north-east, go the way God orders.

I ask you, my friends, what about sin? "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper but who so confesseth and forsaketh sin shall have mercy." May we all not only confess sin but forsake it and travel straight towards the Lord. May God bless you.

The music of the evening was supplied by members of the Murray-st and St. Paul's choirs.

AT A GREAT AGE

Mr. Patrick Young, of Young's Point, Passes Quietly Away.

The death of one of the oldest and best known citizens of the county took place this morning, when Mr. Patrick Young, of Young's Point, past away at the advanced age of ninty-four years. He was the oldest of the brothers of the Young family, who came out with their parents at the time of the Peter Robinson emigration in 1825, and was the last to survive, a brother, Matthew, having died, April 21st last.

Patrick Young was well known to many of the citizens of the county during his long life. He had a large family and a number of his children are living. He has many grandchildren. His wife predeceased him some years ago.

THE CELEBRATION WILL BE A BIG ONE

PETERBOROUGH WILL HAVE A FIELD DAY ON THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

The Committees are at Work in Earnest and the Programme as Arranged Roughly Promises a Good Day—Committees Struck and Work Taken in Hand.

Following on the intimation that the Finance Committee of the Council had given the liberal grant of $300.00 for purposes of the celebration on the Queen's birthday, the general committee of the celebration met at the officers' quarters of the battalion at the drill shed last night. It was a proper meeting. The rooms were filled with an interested crowd of good men all ready to be helpful and do the best they could to push the thing along. It was the best meeting of the kind held in years, and showed that the spirit of loyalty and desire to make a banner record on the last 24th of May of the nineteenth century had not been underestimated. Major Miller occupied the chair, and in the absence of Capt. Bennett, who had been appointed secretary, the office was temporally filled.

A discussion of the programme in the light of the $300 grant was held and the sums to be allowed the different features of the day were estimated. It was decided that to carry out the day in right royal style that something more would be needed, and Messrs. R. Fair and Alex. Gibson cheerfully volunteered to see that additional funds would be forthcoming. This offer relieved the situation and the meeting fell to work and selected committees as follows:—

Cycle Parade.—Messrs. E. E. Lord, J. A. McLeod, Thos. Barrie, F. McPherson, A. L. Talbot, F. Davidson and Alf. Terrell.

Sports and Games.—A. H. Stratton, Lieut. Walker, Capt. Hayes, Q. M.-Sgt. Layfield, Lieut McPherson, E. G. Patterson, Capt. Clegg, Lieut. McWilliams, G. W. Tovey, Sgt. Vaugh, Sgt. Sharpe, C. B. Robertson.

Cooks' Parade.—The non-com officers of the battalion.

Evening Concert.—Bandmaster Gliddon.

The duties of the several committees were assigned and at an early meeting reports will be made of the progress of the work.

As outlined the day will include the following features:—

Grand military parade of the 57th battalion and local squadron of Prince of Wales Dragoons, march past and feu-de-joie at noon with singing of patriotic selections by children.

1.30 p.m.—Grand cycle parade with prizes for best decorated wheels, best costumes, lady and gentlemen—and best comic costume. The parade will be led by the bugle band, on wheels, and will ride to the east Nicholls park.

3.30 p.m.—Grand series of games and sports in the Nicholls park. The programme will be a very ample and diversified, and substantial prizes will be offered.

8.30 p.m.—Open air concert in the Horticultural park, by 57th battalion band.

Such in brief outline are the events

MR. T. E. BRADBURN IS PRESIDENT

THE BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING AND ELECTS OFFICERS

The Report of the Secretary for the Year—The Finances are Healthy—Effort to Get Canal Open—Peterborough's Prosperity.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening, the President, Mr. John Carnegie, in the chair. Among those present were Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, A. W. Cressman, R. Fair, T. A. Hay, B. Shortly, B. B. Rogers, W. Sailsbury, McF. Wilson, R. McWhinnie, D. W. Dumble and others.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, and confirmed.

The treasurer's report of the finances for the year was read and referred to the auditors. This report showed a balance to the credit of the special fund of $146.23 and of the general fund of $199.43.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr. President and Gentlemen,—I have the honor to present to you the eleventh annual report of this Board, and in so doing feel myself at a great disadvantage after the very able reports made you by my predecessors.

In reviewing the work of the past year we must feel that although we have not had occasion to call many meetings those which were held were redundant of good to the town and county.

Stanley Piano Company.—The Stanley Piano Company has this year located itself in our town, and, we are creditably informed, is in full swing, as are also all other local industries in town, not a few working day and night.

Canadian General Electric Company:—One of the largest enterprises on the Continent of North America, the Canadian Electric Company, has decided to largely increase its capacity, and the buildings, etc., when completed must add materially to the prosperity of the town.

Board's Finances.—We are pleased to report that the financial standing of the Board is good. As will be seen by the Treasurer's report, there is a cr. balance to Special Fund of $146.23 and also a Cr. balance to General Fund of $199.43.

Membership:—The membership of the Board this year is the largest on record, and we trust to do even better next year.

Manufacturers:—The Board has been in correspondence with several business enterprises, among which may be mentioned Lever Brothers, Limited (Sunlight Soap), McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, of Chicago; E. C. Stearns Bicycle Company; William Barber & Brothers, of Georgetown, Ont., and several others re locating here, but we regret that up to the present time we have been unsuccessful in our enterprise.

Trent Valley Canal:—The Trent Valley Canal we have always with us, and we trust the good work will be permitted to go on to completion.

G. T. R. re Back Lakes:—The Grand Trunk Railway is advertising our back lakes and, as of late years a large number of our American Cousins have patronised them, we trust this will be a means of advertizing our town.

Granolithic Pavements:—During last summer several miles of granolithic pavement have been laid, adding greatly to the beauty of our streets, more especially the residential ones, and enhancing the value of property.

Addresses by Board of Trade Experts:—With reference to this matter I beg to suggest that in the near future we exert ourselves to induce an expert on Board of Trade affairs to favor us with a lecture. During last summer and fall I tried to get in touch with Mr. Ryerson Ritchie, recently appointed President of the Chamber of Commerce, of Cleveland, Ohio, who, by the bye, is an old Peterborough boy. I was to have met Mr. Ritchie one evening at the residence of our worthy Treasurer, but he was, most unfortunately for us, unable to keep his appointment.

Board of Trade Excursion:—We were most unfortunate last fall in not having our annual outing. I would suggest that instead of allowing this event to come off in the Fall, we should take this holiday late in June or early in July.

Ottawa-Hull Fire:—We must all feel deeply for our most unfortunate brothers at Ottawa and Hull, and also most thankful that, although so large a district was burnt over, so few lives were lost.

Local Press:—The sincere thanks of the Board are due to the local press who have always so faithfully reported our business.

Council Chamber:—Thanks are also due to the Mayor, Town Council and Town Clerk for the use of the Council Chamber.

Executive Officers, etc.—I have personally to offer my sincere thanks to the executive and leading members of the Board, who have been always willing and most kind in advising me on any matters about which I required information.

Transvaal War:—In conclusion, I feel assured that although this Board deeply deplores the dreadful slaughter of human life now taking place in South Africa, we would not be true and loyal Canadians did we not endorse our Queen and Mother Country in this present crisis, which we have done by word and deed. Some of our poor boys have found a grave in African soil, but they died like true Canadians, fighting for their Queen, with their faces to the Boers. Canadians have come bravely to the front and are mentioned in Lord Roberts' despatches daily; and in after years when the history of the Boer war shall be written and our children's children shall read of it in their History of Canada, they will never forget this question and answer.

Q—Who captured Cronje?

A—The Canadians.

Your obedient servant,

T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,

Secretary.

The report was received with applause [illegible] motion was adopted.

Good Metal

. . . . . . WELL WORKED UP

THAT is the key-note of Brantford Bicycle construction. It means the best materials for each purpose put together with the best bicycle constructive sense. Because BRANTFORD CYCLES contain the best there is in material, work, skill, and finish, we want you to see them. You can rely on the "BRANTFORD."

Consider the added value a BRANTFORD has over other wheels when it embodies the following new and absolutely necessary points in order to be an up-to-date wheel. BRANTFORDS have what other wheels lack:

NEW HUBS AND AXLES.

NEW SPROCKET AND ADJUSTMENTS.

NEW CRANK BRACKET AND CRANKS.

NEW SEAT POST FASTENER AND FRONT FORKS

and with all these a grace, finish and rigidity that is the BRANTFORD's very own.

SUDDEN DEATH

Demise of Mr William Speer, of Ashburnham, after Two Day's Illness.

The death took place in Ashburnham yesterday of Mr William Speer, a well known citizen of Asphodel. He was sick only two days and his death was quite unexpected. He removed from his farm two months ago to reside in Ashburnham. He was 68 years of age. He leaves a widow and four daughters. The children are Mrs Stephen Gaskins, Ashburnham, Mrs John Spence, Toronto, Mrs Thistlewaite, Norwood, and Miss Mary and John, who reside at Monroe Ave., Ashburnham, from which place the funeral will take place on Sunday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at the Little Lake cemetery.

Every bottle of Dalley's Syrup of Horehound and Elecampane is warranted to cure a cough or cold and is recommended by the medical fraternity.

ST. ANDREW'S ANNIVERSARY.

An Interesting Reference to the Clergyman who Preaches on Sunday.

The sixty-fifth anniversary of St. Andrew's church, and the eleventh anniversary of the ordination of the pastor will be celebrated on Sunday next by special services, conducted by the Rev. A. Logan Goggie, of Dunn Ave Presbyterian church, Toronto. Mr. Goggie is a man of marvellous energy and power and a most effective speaker. He has been the means of inspiring new life and hope into many a young man who had become despondent through the loss of some faculty. At an early age, being deprived of his right arm in a mill he decided to study for the ministry. His decision has been a great blessing to the church. During his College course an affecting incident occurred. Being asked by Prof. Blackie, of Edinburgh, to read a certain portion he was at once reproved for holding the book in the left hand. After remonstrance young Goggie called the Professor's attention to the fact that he had no right hand, whereupon the Professor went to him and compassionately put his arms around him. More than one young man has been led to feel that after all life was worth the living.

His services will be greatly appreciated by all who have the opportunity of hearing this Scottish preacher. Special offering for Home Missions and Ottawa Fire Relief.

Mr Goggie, as advertised, will also give an address on "Scottish Humor" at the annual re-union on Monday night.

The Duke and the Dean.

The late Prebendary Rogers used to tell how Lord Rosebery joined him in petitioning the Duke of Wellington to open Apsley House on Sunday afternoons, so that the public might see the pictures. The duke and Mr. Rogers met in the park and began to speak about the memorial.

"Among all these signatures," said the duke, "I find only one respectable name, and that is your own."

Mr. Rogers replied that Dean Stanley had signed.

"Oh," said the duke, "I don't call him respectable."

"Well, but there is Lord Rosebery."

"I don't think much of him," answered the duke; "but, as you assure me it is all right, I will see what can be done."

It was finally agreed that visitors should be admitted on condition that they wiped their feet on the mats and did not sit down on the sofas.—Westminster Gazette.

A Trick That Won.

A few weeks ago a pretty little Parisian actress was appearing at a theater in Geneva. On the last night of the play a tall, well dressed man sent in his card and asked permission to thank her personally for the pleasure that her performances had given to him. He entertained her at supper and asked permission to see her off at the station on the following day. He arrived with his groom, who was carrying a tremendous bouquet of flowers.

He told her that he had telegraphed to his brother, who was in Paris and who had influence both with the press and the theatrical managers and that he would meet her on her arrival in Paris. To the astonishment of the actress all this turned out to be true, and she found a magnificent carriage at the station. A fine dinner followed.

The girl was dumb with astonishment. Her host told her that it was all for the sake of his brother, whom he loved dearly, and he spoke pathetically of the beautiful bouquet that she carried and which was made up of flowers culled in the garden of the old homestead. She offered him the bouquet instantly, and he accepted it with a thousand thanks.

Now she has found out why she was treated so well. She had been the means of smuggling watch springs to the value of $10,000 into Paris.

His New Stove.

Old Hi Drew, who lives in a village not 40 miles away, came into town last week on the sly to buy a birthday gift for his wife. He cast about vigorously and struggled in a valiant way through the crowds, finally being washed ashore in the doorway of a hardware establishment. Despairing of fighting his way any farther, he made up his mind to make his purchase right there. Martha wanted a new stove, anyway. So he allowed himself to be taken in hand by an energetic salesman and had soon purchased for $21 an article that was guaranteed to cook anything and everything all at one time. He had it expressed out to the village and by cunning strategy succeeded in getting it set up in the kitchen the next morning without Martha's knowledge. When she saw it, she hugged him and beamed all over with delight. Then he went out and killed a young sucking pig and two chickens and prepared for a royal spread.

"Look it here!" he cried. "Here I've been and bought a darn gas stove for $21, and there ain't no gas for nine miles."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Quick Arrow Shooting.

The Maya Indians have acquired extraordinary dexterity with the bow and arrow, which, with the spear, is their only weapon, though the boys before they are strong enough to draw the bow often use a sling made from a strip of rawhide, with which they kill squirrels and small birds. The bows are about five feet long, made of a thin, tough strip of cahoon palm, well seasoned. The arrows are usually carried in a tiger skin quiver and can be used with marvelous rapidity, as the following incident will show:

A chief of the Lacondones of my acquaintance named Canek had been on bad terms with his father-in-law for some time. One morning while hunting in the bush he espied the old man in an anana tree gathering the apples. He at once fired an arrow at the man, striking him through the chest and while the body was falling placed another arrow in the neck. Fortunately for himself he managed to reach the nearest Spanish settlement before any of the murdered man's relatives could overtake him.—Chambers' Journal.

The Professor's Foresight.

Professor Frederick von Martens, who holds the chair of international law in the St. Petersburg university and is a frequent representative of the czar in legal councils of moment, is not a Russian citizen, nor even a Russian subject, but a philosophic German. He is a notable linguist and author, and at the Venezuela arbitration conference in Paris, where he read the decision of the commission, he had a pleasant fashion of addressing each delegate in his own language. One of the English jurists wondered how the professor was able to keep up his knowledge of so many modern tongues.

The professor replied: "It is self defense. You see, in case I lose my chair I wish to be prepared for any offer you foreigners may make."—Saturday Evening Post.

Safety In Battle.

Every soldier believes that the only safe place under fire is the recent scene of some cannonade escapade. When defending a fort or camp, the wounded are generally placed in the breaches, as the enemy is not likely to waste powder and shot on points which have already been cleared of all barricade. The same holds true of naval engagements. Sailors much prefer to sit in some yawning gap still hot and smoking from the effect of a splintering cannon ball than behind the stoutest bulwark.

Progress.

An Egyptian paper announces that "first class, up to date, modern dining cars" are to be run this season between Cairo and Luxor and that "an American dentist has started in business at Assouan, which is on the edge of the Sudan." A "palace hotel" at Khartum for the special accommodation of tourists will also be completed and opened for business in about three months.

WOOD PULP PAPER.

THE COMPLICATED PROCESS BY WHICH IT IS PRODUCED.

How the Big Trees From the Forests Are Turned Into Half Ton Rolls of the Finished Material, Ready For the Newspaper Press.

The United States is in almost all respects the greatest paper making country in the world—in the amount of capital invested, the value of output, the actual per capita quantity consumed, natural facilities and superiority of many of its methods and products. There are over 1,000 paper and pulp mills of all kinds in the United States, making almost every variety of paper and pulp made anywhere in the world.

There are several hundred millions of dollars capital invested in the making and distribution of paper. When we consider that upward of 2,500,000 tons of paper are produced annually and that in general every ton of paper means at least three tons of freight and finally consider that the production of paper is more generally distributed over the whole country than any other leading industry, the importance of the paper industry to every section of the country is apparent. The total value of all kinds of paper made annually in this country, by the time it reaches the consumer, is probably $150,000,000, ranging all the way from $20 to $300 a ton.

News paper is made principally of wood, of which American forests furnish an almost inexhaustible supply. Wood was used first for making news paper, but has now extended to other grades. Considering only news paper, the change in materials has been from rags exclusively to a mixture of rags in small proportions and straw in large proportions, then to a substitution of wood for straw. This wood comes from the forests where only the larger trees are cut, allowing all below a fixed diameter to remain standing so as not to check the growth of the species. It is then brought either by river or rail to the pulp mill. Here it is first prepared by cutting it into suitable lengths for handling and manipulating, and then the bark is removed by a machine which consists of great disks composed of radial knives which remove with lightninglike rapidity. There are other ingenious machines for automatically handling and preparing the wood from the time it is taken from the water until it is ready to be made into pulp.

This is done by forcing the wood under the almost human guidance of hydraulic machinery upon grindstones which are turned with great force and rapidity, some pulp paper mills requiring more power than the great manufacturing city of Lowell, Mass. As the wood is pressed with the nicest degree of uniformity upon the grinders under a continual flow of water which prevents the wood from burning a mixture of wood and water emerges from the machine, making a mass not unlike gruel in appearance and consistency, and yet so carefully has this process been performed that only the microscope can detect any variation in the size or appearance of the minute particles of which the mass is composed. Thus as the result of years of experiment and practice the pulp maker has become able to disintegrate the wood in this manner without destroying the fibrous character, and the pulp does, in fact, consist of multitudes of little fibers which thus become available as a substitute in a measure for the fibers of rags.

Finally the rags which were used in connection with this pulp to make news paper began to be displaced by wood prepared in a more scientific way. To do this the science of chemistry came to the aid of the art of paper making. In simple language this process consists in cooking the wood in chemicals instead of grinding it, thus dissolving all the nonfibrous matter and leaving the fibers practically unimpaired, so that a fabric consisting exclusively of these fibers has almost the strength of parchment.

Before this process became perfected in this country millions of dollars were sunk in pioneer establishments, and even now the process is regarded as most difficult and subtle and in order to be commercially successful must be conducted on a very large scale. It requires great boilerlike structures, the outward shells of which are steel and which have to be lined with several successive linings of different materials so constructed as to make the interior steam tight, acid proof and able to withstand great pressure.

At this stage the process of paper making proper as distinguished from pulp making begins, and here is where perhaps even more technical knowledge and experience are required. The mixture of pulps prepared in the two ways described and other ingredients which give color and various other physical characteristics to the finished paper is diluted with water so as to become practically a fluid, which is then projected on to a woven wire cloth constructed with great nicety. This moves along, often at a rate of several hundred feet a minute, and as the pulp liquid falls upon it, guided by delicate mechanical devices, it spreads out evenly, and as the water is withdrawn by every known means available for the purpose, involving the principles of agitation, gravitation, capillary attraction, suction, absorption, pressure and evaporation, the fibers of the pulp gradually interweave with such absolute uniformity that only an experienced eye or delicate scientific test can determine any variation in strength or texture of the finished product.

While these processes have been going on successively the film or sheet of water pulp has gradually increased in density until finally it emerges as a sheet of paper, after passing over many large revolving cylinders through which steam is constantly forced under a delicately regulated pressure, creating such heat that three times as much water is evaporated as the weight of the sheet remaining. Thus a machine producing 20 tons of paper a day has to evaporate therefrom approximately 60 tons of water. Consider the vast amount of coal required to generate the necessary heat. It is estimated that the paper mills of the country use annually 3,000,000 tons of coal. After the paper is dried it is passed through massive solid steel rolls or cylinders which must be so regulated as to give just the desired degree of surface to the paper. It is then for newspaper use wound into great rolls which weigh approximately half a ton apiece.

This of course is but an outline of the process of paper making, and there are many features which render it so complicated that even the most experienced paper makers are apt to disagree in their views as widely as do the proverbial doctors.

An Odd Coincidence.

"Late one night some years ago in a western town," said an old telegraph operator, "I received a message which read, 'If you wish to see your brother alive, you will have to come immediately.' The message came from San Francisco and was addressed to an old man who lived across the street from the station, so I put on my hat and went over and delivered it, seeing that it was important that he should have it at once.

"The old man caught the train that left at midnight, and while he was buying his ticket he told me that the message referred to his brother who had left home 20 years before and from whom he had heard nothing during all that time.

"The next night a party called and asked if there were any messages for him, giving the same name as the old man who had left the night before. He must have noticed that I looked at him rather blankly, for he went on to explain that he had a brother in California who was sick and that he was anxious to hear from him.

"Well, it turned out that the message that I had received the night before was intended for him. He was a stranger in the town and chanced to bear the same name as the old man whom I had sent on a wild goose chase across the continent. Fortunately for me I was transferred to another town before the old man got back. That is all there is to the story except that it is true."

Sixteenth Century Apples.

Apples be so divers of form and substance that it were infinite to describe them all. Some consist more of aire then water, as sour puffs called Mala pulmonea; others more of water then wind, as sour Castarae and Pome waters. To be short, all apples may be sorted into three kinds, sweet, soure and unsavory. Sweet apples ease the cough, quench thirst, cure melancholly, comfort the heart and head, especially if they be fragrant and odoriferous, and also give a laudable nourishment. Soure apples hinder spitting, straiten the brest, gripe and hurt the stomach, encrease phlegm and weaken memory.

Sweet apples are to be eaten at the beginning of meat, but soure and tart apples at the latter end. All apples are worst raw, and best baked or preserved.

Philip of Macedonia and Alexander, his son, from whome perhaps a curious and skilful herald may derive our Lancashire men, were called Philomeli apple lovers because they were never without apples in their pockets. Yea, all Macedonians, his countrymen, did so love them that having neer Babylon surprised a fruiterer's boy they strived for it that many were drowned.—Dr. Thomas Moffett in 1575.

Exasperating.

"Gee whizz, how my wife does aggravate me!"

"You surprise me. Surely she doesn't henpeck you?"

"No. It's her awful meekness. Whenever we have an argument and I'm in the right, she always sighs and says, 'Oh, very well, dear, have it your own way!'"—Philadelphia Press.

BETS ON MARCH TO PRETORIA

Commoners Betting Lord Roberts Will Be There in 60 Days.

Field Marshal Roberts Has Double the the Men and Double the Guns of the Boers—Boers Fleeing to the North From This Great Force—Is Lord Salisbury Anxious About France?—War News.

London, May 11. — (4.05 a. m.)—Members of the House of Commons were freely betting in the lobbies last evening, that Lord Roberts would be in Pretoria in two months. The Ministerialists are building confident hopes upon the comprehensive plans he has communicated to the War Office.

Kroonstad on Monday.

Predictions are definitely made, he will enter Kronstad next Monday, and it is believed that his advance is probably already reconnoitering in the vicinity of Ventersburg, where the hilly country begins again. Beyond Kroonstad is an intricate and difficult country, and if the Boers should elect to fight, it is possible they could check the progress of the British until Lord Roberts' numerous cavalry had time to ride around their flank and threaten their rear.

Boers Force Is 20,000.

From 15,000 to 20,000 is the highest estimate of the Boers under the personal command of Gen. Botha, who is said to have 40 guns. Gen. Botha and Gen. Dewet are reported to have quarrelled.

Lord Roberts is pressing hard after this force with 65,000 men and 140 guns, and 20,000 more men are easily available.

Is Salisbury Watching France?

The alarmist tone of Lord Salisbury's Primrose League speech Wednesday has been much discussed in the lobbies of Parliament, and the impression is that the apprehensions of the Premier are even more serious than he expressed. His utterances are ascribed to the recent successes of the Nationalists in France, hatred of England being one of the weapons of the campaign. The revival of military glory, one of the ideals set up in France, is regarded as dangerous to England.

A CHEERY MESSAGE.

General Lord Roberts Gets It From Baden-Powell at Mafeking, Dated April 27.

London, May 11. — The War Office has received from Lord Roberts a despatch dated Zand River Camp, May 9, saying: "I have a most cheerful telegram from Baden-Powell dated April 27."

Boers Leave Zand River.

Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office from Welgelegen, under date of May 9, evening, as follows: "Pole-Carew's and Tucker's division, Hamilton's column of heavy naval and Royal garrison artillery guns, and four brigades of cavalry marched here to-day. The enemy hold the opposite bank of the Zand River. Their strength will be ascertained to-morrow, when I hope to be able to force a passage of the river."

Now Across the River.

Lord Roberts also reports to the War Office as follows: "Cable Cart Headquarters at the front, May 10, 9.10 a.m. — We are now across the Zand River. The enemy are still holding a strong position, but we are gradually pushing them back."

Enemy in Full Retreat.

The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts: "Cable Cart, Zand River, May 10, 12.30 p.m. — The enemy are in full retreat. They occupied a position twenty miles in length. Ours was necessarily longer. With the widely-scattered force it will take some time to learn the casualties, but I am hopeful we have not suffered much. The cavalry and horse artillery are pursuing the Boers by three different roads."

Steyn Expected a Big Battle.

New York, May 11. — According to a despatch to the Herald from Zand River, via Lorenzo Marquez, President Steyn, in an interview with Richard Harding Davis last Monday, said: "We will fight to the end. Not one of my burghers is unwilling to fight. We have never considered abandoning the Transvaal. We will fight at the Vaal River, at Pretoria, and afterwards in the mountains. We have nothing to gain from peace, everything by fighting. The British are now at Winburg and Virginia. We expect a big battle shortly."

Burghers Want to Quit.

London, May 11. — A despatch to The Daily Telegraph from Welgelegen dated Wednesday, says: "The burghers held a meeting recently, without the consent of President Steyn, at which the advisability of submission on the part of the Free State was discussed and approved."

A Corps of Boer Women.

Pretoria, Wednesday, May 9. — President Kruger has received a telegram from a burgheress asking if the time has not arrived for the formation of a corps of women, stating that she is prepared with a body of women volunteers to take up arms in defence of the independence of the Transvaal.

[illegible] Move to Bethlehem.

Maseru, May 8. — The Free Staters are moving in small parties, with their herds, from Ficksburg to Bethlehem, on their way to Harrismith or the Vaal.

Raad Against Kruger.

Pretoria, Wednesday, May 9.—The request of the Government for permission to sell mining rights for prices which should be approved by the Government, was rejected by the Raad by a vote of 12 to 9. The session is closed.

Boers Move From Ladybrand.

Thabanchu, May 9. — The Boers have moved their headquarters in this district from Ladybrand to Clocolan. They occupy strong positions at Megathlings' Nek. The British, including Gen. Brabant, are scattered among a number of strategical points, securing the country south of the line from Winburg to Ladybrand.

The Manitoba Budget Speech.

Winnipeg, May 11.—Hon. Mr. Davidson delivered his budget speech yesterday. He spoke briefly. He charged that the relations between the department lately under the control of Senator Watson and Contractor Whitewood were of a most serious character, if not criminal. He went into the Royal Commission's report at length, charging that there had been duplicity on the part of the Cabinet's predecessors in office with regard to finances.

Mr. McMillan moved the adjournment of the debate.

THE BOUNDARY LINE.

When a young girl steps from girlhood into womanhood, she enters a new and strange country; a land of promise and hope, yet full of hidden danger. Whether she will find happiness or misery depends largely upon the health and condition of the delicate, special organism which is the source and center of her womanhood.

The lives of young women are often wrecked because of a mistaken sense of modesty, which leads them to neglect the earlier symptoms of feminine weakness.

These troubles unless corrected, develop into serious chronic difficulties which become a dragging burden, ruining life's best opportunities and blighting all possibility of happy wifehood and motherhood.

Any woman suffering from these delicate complaints needs the health-giving power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It heals and strengthens the womanly organs; stops weakening drain; gives vitality to the nerve-centers, and restores perfect organic soundness and constitutional energy. It is the only medicine devised for this purpose by a skilled and experienced specialist in diseases of the feminine organism.

Every woman may be healthy if she chooses. She need not submit to the humiliating examinations and local treatment of physicians. She need have no trouble and slight expense. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure any disease or disorder peculiar to women. It has been sold for over 30 years.

Mrs. W. B. Duncan, of Arlington, Mo., writes: "I have used your 'Favorite Prescription' and am never tired of sounding its praise. When my lady friends complain, I say 'Why don't you take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription?' I told an anxious mother, whose daughter (18 years old) had not been right for five months, about the medicine, and after the young lady had taken two-thirds of a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' she was all right. She had been treated by two of our best doctors."

"I took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and about the same quantity of his 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. J. C. Henry, of Strong Avenue, Elkhart, Indiana. "At the time I commenced taking your medicine I had been sick for over a year. Had doctored with five different doctors but they did not agree as to what my disease was. Then, I did not take any medicine for a long time until a friend wrote me about your medicine, and told me what it had done for her. I determined to try it. When I commenced to take it, I only weighed 92 pounds. Had a hard cough and was very nervous. Had some pain around my heart. Had wasting drain from internal organs very bad; dizzy head; very despondent; would have a chill when my stomach would bother me, and it would palpitate like a pulse beating. I could not sleep well nights; thought all the time that I would die. Have some of these spells now, but when I feel a little sick I just take my old stand-by. Have a nice baby boy, fifteen months old. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' at that time and was only sick a little over an hour and was not very bad then. The child was a nice, big baby. My weight now is 125. I am entirely cured of the female trouble."

"After reading your book I got three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' for my wife to try," writes George S. Richardson, of Little Creek, Kent Co., Delaware. "It is praised so highly for women with child, and she took two bottles and half of the third before the child was born, and the medicine did its work to perfection. She gave birth to a 9½ pound baby girl. Our other babies were always weak and delicate, and this one is plump and fat. It is three months old and it has never had a day's sickness, and it is all due to your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

As a medical author, Dr. Pierce holds an eminent place in his profession. His great thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" is one of the greatest medical works of the English language. Nearly [illegible] copies were sold at [illegible] each. A paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free for [illegible] stamps to pay the cost of mailing only, or [illegible] stamps for cloth-bound. THE FIGHT AT HONNECK.

Brandfort, May 9. — (Montreal Star special cable). — The forces under Gen. Ian Hamilton, consisting of mounted infantry and Gen. Smith-Dorrien's brigade, including the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry, attacked the enemy, which were located in force in the vicinity of Honneck, near Thabanchu, on May 1.

The Boers occupied a strong position, their right flank holding Thabanchu Mountain, and their left a range of low ridges.

The British column attacked along the whole front of the Boer position, a distance of fully 11 miles. The initial attack on the Boer position was made by the foot infantry, while the mounted infantry endeavored to flank the enemy.

An exciting feature of the engagement was a determined attack made by the German Legion on the Gordon Highlanders. They were repulsed in true Highland style with heavy loss.

When darkness closed the enemy were still in possession of the position.

Boer Flanks Turned.

At dawn on Wednesday the attack was resumed with renewed vigor on the part of the British forces. The mounted infantry were successful in turning the right flank of the enemy, while the cavalry were equally successful in their operations against the Boers' left flank.

In the meantime the foot infantry advanced toward the Thabanchu plateau. The Royal Canadian Regiment was held in reserve.

As the infantry advanced, the enemy, realizing that both their flanks had been turned, rushed to their horses, mounted and fled in hot haste. They were promptly pursued, a portion of the cavalry being sent around the mountain to cut off their retreat. The British artillery was meanwhile hurried forward to the capitulated position, and the fast-retreating Boers were subjected to a heavy shell fire.

The British loss was very small, the casualties among the Canadians amounting to practically nothing. Nevertheless, they did splendid work, and were complimented by the commanding officer.

Whole Column Advanced.

On the following Thursday the whole column advanced in the direction of Winburg. The enemy was encountered first between Welcome and Verkecroft Drifts, where they held a high range of cliffs.

Reinforcements for the enemy arrived from Brandfort as the engagement began, but the mounted infantry under Col. Broadwood got between the main body of the Boers and the reinforcements. This successful move on the part of the British cavalry caused the whole Boer force to retire in haste.

Canadians Under Fire.

London, May 11. — A Zand River despatch says that when the Australians, with Gen. Hutton's brigade, were in danger of being cut off, the mounted Canadians and New Zealanders, who stood a withering shell fire, were ordered to make a demonstration and threatened the Boer flank, in order to allow the Australians to retire. The manoeuvre was successful.

Who Is Trooper Cowan?

A despatch from Spabiool says that Trooper Clarence Cowan, one of the Canadians, accidentally shot himself at Karee Siding on May 1. The name does not appear on the official list.

THE INVALIDED CANADIANS

At Woolwich [illegible] to Be [illegible]

Ottawa, May 11. — The Imperial authorities have communicated with the Dominion Government, asking what is to be done with the Canadian soldiers who are in hospital at Woolwich and Netley. These invalided members of the contingents are entitled to pensions from the Imperial Government. The Dominin Cabinet met this afternoon and discussed the matter and decided to bring the sick home to Canada as soon as they can be moved.

A supplementary estimate will provide for their transportation and relief.

The Strathcona Recruits.

London, May 11. — A contingent of Canadians, belonging to Strathcona's Horse, were heartily cheered as they debarked yesterday at Liverpool. They will sail from London for South Africa to-day, by the British transport Assaye.

Dreading an Operation.

Weary of experimenting with salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment and found in it an absolute cure for piles. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required to effect a permanent cure.

and resulted in the following being chosen:—

President—T E Bradburn.
Vice President—D W Dumble.
Treasurer—R Fair.
Secretary—T Q Quartermaine, (re-elected.)

A committee, composed of the President, Vice-President and Messrs Hay, Shortly and Fair, were appointed to choose the council. The result was the selection of the following:—

Robt Fair (chairman) T E Bradburn, T A S Hay, D W Dumble, John Carnegie, J H Burnham, W H Hill, H S Macdonald, R Shortly, Peter Hamilton, Jas Kendrey, M. P., J R Stratton, M. P. P., H LeBrun, F Campbell, Richard Hall, R C McHarrie, Adam Hall, T F Matthews, R McWhinnie, A C McCallum, McF Wilson, J W Garvin, J H McClellan, H P Kennedy.

Messrs Bradburn, Fair, Shortly and Salisbury were appointed a committee to strike the standing committees and report at the next meeting.

TO OPEN THIS SECTION.

Mr Carnegie suggested that the Board take action towards securing the opening of the section of the canal between Lakefield and Nassau or Warsaw road in the fall. If this was done it would allow wood and other commodities to be brought down by steamers after the excursion season on the back lakes. The canal could be opened he believed and the Board might urge the matter.

It was pointed out that this would be a practical demonstration of the utility of the canal, and would be a guarantee to others to go in next winter and get out wood to come down the following year.

It was moved by Messrs Dumble and Wilson that the secretary communicate with the Minister of Railways and Canals and respectfully ask that the canal be opened for traffic as far as practicable between Lakefield and Peterborough during the months of September and October.

This resolution carried.

The services of the reporters of the local papers were kindly recognized in the usual manner, and a vote of thanks was passed to the council for the use of the Council Chamber.

Mr Hale presented the names of Messrs G A Barton and Chas Stanley for membership.

They were duly elected.

PETERBOROUGH'S PROSPERITY.

Mr Dumble made reference to the prosperity which Peterborough had enjoyed during the year, referring to the large addition to the electric works and the coming to town of the Stanley Piano Co. Peterborough had been late in receiving a baptism of hard times and had been slow in coming up on the up turn, but he believed that brighter and better days were here or at hand. Prospects made hopes stronger for the future. He had information of an enterprise which if it developed meant great things for Peterborough. Then there were the dams on the river between here and Lakefield which gave splendid water power. The cement works to be established near Lakefield must benefit Peterborough. All in all he believed better and brighter days were at hand for the town.

After Mr Hay had called attention of those present to the celebration meeting at the drill shed, the Board adjourned.

of the day. The attention of riders of wheels is called to the cycle parade. To ensure a spirit of emulation and bring out inventive and decorative talent, Mr. Thos. Barrie will offer a wheel as a prize for the best decorated bicycle in the procession. Messrs. Davidson and McPherson are making arrangements and will likely be in position to make similar offers for features of the parade.

A sub-committee of the battalion parade are at work on the idea to bring up from Port Hope, a couple of the big guns of the Durham Field Battery and have the guns a feature of the procession. It will cost something to do this and if the funds can be had the guns will be here. They would make an interesting exhibit, as big guns are very much in the public eye just now on account of the operations in Africa.

And finally, brethren, remember the whole show is free, no charge for anything. Lay out to have a jolly day and a thorough good time.

GOOD WORK DONE.

This morning the volunteer committee got to work and after dinner handed to the general committee $[illegible] with more to follow. Those who interested themselves in the effort were:—Messrs. Fair, LeBrun, Gibson, Roy, Henry, Hall and Brown (C. N.). The funds will be put to good use. It had been agreed by the general committee, in view of the town grant that they would not solicit subscriptions or ask for donations, but the assistance was entirely voluntary and speaks well for the interest shown by our citizens in the celebration.

THE BRITISH ADVANCE MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

Roberts' Headquarters Only Eight Miles From Kroonstadt--A Boer Convoy and One Hundred Prisoners Captured --A Troop of Inniskillings Decoyed by the White Flag.

BRITISH MARCHING SPLENDIDLY

Geneva Siding, Friday, May 11, Morning—The British forces have arrived here marching splendidly, Gen. French in the advance. Firing was heard yesterday in the direction of his force. Some of the Inniskillings had approached a kraal where a force of Boers was concealed. It is expected that the railway to the Zand river will be completed to-night. The line is almost entirely destroyed north of the river, but beyond, where the British are, the Boers retreated from their positions too hastily to do much damage. The Boers are reported to be entrenching themselves around Kroonstadt 20 miles off.

ROBERTS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

London, May 10, 11 a.m.—Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office under date of Geneva Siding, May 11, Evening, as follows: "My headquarters, with Pole-Carew's Division, marched 20 miles to-day and are now at Geneva Siding 14 miles from Kroonstadt and about six miles from Boschrand, where the Boers are holding entrenched positions. Gordon's brigade is in touch with them, Tucker's division is a short distance southeast and Hamilton's force is still further east. Broadwood's brigade overtook a part of the enemy's convoy yesterday afternoon at Potgieter's Laager, southeast of Ventersburg, and captured several waggons and some prisoners. French with Porter's and Dickson's brigades and Hutton's mounted infantry is some distance due north of this place. We have taken nearly 100 prisoners during the last two days. All the Free Staters who could give a good account of themselves have been disarmed and allowed to return to their farms. The nights are getting much cooler."

NEARING KROONSTADT

London, May 12, 2.30 p.m.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts: "Boshrand, May 12, 9.05 a.m.—I am eight miles south of Kroonstadt. The enemy evacuated the first line entrenchments during the night. We are now reconnoitering towards Kroonstadt. Gen. French's cavalry seized the drift over the Valseh river at 4.30 last evening, just in time to prevent passage being opposed by the enemy."

DECOYED BY THE WHITE FLAG

Geneva Siding, May 11 (Delayed)—A troop of the Inniskillings while foraging to-day were decoyed by a white flag floating from a farm honse, while the troopers were off-saddling, they were fired at from the windows of the house and several of them fell dead. The others, numbering sixteen, surrendered.

AN ARREST MADE

Another Young Man Accused of the Havelock Burglary.

To-day the police arrested Albert Allen on the charge of burglarizing Thompson & Son's store in the village of Havelock, on April 23rd. Allen is a young man about twenty years of age and has been driving the National Hotel 'bus. He corresponds closely with the description sent from Havelock of one of the suspected parties.

Always to Win.

"Ways to Win" is the topic for the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A., on Sunday. A number of short addresses will be given. The service of song will begin at 4.15. The meeting will be of special interest to active members. All men are welcome.

There will be no meeting of the Bible class to-night, on account of the God meeting in the Murray-st. church.

Will Stay Until Friday.

Robert Fair & Co. have received a telegram from the agents of the P. D. Corset Co'y, of Montreal, that their expert corset fitter, Mrs. C. Barrett, will be allowed to remain at the Golden Lion until Friday next. It would appear that the time assigned to make the demonstration at the store is about one week too short and that a further term will be appreciated by ladies desiring the expert's services.

Special Services at St Andrew's.

It will be a rare treat to hear the Rev. A. Logan Geggie, of Dunn-ave. Presbyterian church, to-morrow, in St. Andrew's. Mr. Geggie is a young man of exceptional vigor and ability, and has at a very early age secured a prominent position in the church and is using it with great zeal for the blessing of others. His address on Monday night on "Scottish Humor" will be worth a good deal to all, and especially to Scotchmen. An excellent musical programme has been arranged. Special collections on Sunday for Home Missions and Ottawa Fire Relief, and on Monday night a free will offering for foreign mission work.

The praise service will be as follows:—

NOT THE MAN TO BE "HUGGED"

McNish's Says Preston's Behest Did Not Refer to Him.

Donald McNish in the Witness Box Swears That He Signed Papers Not Knowing What They Were About—Andrew Grant, the St. Thomas Barrister, Is Also in the Same Box—W. T. R. Preston on Deck.

St. Thomas, May 12. — The commission investigating the West Elgin election scandal resumed their enquiry yesterday morning. Many of the witnesses called upon were not present for various reasons.

The principal witnesses during the morning were D. A. McIntyre, nephew of Donald Macnish, and Sheriff Brown. McIntyre testified that, being on the executive of the Liberal clubrooms, he had by request collected the fees for the returning officers, Croden, Bole, Montgomery, Pritchett, Stratford, and some others, and paid them the amounts designated as coming to each. He declared there was nothing pre-arranged, so far as he was concerned, and that he had neither met nor talked to any of these men prior to the election, and knew nothing about any of them.

He Was Not to Be Hugged.

Grant Did Not Know.

Andrew Grant, the St. Thomas barrister, who has been credited with writing the orders referred to, said they were thrust in front of him by a worker at the Liberal committee rooms on Jan. 10, and he wrote them out at the request of that man, whose name or identity he had entirely forgotten. He denied emphatically having had any knowledge of the use to which they were to be put, and said had he known it, he would never have written them. He considered what he did merely clerical work, and that he was not responsible for the results.

Preston Is There.

W. T. R. Preston is here, and will appear before the commission this morning.

It is expected that the commissioners will conclude their business here to-day, and probably hold a sitting in Toronto later to examine some of the Liberal organizers.

Duke of Argyile's Funeral

London, May 12. — The funeral of the Duke of Argylle took place yesterday afternoon at Inverary, Argylleshire. The chiefs and clansmen gathered from all parts of the Highlands. The Queen and the Prince of Wales were both represented. After the services the coffin was removed to the family vault at Kilmun.

Effective Prayer.

A very nice and gentle curate went to a Yorkshire parish where the parishioners bred horses and sometimes raced them. He was asked to invite the prayers of the congregation for Luck Gray. He did so. They prayed three Sundays for Luck Gray. On the fourth the clerk told the curate he need not do it any more.

"Why?" asked the curate. "Is she dead?"

"No," said the clerk; "she's won the steeplechase."

The curate became quite a power in the parish.

Test the Urine . . .

The up-to-date physician ascertains the health of the kidneys by an examination of the urine. It is not necessary, however, to be an expert in order to tell if the kidneys are deranged. You can conduct an examination yourself.

Allow the urine to stand for twenty-four hours in a glass bottle or vessel. If at the end of that time it contains a sediment resembling brickdust you may be certain that the kidneys are sluggish and inactive, and that they are leaving deadly poisons in the system which will in time produce [illegible] complications.

As an invigorator of the kidneys Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are of inestimable value. They act directly and promptly, and make the kidneys, liver, and bowels regular, active, and healthy.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively, permanently, and promptly cure Bright's disease, kidney and liver disorders, backache, lumbago, rheumatism, and all the painful and fatal complications of the filtering organs of the body. The sale of this great kidney remedy is enormous throughout this continent and Europe. The result is proclaimed by scores of thousands of grateful cured ones. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1900.

A BANQUET WITH TWO FEATURES.

Sir Richard Cartwright was tendered a banquet at Ottawa the other night, an honor which the "blue ruin Knight" deserved at the hands of his party, for he gave years of service when in Opposition which were rewarded by being passed over and the place he was entitled to given to new men when the Liberals gained office. Therefore, Sir Richard deserves all the recognition that his party can give him in the way of banquets and demonstrations, which may flatter him while not placing him in a position of trust.

But, though being banqueted and smoothed by hearing nice things said of himself, Sir Richard was vicious in his attack on Sir Charles Tupper. There is no excuse for such an attack, and this weakness of Sir Richard for strong and bitter language is one cause of his being in the background among men who are his inferiors as statesmen. The Hamilton Herald, an independent Liberal newspaper, referring to the speech of Sir Richard, says "his attack upon the character of Sir Charles Tupper was a specimen of the bad taste and personal vindictiveness which have always marred Sir Richard's public utterances. Sir Charles Tupper has his faults; but to represent him as an unscrupulous liar, as a man without any moral sense, as one who resembles Paul Kruger in character as well as in person, is to draw a caricature, not a portrait. Sir Richard is great at these oratorical lampoons, which, though vigorous and incisive, are wholly lacking in fairness and in delicacy. Big and brainy a man as he is, he is in some respects as little as the average politician.'" All of which will be endorsed by every fair minded man who reads Sir Richard's utterance.

But this Cartwright banquet had another feature which was of more than ordinary interest. Sir Wilfrid of the silver tongue was present to say pretty things about the man he had passed over, and in doing that which he can do so well he made a statement which will interest Liberals as well as Conservatives. In the course of his eulogy of Sir Richard he said:—

In the days of Mr. Mackenzie, when the country was much depressed, there were many who believed that if the tariff was increased that policy would be justified by the necessities of the revenue, and that it would be a valuable policy for the country at large. I can give you the story without betraying secrets, because these things happened before my day, but if the advice of Sir Richard Cartwright had prevailed at that time this policy would have been adopted. If it was not accepted it was on account of other influences which prevailed with the Government of the day, and for sixteen or twenty years Sir Richard bore the brunt of the obloquy of not having responded to public sentiment, whereas the truth was he was ready to respond to public sentiment. For eighteen years he bore the brunt of all the obloquy, and never whispered a word. It is not every day you can find such abnegation and such loyalty to the party."

What does this mean, this defence of Sir Richard as a member of the Mackenzie Government which comes at such a late date? It means that Sir Richard was opposed all the time to the Mackenzie trade policy, although he advocated and administered it. It means that he was insincere during all the years that he preached free trade and denounced protection. When he said that protection was a worse crime than war, famine or pestilence," he was saying what he believed to be untrue and false. When he declared so often that he and his party would wipe out every vestige of protection, he did not mean it, for he knew he was opposed to free trade, and always had been. When he Compared free trade [illegible] other rule, he was talking against public sentiment, against his own sentiment and belief, but was talking nonsense just for his party. Sir Wilfrid calls this "abnegation" and "loyalty to party," and evidently admires it, but any honest person who remembers the fierceness of "the blue ruin Knight" in talking "against public sentiment" for his party's sake, will call it by some other more pointed but more appropriate term. If Sir Wilfrid is correct in this statement regarding Sir Richard's private convictions, he lowers Sir Richard in the eyes of many who admired him for his honest convictions, while regretting his bitter invectives. Sir Wilfrid, if he is correct, has branded Sir Richard as a public man without the courage of his convictions, who would for party reasons advocate that which he believed was against his country's interest. He is a man who, unlike Hon. Ed. Blake, had not the courage to take a stand against party when that party threatened his country's future.

But if Sir Wilfrid has just told this little story in a foolish desire to better Sir Richard's record as seen in all the years when he fought and denounced what he now accepts and defends, the Premier has lowered himself and damaged Sir Richard. Such explanation comes at a very late hour, and in any event cannot be very pleasing to the old-time Liberals who believed they were led by honest men who believed what they advocated and meant what they said. It is an admission that the Mackenzie Government blundered, and that Sir Richard blundered with it, not because he thought he was right, for he knew it was wrong, but for party reasons.

LA GRIPPE VICTIMS

Will in Thousands of Cases Have to Fight Catarrh Unless Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is Used to Prevent the Sowing of the Seed.

The wife of a prominent physician of Toronto was a victim of Catarrh in its worst form. She tried almost every treatment known in the world of medicine without receiving any lasting benefit. Hearing of the almost miraculous cures made by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, she procured it, persevered in its use for eight months, and was fully restored, and all symptoms of the dreaded disease eradicated from her system. She says, "After years of suffering I rejoice to be freed." Name given on application. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

GETTING NEAR TO MAFEKING

British Relief Force of 3,000 Has Passed Vryburg.

All of Which Goes to Show That the British Commander Has His Eye on Poor Mafeking—Considerable Fighting on the Way, But the Advance Goes On May Reach the Beleaguered Garrison on Monday.

London, May 12. — (4.30 p.m.) — A British column 3,000 strong has arrived at Vryburg, 100 miles from Mafeking. It reached there Thursday, and though harassed by the Boers, is pushing swiftly forward. Fifty miles south of Vryburg, at Taungs, is Gen. Hunter's main body, moving slowly and contending with considerable forces. The pick of his mounted men are the 2,000 who are going without wheeled transport, and at a rate that may possibly bring them to Mafeking on Monday or Tuesday next.

A Fight at Kroonstad.

Lord Roberts' narrative closes with Thursday evening, but he continued his march yesterday towards Kroonstad, 20 miles distant, and by this time he must know whether the Boers intend to fight there.

President Steyn and a council of leaders of several thousand Free Staters in the Ladybrand and Hicksburg district determined to submit to the men the question of continuing the war or not at a great open air meeting. The fighting men decided to go on. Steyn, who appears to be in active command, began to advance towards the British and came into contact on Thursday with Campbell's Brigade and Brabant's Horse 20 miles northeast of Thabanchu. A smart engagement ensued with no positive success on either side, except that the Boer advance was stopped.

Can't Get at Roberts.

Gen. Rundle has disposed of 10,000 infantry along a 20-mile front in such a way as to bar advance towards Lord Roberts' communications. With the exception of the colonials, Gen. Rundle has no horsemen. The cavalry are all with Lord Roberts' advance.

According to a Pretoria telegram, Gen. Buller is moving from Elandslaagte to the direction of Helpmakar, and the British vanguard engaged a Boer patrol of Italians on Thursday. Twelve Italians are described as routing fifty British.

Fight Near Taungs.

A telegram from Pretoria, dated Tuesday, in The Standard and Diggers' News, says: "The British in their passage along the Stellaland border towards Mafeking were engaged by Commandant Bissell, near Taungs, with great success. Hundreds of British troopers met a watery grave while attempting to cross the Vaal. A second advance was made upon Taungs by 7,000 British troops and 14 guns. Communication with Taungs was cut Sunday afternoon."

ROBERTS PRESSING ON.

A Most Successful Day, Although the Boers Were Fighting Hard—British Bayonets Were in Play.

London, May 12. — Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office from Riet Spruit, under date of May 10, evening, as follows:

"We have had a successful day, and have driven the enemy from point to point. French, with Porter's and Dickson's brigades of cavalry, and Hutton's Mounted Infantry, crossed the Zand at Vermenter's Kraal, and then worked round in a northeasterly direction to Maatschaphy, being opposed continuously by the enemy. Pole-Carew's division and Gordon's cavalry brigade, augmented by J Battery of the Royal Horse Artillery, and by Henry's and Rose's mounted infantry, crossed the river by a drift near the railway bridge. My quarters accompanied this force.

Where Hamilton's Force Is.

"With the infantry portion we are eight miles north of the river. The cavalry and mounted infantry are at Ventersburg Road Station, and Tucker's division is at Deelfonteinnord. Ian Hamilton's force and Broadwood's cavalry brigade were making for the cross-roads near Ventersburg when I last heard from them.

"Hamilton's column met with stubborn resistance, and Smith-Dorrien's brigade was engaged for some hours in protecting the rear and flank of his force.

Drifts Very Difficult.

"The drifts are extremely difficult and much baggage has still to come up. We shall, however, march at daybreak and push on as far as possible in a Kroonstad direction."

"The only casualties reported at present are: Killed—rank and file, 4. Wounded, 5. No returns yet received from the cavalry or Hamilton's force."

Bobs at Ventersburg.

Cape Town, May 11. — Lord Roberts wires that he is at Ventersburg, and that he is continuously opposed, but that he is making progress.

Kruger's Appeal to God.

Cape Town, May 11. — At the closing of the Volksraad on Monday, May 7, President Kruger said:

"[illegible] of the Volksraad shall this be the final act? No, it shall not. God will be merciful and strengthen the right. 'Ours is the right.'"

The President added that he had documentary proofs of a "devilish conspiracy to annihilate the republics."

THIS NEWS IS REASSURING.

Major-Gen. Hutton Always Forced the Boers to Retire.

Riet Spruit, Thursday, May 10. — (Morning.) — The Boers opposed the British advance, holding positions north of Zand Drift, back along the whole line, from General Hamilton on the east and General Hutton on the west. Chiefly artillery was engaged. The Sussex Regiment charged a kopje at the point of the bayonet, and the East Lancashires captured another.

The British loss is insignificant.

General Hutton had a series of artillery duels, the Boers always retiring. Twenty Boers were taken prisoners. The advance continues. The Boers are fighting half-heartedly. The Free Staters are sick of the war.

STEYN LIES TO HIS MEN.

Says Thousands of Foreigners Are Going in to Help the Boers.

Maseru, Basutoland, Thursday, May 10. — The Free Staters are concentrating strongly in good positions on the Korannaberg hills, lying eastward of the direct line from Thabanchu to Winburg. President Steyn was with them yesterday, but is believed to have gone northward, after inspirating the burghers with stories of approaching Boer successes through the assistance of thousands of foreigners, who, he said, were pouring into Delagoa Bay.

TO RELIEVE MAFEKING.

British Relief Force of 3,000 Men Passed Vryburg on Wednesday.

London, May 12. — A special despatch from Pretoria, dated May 10, says: "It is announced that a British relief force of 3,000 is advancing along the Bechuana Railway by forced marches night and day. It reached Vryburg yesterday."

A Boer Prisoner Shot.

Jamestown, St. Helena, May 12.—Tuesday night one of the guards shot a Boer prisoner as he was attempting to escape over the boundary fence. The sentry challenged thrice, but received no reply and then fired. The matter is being investigated by a court-martial.

PRESIDENT KRUGER GOT MAD.

Members of the Volksraad Criticised His Statements.

London, May 12. — The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Times telegraphed Friday:

"The discussion in the Volksraad concerning the sale of undermining rights caused an exciting scene. President Kruger said the money was wanted for the purpose of war. Members retorted that this statement conflicted with the declaration in the Presidential speech, that there were ample funds for prosecuting the war, and they accused the Government of squandering money.

"Finally Mr. Kruger quitted the Chamber in a fit of passion, declaring that he had done his duty and that he washed his hands of the business."

The usual consideration will be given to their presentations.

There's a greater demand made on the strength of the mother when nursing than at any other time. She has just gone through the shock and strain of maternity, her vitality is at its lowest and the food she eats must nourish two lives. The natural result is that the mother looks around for a "tonic," and generally finds her tonic in the form of a stimulant, which not only gives the mother no real strength but is an injury to the child.

It is the concurrent testimony of women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that it is the most perfect preparation for motherhood and all its functions which has ever been discovered. It prepares the way for baby's advent, giving the organs of birth vigor and elasticity. It establishes such a condition of health that nervousness, anxiety and morning sickness are unknown. With this condition comes a healthy flow of nourishment for the child, which enables the mother to gratify the fondest instinct of maternity.

"Two years ago I used two bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and in April a nice baby was born, before the doctor came," writes Mrs. [illegible], of 734 [illegible] Street, Alliance, Ohio. "I was not very sick. Baby is now 14 months old and weighs 30 pounds. Now I expect another about August, and I am again taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and feel very well. Several neighbors are using Dr. Pierce's medicines through my telling them about it. One lady says, 'before commencing Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I had to vomit every day, but after I got the medicine, from the first spoonful that I took, I stopped vomiting.' It has done the same thing for me. It is a God-send for women."

No alcohol in any form, is contained in "Favorite Prescription," neither opium nor other narcotic. This cannot truthfully be said of any other medicine especially designed for women and sold through druggists.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of all charge. Every letter is treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all replies are enclosed in plain envelopes, bearing no printed matter whatever. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In the spring the birds are singing
As they build their summer homes,
Blades of grass and buds are springing,
O'er the mead the cattle roam.
In the spring your blood is freighted
With the germs that cause disease,
Humors, boils, are designated
Signals warning you of these.
In the spring that tired feeling
Makes you every duty shirk—
Makes you feel like begging, stealing,
Rather than engage in work.
But there's something known that will a
Man to health and vigor lead.
You will find Hood's Sarsaparilla
Just exactly what you need.

Cheese in Swiss Families.

The social rank of a family in Switzerland is estimated by the age of its cheese, and the greater the respect due to or the affection for a guest the older is the cheese set before him. There are in each pantry at least as many cheeses as there are boys and girls in the family, for at the birth of every child a cheese is made.

It is first cut into on his or her wedding day, on which festive occasion all the guests partake of a piece of the groom's and the bride's cheese in order to secure for them all earthly thrift and happiness. The rest is served as a token of friendly souvenir and heartfelt mourning after the tomb has closed over his or her earthly career.

Moreover, when a Swiss youth falls in love and wishes to pay court to the girl of his heart he goes to her father and asks permission to share the family dinner next Sunday. This is always granted if he is respectable, for it would be considered a deadly insult to refuse. The anxious question in his mind is, "Will papa bring out the cheese?"

Papa does not usually hurry to relieve his fears, having the family dignity in mind and wishing to proceed with due deliberation. If he is indeed satisfied with the [illegible], he at length rises from [illegible] solemnly to the cupboard [illegible] the oldest piece of [illegible] a piece to the [illegible] maiden, and from [illegible] have tasted it they are [illegible]

THE BIG ELECTION SCANDAL.

Mr. Borden Digs It Up in the House of Commons Again.

The Investigation Which the Laurier Government Is Making Every Effort to Burk in Spite of Promises—West Huron and Brockville Cases Still Need to Be Probed—Motion to Have It Done.

Ottawa, May 12. — Yesterday was a field day of business in the House.

Mr. Fisher presented his bill to provide for the marking and inspection of packages containing apples and pears for export, before the Committee of the Whole. Many members objected to considering it, because they waited to hear the views of their constituents on its merits, and the Minister agreed to let the bill stand over for a reasonable time till those opposed to it could present their views either to the Government or to the members of the House.

The Pilotage Act.

Sir Louis Davies introduced his bill to the committee. The Opposition opposed the bill, and after some discussion of its clauses the committee reported progress, and got leave to sit again.

Third Readings.

These acts received a third reading and were passed:

An act respecting the incorporation of live stock associations.

An act to amend the Admiralty Act of 1891.

When the act to amend the act respecting securities for seed grain indebtedness came up for a third reading, Mr. Davin divided the House on his amendment to make the relief immediate rather than to wait till an Order-in-Council has been passed.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 26 to 5.

The bill was then read a third time.

The Toronto Hotel Company bill was also read a third time and passed.

Manitoba & North Shore.

The bill to incorporate the Manitoba & North Shore Railway Company was given a third reading.

The bill to confer on the Commissioner of Patents certain powers for the relief of J. W. Anderson was referred back to committee.

The bill respecting the Nipissing & James Bay Railway Company was given a third reading. The same agreeable fate befell the bill respecting the Dominion Atlantic Railway Company.

Quebec & Lake Huron Railway.

The bill incorporating the Quebec & Lake Huron Railway Company came up in committee, and Mr. Foster wanted to know if Mr. Blair was satisfied that it was a bona fide proposition, as the franchise was very wide. The railway will reach from Quebec to Georgian Bay. Mr. Blair was satisfied, and proved his satisfaction by a long speech in its favor.

Mr. Foster was not satisfied, and berated Mr. Blair, declaring that more care should be taken in granting franchises.

Dr. Sproule was speaking when time was up, and private bills were shelved.

The Public Bills.

The bill to amend the Land Titles Act, 1894, was read a third time, as was also the bill to amend the Loan Companies Act, Canada, 1899.

Election Scandals Again.

At 10 o'clock, on a motion to go into supply, Mr. Borden (Halifax) brought up the West Huron and Brockville election cases.

He recited how he had tried to bring the matter up before, but the Government had repeatedly burked an inquiry. The obstinacy of the Government had forced him to take the stand he had now taken. He told what had occurred last year on a similar motion. He quoted the words used on that occasion by the members of the Cabinet, who invited the enquiry. The leader of the Government at that time offered no objection to referring the matter to investigation. Mr. Borden declared that the Prime Minister this year had gone back on the words uttered last year.

Sir Wilfrid's Words a Mockery.

The reading of Sir Wilfrid's words sounded like mockery in the light of his having used the rules of the House this session to shut off all inquiry. Mr. Borden read extracts from the report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections of 1899. The conclusion of the report was that because several witnesses failed to attend the proceedings in the West Huron election were incomplete and could, therefore, give no result of the investigation. So far as Brockville was concerned, Mr. Borden said the whole case was still untouched. As to the procedure to be gone through, he read Bourinot, who left it to a committee. This committee could report upon the evidence already taken. He quoted precedents in support of his position.

Mr. Borden gave a résumé of a portion of the evidence, and said he thought the facts revealed was an ample warrant for a continuation of the investigation in West Huron.

As to Brockville, the Premier's regard for the [illegible] of the ballot [illegible] it to committee, and [illegible] this year.

Mr. Foster seconded the motion. When the motion was put Sir Louis Davies arose and adjourned the debate.

The House adjourned at 12.

NEARLY A MILLION.

The Ottawa Relief Fund Is Confidently Expected to Reach This Mark—Claim Sheets Coming In.

Ottawa, May 12. — With the amount in the bank, the large grants made by the various Governments and municipal corporations reported from England, which have not yet reached the city, the relief fund is now about $1,000,000.

Official Statement.

The official statement yesterday was:

Relief fund in Bank of Ottawa	$424,374 18
Dominion Government	100,000 00
City of Ottawa	100,000 00
Ontario Government	25,000 00
City of Toronto	25,000 00
City of Montreal	15,000 00
New Zealand	25,000 00
Province of Quebec	25,000 00
Cape Town	10,000 00
Journal Fund in bank	17,262 61
Citizen fund	24,173 08
Total	$804,904 87

Claim Sheets Coming In.

The claim sheets which were distributed among the fire sufferers on Tuesday and Wednesday are being returned to the relief fund headquarters in large numbers. The main office staff was kept hustling yesterday receiving and classifying them. The relief fund shows no signs of a lack of interest abroad. The money keeps pouring in. Yesterday morning the mail brought in a large number of checks, including a further remittance from New York, amounting to $1,145.25, and the Canadian Company of London, England, $500. There is every indication that the fund will reach the million dollar mark.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Although the Coroner's Jury Found That Arthur McIntyre Had No Malice Aforethought Against His Father.

Toronto, May 12. — The Coroner's jury, empanelled to enquire into the death of the late Peter McIntyre, last night brought in the following verdict:

"That Peter McIntyre came to his death on Thursday, May 10 inst., as the result of a pistol wound, the pistol when discharged being in the hands of his son, Arthur McIntyre.

"We find there was no malice aforethought.

"We deprecate the distribution and sale of pernicious literature to children."

Charge of Murder Laid.

Yesterday morning Detective Forrest laid a charge of murder against the boy. The lad, being under the age of 14, came up in the Children's Court, held in the office of Staff Inspector Archibald. Both in court and at the inquest, the boy was calm and collected. He took great interest in the proceedings.

Routed by the Scouts.

Manila, May 12. — A force of 500 insurgents attacked 25 scouts of the 48th Regiment near San Jacinto, Province of Pangasinan, on Monday, May 7, but were routed by the scouts ten of their number being killed. The Americans lost two killed.

On April 26 the rebels burned and sacked the town of Trocin, near Bulan, murdering natives who were friendly to the Americans, and two Spaniards. The Americans killed 37 of the insurgents.

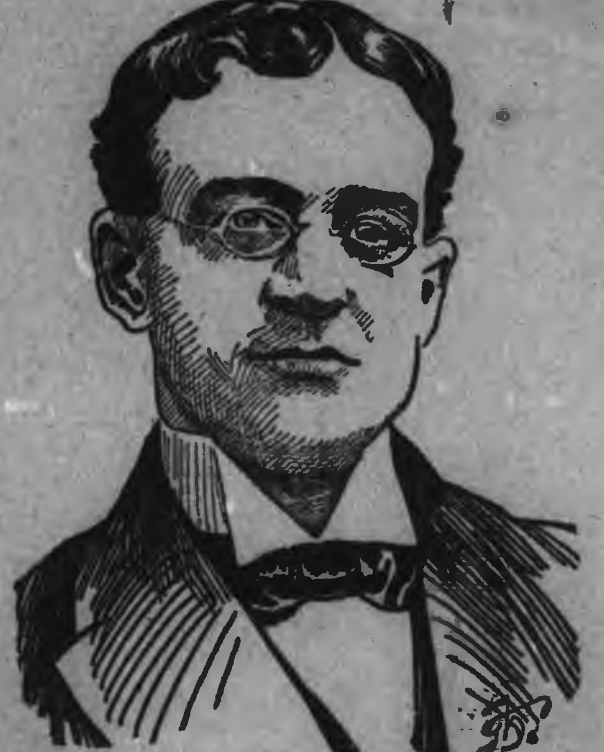
EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Mr. Geil Attracts Great Crowds—His Plea for Vigorous Work in the Salvation of Men.

"A Painted Face" was the announced title of Mr. Geil's address at Murray-st. Baptist church last night, but it is safe to say the evangelist's personal magnetism and downright honest presentation of simple Gospel truth was more responsible for the large audience that gathered to hear him than any announced subject could be.

He is a man of very remarkable personality, and while his methods are strictly conservative, his ideas are decidedly original. Full to his very finger tips of consecrated and concentrated energy, he would impress any audience, and on any platform would command intense attention and interest.



MR. GEIL. the Evangelist.

The proceedings opened with a short song service, led by the joint choirs of Murray-st. and St. Paul's churches, after which prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Gunton and Secretary Williamson, of the Y.M.C.A. At the evangelist's special request Mr. G. K. Martin sang "The Knock of the Nail Pierced Hand," the choir and congregation joining in the refrain very effectively. Then followed the responsive reading of the story of the "Wise and Foolish Virgins," from Matthew, 25th chapter, then another heartily sung prayer hymn and then the address.

"He driveth furiously" was the text, from the story of Jehu's revolt (2 Kings; 9-20), and Jezebel's death. It is impossible to reproduce the address in full. Though generally deliberate and often beautifully pathetic, the speaker is at times quite carried away by his subject and then the torrent rush of eloquence is such as no report could adequately describe. It will suffice to say that the whole address was an earnest plea for modern, up-to-date, direct and absolutely straight dealing with religious work, enlivened with many humorous asides and descriptions.

The main ideas were that in all Gospel work there must be "straight and sometimes furious driving." "The King's business requireth haste," etc.

2nd. "Furious driving is sometimes outside of and away from ruts." It would be an act of horrible indecency for any man to deliberately disrobe before a public audience. Yet who would complain if the same man dashed his garments to the ground and sprang to the rescue of a fellow-man drowning in the Little lake, no matter who was present, or how many. So standards of taste in God's work are only to be regulated by God's Word, and the stress of man's need.

3rd.—Furious driving is when "the controlling purpose is a masterful purpose." The speaker again pleaded for the same consecrated devotion to the cause of God and sin stricken humanity, as is cheerfully accorded by good business men to their temporal concerns. He told very affectively the story of a richly dressed lady on Euclid-Ave, in Cleveland, Ohio, being described as "the Lord's wife" by a poor wretched, hungry, ragged, urchin to whom she had been kind and beautifully compassionate, and said after all that it was not altogether beside the mark. The church was the bride of Christ, and as it exemplified His life and His methods, it would be glorified and transfigured.

His last thought was that furious driving is necessary, "Because the time is short to do the Lord's work." Here the speaker spoke very earnestly of the frequent indifference and inconsistencies of Christians and urged that for the sake of others, if not for themselves, they should work while yet it is day. "For the Night Cometh." Not only did the Holy Spirit say "Come," but the church, the bride of Christ, must say "Come" too, if it was to do its Master's work.

After another hymn, Mr. Geil gave every one who wished to do so an opportunity to leave and then held a short after meeting, when he asked all who were willing to pray and work for the conversion of souls to pledge themselves to work daily for this end. The response was large and immediate. Prayer being requested for 124 people by their friends who were present. The meetings were brought to a conclusion by prayer by Dr. Torrance.

Future Meetings.—This afternoon at 3 p.m. Bible reading at 3 p.m. Murray-st church.

To-night.—Song service at 7.45, and regular service at 8 p.m., also at Murray-st church.

To-morrow (Sunday).—Morning service at Murray-st, and grand united rally at St. Paul's Presbyterian church in the evening. It will be well for those intending to be present to get to these services in good time, as large crowds are certain.

REMOVAL SALE.

In order to reduce our stock before moving to our new premises, we will give Double Trading Stamps for the next ten days. Mrs. Appleby, 426 Water-st.

THE BAND CONCERT

The popularity of the 57th Battalion band continues on the increase, judging from the immense crowd that sought admission to the market hall last evening to hear the last of the winter concerts. The building was crowded, and overflowed into the hall. And the audience was as pleased and delighted as it was large. Mr. Glidden and his bandsmen won more laurels, for their constant hard work in practice was evidenced in the excellent rendering of the evening's programme. Since the last concert the Review heard there have been additions to the membership of the band. The reeds are stronger, and Voss, the brilliant young man on the cornet, has strengthened the cornets. The absence of Mr. Butcher last evening was noticeable, and necessitated the cutting out of some of the variations in the "Reminiscences of All Nations."

The programme of nine numbers was all new and played in concert for the first time by the band with one exception. It opened with a spirited march, "Dunlop Commandery" (Hall). Then the overture, Flotou's "Martha," beautiful music interpreted with exquisite taste by Mr. Glidden, followed. Next came the rattling polka, "The Jolly Chinamen" (Moses), which was a foot-moving air that was excellently played. The next number was the paraphrase, "Im Tiefen Keller" (In the Deep Cellar), Lovenberg, and it was music that was immensely enjoyed. It was an arrangement of the old German drinking song, and introduced solos, which reached a climax in concluding with the basses. The audience demanded a second rendition, and it was kindly given. Mr. Andrew Voss, cornet soloist, was received with applause as he came forward to give his solo, "Sei Nicht Boese" (Zeller). This was a sweet solo and Mr. Voss' rendering was fine. He was forced to respond to a most enthusiastic encore. "Reminiscences of All Nations," which had been heard before, was a capital number, its varied character affording enjoyment for all. A duet (cornet and trombone) from "Trovatore," was given by Messrs. Voss and Clark, and then the curtain was drawn while the bandsmen prepared for the burlesque, "The Village Band." When the curtain was drawn it was a motely crowd of musicians that appeared before the audience. There were coats of the cut of all ages and of all colors of the rainbow. There were whiskers of all hues and of all kinds of trimming, whiskers that the wind had blown through and whiskers that the wind couldn't get through if it tried. And there were hats galore. Silk hats, high hats and straw hats. The musicians all seemed to know something about the way the band should be conducted and did not hesitate to express themselves. The leader was a patriarchial-looking gentleman with luxuriant grey whiskers and a sort of "professor" air to him, while the fat, jolly, enthusiastic farmer, an admirer of the band, made fun for the spectators. This jolly spectator was no less a personage than Mr. Harry Neil, but no one knew it. But the music of this village band was wonderful and well described as a "howling success." Harmony was not looked for. Discord and noise reined supreme. The burlesque was well staged and afforded the audience an opportunity for a good laugh.

The concluding number on the programme was the march, "Waterville," and the programme closed with "God Save the Queen."

Mr. Glidden is to be congratulated on the success of the concert.

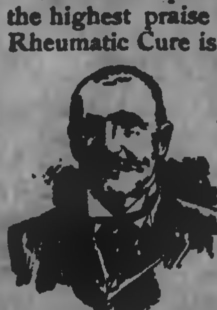
A Bold Little Bird.

The honeybird is a well known denizen of many parts of the Transvaal. It has the unique peculiarity that it does not fear men and women, but actually flies up to them, uttering a plaintive low note and, flying about their heads, tries to lead them on to the nearest clump of rocks or kopje. The bird knows full well that under a certain rock lies a store of honey, concealed by the cunning bees, and, rock honey being as much esteemed by birds as by human beings, the clever little fellow tries to induce a friendly being with two strong hands to push aside the rock, so that it may get to the honey.

If it succeeds in its object and the traveler on the veldt, attracted by the bird's flutterings to and fro between himself and the rocks, finds the honey, the bird changes its plaintive tone to one of joy and pleasure, as much as to say, "Thank you very much."

FOUR PHYSICIANS FAILED.



Mr. J. P. H. Ferris

One who speaks in terms of the highest praise of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is Mr. J. P. H. Ferris, Kingston, Ont. It cured him when all other remedies failed, and after four physicians had exhausted their skill upon him. He suffered with rheumatism in the legs and shoulders for over a year, and for six months the pain he endured was excruciating. For three weeks it confined him to his room. Happening to read of some of the remarkable cures effected by Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, he was induced to give it a trial. Almost from the time he began taking the first bottle he was relieved, and after using seven bottles, he found himself as well and free from pain as ever he was. He declares the medicine is a wonderful remedy, and recommends all rheumatic sufferers to give it a trial. He says if the directions are carried out faithfully, a cure is sure to follow.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont

PLAIN SAMANTHY ANN.

Twice lucky is the poet who
 May call his sweetheart Rose;
His sonnets speak her eyes of blue,
 His ballads sing her pose,
A rhyme with Gladys one might pen,
 Quite good enough to scan,
But what if your girl's cognomen
 Was plain Samanthy Ann?

Now, if 'twere Grace or Isabel
 Or May, without a doubt,
The muse would weave a mystic spell
 And some way help him out,
But Pegasus will veer in fright,
 Dismounting any man
Who dares an amorous verse indite
 To plain Samanthy Ann.

There's Poe's Lenore and Burns' Jean
 For song were graceful themes,
They well might speak of "modest mien"
 And weave their fancied dreams,
But my sweetheart! Ah, such a shame
 To thus inflict a ban
On rhyming lover with a name
 Like plain Samanthy Ann.

HOW A CLAIM PAID.

One Way of Getting Money Without Panning It Out.

"There are more ways of making money off a claim than panning it out," said an Alaska miner who had some luck with his pick and shovel. "For instance, I knew a man of means in the Dawson district who had a claim which had failed to be as profitable as expected, and he didn't know just what to do with it to get his money back until he had devoted considerable thought to it. And it was simple enough when he knew how.

"He quietly went to the gold commissioner and announced that he wished to pay his 10 per cent royalty on the product of his claim for a year, which was $6,000. The commissioner accepted the $6,000 royalty and gave him the usual receipt, stating on its face what it was for, with the number of the claim, location, etc.

"Then he 'waited patiently about,' like Mary's little lamb, and one day, in the course of human events, an Englishman came along looking for a good thing for some people who had money to spend. He asked Mr. Blank, among others, what he had to sell, and the smooth gent told him he didn't know exactly, but he would show him his goods. They looked over several claims that were practically unworked, and then in a casual way Mr. Blank showed the Englishman his receipt for royalty on claim so and so. 'And, you know,' he said, with a wink, 'that a man isn't paying royalty on any more than he can possibly help.'

"The Englishman was right on to that little game, of course, and he sized up the $6,000 receipt, looked over the claim in a general way and ended by buying it for $150,000."—Washington Star.

George Gould's Ready Wit.

I heard a story about George Gould which goes to show that the possession of great wealth doesn't necessarily preclude the possession of a passing ready wit. It was several or even more years ago, while the elder Gould was still alive, that a woman I know met George Gould at a dinner. He was presented to her quite casually, and she did not catch his name. Conversation turned on operations in Wall street, and the woman I am speaking of launched out into a perfect torrent of ladylike abuse of Jay Gould. Everybody tried to stop her, but she perceived nothing except that people were looking at the young man. Turning to him, she asked:

"Do you know Jay Gould?"

"Well, yes," he said; "I've had some business dealings with him."

You Make A Mistake

If you have Pale, Greenish, or Sallow Complexion, Cold Hands and Feet, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Lack of Energy or Stomach Troubles,

You Make A Mistake

When you do not use Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills to counteract these conditions. Why? Because they contain all the natural elements necessary to build up the human system. The way to a cure lies along the road from the stomach to the blood and nerves. All food is acted on by the stomach and prepared for absorption into the system.

Dr. Ward's Pills give just the proper help to a tired system, and [illegible] a glow of health through the whole human frame.

Household Worries

MAKE SO MANY PEOPLE LOOK PREMATURELY OLD.

They are the Fruitful Source of Headaches, Nervous Disorders, Pains in the Back and Lions and the Feeling of Constant Weariness that Afflicts so Many Women.

Almost every woman meets daily with innumerable little worries in her household affairs. Perhaps they are too small to notice an hour afterward, but these constant little worries have their effect upon the nervous system. Indeed, it is these little worries that make so many women look prematurely old. Their effect may also be noticeable in other ways, such as sick or nervous headache, fickle appetite, pains in the back or loins, palpitation of the heart, and a feeling of constant weariness. If you are experiencing any of these symptoms it is a sign that the blood and nerves need attention, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are women's best friend. They are particularly adapted as a regulator of the ailments that afflict women, and through the blood and nerves act upon the whole system, bringing brightness to the eye, and a glow of health to the cheeks. Thousands of grateful women have testified to the benefit derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Among those who freely acknowledge the benefit derived from this great medicine is Mrs. Jas. Hughes, of Dromore, P.E.I., a lady who possesses the respect and esteem of all who know her. Mrs. Hughes speaks of her illness and cure as follows:—"Until about four years ago I had always enjoyed good health, and was looked upon as one who possessed a robust constitution. Then I began to grow weak, and troubled with severe headaches, and frequently with violent pains in the region of my heart, from which I would only find ease through hot applications. My stomach also gave me much trouble, and did not appear to perform its customary functions. I was treated by a skilful doctor, but although under his care for several months, I grew gradually weaker and weaker, until finally I was not able to leave my bed. Then I called in another doctor, whose treatment, although continued for some eight months, was equally fruitless. I was scarcely able to hold my head up, and was so nervous that I was crying half the time. My conditions can best be described as pitiable. At this time a friend brought me a newspaper in which was the story of a cure of a woman whose case was in many respects similar to mine, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I then decided that I would give the pills a fair trial. When I began the use of the pills I was in such a condition that the doctor told me I would always be an invalid. I used four boxes of the pills before I noticed any benefit, and then I could see they were helping me. I used twelve boxes in all, covering a treatment of nearly six months, when I was as well as ever I had been in my life, and I have ever since enjoyed the best of health. I believe there would be fewer suffering women throughout the world if they would do as I did—give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

A medicine that is not right is worse than no medicine at all—much worse. Substitutes are not right, more than that, they are generally dangerous. When you buy Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People be sure that the full name is on the wrapper around every box. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Not a "Pompous Prelate."

Bishop Gailor, at a banquet at which the bishop of Kentucky was present, told this story on the latter gentleman:

"In one of the backwoods towns of Kentucky," said Bishop Gailor, "the pastor of the Baptist church gave out this notice before the sermon one Sunday morning:

"'I am told and have been partially convinced,' he said, 'that it is my Christian duty to give the following notice—to wit: That a man who styles himself "bishop of Kentucky" is about to visit this town and will hold forth in the courthouse on Wednesday evening. I desire to add, however, my brethren, that, in the humble opinion of your pastor, the place for members of this congregation on Wednesday night will be in this place listening to your own pastor rather than listening to the words of that pompous prelate at the courthouse.'

"On the following Thursday morning the Baptist went out upon the street seeking for some of his congregation who had not been at the Wednesday evening meeting. The first one he found was a deacon.

"'Well, deacon,' he asked, 'were you to the courthouse last night?'

"'Yes,' said the deacon.

"'I trust,' said the parson, with some frosty in his tone, 'you were edified by the words of the pompous prelate.'

"'Now, looky here, [illegible],' said the deacon, 'that ma[illegible] no pompous prelate; no such [illegible] he's just as common as there is. What do you reckon he did? He preached in his shirt sleeves!'"

ELEPHANT TORTURES

CAUSES THAT MAKE THE PONDEROUS BRUTES MAN KILLERS.

Many of Them Who Slay Their Keepers Should Be Allowed to Plead Justifiable Homicide—Why the Indian Elephants Hate the Mahouts.

One Sunday afternoon, while a concert was being held at the Crystal palace, an elephant belonging to a circus which had been performing there broke from its fastenings and killed its keeper. It then brushed through various partitions of wood and glass and appeared in the main building, where a great number of persons were listening to the music. It did not attempt to hurt any of the crowd, though it broke off with its trunk the uplifted arm of a statue, probably under the idea that this represented a man about to strike. After some time it allowed itself to be secured by another elephant. It was then decided to kill the animal, and after a dose of poison had failed a London gunmaker was sent for as executioner and shot the animal dead.

On the following Wednesday an inquest was held on the body of the man. If it had been one of the trials of animals held by jurists in the middle ages for the exhibition of legal subtlety, the evidence in favor of the elephant could not have been more clearly put. Mr. Sanger, its owner, admitted that the animal had once before killed a former keeper, and he gave the facts which led to the death of the second. The facts speak for themselves.

The first man had been discharged by Mr. Sanger 15 months previously for gross brutality to the animals. He came back and asked to be employed again. This was granted, and he was taken on, not as a keeper, but as a laborer. The very first time he went into the stable the elephant, though it was quite dark at the time, instantly recognized the man's voice and at once crushed him against the stall. That the creature had acted only in a panic of horror at the reappearance of a tormentor was so well established at the previous inquest that it was retained in the menagerie. It was exceptionally docile and was taken through towns and villages all over England.

Why, then, did he kill the second keeper? Because this man, after his Sunday dinner, declared that he would get square with the elephant for striking him with his trunk. He actually took a lance, and, followed by another keeper, also armed with a lance, he proceeded to "prod," i. e., pierce, the chained elephant. The tortured creature, after backing as far as it could, "at length rushed forward to escape the lance, broke its chains, threw down the keeper and trampled on him." If the elephant had been a man and had been put on his trial afterward, would it be too much to anticipate that the verdict would have been one of justifiable homicide?

The grounds for the ill will which the elephant in India often harbors toward its Indian mahout lie partly in the animal's temperament, partly in the character of these men. As most elephants behave with propriety to their drivers, we must believe that either the greater number of the mahouts do their duty by the beasts or that the latter are exceptionally forgiving. But there must be more than mere hearsay in the general belief that the mahouts commonly steal and appropriate a very large part of the elephant's allowance of food; that they are in consequence often half starved and hungry, and that the men use their steel hooked and spiked "ankus" in a very merciless way on animals which are often not in condition to do the work which is set them.

As the cost of an elephant's keep is from $20 to $40 a month, in proportion to the food given him, a proportion and quality which is fixed in reference to the work to be done, the margin for stealing is very great, being reckoned between the minimum necessary to keep the animal alive on low diet and that required for keeping him in fine condition on the march in a campaign, when he is allowed extra rations and even a bottle of rum per diem. No other animal is clever enough to know that overwork and underfeeding are probably caused by the direct agency of the man who maintains him. But it is pretty certain that the extraordinary intelligence of the elephant does enable it to put two and two together and to conclude that the person who gives him little food ought not to punish him for not being up to his work.

In any case the elephant bears no gratitude to the man who if he can gives him starvation rations and is his daily slave driver, and as long as native usage holds that "the driver and three generations of his family shall live on the beast he is paid to nourish" it must be expected that the animal will occasionally try the experiment as to whether the next generation can possibly be worse than its present tormentor. It is sometimes forgotten that an elephant may live for 70 or 80 years or even longer in the service of man and that in the unchanging east he may through this long life be farmed as a kind of property by the same family of mahouts; that the brutality of the father if he be a brute is learned by the children and grandchildren and that if the wretched elephant is in bad hands he has to put up with practically two of our working lives of ill treatment and semistarvation. The wonder is not that its temper occasionally goes amiss, but that it does not "break out" oftener.

The inference is that the natural temper of the elephant is almost the best and [illegible] that of any beast. A[illegible] and folk lore agree in [illegible] elephant is the type of [illegible] [illegible]ity. It is this belief [illegible] "[illegible]" to take [illegible] which they would [illegible] whatever.—[illegible]

Piecing Bank Notes.

I am told at the treasury department that it is not possible for a person to defraud the government by what they call "piecing"—that is, by clipping off small slices of several bank notes and fitting them together to resemble a complete note. Such offenses have been committed, and the guilty persons have been sent to the penitentiary, but the treasury never redeems the bills, and the loss falls upon the persons who send them in for redemption. There are several ways of committing frauds of this nature, and they are done so skillfully as to escape detection except by experts. There is now a $500 note on exhibition at the treasury which is made up of 16 slices of other notes so skillfully fitted together as to escape the notice of a number of banks and many people who handled it.—Chicago Record.

An Opera Air In Church.

Those of my churchgoing readers who are familiar with Mozart's opera of "Don Juan" and have even sung it in church in—

I am conscious of an interruption and a protest at this point, denying the allegation and defying the allegator, but I must insist on the truth of my statement. The tune "Smyrna" is not sung so much in church as it used to be, but you could find it in plenty of tunebooks 25 years ago. It is a beautiful melody, but not devotional except as it expresses the devotion of the fickle coquette in the opera as she consoles her bruised lover.—Irish Independent.

A Question of Advantage.

Man is distinguished from the beast by the power to speak his thoughts; the beast from the man by the power to keep its thoughts to itself.—Detroit Journal.

Epitaphs In a Tyrolean Churchyard.

A German traveler has discovered some quaint epitaphs in a Tyrolean cemetery.

On a tombstone in the valley of Tux was this inscription, "In pious remembrance of the honest widow Anna Kriedl. 40 years long." A miller is thus remembered, "In Christian memory of ——, who departed this life without human assistance."

A farmer whose initials only are given and appears to have been the author of his own epitaph has this memorial: "Here rests in God F. K. He lived 26 years as man and 37 years as husband."

On the tomb of a man who fell from a roof and was killed are these words, "Here fell Jacob Hosenknopf from the roof into eternity."

This wail of a desolate husband caps the climax, "Tears cannot bring thee back to life, therefore I weep."

A Good Excuse.

"You wish to be relieved from jury duty, but you haven't given a good reason," said the judge.

"It's public spirit," said the unwilling juryman, "on the score of economy. I have dyspepsia, your honor, and I never agree with anybody. If I go on this jury, there'll be a disagreement, and the court will have to go to the expense of a new trial."

"Excused," said the judge.—Tit-Bits.

CORBETT KNOCKED OUT.

Left Jolt to Jaw Retained the Championship for Jeffries, Though Generally Outpointed Throughout the Contest

New York, May 12. — The battle last night at the Seaside Club, Coney Island, for the heavyweight championship of the world resulted in a victory for Jim Jeffries, the holder, over Jim Corbett in the 23rd round. Corbett made a surprisingly good showing, and about the middle of the scheduled route threatened to win the battle, though he figured a 3 to 1 shot in the betting. Jeffries got to Corbett with difficulty, the latter's side stepping and general scientific work generally fooling the champion, who, however, scored at times seriously, finally, with lefts to body and jaw, winning by the clean knockout route. The men fought straight Queenberry rules. Charlie White was referee. The weights announced were: Jeffries 212 and Corbett 182 pounds. The fight started at 10.35. The clubhouse was well filled. The betting ranged from 3 to 1 to 2 to 1, with Jeffries always the favorite.

The finishing blow came as a sudden and startling surprise. Corbett had been making a wonderful battle. His defence was absolutely perfect, and, while he was lacking in strength he had more than held his own, and stood an excellent chance of winning the fight had it gone the limit. He had not been badly punished, and had managed to mark his man severely. The winning punch was a short left jolt to the jaw. Corbett dropped like a weight and was clear out. Jeffries showed ability to take a punching, go any distance and punch hard. He was clearly outboxed, and at times made to look like a novice. The crowd numbered fully 8,000, The battle was clean, and it is doubtful if there was a single infraction of the rules. The crowd was mostly orderly.

The Deciding Round.

Twenty-third Round — After a couple of passes, Jeff sent left to Corbett's jaw and rushed him across the ring to the ropes. At close quarters Corbett hooked left twice to face, sending the blood spouting again from Jeffries' face. Jeff threw two hard lefts to the body and smashed his left again on Corbett's face, sending Corbett's head back. Then Jeff crowded him to the ropes, and with a full swinging left smash on the jaw sent Corbett rolling down and out. Corbett's head struck the floor heavily, and he rolled over in an attempt to regain his feet, but he was too far gone to recuperate within the call of ten seconds. Corbett lay like a log after rolling over twice on the ring floor, but a moment after Referee White counted him out he regained his feet, and his seconds had little difficulty in reviving him. Time of round, 2 min. 11 sec.

NEWS NOTES.

James Jewhurst, an inmate of the Chatham House of Refuge, met a very sudden death on Thursday at noon by choking on a piece of meat. He was dead in three minutes.

The announcement is made in advance of the supplementary estimates that the Government intend to make a channel at Collingwood 125 feet wide and 25 feet in depth during the coming summer. As the cutting is of rock, the cost will run away up in the thousands.

On Wednesday was found a body partly buried in the sand on the beach, near Oswego, N.Y. The body was so badly decomposed that identification was impossible, but it is thought the body may be that of William Jordon, drowned off the steamer Argyle on the civic holiday last year.

A man named Haskins, who runs a sawmill at Elbe Mills, near Brockville, Ont., was arrested on Friday on a charge of dealing in "green goods." Haskins pleaded guilty, but as he has heretofore borne a good character and has not actually disposed of any of the stuff, he was let go on suspended sentence, giving bonds to appear when called upon to do so.

Fire yestrday afternoon at Dauphin, Man., destroyed the postoffice, owned by Thomas Iredale; loss, $1,500, insurance $1,000; J. J. Walker, loss $1,200, insurance $600; R. C. Ennis, of Neepawa, loss on flour $2,000, insurance $1,000; L. Dempsey, loss $2,000, insurance none; D. McIntosh, loss $500, partially insured. There are also a great number of small losers.

Bills in the Senate.

Ottawa, May 12. — In the Senate yesterday afternoon the bill to incorporate the St. Lawrence Terminal and Steamship Company was read a third time.

The bill to amend the Gas Inspection Act was read twice, so was the bill to amend the General Inspection Act.

Hon Mr. Mills moved the second reading of the bill respecting grants of land to members of the militia force on active service in the Northwest. Carried.

The Dominion Cotton Mills Company bill, the Royal Marine Insurance Company bill, the Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company's bill, changing the name to the "Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada," were read a second time and sent to their committees.

The House adjourned till Monday.

A COLEMAN CITIZEN

Mr. Joseph Taylor, Car Inspector, tells his Story—Kidney Disease Tortured him for Twelve Months Then Dodd's Kidney Pills were Tried and Cured Him.

Coleman, Ont., May 11.—Few residents of this place are as widely-known, or more highly respected, than is Mr. Jos. Taylor, resident at No. 18, Luttrell-Ave. Mr. Taylor is a car inspector in the service of the G.T.R., and his duties oblige him to be out in all kinds of weather.

The nature of his work, and the exposure consequent upon it, resulted in a very severe attack of Kidney Disease.

This distressing and painful complaint was not easily got rid of. For twelve months Mr. Taylor suffered intensely from it. He was forced to quit work, and the medical treatment he received did him not the slightest good.

He was in a very serious condition. Health and life were at stake, and both depended on his being able to find a medicine that would restore his Kidneys to strength and vigor.

Let Mr. Taylor take up the story at this stage. He says:—"A friend told me of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and said they would cure me. I gave them a trial, and found his words to be true. One box gave me great relief—two boxes cured me completely. I am now strong and well, and never have a trace of Kidney trouble.

This is one more striking proof of the marvellous power of Dodd's Kidney Pills, in all cases of Kidney Disease.

No uncertainty troubles the patient after he begins to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. The first few doses convince him that they will cure him, and his recovery is rapid, thorough and permanent.

SIBERIAN EXILE.

System so Long a Blot on Russian Will Be Abolished by Order of the Czar.

St. Petersburg, May 12. — Siberian exile, so long a blot on Russia, is finally to be abolished by order of the Czar. A bill for the abolition of deportation to Siberia was introduced into the Council yesterday and passed unanimously.

The worst side of deportation to Siberia, arbitrary exile without any judicial inquiry, is to be abolished altogether and the transportation of criminals in mass will cease, while the construction of central prisons for their temporary reception will be hurried forward.

There are about 300,000 exiles in Siberia, half of whom were sent there without trial, chiefly in the Province of Irkhutsk. One-third of them have settled down to some trade or handiwork, while the remainder have taken a nomadic life and by robbery, arson and other acts of violence they make the lives of the townspeople and peasants a burden.

The abolition of exile to Siberia is a step necessary toward the settlement of the vast region traversed by the railway that is now nearing completion with a class of desirable farmers. While Siberia remained a penal settlement it was difficult to get respectable men to move out there and engage in business or farming.

Will the "Jolly" Game Work?

Constantinople, May 12. — The matter of the settlement of the indemnity claims is temporarily delayed. Well-informed circles say that the Turkish Minister in Washington, Ali Ferrouh Bey, has given assurances of the settlement of the claims, but asks for a short delay, which is granted. Ahmed Pasha has left Constantinople. He is going to the United States with proposals, the object of which is the settlement of the claims in an indirect manner.

WHEN HOPE'S GONE.

Life's Not Worth the Living, South American Nervine Restores Hope and Perfect Health

Four years ago Annie Patterson, of Sackville, had a very severe attack of La Grippe, which left her with a very acute form of stomach trouble. She had about given up hope of a permanent cure when South American Nervine was recommended to her. She procured it and in a very short time experienced wonderful relief. After taking six bottles she was absolutely cured. She says "I believe it to be the most effective remedy for stomach trouble in the market." Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Both Had Been Out.

"The revenue cutters of the United States, as you may know," said an officer of one of them who likes his little joke, "confine their services, which are really invaluable to the government, to the coast, and it is a rare thing indeed for any one of them except those of the Bering sea, patrol to venture any distance out to sea. Nor is this rule an unsatisfactory one, for, say what you please about it, sea service is not as pleasant as the novelists and other romancers would have you believe.

"But I am getting off of my story, which applies to the cutter Grant when she was doing duty in New York bay and vicinity. Something had happened to call her down the shore somewhere, and she left the bay one afternoon, and early the next morning, while she was bowling along at about seven knots an hour, she hailed a big four master.

"'What ship is that?' came the cry from the Grant.

"'The Royal Bengal Tiger, 243 days out from Calcutta,' came the reply. 'What ship is that?'

"'Revenue cutter Grant,' was the plaintive answer, 'and we've been out all night.'"—Washington Star.

Elephant and Train.

A big and ugly elephant which had long been an object of pursuit to the sportsmen of the Straits Settlements one day wandered on to the railway line and tried conclusions with the engine of a goods train, charging it repeatedly and keeping up the contest for nearly an hour. The engine was reversed in the hope that the beast would allow the train to proceed, but as soon as there was any attempt to renew the journey the elephant returned to the encounter and resumed its obstructive tactics. The driver was afraid to charge the brute, lest the train should be thrown off the rails, and the contest might have gone on much longer had not the elephant backed into the engine and, setting its fore feet firmly between the rails, endeavored to shove the train backward with its hind quarters.

The driver took advantage of the opportunity and put on steam, gradually forcing the beast off the line. In this maneuver one of the wheels of the engine went over the hind legs of the animal, which was put out of its misery by the guard of a following passenger train.—Science.

Inconsistent.

"You keep me waiting so long!" complained the customer.

"Madam," said the worried grocer, who was economizing in his business by employing only one clerk, "ain't you the woman that was in here yesterday kicking about short weights?"—Chicago Tribune.

His Wonderful Nerve

ONLY ONE WAY

To Cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and all other Stomach Troubles.

That Way is to Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets - Every Tablet Taken is a Step Away From Death - They are the Only Cure

We have only one lifetime to live upon earth. Every sane man and woman desires to be happy during life. Only insane people commit suicide deliberately and intentionally.

But thousands of people kill themselves, just as truly and as surely as if they jumped into a river, blew their brains out or hanged themselves, although they don't realize that they are doing so. Everyone who allows disease to eat his life away, without doing all he can to cure it commits suicide.

It is easy to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and other stomach Troubles with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Simply take one or two of them after each meal. Eat heartily, but not gluttonously. Then your cure is going on every day.

The Summer Service for the Lakes.

The Lakefield News says:—"Mr. M. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent of the G.T.R., Toronto, was in the village on Tuesday, and gave the News a call. Mr. Dickson was very favorably impressed with the appearance of our pretty village. He stated that the G.T.R. was doing a great deal this season in bringing the advantages of the Kawartha Lakes as a summer resort before the public, advertising them very extensively. Lakefield would no doubt reap a benefit from it. With reference to the train service no change would be made, with the exception that the evening train will likely leave at 8 o'clock instead of 7.30. This season the train will not run to the wharf as was done last season but will stop at the station from where the passenger and baggage would be taken to the boats. This arrangement will be very satisfactory to all concerned, as last season the train running to the wharf did not work very satisfactorily."

Old Man Used a Poker.

County Magistrate Edmison visited Norwood yesterday and heard a case in which an old man named Waller, over 80 years of age, was charged with striking his brother-in-law, Wilson, with a poker. Waller lived in Wilson's house but did all he could to annoy him and caused a lot of trouble. The Magistrate enlarged the case for a week, ordering the accused to find another place of residence.

Dreading an Operation.

Weary of experimenting with salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment and found in it an absolute cure for piles. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required to effect a permanent cure.

CANADA IN ENGLAND

A Business Man Talks of the Feeling—The Success of Canadian Goods.

A gentleman who has done much to bring Canada before the people of the Old Country, is Mr. J. W. Lester, of London, England, who was a guest at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto. Mr. Lester is an enthusiastic Canadian, having, prior to the settling in London, been a prominent business man of Toronto, and an interview the Mail and Empire with him touching the spread of Canadian trade in the Old Land proved of more than usual interest.

"Canada for the Canadians used to be the cry here," said Mr. Lester, "but I tell you now we Englishmen," and he smiled, "think Canada is for the Britisher. Why, we are all Britishers. When first I went to London, not much more than two years ago, hanged if they did not look upon a Canadian as an American.

"The Jubilee helped Canada a little, but the glorious stand of our brave boys in this war in South Africa, who volunteered without being first asked by the Motherland, has cemented the ties between the Old Land and Canada as nothing else ever could.

"Yes, there is New Zealand and Australia, India, and all the other cubs of the British lion, but Jack Canuck is the favorite son of old John Bull, the big, staunch cub of a great and powerful sire.

"The merit of the Canadians is now fully recognized in London. I find that Canadians who enter into business over there are always successful. Canadian goods are very popular, not because they are from the Dominion, but on account of the fact of them being Canadian stamps them as worthy of approval. My personal experience is that a Canadian will do business there where an American now will not.

"The English business man is very conservative, but the spread of our business, the Canadian firm which I represent in London, has been phenomenal. There is a great building up of the Empire going on, and Canada is in the front piling up the great structure-trade.

At this juncture Mr. R. C. Davison, of Melbourne, Australia, a former Torontonian, came along, and was introduced by Mr. Lester.

Both Mr. Lester and Mr. Davison had come to Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the Dodds Medicine Company, Limited, when managers of the foreign branches of the company assemble from sections of the globe to discuss the business campaign for the ensuing year.

PERSONAL BUSINESS EXPERIENCES.

"As you know," continued Mr. Lester, "I left Toronto a few years ago to establish a London office for the Dodds Medicine Company, and at the same time Mr. Davison here left for Australia with the same object in view. The sale and reputation of these goods had spread so fast that the establishment of these two offices was absolutely necessary. The remedies have proved so efficacious that in England as in Canada they have come to stay."

"And in Australia, too," put in Mr. Davison.

"Why," continued Mr. Lester, "I understand the business of the company has spread in the United States, too, that the sales there are something enormous. But it is the spread of the sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in England of which they are most proud, because the Englishman is such a conservative and cautious purchaser. However, the company were satisfied to place these pills and also Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets before the public and wait for the merit of the medicines to speak for themselves, and I tell you they have. They are every bit as popular and heavy sellers to the trade in England as they are in Canada, and you know what that is."

SOMETHING TO BE RELIED ON.

"A reliable cure for kidney disease is worth its weight, not in gold, but in diamonds, and the Englishman realizes this. There are so many imitations, you know, that do more harm than good, and will never sell in this great world.

"Why, to-day you read of some 'great' (?) remedy, and in a few months it is gone, and as dead as many a poor sufferer who has used the 'just as good article.' Dodd's Kidney Pills have been here in Canada for years and years, and are just what they are advertised to be.

"Without any foreign advertising the virtues of the Dodd's Kidney Pills had spread to such an extent that it was found necessary to establish a branch in London to supply the European trade. They are now being just as well received by the European public as in Canada and the United States, where they have been selling for years.

"Australia has always been in touch with the Old Land, more so than Canada, and with the increase of the London business that in the Antipodes grew proportionately, as Mr. Davison has already told you."

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1865	3,896,869
Ontario Mutual	1869	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Stage Thunder and Lightning.

The reason why the mechanism for making the noises that give realism to a play are never seen by the audience is because the illusion would be completely destroyed if its operations were exposed to view, explains Frank Fyles in The Ladies' Home Journal.

The noise of the waiter falling down stairs with a tray of dishes, for instance, is simulated by dropping as often as necessary a basket filled with bits of broken china, and a cylinder of silk, turned with a crank, drawing the cloth over wooden flanges, gives a perfect rain and wind storm. A lightning accompaniment is made by touching an ordinary file to a bit of carbon, both on live wires, and thunder by rolling tenpin balls in a long, narrow, wooden trough.

The rumble of the wheels of a carriage is imitated with a vehicle like a miniature freight car run on a wooden track, and a striking of wood or metal on hard or soft surfaces serves to convince an audience of the approach or departure of a horse. When there is war, a single shot or two is usually the real thing, but a rifle volley effect is obtained by rapidly beating a dried calfskin with [illegible], while heavy strokes on the bass drum will convey the idea of cannonading.

If this mechanism were seen in operation by an audience it would make the whole performance seem ridiculous.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilitites.

GEN. BULLER'S FORCES HAVE BEEN FIGHTING

Clearing the Boers from Northern Natal Preparatory to a Forward Movement --The British are also Clearing the Country Around Thaba Nchu.

BULLER HAS A SUCCESSFUL ENGAGEMENT

Ladysmith, May 14.—General Buller has had a successful engagement on the Biggarsburg road. It is reported he has forced the range.

BURGHERS GIVING UP ARMS

Kroonstad, Saturday, May 12.—President Steyn has gone to Heildberon, not Lindley, and has declared the former the new capital. Four hundred burghers have given up their arms here and in this neighborbood. Although the bridge across the Vaalsch has been destroyed, a good deviation exists where the road ran before the bridge was constructed. The Transvaalers are reported to be massing at the Vaal. The Standard and Diggers News, of Johannesburg, shows that dissensions exist in the Transvaal Volksraad. Railway repairing is progressing rapidly. The town accepts the occupation quietly.

CLEARING THE COUNTRY

Thaba Nchu, Sunday, May 13.—The 8th Division, with its front extending 30 miles, was yesterday moving forward. General Grenfell and General Brabant followed the Boers, reaching Newberrys Mills and capturing great quantities of flour and grain. Gen. Brabant's main force with Campbell's brigade of Guardsand Gen. Boye's brigade have cleared the country. The Boers are splitting up and retiring in the direction of Glocoland.

BULLER'S OPERATIONS

London, May 14.—A despatch received from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, timed 12.05 p.m. to-day brings the first intimation of success attained by Gen. Buller in North Natal. The sender of this despatch evidently assumes that news of the affair had been received direct from the scene of hostilities, for he merely says: "Gen. Buller's official telegram notifying his success at the Biggarsberg, received here an hour ago, has given keen satisfaction. It is confidently anticipated that Dundee will be occupied by the British to-day. The residents of the north country are delighted, as forcing the Biggarsberg means that they will speedily be enabled to return to their homes." About the time this message was filed arrived another despatch, dated Stone Hill Farm, at 8.20 this morning. It says: "After four days march eastwards at the foot of the Biggarsberg Ridges in the direction of Helpmakaar, which was occupied by the Federals, the 2nd Brigade on Sunday led the attack. Dundonald's cavalry broke the Boers' centre and Bethune's posse advanced on their extreme right. In the direction of Pomeroy a small part of the Burghers occupied a ridge overlooking Helpmakaar, but they did not wait for the assault. Recent British scouting in the direction of Dundee has shown that the Federals were in great force on the Biggarsburg. So, apparently, Gen. Buller conclnded that it was necessary to clear them from his rear before commencing a movement in the direction of the Drakensburg range. If that is his plan, he has possibly divided his forces, sending one column eastwards to threaten Vryheid and Utrecht and to take Laings Nek in the east, while a westward column attempts to form a junction with the forces of Lord Roberts via the Harrismith railroad."

WILL CREED BE CHANGED?

Presbyterian Assembly at St. Louis Will Discuss the Confession Question.

St. Louis, May 14. — The Presbyterian General Assembly will meet Thursday in this city. Divines and laymen to the number of about 1,000 will be present.

Only once before—in 1874—has the assembly met in this city. The interest in the topics on the progress and scope of the overtures to be presented will make this one of the most important assemblies held for the past 20 years. One of the most important matters to be brought up is the question as to whether the confession of faith shall be revised.

The following are the sections in the confession to which it is said exception is taken:

3. By the decree of God, for the manifestation of His glory, some men and angels are predestined unto everlasting death.

4. These angels and men thus predestinated and foreordained are particularly and unchangeably destined, and their number is so definite that it cannot be increased or diminished.

St. Louis Cars Tied Up Yet.

St. Louis, Mo., May 14. — An earnest effort was made on Saturday to settle the street railway strike by means of arbitration along the lines suggested by H. Woodward and other employers of union labor. The efforts came to nothing, however, as the strikers and street car companies could not be brought together on any proposition involving the recognition of the union in the manner desired. There were some minor rumpuses and two arrests were made.

A Man Killing Horse.

Kingston, Ont., May 14. — A man named Lalune, working for Mr. Goslin, Pittsburg Township, was kicked in the abdomen by a horse and after much suffering died on Friday. Some months ago Patrick Blake was kicked by the same horse and also in the abdomen. He died from the injuries also.

To Clean Iron Bedsteads.

The following paste is excellent for this purpose: Mix together one gill of parafin, half a gill of naptha and enough tripoli powder to make a rather soft paste. Apply with a bit of felt, rub till all dirt is removed, dust with dry tripoli powder and polish with a soft cloth.

CAZES GUILTY OF MURDER.

Quebec Policeman Who Killed His Wife Is Convicted.

A Verdict of Manslaughter Was Strenuously Contended for by the Lawyers for the Defence, Without Avail—The Crime Was Done While the Man Was Under the Influence of Liquor—To Be Sentenced To-Day.

Quebec, May 14. — On the 24th of February last the sergeant of Police Station No. 3, on Jacques Cartier Market, in St. Roch's suburb, Quebec, was notified by a telephone message that a man was in a helpless state of drunkenness and furious on Charest street. Two contables went there immediately and found that it was a man belonging to the municipal police force, Constable Joseph Hermenegilde Cazes. They, with a great deal of trouble, brought him back to the station. Cazes was living on a flat on the third floor of the same building with his mother, his wife and two children.

"Joe Has Killed His Wife."

Immediately after his arrest the two constables were called upstairs by the mother of the prisoner. The old mother said to them: "Joe (meaning her son) has killed his wife. Come in and look for yourself." They were then stupefied to find in a small room the lifeless body of the prisoner's wife (Bridget Conlon). She had received five different wounds. The mother said that her son had arrived to take his dinner at 2.45 o'clock; that he looked sober; that he had a quarrel with his wife about the kitchen stove which was not going. She went to her own room with the children, and a few minutes after she heard three consecutive detonations, and she heard the prisoners leaving the house immediately after that by the rear door, after having locked the front door, and left with the key.

Indicted for Murder.

Cazes was then confined in the common jail under the accusation of having killed his wife. He was on Saturday afternoon found guilty in spite of the efforts of the lawyers of the defence to get a verdict of manslaughter, because Cazes was so much under the influence of liquor when he committed the crime that he did not know what he was doing. The sentence will be given by Judge Rose this morning. Cazes is 27 years old. His unfortunate wife was some three years older.

COAL SCHOONER WENT DOWN.

The Thomas Howland's Bow Was Stove in by Floating Ice.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 14. — With a hole in her bow, stove in while crushing through a field of ice, the schooner Thomas Howland, coal laden, from Buffalo to Bay City, Mich., began filling about four mile out of port on Saturday afternoon and sank within fifteen minutes in 40 feet of water.

Outside the breakwater she encountered large fields of floating ice, but the powerful tug hauled her through and on for a mile in open water, where it was discovered that she was filling through a great hole in the bow which had been jammed full of ice, preventing a leak until dislodged in action of the water. Capt. Jacob Jacobson rushed to his cabin for some valuable papers, and the crew of six men lowered a yawl boat and stood by until the captain should reappear. He barely escaped the rushing water, which was close upon him as he sprang up the companionway. Capt. Jacobson leaped to the yawl just as the Howland plunged bow foremost into the lake and sank.

Capt. Jacobson and his crew were taken on board the tug. The Howland was owned by W. H. Davis of Milwaukee.

Col. Tyrwhitt Very Ill.

Ottawa, May 14. — Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., lay at death's door last night in St. Luke's Hospital, suffering from an acute attack of heart trouble, consequent upon a period of continued ill-health. Mrs. Tyrwhitt is a constant attendant at his bedside. The doctors of the hospital declared the Colonel was somewhat easier last night than he had been, but that he was by no means out of danger. The chances of his recovery are slight. It is thought it is only a matter of a few days.

SOUTH AFRICAN REPUBLICS

Must Come Under British Flag—Like India and Then Canada.

Birmingham, May 12. — Mr. Jos. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, presided last evening at the annual meeting of the Grand Committee of Liberal Unionists of Birmingham, the occasion being his first appearance here since the outbreak of the war. The meeting was held in the Birmingham Town Hall, the approaches to which were thronged. An immense audience greeted Mr. Chamberlain, who was accompanied by his sons.

Conditions in South Africa.

Discussing the question of the conditions of a South African settlement and the fate of the republis, Mr. Chamqerlain said: "It is premature to discuss details; but I am quite ready to take the opinions of the country, and, above all, the opinions of those self-governing colonies which have come so magnificently to our assistance. While the Government do not wish to be vindictive, they are determined that never again shall the republics be a nursery of conspiracy, and they will see that justice is done to those who are determined to be loyal. The Government are not prepared to recognize the independence of the Boer republics, and we are determined that the republics shall be finally incorporated under the British flag. For an interval they must be a Crown colony, such as India is, but we hope they will eventually become a great self-governing colony like Canada or Australia."

SEVEN MEN WERE KILLED.

Philadelphia, May 13. — Frank Lantel, a tower operator in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., stationed at the entrance of the tunnel under 25th street, just outside of Fairmont Park, slept at his post. As a result a disastrous rear-end freight train collision occurred early Saturday morning in the tunnel, causing the death of Engineer George Loeb and Fireman George Hinchman, and, it is believed, five tramps, who were stealing a ride. Fire followed the wreck and a dozen or more firemen were injured while fighting the flames, and are now in the hospitals.

The loss to the company is estimated at $140,000.

Lantel Under Arrest.

The man who was responsible for the accident, Frank Lantel, surrendered himself on Saturday afternoon to C. O. O. Bent, a superintendent in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. He is now under arrest.

The known dead are George Laub, engineer, and George Hinchman, fireman, both of this city. Their bodies and those of the tramps are buried beneath the wrecked cars, and cannot be recovered until the fire, which followed the collision, is extinguished. About 80 firemen of the City Fire Department were either burned or overcome by smoke while fighting the flames. None of them, however, were seriously injured.

Physicians Prescribe It

It has become quite common for physicians to prescribe Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for patients who are run down by the ravages of chronic disease. They recognize in it a restorative of inestimable worth in which are found the very elements of nature required to build up the system and form new flesh and muscle. Its revitalizing action on nerves and blood places it beyond the reach of rivals as an absolute cure for diseases of the nerves and blood. 50 cents a box.

ANOTHER LABOR DISPUTE.

Outlook Not Encouraging—Twenty Thousand Men Out.

London, May 14. — The dispute in the potteries trade now involves 20,000 men, many of whom belong to no union, and are therefore dependent upon charity. The manufacturers insist upon closing down their works rather than give in to the demands for increased wages. Meanwhile, as The Speaker points out; there are already signs of pottery-making in the United States being greatly stimulated, and if the dispute keeps up much longer the United States will be in danger of getting such a grip on the trade that English goods will not be wanted.

A Binder Twine Scandal.

Ottawa, May 14. — After the wrangle over the West Huron and Brockville election cases will come a binder twine scandal. Such is the order [illegible] to the Opposition by [illegible]. It has been whispered [illegible] that Mr. Mulock is the greatest opponent to granting an investigation with the election cases. [illegible] turn up and give evidence. [illegible] than one person will turn white when he is asked, who sent the telegram saying, "Keep your man low?"

ROBERTS NOW AT KROONSTAD

Boers Fled From the British and There Was No Fighting.

President Steyn, After Finding That the Burghers Would Not Make a Stand, Left for Lindley—Many Boer Prisoners Were Taken—Back of the Boer Resistance Has Been Broken—Another Canadian Killed.

London, May 14. — (4 a.m.) — The war is practically over, says The Daily Chronicle's Kroonstad correspondent, and in less definite terms this is the view to be gathered from all the correspondents. They picture the Boers as utterly demoralized and disheartened by Lord Roberts' unexpected rapid advance, and by his facile turning of the carefully prepared positions of the Boers.

There was practically no fighting, and there are no further details to give respecting the occupation of Kroonstad.

Boer Horses Wretched.

The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "The Union Jack was hoisted in the market place by Mrs. Lockhead, the American wife of a Scotchman. Most of the horses of the Boers are in a wretched condition, but President Kruger declares he will continue the war."

It appears that the Boers at Kroonstad had been reinforced by 3,000 men from Natal last Friday, and that altogether 10,000 men with 20 guns trekked from Kroonstad on the approach of Lord Roberts.

The Boers made an ineffectual stand at Boschrand and had elaborate entrenchments in front of Kroonstad, which offered great facilities for a rear guard action. Their only anxiety, however, appears to have been to get away safely with all their guns and convoys which again they have successfully accomplished. The few stores they were unable to carry away they burned.

Steyn Frantic With Rage.

President Steyn is represented as having been frantic with rage and as having kicked and cuffed the burghers after vainly imploring them to continue the fight. Lord Roberts, after a march which is regarded as worthy of being ranked with his famous march to Kandahar, has thus covered another stage of his campaign. Experience has taught the critics to be very chary in accepting reports of Boer demoralization.

The Times says: "The signs point to military breakdown on the part of the Boers, but after what has passed we cannot accept the reports of demoralization without reserve. The game of war must be strictly played out on to the end."

The New Free State Capital.

"Lindley, the new Free State capital, is 45 miles southeast of Kroonstad, half way to Bethlehem, and was probably selected as a convenient rendezvous for the commandoes now retiring before Gen. Brabant and Gen. Rundle in the Thabanchu district. Brabant has occupied Hoepellok, half way on the road from Thabanchu to Ladybrand.

Nothing as to Mafeking.

"There is not a word of news regarding Gen. Buller's movements or from the far western side. Nothing is known, therefore, of the progress of Mafeking relief column."

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

Gen. Lord Roberts Tells the Story of Entering Kroonstad on Saturday Without Opposition—Steyn Had Fled.

London, May 14. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Roberts:

"Kroonstad, May 12. — (2 p.m.) —I entered Kroonstad at 1.30 without opposition to-day, when the Union Jack was hoisted amidst cheers from the few British residents.

Steyn Had Fled.

"President Steyn fled last evening, after vainly endeavoring to persuade the burghers to continue opposing us. The Transvaalers said they would no longer fight on Orange Free State soil, and made off for the Vaal River.

"The Free Staters accused the Transvaalers of having made use of them and then deserting. Many of the Free Staters have gone to their homes.

Entering the Town.

"The procession entering the town was headed by my bodyguard, all of whom were colonials, and after my staff and foreign officers came the North Somerset Imperial Yeomanry, followed by Pole-Carew's division, consisting of the Guards and the Eighteenth Brigade, Navals, the Eighty-Third, Eighty-Fourth and Eighty-Fifth Batteries, two five-inch guns, manned by the Royal Artillery Company and the Twelfth Engineers.

"Generals Botha and Dewet accompanied the Transvaalers."

EARLIER BULLETINS.

London, May 14. — Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office under date of Geneva Siding, May 11, evening, as follows:

"My headquarters, with Pole-Carew's division, marched twenty miles to-day and are now at Geneva Siding, 14 miles from Kroonstad and about six miles from Boschrand, where the Boers are holding entrenched positions. Gordon's brigade is in touch with them; Tucker's division is a short distance southeast and Hamilton's force is still further east.

"Broadwood's brigade overtook a part of the enemy's convoy yesterday afternoon at Potgieter's Laager, southeast of Ventersburg, and captured several wagons and some prisoners.

"French, with Porter's and Dickson's brigades and Hutton's mounted infantry, is some distance due north of this place.

"We have taken nearly 100 prisoners during the last two days. All the Free Staters who could give a good account of themselves have been disarmed and allowed to return to their farms.

"The nights are getting much cooler."

When Near Kroonstad.

London, May 14.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Boschrand, May 12.—(9.05 a.m.) —I am eight miles south of Kroonstad. The enemy evacuated the first line of entrenchments during the night. We are now reconnoitering towards Kroonstad.

"Gen. French's cavalry seized the drift over the Valsch River at 4.30 last evening, just in time to prevent passage being opposed by the enemy."

BULLER AGAIN AT IT.

A London Standard Special From Durban Says There is Heavy Fighting in Natal Going On.

London, May 14. — The Standard published the following from Durban dated Sunday:

"There are persistent rumors here of heavy fighting in Natal. A Red Cross train left last night for the north."

MORE DETAILS OF THE CAPTURE.

Kroonstad, Orange Free State, May 14. — The arrival of Lord Roberts was hailed with enthusiasm by all the inhabitants. Three hundred Free Staters were anxious to surrender. The bridge to the south had not been destroyed, but the large bridge near the town had been demolished. The Irish brigade, with the Federals, on Friday burned the goods shed. According to the townspeople many of them were drunk.

The Boers are now trekking to the Vaal River, where they are encamped. Gen. French encamped northeast of the town, and despatched a force to cut the line. The project succeeded late at night, but unfortunately after the departure of the last train. Although the troops had marched 16 miles, they were in excellent form on entering the town. Many arrests have been made, chiefly of those who had maligned the British. It was found that many persons had been deported from Ladybrand for ultra-sympathy with the British.

Steyn Goes to Lindley.

President Steyn has gone to Lindley, the new seat of the Free State Government. A number of the burghers are trekking homeward. The opposition in the Free State is practically over. All the prisoners in the hands of the Boers here agree that the quarrel between the Free Staters and the Transvaalers is so acute that the Transvaalers have decided to leave their allies, whom they accuse of cowardice and lack of patriotism. Most of the Transvaal prisoners think that if they are defeated at the Vaal River the Boers will retreat to Pretoria, but there appears to be a growing distrust in the Transvaal Government. In a word, the back of the Boer resistance seems to have been broken. Burghers are fighting without their previous stubbornness. They seem ready to retreat on the slightest pretext. The prisoners, even the Transvaalers, appear glad to have been captured. They say they are sick of a war which can have only one end. Several have exclaimed: "We have lost our liberty; but why should we lose our lives?"

FATE OF THE BOERS SETTLED.

View of German Papers, Now That Roberts Has Kroonstad.

Berlin, May 14. — The occupation of Kroonstad by Lord Roberts, without resistance, has caused the greatest surprise here. The military expert of The Local Anzeiger finds explanation in the fact that many of the Boers have deserted. He says: "Lord Roberts' advance was splendidly executed. It is worthy to be placed beside the Kandahar expedition. The situation is now changed so greatly in favor of the British that the fate of the Transvaal Boers is settled. President Steyn's movement eastward is interpreted as confirming the rumors of bickerings between the Transvaalers and the Free Staters."

Visit of the Boer Peace Delegates.

Paris, May 14. — The Matin, in an editorial article on Saturday, says the Boer peace delegates have chosen an unfavorable moment to visit the United States, since, according to the paper, the Americans are now doing in the Philippines what the British are doing in South Africa.

Cause of Johannesburg Explosion.

London, May 14. — A despatch from Lorenzo Marquez says positive evidence has been obtained that the explosion in the Begbie Engineering Works at Johannesburg was due to the carelessness of inexpert workmen.

Lost Two Sons; Another Going.

London, May 14. — Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Charles Day, formerly of Montreal, and once a challenger for the America's cup. His two eldest sons have been killed in the war. A third son, Adrian Rose, has just been gazetted, and started for South Africa Thursday.

A CANADIAN KILLED.

Three Wounded Also on May 10—Dead Man Is A. G. W. Floyd of the 7th Fusiliers, London.

Ottawa, May 14. — The Department of Militia has been notified of the following casualties in the Second Special Service Battalion on May 10:

Wounded — 7,018, Pte. E. Armstrong, R.C.A., Quebec; 7,208, Pte. G. W. Leonard, 22nd Oxford Rifles; 7,221, Pte. A. R. McLean, 38th Dufferin Rifles.

HEAVY WAR OFFICE ORDER.

Sanford Company of Hamilton Making 30,000 Khaki.

Hamilton, May 14. — Canada's assistance to the Motherland in the South African war has resulted in an immense order for clothing being given to the Sanford Manufacturing Company by the Imperial authorities. The company is now busy turning out a contract for 30,000 two-piece uniforms of khaki serge for the army in South Africa. The contract calls for the delivery of the uniforms in four months, in lots of 2,000 per week. The forwarding is direct, under the supervision of the Dominion Government, and Alexander Dynes is the inspector appointed by the Government. The order is the first received from the Home Government, and it opens out great possibilities in the way of contracts for such work.

Esthetic Sins.

Offensive noises, offensive odors, offensive sights, should be minimized as much as possible. The basic law in these respects is the same as the old common law which teaches that one man's liberty extends as far as it may without encroaching upon some other man's liberty. I have no right to do that which offends my neighbor's ear, nose or eye; neither have I the right to offend his intellectual, moral and religious senses.

Many a man punctilious in nearly every other respect thinks it not unbecoming to smoke in crowds in the street or in boats, yet smoking in public is no more justifiable than is eating in public. It violates the basic law that a person should do nothing in the presence of another in which he himself alone participates. If the second person has no part in an act, then that act should not operate upon him, and it is wrong to force him to participate in the act either physically or mentally.

The blowing of smoke into the air that might be breathed by another person is an ethical and esthetic offense. It is only a question of time when every civilized community will so regard it and may place a prohibitory law on the statute book.—Werner's Magazine.

Truly Cynical.

"He's very cynical in his comments on some of the most successful historical characters."

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne; "to him the corridors of time simply represent a grand overcrowded rogues' gallery."—Washington Star.

There is a story of a man who was so busy looking at the stars that, as he walked, he stumbled into a well. That's the story of a typical man, too busy looking at things away off, to notice more important things near by.

One-sixth of all deaths are from consumption. But the man goes along with his eyes bulging to watch cholera and yellow fever. He disdains to cure the cold or check the little cough, and consumption trips him up.

Don't neglect little ailments. Keep the system up to the point of effectual resistance against disease. This is best done by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, increases the action of the blood-making glands, cures all diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition, except cancer of the stomach, purifies the blood, increases the vital energy and so enables the body to resist and throw off disease. Even when there is emaciation, weakness, hectic, cough, bleeding at the lungs and other alarming symptoms, "Golden Medical Discovery" can be counted on to help every time and to heal 98 times out of every hundred.

Sick people can consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., by letter, without fee or charge. Every letter is read in private, and treated as a sacred confidence. All replies are sent in plain envelopes.

"Last spring I was taken with severe pains in my chest, and was so weak I could hardly walk about the house," says Mrs. G. H. Kerr, of Post [illegible], Webster Co., Iowa. "I tried several [illegible] and they told me I had consumption. I thought of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery [illegible] I thought I could try some of it. Before I had taken the first bottle I was very much better. I took five bottles of it and have not yet had any returns of [illegible] trouble."

A Timely Bullet.

W. Weinecke, a Rotherham reservist, 2nd Northumberland Fusiliers, was among those who got to the top of a hill at Stormberg, in spite of the heavy Boer fire. Then the order came to retire. "Of course we could not remain there without being taken so we began to look for a way down. We could not get down the same way as we came up as the Boers commanded it with their fire. There was nothing else except a drop of about 14 ft. straight down. The first to attempt it fell, and I think broke his neck; the next got shot dead, and the third was shot in the hand. I made a jump for it, and I was surprised I had not broken any of my limbs, and I can assure you I lost no time in getting away. Well, there was a barbed wire fence in the path, and I got tied up in that with two more fellows. A bullet came, and broke the wire, and released us. Several men were shot in this fence."

Cooks Facing Fire.

Some amusing stories of our irrepressible Irishmen at the front are related in a letter by Sergt. Medland Newsham, D.L.L., to his parents at Northampton. He writes: "In the Colenso fight one of the officers of the Dublins went down off the lines and saw the chief cook there fighting and firing away with the best of them. He asked him what he was doing there. He said, 'Foightin,' sorr. Can't help it — couldn't resist the music any longer.' The officer asked him where the other cooks were. 'They're feightin', too, sorr.' The officer told him to get the cook pots and make some coffee for the men. They went back three miles, got the pots, and started boiling them, when a shell blew all their constructions to pieces. The poor 'Dubs' got no coffee that day. They have been cut up badly, but are as full of fight as ever. They were the first in action at Talana, and have been fighting practically ever since."

THE HOME DOCTOR.

Oily medicines can easily be taken from a spoon that is very hot, as the oil slips off quickly.

Bathing the face in hot water every five minutes for an hour will sometimes cure a cold in its first stages.

Those who suffer with eczema can often obtain relief by applying lint wrung out of cold water or lead lotion to the affected parts. Only nourishing and digestible food should be taken.

THE ART OF WAR.

With an 8 inch heliograph mirror it is possible to establish communication between points 150 miles apart.

An army of 10,000 men which can cover [illegible] in the day is stronger than a force of 20,000 which can cover only 15.

Soldiers, when marching in sections—that is, four abreast—occupy as nearly as possible as many yards as there are men in the [illegible].

NAPOLEON AT ST. HELENA.

He spoke anew about escaping and said that if he was inclined to try it, which he was not, there were 95 chances in 100 against his effecting it. "But," said he, "this jailer every week imposes new and vexatious restrictions upon me, just as if I was in a place where I had nothing to do but to step into a boat and be away. When I was at Elba, it was different. It is true that while one lives there is a chance of escape. Although ironed and chained down, inclosed in a cell of stone and every human precaution taken against a possibility of it, still there is a chance of escape, and the only way to prevent it is to put me to death.

"This is the only sure way. Let him put me to death, and all uneasiness on the part of the European powers, Lord Castlereagh himself and his government will cease. No more expense then; no more squadrons to watch me or poor soldiers, fatigued to death with pickets and guards or harassed with carrying burdens up those precipices. I am sure those poor devils have reason to hate me and wish my death. They must, however, be conscious that the fatiguing duties imposed upon them are unnecessary and vexatious, as the sight of the island must convince every one but a suspicious coglione that escape from it was nearly impossible unless, as I have said before, that while there is life there is a chance, if attempted.

"Where could I go to, allowing that I got out of the island? Every place I could arrive at I would find enemies to seize me. This governor's conduct will soon be known in England and will not procure him any credit there. Those officers all will write an account of the unnecessary rigor with which I am treated and their opinion of it. The newspapers will be full of it."

A FEMININE FAILING.

"I saw by a paper last week that a colored woman was excluded from testifying in court because she didn't know her right hand from her left and was therefore esteemed too ignorant for her evidence to be of any value," said an observant man yesterday. "Now, do you know I don't believe one woman out of six knows her right hand from her left without stopping to consider the matter.

"I was standing in the foyer of a theater the other day at a matinee watching the audience, mostly feminine, as it passed in. Well, each maid handed her check to the usher, and he called out 'First door to the right' or 'Second door to the left,' as the case might be. With hardly an exception those girls turned in the wrong direction; then they'd pause to consider, exclaim, 'We're going the wrong way!' and skurry back again.

"This happened so often that I spoke to the usher about it.

"'They always do it,' he replied laconically. 'I usually point so they'll know the way, but I've neglected to do that today. They're all right if they stop to think, but they never do think.'

"I myself know an intelligent young woman who has to make a little motion as if she were writing with both hands before she can determine the right one, and she declares that all her acquaintances are affected in like manner, so perhaps this is a general feminine failing, and the colored witness was unjustly excluded."—Baltimore News.

Saved the Bank's Money.

"Whenever I buy anything," once said Russell Sage in telling the story, "I make it a rule to talk with the salesman. I am a member of a great many different boards of directors in a great many lines of investment, and I often find this information of great service. Some time ago I went into a large clothing store to buy a suit of clothes at a low price that I had seen advertised. I bought the clothes for $14, I think, and in talking with the clerk I found the lot had been sent to his store from a big manufacturing concern to be sold on commission. I got them for less than cost. Now, I have kept a general store and understand that business, and there is no money in that sort of thing.

"A few weeks afterward this manufacturing concern applied to one of the banks I am connected with for a large loan. Their credit was apparently all right, but on the strength of what I had learned I held up that loan, and a short time later the concern failed."—Saturday Evening Post.

Montana Sapphires.

There are in Montana sapphires of beauty and value, but they have never been as systematically worked as have been the sapphires of the orient. True, they are light in color, but they have more brilliancy than the Asian sapphires and often exhibit a [illegible], or double color, under different lights. The supposition that a sapphire should be dark blue is [illegible] responsible for the slowness of their acceptance in the market, but as a matter of fact sapphires are not of necessity blue; they are green, yellow, purple, white, and when they are red we call them rubies, for the ruby and sapphire are identically the same, save for a fraction of a per cent of coloring matter.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Different Points of View.

Mr. Growells—What! You want a new bonnet? Why, I think the one you have is very becoming.

Mrs. Growells—Yes, and so do the neighbors. They think it is becoming very ancient and decrepit.—Chicago News.

An Inimitable Feat.

The sailors of three men-of-war, American, French and British, while in the same harbor, were competing with each other for the best display of seamanship. A Yankee went to the top of the mainmast and stood there with an arm extended. A Frenchman then went aloft and extended both arms.

An Irishman on board the British ship thought if he could stand there with a leg and an arm extended he would be declared the most daring sailor. Nimbly he mounted to the highest point and attempted to do so, but at the last moment lost his balance and fell through the rigging toward the deck.

The various ropes against which he came in contact broke his fall, and when near the deck he succeeded in grasping a rope. To this he hung for a couple of seconds and then dropped lightly on the deck, landing safely on his feet.

Folding his arms triumphantly, as if it were all in the programme, he glanced toward the rival ships and joyously exclaimed:

"There, you frog eating and pig sticking foreigners, beat that if you can!"—Collier's Weekly.

Legend of the Violin.

An ancient legend tells us that one day as Orpheus, son of Apollo and the muse Calliope, was walking by the sea, trilling in soft cadence a song taught him by the celebrated teacher Linos, he was attracted by the sound of sweet music, which seemed but the echo of his own glorious voice. He walked along, singing, and the sound approached, as if to meet him, till finally it sang at his very feet.

Glancing down, he saw the shell of a turtle, which had been cast high and dry upon the beach and left there by the receding waves. The little thing had died and dried up so that only the sinews, shriveled to strings, and the shell remained. The dried up sinews were tightly stretched across the hollow shell, and the wind, as it listed, touched the strings, causing them to vibrate over the shell sounding board and give forth the sweet, sad tones.

Enchanted, he bore his treasure home and from it fashioned the viol shell, with which he ever after accompanied his voice, and the nymph Eurydice, enchanted by its magic, became his bride.—National Magazine.

Meike All Over.

Mr. Duffy—Mrs. Kelly, it pains me t' infarm yez thot yure hoosband has jist bin blewed oop boi a dotnamoite carthridge. We found his head in wan lot, an his body in another lot, an his ligs in another lot, an his arms an fate in another lot.

Mrs. Kelly (proudly) — Begorrah, thot's Meike all over!—Harper's Weekly.

GREAT RESPECT

Shown to the Memory of the Late Patrick Young:

The funeral of the late Patrick Young took place yesterday morning at eleven o'clock at Young's Point and was one of the largest funerals ever seen in the district. Peterborough, Lakefield and all parts of the county were largely represented among those who gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to one of the oldest residents of the county. The funeral and the service were deeply impressive.

Rev Father Fitzpatrick officiated at the church, and made appropriate reference to the deceased and his long and active life.

ANNIVERSARY OF ST. ANDREW'S

REV. A. L. GEGGIE, OF TORONTO, DELIVERS ELOQUENT SERMONS

Large Congregations Present Morning and Evening—Special Music for the Day.

Yesterday the anniversary services of St. Andrew's church were held and the special occasion, together with the bright spring weather, brought out large congregations both morning and evening. The preacher for the day was Rev. A. Logan Geggie, of Dunn-Ave. Presbyterian church, Toronto, and his stirring addresses, flavored with a marked Scotch accent, were heard with much interest. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with flowers. The special music of the day was pleasing in the highest degree.

Rev. Mr. Geggie took as his text for his morning sermon the gospel of St. Matt. II., 11, "And when they were come into the house they saw the young child with Mary, his mother, and fell down and worshipped him." He stated that he wished to illustrate the attitude of towards our Lord Jesus Christ, attitudes taken at the time of His very coming into life. The cause which this child represented while in his cradle was as yet an untried cause and it is always while a cause is yet young that the things for and against it matter most. To support a cause after it has become popular does not require the same courage as when it is still in the balance.

Of the four kingdoms to which Rev. Mr. Geggie drew particular attention the first was the represented by the star which led the wise men. Nature led the way to the Saviour. Have you ever allowed Nature to speak to you by standing out in the night alone and looking up at the stars? Nature welcomed the coming of Christ by leading the steps of the wise men. The Child sleeping in His cradle came for this express purpose of regenerating all on which the star looked down. In thinking of Nature we ought not to limit ourselves to the world around us. Christ learned all His illustrations from Nature. When Christ comes into our lives all Nature seems to change. Each bursting bud is endeavoring to articulate the message of gladness.

Another kingdom is the

in the shape of the wise men from the east following the star. They thought there was coming a great Jewish leader to take the throne of David. They came in answer to the invitation of the heavens and they found themselves at the cradle of the Child and worshipped Him not only with hand but with heart. Their conception of Jesus Christ was not right yet they knelt before Him. Christ is not afraid of honest enquiry; He is ever inviting it. Some men think it manly to express a doubt of the gospel of Jesus Christ. It is an exhibition of very poor manhood, yet Christ courts honest enquiry. He is not frightened of the kingdom of knowledge. Christ accepted by reason solves all questions in the earth and out of it. The best advice is that of Kingsley "Young man, in every temptation of life get back to thy mother's knee."

In the shape of the shepherds we have represented the

KINGDOM OF COMMERCE.

In the world of commerce to-day we have the battle of labor and capital but after all they shall lie down together like the lion and the lamb. When the Christ enters the heart of capital and labor they shall be united. The shepherds were gathered together on the hillsides, singing the songs of their fathers, when a light brighter than the light of the sun appeared and a voice cried "In Bethlehem is a little babe born who shall be heir to David's throne." It left them with a larger light and understanding and they went and worshipped. In the most common tasks we can draw near to Jesus. We can feel a power that will tell of the coming of the King. The temple of work is by men separated from the temple of worship. Instead we should unite them and make the spirit of Monday the same as that of Sunday. We should carry into our tasks the spirit of the men who welcomed the coming of the light of the Saviour. Happy is the man who can live with an eye to the flock and a heart open to Heaven.

The last kingdom is the

the kingdom of selfishness, represented by Herod. This man was frightened at the coming of the Son of God. If in our hearts there is no sin or selfishness we will never be frightened of the coming of the Son of God and man. But if we are playing a double game woe betide us. The kingdom of selfishness and lust and hate is ever frightened of the Son of God. What is your attitude towards the King who is coming into his kingdom? Is it that of indifference? Crown Jesus Christ with the diadem of thy life and make him the King of thy kingdom and when He comes into His, He will not forget thee.

The anthem "Christian the morn breaks sweetly o'er thee" was sung by the choir in excellent style, Miss Vina Bellegham, A.T.C.M., taking the solo. At this service also Miss Bellegham sang a solo "Nearer My God to Thee" in sweet voice and with sympathetic expression.

At the evening service the music was delightful. The solo "Be Thou Nigh" was sung by Miss Eva Wrighton in sweet voice. The anthem "Love Divine all Loves Excelling" was very well sung the soprano solo being taken by Miss Vina Bellegham; alto, Miss Wrighton; tenor, Mr. Jas. Browne; bass, Mr. W. F. Skitch. A quartette composed of Misses Bellegham and Wrighton, and Messrs. Browne and Skitch, sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" very harmoniously.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Items of Interest Gathered From the Different Congregations.

GEORGE STREET

In the morning Rev J G Potter occupied the pulpit and Rev Mr Campbell assisted in the service. In the evening the pastor, Rev S J Shorey, preached a very powerful sermon on the passage "A man's foes shall be they of his own household."

Excellent music was rendered at both services. The morning anthem, "How long wilt thou forget me, oh Lord," by Karl Pfleuger, was excellently sung, Miss Pascoe taking the recitative (opening) and solo by contralto members. During the offertory the duet "He Knows," was very acceptably sung by Miss Annie Bellegham and Mr Walden.

The evening anthem was entitled "I was Glad." During the offertory the choir rendered in an excellent manner the response "I have called upon thee."

ST. JOHN'S.

Sympathetic reference was made at St. John's church last evening to the death of Miss Annie Fair, who was mentioned as a devoted member of the neighboring parish of Millbrook. An appropriate hymn was also sung.

CHARLOTTE-ST.

Owing to the illness of Rev. Mr. Crossley, Rev. Mr. Shorey preached at Charlotte-st church yesterday morning and Rev. Mr. Bastow in the evening. The morning anthem was "Christian, the morn" with solo by Miss Hall and duet by Miss Hall and Mr. Davis. The offertory hymn was "Sometimes the shadows are deep." The evening anthem "Gently, Lord, Oh gently lead us," sung unaccompanied, was very sweet and effective.

CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST.

Soul and body was the subject of the sermon yesterday. The Pastor, the Bible and Science and Health, explained Soul or spirit, signifies deity and nothing else. In Him we live and move and have our being. Heathen mythology and Jewish theology have perpetuated the fallacy that intelligence, soul, and life can be in matter; and idolatry and ritualism are the outcome of these man-made beliefs. The science of Christianity comes with fan in hand, to separate the chaff from the wheat. Science will declare God aright; and Christianity will demonstrate this declaration, and its divine principle, making mankind better physically, morally, and spiritually. Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also, the soul of the son is mine. The soul that sinneth, it shall die. It is the sense of sin and not the sinful soul, which must be lost.

We suld hae a guid hoosefu' o' Scotch and a hantle o ither guid folk at the Kirk the nicht tae hear Mr. Geggie tell aboot Scotch humor. Everybody's welcome an they'll miss a treat that steps awa'.

BURGLARY ON SATURDAY NIGHT

OFFICE OF PETER HAMILTON MFG. CO. BROKEN INTO

About Six Dollars Stolen From the Cash Register—Entrance Gained Through a Window Facing on George-st.

There has been a series of petty burglaries in town this spring and in every case the thieves have left not the slightest trace of their identity. All efforts at their discovery have been completely baffled.

The latest was on Saturday night, when the office of the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co., was broken into. Entrance was gained through the front window of the office. The lower sash was held down by a catch fastened to the upper one. The glass of the upper sash was broken near the bottom, a small break being made by a stick or some other implement being run through, and a hand was evidently then inserted to turn the catch. The lower sash was then raised and the thieves were inside.

The cash register was opened and cash to the amount of $5 or $6 taken. It consisted of a $1 bill, some money in two envelopes and some coppers.

A number of burnt matches were found about the office. There was no clue of any kind left.

CHARGE OF BURGLARY

Albert Allen Elects to be Tried by the Magistrate.

A special session of the police court was held Saturday afternoon at which Albert Allen was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble on the charge of burglarizing Thompson & Son's store at Havelock, on April 23rd, and stealing a number of suits of clothes. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried summarily by the Magistrate. The case was enlarged till Wednesday.

Robt. Carnrike, of Ashburnham, was arrested as an important witness in this case and gave bail for his appearance.

RIGHT IS RIGHT SO START TO DO IT.

GREAT CROWDS HEAR MR. GEIL THE EVANGELIST, WHO OPENS HIS MEETINGS AT ST. PAUL'S.

The Order of Service He Inaugurates is Something Out of the Ordinary—His Addresses are Listened to With Deep Attention—Meetings this week.

The evangelistic services begun last week in the Murray-st. Baptist church by Mr. Geil, have been continued for this week in St. Paul's. Mr. Geil conducted a large meeting in the Murray-st. church on Saturday night and preached at that place to a large congregation yesterday morning.

Last evening the services began in St. Paul's with a mass meeting, when the large edifice was crowded far beyond its seating capacity. All denominations were represented in the great gathering. The opening services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Torrance, while the singing was led by the combined choirs of St. Paul's and Murray-st.

Mr. Geil last night inaugurated the order of service he will follow for the week. After the mass meeting, which closed with the repeating of a passage of Scripture by the assemblage and a prayer by the evangelist, a twelve minute service is held, to which every one is urged to remain and for which the entire congregation stayed last night. The first seven minutes of this twelve minute service—and it is run on time—was to be devoted to conversation about the Lord Jesus Christ. Those in the audience were asked to converse with those about them regarding their Saviour. This was a new feature for the congregation but Mr. Geil was successful in "thawing the ice" and for seven minutes the hum of conversation filled the church. He spoke for a minute and the other four minutes of the service was given the christian workers to ask seekers to leave the church for the "after meeting' held in the Sunday school room. After the twelve minutes had expired the meeting was dismissed. It was a novel programme but Mr. Geil proposes to adhere to it throughout, and a large number remained for the after meeting last night.

THE ADDRESS.

Mr. Geil filled his address last night with incidents illustrating the thought he was bringing home that right is right and every one should start to do the right thing no matter whether they were hot or cold and that they would reap benefit as they went along. It was rather an unusual line of address but he made it intensely strong. His text was the words from Luke 11, 14:

"As they went they were cleansed."

I have here a harmless, innocent little illustration, said Mr. Geil in opening, and holding a match in his hand. Lighting the match he went on to say that he might talk about the theory of combustion but there were two ways of realizing its heat properties. One was by theorizing and reasoning, the other by placing his finger in the flame and experimenting. So in regard to the truth, it could be realized by reasoning and argument or by experiment. The latter, he went on to point out, was the more satisfactory. In the text he saw the men covered with leprosy doing the will of God, and "as they went they were healed." Right was right, he said, and it was possible to do the will of God although covered with the leprosy of sin. First he called attention to and impressed the truth that a person must be sensitive to sin and sensitive to the power of Jesus Christ. They should start out to do right whether hot or cold, whether clear or cloudy, for right is right.

Secondly, if troubled with notions of infidelity these would be gone if they moved along the lines of the teachings of Christ. They should go, and as they went they would be cleansed. He saw no reason why a man should not endorse publicly what he acknowledged was right privately in his secret soul.

The man who does not live up to what he knows and believes to be right is a hypocrite, said the speaker.

A man, he said, who is really better than he professes to be is a colossal hypocrit.

The man who appears to be worse than he really is is a colossal scoundrel. He had no right to cast a blight on the lives of others. They heard too much of the other side of this question, but it was hypocrisy whichever end was up.

It is strange that men are ashamed of the right, but are not ashamed to do wrong, are not ashamed to swear before others or go into a place where strong drink is sold, but are ashamed to testify for Christ.

Start out, he said, in cold blood, whether you are hot or cold, clear or cloudy, right is right, and "as they went they were cleansed."

Next he asserted that life and joy can be obtained through obedience and in no other way, and lastly he impressed upon them that to make a start would develop in them a sympathy with their fellow men. The blessing would come back to them if they did something for others.

This evening's meeting will be held at St. Paul's beginning at 7:45.

There is no afternoon meeting to-day but there will be one each other afternoon this week in the Murray-st. Baptist church at three o'clock. To-morrow's subject will be "Judas Iscariot."

At the Opera House.

A rather small audience was at the opera house on Saturday evening to witness the presentation of "Faust" by Mr Porter J White and his Company. The production was a success and Mr White placed himself in high favor by his presentation of "Mephisto." He made his impersonation as terrible and as Satanic as necessary, and his stage settings and electric effects were fine. His support was excellent and the whole presentation one that pleased the audience.

The Rogue Saved the Judge.

A judge of the English high court was once arrested on suspicion of having burglarious designs on the house of a friend in Mayfair. The police officer charged him in the police station with loitering with felonious intent, and the prisoner's description of himself as one of her majesty's judges was received with a grin of sarcastic derision.

At that moment an old offender was brought in who happened to catch sight of his lordship's face, which he had good reason to remember.

"You here, my lord!" he exclaimed, with unfeigned astonishment. "Well, this beats cockfighting."

The rogue's unsolicited corroboration of the judge's declaration saved the situation, and his lordship was allowed to depart in peace.

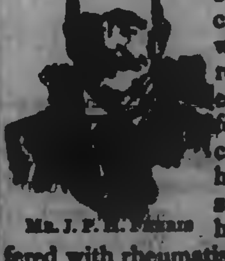
FOUR PHYSICIANS FAILED.



Mr. J. P. H. Ferris

One who speaks in terms of the highest praise of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is Mr. J. P. H. Ferris, Kingston, Ont. It cured him when all other remedies failed, and after four physicians had exhausted their skill upon him. He suffered with rheumatism in the legs and shoulders for over a year, and for six months the pain he endured was excruciating. For three weeks it confined him to his room. Happening to read of some of the remarkable cures effected by Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, he was induced to give it a trial. Almost from the time he began taking the first bottle he was relieved, and after using seven bottles, he found himself as well and free from pain as ever he was. He declares the medicine is a wonderful remedy, and recommends all rheumatic sufferers to give it a trial. He says if the directions are carried out faithfully, a cure is sure to follow.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicines. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

An Incident Attending the Execution of the Chicago Anarchists.

When the Chicago anarchists were hanged, great preparations were made by Amos J. Cummings, then editor of the New York Evening Sun, to get the news ahead of the other evening newspapers. A direct wire ran from the jail in Chicago to The Evening Sun office, and an alert operator was at each end of the wire. The form of the first page was made up and ready to print with the single exception of a line giving the time of the hanging. That line was to be inserted as soon as the news flashed from Chicago. Then the form would be locked, turned over to the stereotypers, who would make a matrix, stereotype the plates, rush them down to the presses, and in a minute or two more the papers would be in the hands of the newsboys on the street.

About 10 o'clock in the morning, however, a boy rushed into the office with a copy of an evening newspaper containing an alleged account of the hanging of the anarchists.

Cummings grabbed the paper from the boy and rushed with it over to the operator.

"Look at that!" he cried.

"They have not been hanged," answered the operator calmly. "I have this minute been talking over the wire to our man in the jail at Chicago, and he tells me they haven't yet left their cells for the scaffold."

Then Cummings scanned the newspaper more closely and realized that it had anticipated the news. He picked up a bit of copy paper and scribbled on it these words: "Beware of bogus extras!"

"Here," he said to one of the office boys. "Have a bulletin made of that and put it up in front of the office."

Then for two hours Cummings and every one else in the office waited for the news of the hanging. The suspense became almost unbearable, for all the time the rival paper was selling in the streets and the newsboys' cries came in through the windows. As the time dragged on Cummings became more and more nervous. He hung around the operator and asked him 100 times if he was sure everything was all right. His excitement was intense. At last, when the editor was so wrought up that it was not safe to speak to him, the instrument clicked and the operator yelled out:

"Mr. Cummings, the drop is falling!"

Cummings, who had been walking to and fro, suddenly stopped stock still. His form was rigid. His face worked, and his eyes blazed. Then he roared out at the frightened operator:

"How long does it take a drop to fall in Chicago?"

A roar of laughter from the reporters in the office relieved the tension, the operator shouted the exact time of the hanging, the foreman of the composing room inserted the line in the form, and in five minutes the paper was out.—Saturday Evening Post.

JAPANESE LACQUER.

It Is the Greatest Art In the Chrysanthemum Kingdom.

Professor Rein of Bonn university says in an exhaustive work on lacquer that "among the many well developed branches of Japanese art industry lacquer work undoubtedly takes first place. In no other have the feeling for art and artistic ability of the Japanese their free play of fancy and their admirable perseverance and skill in executing their richly figured pictures, developed earlier and more."

Japanese lacquer ware is distinguished for its lightness, elegance, solidity and the beauty and spirit of its decoration, and principally by several valuable elements in the material itself, such as great hardness, in which it excels all others, without showing brittleness or cracking, for its luster and mirrorlike surface and its resistance to a number of agencies which attack and destroy common resinous lacquer varnish. Professor H. W. Vogel says the simple black Japanese lacquered dish is proof against acid and alcohol. Hot cigar ashes or even boiling water do not affect it. It is these characteristics which distinguish Japanese lacquers from European and American imitation, which are all prepared from resinous varnishes and have none of the properties of the Japanese product.

There is a great variety of single color Japanese lacquer ware—black, red, greenish yellow, green, brown of various shades, cloudy light green, dark green and a variety of other shades almost too numerous to mention.

There is a peculiar lacquered yellow woodenware made in Nojiro, a small town north of Akita, near the Japan sea, that differs from all other varieties, inasmuch as the natural grain of the wood is clearly shown and beautifully preserved, while usually the material used is entirely concealed beneath the opaque coating of lacquer. This ware is of a transparent yellow or brownish yellow color, through which the veins or spots of the wood show up under a high luster, which adds greatly to the beauty of the ware. Nojiro Shun Kei, as it is called, is very expensive, and is seldom exported to this country. It is claimed that its method of workmanship is a trade secret that is jealously guarded by those engaged in its production.—Jeweler's Review.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Don't Be Critical.

Whatever you do never set up for a critic. We don't mean a newspaper one, but in private life, in the domestic circle, in society. It will not do any one any good, and it will do you harm—if you mind being called disagreeable. If you don't like any one's nose or object to any one's chin, don't put your feelings into words. If any one's manners don't please you, remember your own. People are not all made to suit one taste. Recollect that. Take things as you find them unless you can alter them. Even a dinner after it is swallowed cannot be made any better. Continual fault finding, continual criticism of the speech of this one and the conduct of that one, the dress of the one and the opinions of the other, will make home the unhappiest place under the sun. If you are never pleased with any one, no one will ever be pleased with you.—Weekly Budget.

Japanese Superstitions.

Enlightened as the Japanese are in many ways, it still happens that in cases of sudden outbreak of disease religious festivals are organized with a view to propitiating the Supreme Power, and these functions have the effect of gathering together the people from infected as well as healthy localities, to spread infection.

It is said that one's nose is an unerring guide to his character. Napoleon liked his generals to be men with aquiline noses.

RECKLESS AARON BURR

Interesting and Dramatic Story of His Marriage In Old Age.

In an article on historic homes of New York Truth tells the following interesting story of Aaron Burr's marriage in his old age to the widow of Stephen Jumel, who was well known in the early history of the city:

"Conceive, if you will, the picture of Burr, gifted adventurer that he was, broken in health, branded in the popular mind as the murderer of Alexander Hamilton and returning from a long exile to find himself an outcast in the city where he had once been the political monarch of all he surveyed and a distinguished figure in society and at the bar. Conceive, if you can, this lamentable old man, smirking through his wrinkles, bowing and prancing rather stiffly because of his rheumatic joints and with his mouth full of pretty platitudes, paying court to the widow of Stephen Jumel, herself in the prime of years and health. Remove from the picture its surface incongruities, and you have a bit of pure pathos unequaled in the annals of foolish great men.

"But something of his old time power to charm the gentler sex must have stood by him in his years of mental and physical misery, for in his suit for the widow Jumel's hand and fortune he won—gloriously, dramatically. Rebuffed repeatedly, Burr finally declared in passionate rage that on a given day he would arrive at the Jumel mansion accompanied by a clergyman, who should marry them on the spot. He would give his prospective bride no quarter, no chance of escape from the inevitable.

"She was amused at the threat and dismissed the old man with more than her usual coldness of demeanor. Burr stuck to his avowal and one July day rolled up in a carriage, and with him a minister—the same who 50 years before performed the marriage ceremony for Burr and the mother of his daughter, the beautiful Theodosia. There was something of a scene in the old house on this day. There were tears of anger on the part of Burr. Relatives remonstrated; Burr remained immovable. All feared a scandal. The minister, book in hand, stood unobtrusively in the background. There were more tears, more declarations of undying love, and the widow Jumel became Mrs. Aaron Burr.

"They were married in the great drawing room of the Jumel mansion. Burr squandered with reckless hand the wealth acquired by Stephen Jumel and left for the enjoyment of his marital partner. There were many bitter quarrels between the ill mated pair, and they were soon divorced. Burr died in 1836, but madame lived until 1865, dying a recluse and a miser, the money received from the Jumel estate hoarded in an unused chamber."

STOWAWAYS AT SEA.

THEY BRING LUCK TO SAILORS AND RAGE TO MASTERS.

When Discovered, These Vagrants of the Ocean Have a Hard Time and, It Is Whispered, Even Pay For Their Temerity With Their Lives.

They call them "stowaways" in the ship's logbook, which is a mild way of expressing the muffled curses that go with them down to the sea. There was a time when stowaways were hanged, a proceeding that, according to all official accounts, has not materially reduced their numbers. To protect the shareholders of her triple expansions and compounds England deals quite severely with the chaps who steal free passage. Russian master mariners have been known to flog them unmercifully, and Italy makes them wish they never were born. America gives them a good scolding, threatens all sorts of punishment and ends up by pitying them.

Human nature was always weak, and the miseries of the stowaway are many. If the average sailor had his way, every ship coming and going would be filled with uninvited and penniless passengers, and even spring beds would be provided for their comfort. There is, of course, a reason, well founded or otherwise, for this. The average tar firmly believes that disaster cannot overtake a vessel which has a stowaway on board.

There are any number of reasons for the fact that sailors consider a ship with a stowaway on it to be perfectly safe. One authority on marine superstitions says that a stowaway who was discovered on a ship before she sailed was promptly put ashore by the officers. When he got on the pier, he shook his fist savagely and said:

"I'm glad you've turned me off your rotten old tub! Neither she nor you will live to see Christmas day, while I shall."

This ship never turned up, according to the lore of the beach combers, and from that day to this a stowaway is always lucky aboard ship. That the officers of the majority of ships do not share with the tars in this common belief may be judged from the tough experience of some of these impecunious tourists. The American immigration authorities view a stowaway in much the same light that a pauper immigrant is considered. It is mandatory on the master of a ship bringing a stowaway to the United States that he, as the first agent of the owners, be personally responsible under the penalty of a heavy fine for the stowaway's deportation. This law is not calculated to put the master mariner in a happy frame of mind, and he treats the unbidden passenger as he thinks he should be treated. There is no doubt that some have received very severe handling from irate skippers, and it is even hinted that stowaways caught on board have been brutally beaten, put in irons and flung overboard at night in midocean.

Countless numbers of stowaways have died in their attempts to cross the ocean. The average steamer has many dark holes in her big interior, and, notwithstanding the fact that a ship seldom leaves port without a search being made to see that no unauthorized person is on board, many succeed in eluding detection. It is only a few years since one of the regular liners arrived here with the dead body of a stowaway in her hold. He had rapped and hammered on the ship's hatch without avail when the ship was outside sight of land and had starved to death.

In another instance a man hid himself in a chain locker, and when the anchor was hove up he was crushed to death, the noise of the steam winch and the rattling of the chain drowning his cries. The British steamer Maroa arrived in Penarth Roads some years ago with the body of an unknown man which was found in the bunker hold. It is supposed the man surreptitiously got on board at Havre. A man was found dead under the main hatch of one of the National line steamers on her arrival here. It was shown that he died of starvation and suffocation. In one of his pockets was found a novel entitled "Doomed on the Deep." Still another case is that of a man who hid himself in the forepeak of a steamer bound to London. While she was proceeding up the Thames river she was run into by another steamer and was cut out to her collision bulkhead. The stowaway was crushed to death.

Many women have stolen passage across the ocean. When the Dominion liner Mariposa was totally wrecked in the strait of Belle Isle, in September, 1895, the Allan line steamer Austrian came along to rescue the passengers and crew. In making a roster and searching the ship two women stowaways were found. The Pacific steamer Monowai, on a trip to Sydney from San Francisco, ran into a storm the first day out. As her master, Captain Carey, was descending from the bridge to go to breakfast an 11-year-old girl as pale as a ghost and dreadfully seasick approached him.

"I know I have no right here," she said to the skipper, "but I want to go to my mother, who is in Australia, and I am willing to work for my fare."

The girl gave her name as Rebecca Levy and told the captain a straightforward story. She said that her father had failed in business in San Francisco and had sent his wife and two smaller children back to their home in Melbourne. He died after that, and she had slipped aboard the ship to get home to her widowed mother. The law compelled the captain to enter the fact in the logbook, and when the other passengers heard of this they raised a purse for her fare. This they gave to the captain. He sent for the little girl when the ship reached Sydney and handed her the money that the passengers had subscribed, saying as he did so:

"If the British board of trade or anybody else wants to find fault because you came as a stowaway aboard this ship, let them find fault with me. I've got a little girl of my own, and she doesn't cry when she gets money either. Goodby, and God bless you!"

When the passengers cheered him as they were going ashore, Captain Carey turned to them and said: "You mustn't think I would not flog a full grown stowaway. I would. That isn't troubling me, though. I'm thinking of section 813 of the merchant shipping act. I'm afraid they'll make me toe that seam." But they never did.

In nine cases out of every ten the stowaway has outside aid in secreting himself on board a ship. But he is loyal to his host, and there are few instances where he has betrayed him. That's the only feather in his cap.—New York Mail and Express.

MONOTONY INDUCES INSANITY.

It Leads to Depression, Which Finally Develops Into Madness.

One would be pardoned for thinking that a man who earned his livelihood by working in the fresh air of the country, surrounded by sights delightful to the eye and refreshing to the mind, would be far less liable to brain diseases than the man sitting on a stool over a ledger in the stuffy atmosphere of a smoke dyed city. But if statistics prove anything they prove the worthlessness of that possible supposition. More agricultural laborers go mad per cent for per cent than any other workers. It is monotony which excites disinterestedness, which leads to depression, which develops into melancholia, which ends perhaps in a cure, possibly in a suicidal act, probably in an asylum. It may safely be said that Sunday saves thousands upon thousands from the madhouse. It is the one break from week to week which thousands of natures demand.

The agricultural laborer, the artisan and other similar classes of workers live in monotony broken here and there by a small incident which in time becomes itself monotonous. A man perhaps drives rivets. He drives them every day of the week except Sunday. Every motion of his work becomes mechanical. He has no interest in his work beyond what it finds for him on Saturday. He has one thing to do, and the more he does that the less he does everything else. Consequently the brain becomes weak for want of more general use and weakens until it snaps.

A fine thing is a healthy hobby, but a finer, especially for indoor workers, is a sport. Healthy recreation keeps more people out of the madhouse than anything the doctors could do. Nature demands a certain amount of balance, and she will have it or be revenged.—Exchange.

Philadelphia Children.

"I don't believe there is a city in the country, and I get around a great deal, where there are so many children on the streets after dark, presumably making a living, as in Philadelphia," remarked a traveling salesman. "And the majority of them are little girls who, while pretending to sell papers, matches or withered flowers, are really little more than infantile beggars. I suppose you are so used to seeing them that you scarcely give the matter a thought, but a stranger in town, such as myself, cannot help being struck by a condition of affairs which seems radically wrong. They don't inspire any pity, for they are such insistent little beggars. They will follow you for half a block with their whining appeals, and when you lose patience they open up on you with a flood of impudence and even profanity. This is not very pleasant, especially if you happen to be accompanied by a lady. Of course I'm only a rank outsider, but it seems to me that something should be done."—Philadelphia Record.

Daudet's Ideas of Death.

Alphonse Daudet constantly suffered severe physical pain and was unable to sleep without the aid of chloral. He was always speaking about death and especially rejoiced in the theory propounded by an English doctor that death was in itself a delightful sensation, voluptuous, resembling the action of anæsthetics.

He once told Goncourt, who relates the incident, that whenever he entered a new apartment for the first time his eye instinctively searched for the spot where his coffin would be placed.—Lippincott's Magazine.

This ware is of a transparent yellow or brownish yellow color, through which the veins or spots of the wood show up under a high luster, which adds greatly to the beauty of the ware. Nojiro Shun Kei, as it is called, is very expensive, and is seldom exported to this country. It is claimed that its method of workmanship is a trade secret that is jealously guarded by those engaged in its production.—Jeweler's Review.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Don't Be Critical.

Whatever you do never set up for a critic. We don't mean a newspaper one, but in private life, in the domestic circle, in society. It will not do any one any good, and it will do you harm—if you mind being called disagreeable. If you don't like any one's nose or object to any one's chin, don't put your feelings into words. If any one's manners don't please you, remember your own. People are not all made to suit one taste. Recollect that. Take things as you find them unless you can alter them. Even a dinner after it is swallowed cannot be made any better. Continual fault finding, continual criticism of the speech of this one and the conduct of that one, the dress of the one and the opinions of the other, will make home the unhappiest place under the sun. If you are never pleased with any one, no one will ever be pleased with you.—Weekly Budget.

Japanese Superstitions.

Enlightened as the Japanese are in many ways, it still happens that in cases of sudden outbreak of disease religious festivals are organised with a view to propitiating the Supreme Power, and these functions have the effect of gathering together the people from infected as well as healthy localities, to spread infection.

It is said that one's nose is an unerring guide to his character. Napoleon liked his generals to be men with aquiline noses.

RECKLESS AARON BURR

In an article on historic homes of New York Truth tells the following interesting story of Aaron Burr's marriage in his old age to the widow of Stephen Jumel, who was well known in the early history of the city:

"Conceive, if you will, the picture of Burr, gifted adventurer that he was, broken in health, branded in the popular mind as the murderer of Alexander Hamilton and returning from a long exile to find himself an outcast in the city where he had once been the political monarch of all he surveyed and a distinguished figure in society and at the bar. Conceive, if you can, this lamentable old man, smirking through his wrinkles, bowing and prancing rather stiffly because of his rheumatic joints and with his mouth full of pretty platitudes, paying court to the widow of Stephen Jumel, herself in the prime of years and health. Remove from the picture its surface incongruities, and you have a bit of pure pathos unequaled in the annals of foolish great men.

"But something of his old time power to charm the gentler sex must have stood by him in his years of mental and physical misery, for in his suit for the widow Jumel's hand and fortune he won—gloriously, dramatically. Rebuffed repeatedly, Burr finally declared in passionate rage that on a given day he would arrive at the Jumel mansion accompanied by a clergyman, who should marry them on the spot. He would give his prospective bride no quarter, no chance of escape from the inevitable.

"She was amused at the threat and dismissed the old man with more than her usual coldness of demeanor. Burr stuck to his avowal and one July day rolled up in a carriage, and with him a minister—the same who 50 years before performed the marriage ceremony for Burr and the mother of his daughter, the beautiful Theodosia. There was something of a scene in the old house on this day. There were tears of anger on the part of Burr. Relatives remonstrated; Burr remained immovable. All feared a scandal. The minister, book in hand, stood unobtrusively in the background. There were more tears, more declarations of undying love, and the widow Jumel became Mrs. Aaron Burr.

"They were married in the great drawing room of the Jumel mansion. Burr squandered with reckless hand the wealth acquired by Stephen Jumel and left for the enjoyment of his marital partner. There were many bitter quarrels between the ill mated pair, and they were soon divorced. Burr died in 1836, but madame lived until 1865, dying a recluse and a miser, the money received from the Jumel estate hoarded in an unused chamber."

STOWAWAYS AT SEA.

THEY BRING LUCK TO SAILORS AND RAGE TO MASTERS.

When Discovered, These Vagrants of the Ocean Have a Hard Time and, It Is Whispered, Even Pay For Their Temerity With Their Lives.

They call them "stowaways" in the ship's logbook, which is a mild way of expressing the muffled curses that go with them down to the sea. There was a time when stowaways were hanged, a proceeding that, according to all official accounts, has not materially reduced their numbers. To protect the shareholders of her triple expansions and compounds England deals quite severely with the chaps who steal free passage. Russian master mariners have been known to flog them unmercifully, and Italy makes them wish they never were born. America gives them a good scolding, threatens all sorts of punishment and ends up by pitying them.

Human nature was always weak, and the miseries of the stowaway are many. If the average sailor had his way, every ship coming and going would be filled with uninvited and penniless passengers, and even spring beds would be provided for their comfort. There is, of course, a reason, well founded or otherwise, for this. The average tar firmly believes that disaster cannot overtake a vessel which has a stowaway on board.

There are any number of reasons for the fact that sailors consider a ship with a stowaway on it to be perfectly safe. One authority on marine superstitions says that a stowaway who was discovered on a ship before she sailed was promptly put ashore by the officers. When he got on the pier, he shook his fist savagely and said:

"I'm glad you've turned me off your rotten old tub! Neither she nor you will live to see Christmas day, while I shall."

This ship never turned up, according to the lore of the beach combers, and from that day to this a stowaway is always lucky aboard ship. That the officers of the majority of ships do not share with the tars in this common belief may be judged from the tough experience of some of these impecunious tourists. The American immigration authorities view a stowaway in much the same light that a pauper immigrant is considered. It is mandatory on the master of a ship bringing a stowaway to the United States that he, as the first agent of the owners, be personally responsible under the penalty of a heavy fine for the stowaway's deportation. This law is not calculated to put the master mariner in a happy frame of mind, and he treats the unbidden passenger as he thinks he should be treated. There is no doubt that some have received very severe handling from irate skippers, and it is even hinted that stowaways caught on board have been brutally beaten, put in irons and flung overboard at night in midocean.

Countless numbers of stowaways have died in their attempts to cross the ocean. The average steamer has many dark holes in her big interior, and, notwithstanding the fact that a ship seldom leaves port without a search being made to see that no unauthorized person is on board, many succeed in eluding detection. It is only a few years since one of the regular liners arrived here with the dead body of a stowaway in her hold. He had rapped and hammered on the ship's hatch without avail when the ship was outside sight of land and had starved to death.

In another instance a man hid himself in a chain locker, and when the anchor was hove up he was crushed to death, the noise of the steam winch and the rattling of the chain drowning his cries. The British steamer Maroa arrived in Penarth Roads some years ago with the body of an unknown man which was found in the bunker hold. It is supposed the man surreptitiously got on board at Havre. A man was found dead under the main hatch of one of the National line steamers on her arrival here. It was shown that he died of starvation and suffocation. In one of his pockets was found a novel entitled "Doomed on the Deep." Still another case is that of a man who hid himself in the forepeak of a steamer bound to London. While she was proceeding up the Thames river she was run into by another steamer and was cut out to her collision bulkhead. The stowaway was crushed to death.

Many women have stolen passage across the ocean. When the Dominion liner Mariposa was totally wrecked in the strait of Belle Isle, in September, 1895, the Allan line steamer Austrian came along to rescue the passengers and crew. In making a roster and searching the ship two women stowaways were found. The Pacific steamer Monowai, on a trip to Sydney from San Francisco, ran into a storm the first day out. As her master, Captain Carey, was descending from the bridge to go to breakfast an 11-year-old girl as pale as a ghost and dreadfully seasick approached him.

"I know I have no right here," she said to the skipper, "but I want to go to my mother, who is in Australia, and I am willing to work for my fare."

The girl gave her name as Rebecca Levy and told the captain a straightforward story. She said that her father had failed in business in San Francisco and had sent his wife and two smaller children back to their home in Melbourne. He died after that, and she had slipped aboard the ship to get home to her widowed mother. The law compelled the captain to enter the fact in the logbook, and when the other passengers heard of this they raised a purse for her fare. This they gave to the captain. He sent for the little girl when the ship reached Sydney and handed her the money that the passengers had subscribed, saying as he did so:

"If the British board of trade or anybody else wants to find fault because you came as a stowaway aboard this ship, let them find fault with me. I've got a little girl of my own, and she doesn't cry when she gets money either. Goodby, and God bless you!"

When the passengers cheered him as they were going ashore, Captain Carey turned to them and said: "You mustn't think I would not flog a full grown stowaway. I would. That isn't troubling me, though. I'm thinking of section 312 of the merchant shipping act. I'm afraid they'll make me toe that seam." But they never did.

In nine cases out of every ten the stowaway has outside aid in secreting himself on board a ship. But he is loyal to his host, and there are few instances where he has betrayed him. That's the only feather in his cap.—New York Mail and Express.

MONOTONY INDUCES INSANITY.

It Leads to Depression, Which Finally Develops Into Madness.

One would be pardoned for thinking that a man who earned his livelihood by working in the fresh air of the country, surrounded by sights delightful to the eye and refreshing to the mind, would be far less liable to brain diseases than the man sitting on a stool over a ledger in the stuffy atmosphere of a smoke dyed city. But if statistics prove anything they prove the worthlessness of that possible supposition. More agricultural laborers go mad per cent for per cent than any other workers. It is monotony which excites disinterestedness, which leads to depression, which develops into melancholia, which ends perhaps in a cure, possibly in a suicidal act, probably in an asylum. It may safely be said that Sunday saves thousands upon thousands from the madhouse. It is the one break from week to week which thousands of natures demand.

The agricultural laborer, the artisan and other similar classes of workers live in monotony broken here and there by a small incident which in time becomes itself monotonous. A man perhaps drives rivets. He drives them every day of the week except Sunday. Every motion of his work becomes mechanical. He has no interest in his work beyond what it finds for him on Saturday. He has one thing to do, and the more he does that the less he does everything else. Consequently the brain becomes weak for want of more general use and weakens until it snaps.

A fine thing is a healthy hobby, but a finer, especially for indoor workers, is a sport. Healthy recreation keeps more people out of the madhouse than anything the doctors could do. Nature demands a certain amount of balance, and she will have it or be revenged.—Exchange.

Philadelphia Children.

"I don't believe there is a city in the country, and I get around a great deal, where there are so many children on the streets after dark, presumably making a living, as in Philadelphia," remarked a traveling salesman. "And the majority of them are little girls who, while pretending to sell papers, matches or withered flowers, are really little more than infantile beggars. I suppose you are so used to seeing them that you scarcely give the matter a thought, but a stranger in town, such as myself, cannot help being struck by a condition of affairs which seems radically wrong. They don't inspire any pity, for they are such insistent little beggars. They will follow you for half a block with their whining appeals, and when you lose patience they open up on you with a flood of impudence and even profanity. This is not very pleasant, especially if you happen to be accompanied by a lady. Of course I'm only a rank outsider, but it seems to me that something should be done."—Philadelphia Record.

Daudet's Ideas of Death.

Alphonse Daudet constantly suffered severe physical pain and was unable to sleep without the aid of chloral. He was always speaking about death and especially rejoiced in the theory propounded by an English doctor that death was in itself a delightful sensation, voluptuous, resembling the action of anaesthetics.

He once told Goncourt, who relates the incident, that whenever he entered a new apartment for the first time his eye instinctively searched for the spot where his coffin would be placed.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Rev. J. P. Kiernan, Vicar-General of Rochester Diocese and rector of the St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, died on Sunday at St. Mary's Hospital, aged 40 years.

John Haggarty was killed at the Comfort Soap Works at Toronto Junction on Saturday by the fall of an elevator. Thomas Dennie had his left leg broken in the same accident.

A special from Duluth, Minn., says all the lines of the new Canadian Transcontinental Road (McKenzie & Mann's roads) have been consolidated under the name Canadian Northern.

Samuel H. Handy shot and killed himself on Sunday in front of Potter Palmer's residence, on the Lake Shore drive, Chicago. He had become despondent at being unable to obtain work.

Serious reports are current that the Ashantees are determined to throw off the British yoke, that they have secured the co-operation of eight other tribes, and that they are able to raise 50,000 men.

The new Hotel Strathcona, at Shawenegan Lake, B.C., which was to have been accepted from the contractors and formally opened this week, was on Sunday morning burned to the ground. Loss about $20,000.

Counsel for George D. Storey, Halton County briber, asked the court to reduce his fine to $100 from $200, and not to disqualify him, as his had been an unintentional wrong. The court reserved judgment on the application.

Aleck Whitney, aged 25, a society leader and popular young man, was shot and killed on a street car at August, Ga., on Sunday, by Gus Wilson, a negro, about a seat in the car. Much excitement prevails, but there is not much need to fear lynching.

Every street car in Kansas City on Sunday was in full operation and no violence was offered by the strikers. The injunction of the Federal Court, enjoining the union men from interfering with the running of the cars, had a deterrent effect on the strikers.

The one-hour bicycle race between Harry D. Elkes, the American, and Edouard Taylore, the French champion, at Paris on Sunday, resulted in a victory for Elkes, who covered 55 kilometres and 450 metres, Taylore accomplishing 55 kilometres and 300 metres.

Messrs. Reeves and Reynolds, the auditors of the Postal Department, at Havana, have been detained in charge of a detective. The amount of the postal defalcation so far as discovered at present is $36,000 during the year 1900 and $69,000 during the year 1899.

Thomas Taylor, a prominent citizen of Dunlap, Iowa, on Sunday shot and probably fatally wounded E. H. Barrett, a school director. At the last meeting of the School Board, Taylor's daughter failed for re-election, and Taylor is supposed to have held Barrett accountable.

Early Sunday morning William Kerns & Co.'s general store at Burlington, was entered by burglars, who carried off about $100 worth of goods. Footprints gave evidence of three persons, and were traced to the lake shore, a couple of hundred yards away, showing they came and went by boat.

Charles E. Ryan and William Sherwood of Halton County must pay $200 and costs for having been guilty of bribery at the election held in Halton in 1898 or go to jail for six months. Mr. Justice Osler and Mr. Justice Maclennan, who had reserved their cases at Milton, so directed at Toronto on Saturday.

Lieut.-Col. Cosby of the 48th Highlanders' Regiment, Toronto, died on Saturday night. He was about 60 years of age. He began his military career in 1892 when he helped to organize the 48th Highlanders, of whom he was the first major. Three years ago he succeeded Col. John I. Davidson as commanding officer. Two of his sons are in service in South Africa.

Louisa Gunther, a seamstress, was struck by a Michigan Central fast train five miles west of Wayne, Friday night and instantly killed. Louisa Gunther was 40 years of age. About seven years ago she lived in Canada with her parents. Disappointed in love, she went to Detroit and at the Detroit Sanitarium learned to be a nurse. Five years ago she went to her home near Berlin, Canada, two months ago she returned to Detroit. She acted queerly of late and is supposed to have been demented.

Were These Men Drowned?

Victoria, B.C., May 14. — The sealers Allie I. Alger, T. B. Marvin, Beatrice Hatzie, Diana, City of San Diego, Arietis and Minnie returned from West Coast on Saturday morning, with an aggregate catch of 4,493 skins. Capt. Baker of the Alger reports the probable loss of Mate Gillad and four men—two whites and two Indians—from the schooner Sadie Turpel. They have been missing since the 19th inst., and it is believed were drowned in the storm which separated them from their vessel.

A GOOD COMPLEXION

Depends on Good Digestion.

This is almost an axiom although usually we are apt to think that cosmetics, face powders, lotions, fancy soaps, etc., are the secrets for securing a clear complexion. But all these are simply superficial assistants.

It is impossible to have a good complexion unless the digestive organs perform their work properly, unless the stomach by properly digesting the food taken into it furnishes an abundance of pure blood, a good complexion is impossible.

This is the reason so many ladies are using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they promptly cure any stomach trouble and they have found out that perfect digestion means a perfect complexion and one that does not require cosmetics and powders to enhance its beauty.

Many ladies diet themselves or deny themselves many articles of food solely in order to keep their complexion clear. When Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets are used no such dieting is necessary, take these tablets and eat all the good wholesome food you want and you need have no fear of indigestion nor the sallow, dull complexion which nine women out of ten have, solely because they are suffering from such form of indigestion.

Bear in mind that beauty proceeds from good health, good health results from perfect digestion and we have advanced the best argument to induce every man and woman to give this splendid remedy a trial.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found in drug stores and costs but 50 cents per package.

If there is any derangement of the stomach or bowels they will remove it and the resultant effects are good digestion, good health, and a clear, bright complexion.

PRINTERS' INK ROLLERS.

Not Until About 1830 Were They Made of Glue and Molasses.

As long ago as the year 1041, so history tells us, a Chinese blacksmith, Pi-Ching by name, made a paste of glutinous earth upon which he engraved separate characters. These he baked, making movable type of earthenware.

Even to this day in China the impression is made by inking the type with a brush. A thin absorbent paper is then laid upon the face of the type and pressed lightly with a dry brush. We have now the first way by which ink was transmitted to type.

This way of taking an impression continued until about 1474, when pelt balls were introduced. If in "perfect" order, these would do good work. They were made in the following way:

A piece of strong grain pelt or skin was selected, and from this the grease had to be entirely removed. It was then soaked 14 or 15 hours and afterward "curried" by drawing it across a post until every particle of dampness had gone. Then long treading by the feet followed.

Wool was wrapped under the skin, and the pelt was tightly placed over, but the great difficulty of getting it in order and the uncleanliness of the operation led to the introduction about 1807 by Mr. Maxwell of Philadelphia of the dressed sheepskins, or "skin rollers," as they were called. But they, too, were abandoned, being found too heavy for the hand.

About 1815 Mr. Fanshaw of New York introduced an improved roller made by wrapping a blanket some eight times around a piece of wood 3½ inches in diameter, turned true, and with an iron spindle on each end. The skin was then tightly wound around the blanket and afterward nailed to the wooden end.

It was in 1817, by the merest chance, in one of the potteries in Staffordshire, England, that the composition of glue and molasses first saw the light. This composition was used in the potteries for what are commonly called "dabbers."

Mr. B. Foster of Weybridge, England, was the first printer to apply this composition to letterpress printing, but even he did not understand its great usefulness. He merely spread it when in a liquid state upon a piece of canvas and then made a ball of it. This is the only way in which it differed from the pelt ball.

The inventions of printing machinery were not quite so slow, however. About 1830 the composition was used as a coating on wooden cylinders, and here we have the first application for printing presses worthy the name of a "roller," without which printing machinery could never have reached the state of perfection it has reached today.—Inland Printer.

HAD TO PART WITH BILLY.

His Love For the Sheep Was Great, but He Chose the Other Pen.

There once lived an old curmudgeon whose wealth consisted principally of his flock of sheep and his two sons. Now, one of the latter was a noble, generous, whole souled fellow, whose kind impulses led him into company and to acts of kindness, and he evidently set little store by wealth. The other was a grip all, just like the father. The old man, being upon his deathbed, called the latter and said:

"John, you know your brother is a good natured, easy fellow and when he gets his share of the property will squander it away. But never mind, John, do you divide it all fairly with him." To which John assented, and the old man died.

With haste John proceeded to make division. In a great flock of sheep there must, of course, be many indifferent sheep.

These John carefully selected and placed in one pen, and with them an old ram known as Billy. The best of the flock he placed in another pen. Between the youngest son and Billy the warmest affection existed, dating back a great many years, and by this affection the crafty John calculated to work off all the indifferent and valueless portion of the flock upon his brother.

"Brother, our father is dead, and he charged me to divide everything fairly with you, and I have tried to do it. Brother, there is one pen, and Billy is in it, and there is another; take which you choose."

On seeing Billy, he gave a shout and jumped into the pen, commencing his usual playful tussle, and when he had fairly fatigued himself stopped short and thus addressed him:

"Billy, you and I are old friends. Many a rough and tumble we have given each other, many an hour we have spent together. Billy, I love you like a brother. Billy, it would almost burst my heart to think of separating from you, but" (looking all around), "Billy, you are in bad company, and I must bid you farewell! Brother, I'll take the other pen!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Delicate Girl.

A young man spent Sunday with his best girl over on Pipe creek somewhere and noticed she did not eat much for dinner or supper. He asked her with a kind smile if she was sick, and she replied by saying she seldom ate much at any time.

On Monday morning he met the girl's little brother going to school and asked him how his sister was. The little boy told him that "she was just awful sick, that mamma told her that she had eaten too much pumpkin pie, cold cabbage and fat bacon last night after you went home."

The young man asked if a doctor had been called.

The boy said: "No. Sis is afraid to send for Dr. Aplin for fear he would find out what made her so sick and tell it to her friends."—Minneapolis (Kan.) Messenger.

Two Musical Performers.

The late Dr. Spark, the Leeds corporation organist, was often engaged for recitals and "openings" of organs in the east riding, and his blower followed him about with a devotion which would have been pathetic if it had not been so amusing. The blower would generally be first at the church, so that he might be sure of displacing the ordinary man, and when Spark arrived he would remark with the greatest sangfroid: "It's all right, doctor, I'm here; and there's sure to be a good performance between us."—

Everybody is Coughing.

Except those who use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It loosens the tightness in the chest, stops the cough, allays the inflammation, heals the soreness and promptly cures all sorts of coughs and colds, bronchitis, croup, asthma, and sore throat. It is found in nine-tenths of the homes of this country. 25 cents a bottle. Family size 60 cents. 18

BARNUM'S OLD LION.

Among the features of the parades of the Barnum circus there was formerly one that never failed to attract much attention. On the top of one of the wild beast cages lay an enormous lion. He was not confined in any way, and nervous people watching the parade would shudder at the sight and contemplate the terrible possibility of the lion springing into the midst of the crowd.

But the venerable old king of beasts had reached the leonine dotage, and stiffened muscles and blunted claws rendered him harmless. He was as mild as a kitten and in the winter quarters, where he was allowed to roam at will, sometimes had to be protected from the onslaughts of irreverent and mischievous puppies.

One night he wandered from the quarters. In the course of his travels he chanced on a barn where a meek eyed cow was placidly chewing her cud. A faint flicker of the slumbering jungle spirit stirred his pulse, and with a crushing blow of the huge forepaw the cow was slain. Then laying down beside his victim he went to sleep and dreamed of the time when he was a shaggy little whelp playing with his brothers under the bright sun of his faroff African home.

In the morning the owner of the cow, a stalwart female with the blood of Irish kings in her veins, entered the barn with milk pail in hand. She was filled with wrath at the sight that met her gaze. With a keen edged ax in her hand and grim determination in her eye she fearlessly approached the sleeping lion, and when the men sent out to search for him arrived he lay cold in death. Barnum promptly paid for the dead cow and engaged to appear on exhibition "the woman who in mortal combat had slain a lion."—National Magazine.

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wrestling the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. Nerviline, or nerve pain cure, represents in very concentrated form the most potent pain relieving substitutes known to medical science, and strange to say, it is composed of substances solely vegetable in origin. Polson's Nerviline is the most prompt, certain, and pleasant pain remedy in the world. Sold in 10 and 25 cent by Ormond & Walsh, and all dealers in medicines.

Pure Water is Poison.

Drinking With Meals.

The Evening Telegram of Saturday, April 28th, says:"Medical men have pointed out that man is probably the only animal that drinks while eating, showing how the laws of nature, which are instinctively obeyed by man's inferior, are calmly ignored by him. They recommend discrimination if one must drink while eating, and say that neither flooding the stomach with hydrant water nor absorbing medicinal waters at the table, under the pretence that they are good for this or that ailment, is very judicious. On the other hand, they remark that a natural effervescent water such as Apollinaris, a dietetic table water, can advantageously be drunk at meals, as it promotes digestion, and the danger of diluting the food with an inordinate volume of water is avoided, because an ordinary amount of effervescent water is as satisfactory to the thirst as a much larger quantity of still water."

THE FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

LACROSSE.

It is officially stated that Hanley of the Varsity lacrosse team will play goal for the Toronto Club this summer. Hanley is not only a first-class goalkeeper, but a very fast player outside the flags. He hails from Orillia, the home of many great exponents of Canada's national pastime, and played with the team in that town for several seasons.

FOOTBALL.

The Y.M.C.A. football kickers will practice at east Nicholls park to-night, at 7 o'clock.

BASEBALL.

At the P.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday afternoon the second scheduled match of the City league was played, the Coalheavers and the team of the St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society facing one another. There was a big crowd present and the game furnished lots of sport. For the first seven innings the game was very close, the Coalheavers being only one run in the lead at that time. Then Hoolihan, who had been pitching for the T. A. S., was taken out of the box and Welsh substituted. It was a good change—for the Coalheavers. They scored 11 runs that innings and won out by 23 runs to 12 and an innings to spare.

The T. A. S. put a fairly strong team in the field. D'Russia behind the bat and Grady, at third sack, were particularly good. Hoolihan pitched a good game and Delaro, at first bag, handled himself well. Lynch, short stop, made the hit of the day for his side when in the sixth innings he knocked out a two bagger with all the bases full. The team was weak at the bat.

The infielding of both teams was good.

Mr. Kenner acted as referee most satisfactorily.

There were a number of ladies present.

FROM BAD TO WORSE

And This is the Experience of Many Peterborough Readers.

An aching back is bad;
Neglected it grows worse every month.
Backache is Kidney talk.
To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.
Or other ills follow.
Urinary troubles, Diabetes, Bright's disease.
Also symptoms common to other diseases.
Peterborough citizens now tell you the easy way to get cured.

Jas. B. McIlmoyle, Wescott-st., Peterborough, says:—"I would like to say that we have used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, procuring them from Ormond & Walsh, and consider them for Backache, Kidney troubles, and Constipation, a splendid remedy."

If you have the slightest symptom of Kidney or Bladder trouble, you can test this great medicine free. The Midland Grain Trade.

Up to date some 25 vessels have arrived at Midland with grain. Nearly two million bushels have been delivered so far, while last year the deliveries to the end of May were only [illegible] bushels. The G.T.R. is straining every effort to obtain cars, but owing to the immense business being done at all points it is proving very difficult to keep up the supply. The elevators are full, and several vessels are due to arrive in a few days. It would require 400 cars a day to keep the Midland grain running smoothly.

The "Neill" Shoe

FOR LADIES

We offer a new Shoe, which we have named "The Neill." This is a shoe we can endorse. It it a shoe we can guarantee, And why?

REDEEMING TRAITS OF MOTHS.

Every housewife knows only too well of what extraordinary mischief these little insects are capable and how even in a few weeks' time clothes which have been carelessly put away will be perforated in a score of places by the hungry caterpillars, whose tracks are plainly visible running from hole to hole. But no creature is without its good points, and even the troublesome moths have something to be said in their favor. They are really very beautiful little insects in spite of their dingy coloring. Somber though their hues may be, one has only to place a clothes moth under the microscope in order to perceive its beauty.

Only a short time before these lines were written I caught one of these moths in my study, says an entomologist, and, wishing to examine it, damped a strip of glass and pressed the moistened part gently against the surface of its wings. When I looked at this through the microscope, the sight was really a most exquisite one. In the center of the little gray patch were thousands upon thousands of tiny scales, each shaped like a battledoor deprived of its handle and marked by five delicate ridges running along it from base to tip, while all around were thousands more of much longer and more slender scales, each of which split up near the extremity into three hairlike plumes. And over all these scales, as the light shifted, rainbow tints were playing.

Beauty by itself, however, would be but a small recommendation, and the clothes moth can lay claim to usefulness as well. In our houses it is a nuisance; out of doors it has a work to do and does it. What becomes of the hair which is woven into so many birds' nests when the nests themselves are deserted? The clothes moths destroy it, and the nests, which otherwise would cumber the branches of the trees for years, are enabled to fall to pieces. What becomes of the wool which sheep rub off upon thorns and bushes? The clothes moths destroy it. What becomes of the plumage of dead birds and the hair on the skin of dead animals? The clothes moth destroy them. These little creatures have their uses after all. They belong to the great army of nature's scavengers, whose task it is to remove all dead and useless matter, and it is only when they trespass into his dwelling that they become the enemies of man.—Church Monthly.

Piles for 15 Years.

Mr. Jas. Bowles, Councillor, Embro, writes:—"For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely."

LIFE..

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1865	3,896,869
Ontario Mutual	1869	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Methodists Bar Union Jack.

Chicago, May 14. — A peculiar thing happened at the Methodist General Conference on Saturday. In accordance with a resolution recently adopted, the conference hall was draped in the national colors. After the official journal had been approved a delegate from India called attention to the fact that all the members were not American citizens, and asked to have the Union Jack displayed on the platform with the Stars and Stripes. The suggestion was greeted with shouts of disapproval, and Bishop Fowler, who presided, prevented trouble by ruling the motion out of order.

Port Colborne Smelter.

Port Colborne, Ont., May 14. — A public meeting of the ratepayers of the Township of Humberstone was held in the town hall on Saturday afternoon to consider the granting of a bonus of $10,000 to the blast furnace. Mr. H. S. Carscallen of Hamilton addressed the meeting. At the close a unanimous vote was taken in favor of granting the bonus. The bylaw will be submitted in a month.

Eight Cars Wrecked.

Utica, N.Y., May 12. — An eastbound freight train was wrecked between Little Falls and St. Johnsville, N. Y., on Saturday night. Eight cars were thrown from the track, entirely blocking all four tracks for two hours. No one was hurt.

BULLER IN DUNDEE AND BOERS RETREAT

The Fighting in Northern Natal has been Successful--The Ladybrand District Cleared--Steyn's Brother Among the Boers who Surrendered--All well at Kroonstadt.

BULLER OCCUPIES DUNDEE

London, May 15—The War Office to-day received the following despatch from General Buller: "Dundee, May 15, 1 p.m.—We have occupied Dundee. About 2,500 of the enemy left yesterday for Glencoe where they entrenched. Their wagons also left yesterday by DeJager's Drift and the Dannhauser road. The Kaffirs said they were going to Laing's Nek. Almost every house in Dundee is completely looted. The Navigation colliery is all right. The machinery of the Dundee collieries is destroyed. The houses of the town are damaged but are structurally intact."

BULLER'S REPORT OF OPERATIONS

London, May 15—The War Office to-day furnished confirmation of the story of yesterday telling of General Buller's move on the Biggarsburg. It is a despatch from Gen. Buller as follows. "Kemps Farm, May 15—The following telegrams sent to Roberts are now repeated to you; they began under date of May 13—In accordance with instructions to keep the enemy occupied at the Biggarsburg on May 11, I concentrated the 3rd Cavalry Brigade of the second division and some corps of artillery at Sunday's River drift on the Helpmaakar Road, and directed Col. Bethune to advance on Greytown with the infantry, the Unvoti mounted rifles and the Imperial light infantry. On May 12, we moved to Waschbank and Bethune to Pomeroy, while Gen. Hillyard from Elandslaagate occupied Indoda mountain. On May 13 I sent Gen. Hamilton with three battalions up the steep slope of Withock Hill. The 3rd Cavalry Brigade crowned a hill on each side of the main road and Bethune attended to the Pomeroy road from three sides. The enemy hurriedly abandoned the position which they had strongly entrenched and retired to the Nek in front of Helpmaakar, whence we hope to dislodge them to-morrow as many of them have retired. We have gained the summit of the Berg with the loss of only a few men wounded. I advance to-morrow on Beith and Hillyard moves on Wessels Nek."

THE PEACE DELEGATES

New York, N. Y., May 15—The Steamer Maasdam which sailed from Rotterdam 12 days ago with the Boer envoys on board, was sighted off Fire Island at 8.25 a.m. to-day. She will reach her dock about 1 p.m.

STEYN'S BROTHER AMONG THE CAPTURED

Brands Drift, Sunday, May 13—Gen. Rundle has completely checked the attempt of the Boers to come south again and the enemy are retiring before the persistent advance of the British. Many have been captured or are surrendering. There were 150 of these yesterday and to-day, among them President Steyn's brother. The Ladybrand district is clear of Boers. They have evacuated Mequatlings Nek and are now near Lindley.

BOERS CONCENTRATING ON THE VAAL

Kroonstadt, Monday, May 14—It is reported that the whole of the Boer forces are concentrating on the Vaal and withdrawing from Biggarsburg and the southwestern borders. It is computed that not more than 2000 Free Staters will fight on the Vaal. Railway communications with this place are expected to be open on Thursday. The transport is working smoothly. The troops and horses are receiving full rations, water is plentiful and the health of the troops is excellent.

FIGHTING AT MAFEKING

Lorenzo Marques, May 15.—The Boers Saturday occupied the Kaffir location at Mafeking. They were in turn attacked during the night of Saturday, and Sunday found themselves surrounded. The Boers lost 7 dead and 17 wounded. The British loss is reported to have been heavy.

Colic and Kidney Difficulty.—Mr. J. W. Wilder, J. P., Lafargeville, N. Y., writes: "I am subject to severe attacks of Colic and Kidney Difficulty, and find Parmelee's Pills afford me great relief, while all other remedies have failed. They are the best medicine I have ever used." In fact so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.

TIP ABOUT THE DYNAMITERS

Were They Partners in Exchange Court Explosion in Dublin?

Is Dullman's Alias Rowan?—Facts Which Seem to Connect Them With the Irish Sensation—All the Prisoners Sent Up for Trial, Which Will Take Place on May 22—The Police Express Hopeful Opinions of the Trial.

Welland, May 15. — Dullman, Walsh and Nolin, the dynamiters, were yesterday morning committed for trial, and with the commitment the lively interest in the case here has dropped. No one expects any new light upon the case until the opening of the Assizes next week, but right in the midst of the abandon of the public interest comes in statement of facts which will set the officers agog, and clear much of the mystery in the case. They are facts that the Crown has been zealously guarding, and they show the winning card which Detective Murray has had up his sleeve. Nolin and Walsh are/desperate men, and they have been engaged in other desperate deeds. That much comes from Dublin, the scene of their former crimes.

Is Dullman Rowan?

Dullman will turn out to be Rowan, an accomplice, and a leader in former actions.

These three had a companion in crime named John Merna, but he is dead, and his remains lie decently interred in a Washington, D.C., graveyard.

Murray Gets a Tip.

The Crown learned something of these facts two weeks ago from an unlooked for source. A private detective, who is one of the shrewdest Canadians in the business, called on Detective Murray one day, and asked for a description of the three alleged dynamiters. Murray gave them accurately, and, as he finished, the mysterious detective pulled a photo from his pocket, with the remark:

"Did you ever see that man?"

"Why, that's Dullman," said Murray.

"Where did you get it?"

"From Scotland Yard," answered the other. He subsequently explained that Nolin, Walsh, John Merna and a man named Rowan sailed for Philadelphia last November, having previously been arrested for complicity in Exchange court explosion, near Dublin Castle. They were acquitted by a Fenian jury. The photographs in his possession were of these men as received from Scotland Yard.

Parts of this leaked into the press at the time, and a despatch from London partly corroborated the statement. From New York a query was sent to Scotland Yard, but in the meantime Detective Murray had cabled the London police, and all communication on the subject was shut off.

Murray Is at Work.

Dullman was at the time supposed to be an alias of Rowan, and Merna, who had disappeared, was suggested to have been removed by his comrades. Detective Murray has since heard from the Dublin case, and is now following up the actions of the four since their arrival in this country. On Saturday he was in New York, presumably on the trail of Rowan; to-day he is in Philadelphia, where the four landed, and where Nolin resided a short time previous to the present crime. Walsh and Merna went to Washington, D. C., where Merna's life ended mysteriously on the night of March 12. A coroner's inquest gave suicide as the cause, but there are doubts in the minds of the U.S. police as to the correctness of that verdict.

The Hearing on Monday.

The hearing opened at 10.20, with Magistrate Logan presiding as usual. Only one witness was heard, Officer Mains, and by 11 o'clock the magistrate had committed the three for trial.

W. H. Mains, of the Ontario police, on being sworn, said he saw Dullman, Walsh and Nolin in each other's company at Niagara Falls every day from Tuesday, April 17, to Saturday, the 21st, when the explosion occurred. He and Officer Welch arrested Nolin and Walsh, and Mains afterwards arrested Dullman, as he was preparing to leave the Roslin Hotel.

As Mains stepped from the box, Crown Attorney Cowper arose and said that the Crown had presented its case.

Defence Offered No Evidence.

The defence offered no evidence.

Mr. German addressed the magistrate, and ended by stating that Dullman had a complete and satisfactory answer to the charges against him.

Mr. McBurney said he would make no plea, as it was useless to waste breath when the committal had been decided on.

Another Lynching in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., May 15. — Governor Candler, upon the request of authorities, ordered four companies of State troops stationed at Augusta, Ga., to hold themselves in readiness to prevent the lynching of a negro who killed Alexander Whitney, a prominent society man Sunday night. The mob, however, got there first, for the coroner was notified that Wilson had been taken by a mob from a Georgia railroad train en route to Atlanta. A few minutes after 10 o'clock yesterday an attempt was made to hang him. The rope broke and Wilson fell to the ground. In an instant he was riddled with bullets.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE from Bright's Disease

A dreadfully fatal disease which is prevented and cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Bright's disease is a further development of kidney disease, and has for its most marked symptoms backache and urinary troubles. It is so insidious in its beginnings as to frequently escape detection, and with the single exception of consumption is the most fatal disease known to man.

Bright's disease is a wasting away of the tissues of the kidneys, and in its later stages cannot possibly be cured. So long, however, as the kidneys are not in an actual state of decay, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will revitalize the diseased parts and positively cure Bright's disease.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a perfect and ideal remedy for all kidney ailments. They act naturally and directly on the kidneys and promptly and positively cure Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, rheumatism, and the most serious complications of kidneys, liver and bowels. One pill a dose.

OUR SPECIAL OTTAWA LETTER

THE ELECTION FRAUDS AND THE MACHINE WORK AGAIN BEFORE THE HOUSE

Ballot "Slipping" as a Fine Art—Students Taught by an Expert, and Paid Five Dollars per Ballot—A Growing Time in Cold Storage—The Question of Apple Barrels—Yukon Salaries—We Can't Close Our Show on Sunday.

Special Correspondence of the Review.

Ottawa, May 12.—It was thought that the House would go into supply directly after the budget debate, which closed on Friday of last week. This did not happen. The government took up departmental and other bills, of more or less importance but of no exciting interest, and did not make the motion for supply until ten o'clock in the evening of Friday in this week. Then Mr. Borden, of Halifax, improved his first opportunity to bring the West Huron and Brockville cases before the House for decisive action. The member for Halifax is a fine lawyer, and has a great gift of clear exposition. He reminded Sir Wilfrid that he and Sir Richard Cartwright had last year expressed a desire for a thorough investigation, and promised that all offenders should be punished. The House and the country had then taken them at their word, and were surprised to find ministers and their followers this year taking advantage of the mechanism of the House to prevent a completion of the inquiry.

WHAT WAS PROVED LAST YEAR.

Then Mr. Borden passed on to show from the printed evidence how much was proved last year. It was shown that in the poll where Cummings presided, only 30 votes were counted for McLean, though 48 persons swore or affirmed that they voted for him. By a remarkable correspondence "bogus ballots" for the other candidate were found to be exactly the same number as the shortage in McLean votes. Those bogus ballots were shown to be different in thickness, in color and in presswork from the genuine ones, and were clearly not torn from the stub from which they were alleged to have been taken. The returning officer in this case placed the counter-foils in his pocket, which is against the law, and which he never did when he was returning officer before.

In Farr's poll there was a loss of 23 votes between the number counted for McLean and the number of persons who testify that they voted for him. By another striking coincidence, Farr is shown to have told a friend that he voted 23 times for Holmes. He also placed the ballots on the edge of the table to tear off the counterfoil, which he put in his pocket. Farr could not be got as a witness. When he found that he would be wanted he got out of sight. Before disappearing he had a midnight seance with the assistant organizer of the Ontario Liberals, and afterwards he stated that he was given money and a railway ticket to get him out of the way. It was he who stated that Vance had received a telegram from Ottawa asking him to keep his man low. With evidence of this character, and with a report that the inquiry was incomplete, the Committee and House adjourned last year, Mr. Borden thinks that it was the duty of the Premier to rise as soon as the house met this year and ask that the investigation should be resumed.

NEW EVIDENCE.

Mr. Borden states that he has also new evidence. An affidavit from Pritchett, who is now testifying in West Elgin, is a part of this testimony. Mr. Borden did not think it necessary to read all the affidavits at present. As to Huron there could be no doubt that the evidence already taken offered sufficient ground for going on. As to Brockville he had an affidavit containing the following among other charges.

An expert in "ballot slipping" was hired and paid to give instruction to deputy-returning officers. No less than 11 were instructed in the art of substituting forged ballots for good ones. To these 161 ballots were given, and the bargain provided that five dollars would be paid for each vote slipped.

The process, as described in Pritchett's sworn statement, is quite simple. The deputy is supplied with false ballots, already initialled and without counterfoils. These he has with him. When a favorable time comes he places his left hand on the table with the false ballot marked for the government candidate under it, while he takes the good ballot from the unsuspecting Conservative.

AGREES WITH THE FACTS.

Mr. Borden does not guarantee the truth of Pritchett's statement. He only asks that the inquiry may go on. If Pritchett swears to falsehoods he should be punished. If he tells the truth something ought to be done with these eleven deputies. But it is pointed out that the Pritchett's stroy explains things hitherto hard to understand. It explains how Farr might have voted 22 times in one day. It shows why the deputy returning officers in polling places where bogus votes were found have suddenly and simultaneously adopted the new method of disposing of the counterfoil. It explains the difference in the paper between the bogus ballots and the good ones. It explains the episode of Farr and the ballot found on the floor. It is quite consistent with all that was learned last year, and with much that has been learned since. It is also quite consistent with the events disclosed at West Elgin.

WHAT WILL THE GOVERNMENT DO?

Mr. Borden does not ask the House to reach a conclusion on this evidence. He does maintain that there are additional grounds for demanding the completion of the investigation into the West Huron and Brockville bye-election. Pritchett, who makes the sworn statement, declares that he acted as instructor of deputies in this branch of modern science, and that after the West Elgin enquiry began, he was paid $100 per month to remain out of the country. At the end of Mr. Borden's speech, Sir Louis Davis moved the adjournment, so that the ministers have two days to make up their minds as to the course of action.

COLD STORAGE.

On Tuesday, Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, brought in a resolution to continue the cold storage subsidies to the Allan steamship lines. The recent history of this enterprise is interesting. In 1897 the Minister of Agriculture made arrangements for three years of cold storage accommodation in the important steamships. The basis was this:—The cost of putting in the equipment was calculated. One half of this cost was to be paid in three annual installments by the Dominion. The other half was to be borne by the owners of the steamships. Having paid this bonus the government made a bargain about the cost of the cold chamber to the Canadian shippers. The rate was fixed by the contract of 1897, at ten shillings per ton in addition to the regular freight.

AN OVER-CONFIDENT MINISTER.

Last year Mr. Fisher was exceedingly self-satisfied and sanguine. He told the House that the scheme had been such a success that he would no longer need to pay subsidies. The steamship lines would all provide cold storage accommodation as a matter of business in their own interest. Ships then enjoying the bonus would continue to furnish the service without subsidy after the contract had run out. Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Osler and other members strongly advised the Hon. Mr. Fisher not to reduce the appropriation for this service. But the minister felt so absolutely safe that he took no advice, and what was worse, he took no action for the continuance of the service, even at the old rate. The result was that when the war came on with the increased demand for ships, Mr. Foster found himself at the mercy of the former contractors. He now comes to the House and explains that the cold storage subsidies must be renewed at fifty per cent. advance. That is he has to pay the ships over again half the cost of fitting up, and this time he has to pay the same for a two year period that he paid before for the period of three years.

FIFTY PER CENT. MORE.

This is not the whole of it. Not only does the Government pay fifty per cent. more, but the new bargain gives the steamship companies the right to make the shipper pay fifty per cent. more for the service. By the contract in force last year, Canadian butter, cheese, poultry, fruits and other products, shipped in cold storage, paid the regular freight, and ten shillings per ton extra. Under the new arrangement they pay fifteen shillings per ton besides the freight. This extra charge is of course paid in the long run by the farmer, and reduces by so much the prices he gets for the goods.

Mr. Fisher had a rather unpleasant experience while this matter was discussed. He protested that the government had no reason last August to expect that there would be a war, since "we were all praying that it might be averted." Dr. Montague reminded him that while Britain was also praying she was preparing, and that Paul Kruger while praying kept his powder dry. Sir Charles Tupper reminded Mr. Fisher that his colleague Mr. Tarte had informed Parliament that "elections are not made with prayers" and the same was true of cold storage contracts. Every one else but Mr. Fisher saw that a rise in freights and a demand for shipping was imminent. But the Minister of Agriculture allowed the golden opportunity to pass by. The result is that the people have to pay fifty per cent more subsidy for the cold service and then fifty per cent. more for the privilege of using it. Incidentally it was pointed out that the fast line contract made by the late government and cancelled by the present ministry, provided for ample cold storage accommodation. The Laurier government undertook to improve on this contract by the "bottle necked steamship" project of Mr. Dobell, which has collapsed.

APPLES AND APPLE BARRELS.

Last year Sir Henry Joly got an act passed fixing the size of the Canadian apple barrel. This session that ancient cavalier has brought in a bill to establish another size. The reformed barrel is to be 6½ quart smaller than the standard of last year, so that it will not be larger than the New York barrel. On top of this comes a bill of Mr. Fisher for the inspection of apples for export. The Fisher bill provides that all apples shipped abroad must be marked with the name of the shipper, the variety of apples and the size of the fruit, measured by the diameter of the apple through the core. The fruit is to be graded as "A No. 1 Canadian," "No. 1 Canadian" and "No. 2 Canadian." The bill defines the character of each grade provides for inspection, and for the punishment of packers who do not mark the fruit, or do not mark it correctly.

The two apple bills were discussed in committee, but were not reported, some members stating that they desired to consult the farmers and packers before pronouncing on the matter. Mr. Mills, of Annapolis, observed that he was not so sure that the apple growers were ready for this change as he was that they were ready for prohibition.

THE YUKON AGAIN.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper has returned from British Columbia with a number of Yukon matters for investigation. One of these discussed at considerable length was the case of a steamer alleged to have been illegally "held up" by the collector of Customs at Dawson, until the owners had paid a disputed bill which included $750 to Mr. Sifton's friend, Mr. Wade, "for legal services."

In answer to a question it is stated by the Acting Minister of Marine that Chief Commissioner Ogilvie, who has been sitting as a judge to hear charges against the Department of the Interior and reports rather favorably, has not fared badly at the hands of that department. Mr. Ogilvie now receives the following salary and allowances:

Salary	$6,000	a year
Living allowance............	2,000	do
Allowance for house rent....	3,000	do
" for housekeeper ..	720	do
Total	$11,720

His legal advisor, Mr. Clement, who went into the Yukon at a salary of $2,500 a year has not been forgotten. He now receives:

Salary........................	$5,000	a year
Living allowance	1,200	do

OPEN ON SUNDAY.

Mr. Charlton has brought up in the House the complaint that while the United States exhibit at Paris is closed on Sunday, Canada is not allowed the privilege of closing. Mr. Fisher says that Mr. Tarte has done all he could to have Sunday observed, but that the people of his "dear France" refused to respect his scruples. Mr. McMullen, a strong supporter of the ministry, says that the Government should at once have refused to go on with the show. He would support a motion to withdraw now, and bring the goods home, since the French authorities had so little regard for our convictions. The adjournment had been moved, and the Premier's contribution to the discussion was the remark, "lost." The Speaker declared accordingly. La Patrie, Mr. Tarte's paper, in its Ottawa correspondence, remarks that Mr. McMillian's contention was "too puerile" for serious notice.

"Fortune favors the brave." It is also favorable to those who purify their blood at this season by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Cure For Pneumonia.

Take six to ten onions, according to size, and chop fine; put in a large spider over a hot fire, then add about the same quantity of rye meal and vinegar enough to make it a thick paste. In the meanwhile stir it thoroughly, letting it simmer five or ten minutes. Then put in a cotton bag large enough to cover the lungs and apply it to the chest as hot as the patient can bear. When it gets cool, apply another and thus continue by reheating the poultices. In a few hours the patient will be out of danger.

Usually three or four applications will be sufficient, but continue always until perspiration starts freely from the chest.

This simple remedy was formulated many years ago by one of the best physicians New England has ever known, who never lost a patient by this disease and won his renown by saving persons by simple remedies after the best medical talent had pronounced their cases hopeless. Personally we know of three persons who were saved by the remedy last winter in Boston after their physicians had given them up to die, and if a record was made of all similar cases during the last six years it would fill a good sized volume.—"The World's Progress."

An American Reporter.

They have a reporter on one of the Williamsburg papers who may not be much on style, but for placid, nervy "get there" he is a jewel. A little while ago he was assigned to a political meeting and asked to give a good report of it. Now, it happened that the festivities were conducted entirely in Polish, a language of which the young man knows nothing. This fact, however, did not feaze him a bit. He made his way through the hall, pushed up to the platform and sat down with the secretary. For several minutes he industriously took notes and finally the secretary, turning to him, pumped out a volley of Polish.

"I am not in it, dear boy," retorted the young man as he turned again to listen to the speaker.

The secretary looked surprised. Finally he went out and brought in a man who asked in English:

"Are you a Polish reporter?"

"Nope," was the reply. "I am an American one."

"Do you understand our language?"

"I never heard it before," retorted the scribbler, "but I think I have picked up enough since I have been here to give a rattling good story."

And he did.

A Savage Publisher.

The late J. Schabelitz, the famous Zurich publisher and author, was a shrewd business man, an excellent linguist, a skillful writer and probably the most savage publisher who ever lived. When he accepted the famous memoirs of Count von Arnim, he wrote on the postal card with the acceptance the proviso, "I reserve the right to correct your infernally bad grammar."

To an aspiring poet who had submitted manuscript he answered by postal card: "I refuse to be disgraced by printing your doggerel. I don't return the copy because you didn't inclose enough postage. If you will send it, with the price of this card, I will send it to you, but I don't think the stuff is worth the expense on your part."

One of his postal cards to a novelist read about as follows: "For heaven's sake, come and take away the unnamable mass of paper you left here for me to look at!"

An ambitious historian was crushed by the following, written, like all of his correspondence, upon a postal card: "You are making the mistake of your life. You don't want to study history. You want to learn how to write."—Saturday Evening Post.

Ancient Cattle and Butchering.

The earliest records of Egypt depict a butcher cutting up an ox, exactly as it is done today outside of the great slaughtering establishments, with a knife that he sharpened upon a steel that hung at his side and providing cuts of meat precisely like ours. They used leather, and they did better tanning than we do; the blood, instead of being processed into fertilising, was used for cooking purposes, and our Spanish friends never see a better bullfight than was daily purveyed for the delectation of those ancient "sports."

A little later in the world's history we find records of tricks being played in the cattle trade, for do not some historians aver that Jacob exercised undue influence upon the cows of Laban's herds as well as upon the ewes of his flocks? And others tell us that Zaph-u-to—otherwise known as "Joseph the Wise," stockbroker in chief for the Pharaoh Apophies, who, of course, was not known in the deal—cornered the cattle as well as the grain of all the country about.—Self Culture.

There are millions of the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands who never knew the dominion of Spain and never saw a Spaniard.

There are said to be fewer suicides among miners than among any other class of workmen.

GLENDOWER—"I can call spirits from the vasty deep."
HOTSPUR—"Why, so can I, or so can any man.
"But will they come when you do call for them?"—SHAKESPEARE.

How quickly Hotspur's wise and witty retort tears the tragic mantle in which Glendower stalks, and shows beneath the seer's robe, the motley of the mountebank. Most people would have taken the Welchman at his word, and called him seer, without noting the difference between to call and to command.

Certain points of comparison are suggested between Glendower's tragic claim and the comic claim made in some specious advertisements. "I am a woman, I know all about woman. I understand woman, and I can cure woman because I am a woman." The modern Mrs. Hotspur puts her finger right on the weak spot of that clamorous claim by saying: "Why if you can cure woman simply because you are a woman, then so can I and so can any woman." Which very plainly brings out the common sense fact that the cure of diseases does not depend upon being a man or being a woman but does depend upon being a trained and experienced physician.

There is, as far as is known, no qualified woman physician associated with any proprietary medicine firm. It is certain that there is no one, man or woman, who can show an experience or record equal to that of Dr. R. V. Pierce; more than thirty years of treatment of women's diseases with ninety-eight per cent. cured out of more than half-a-million women treated. Sick women can consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely free of charge. Every letter is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. All answers are mailed securely sealed in perfectly plain envelopes. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SUCCESS FOR GEN. BULLER

Attacks Boers After Four Days March to Biggarsberg.

The Federals Were Making a Stand on Monday Evening at Bleskopiaagte, Seven Miles From Dundee—Then Hildyard Took Indoba, and It is Reported That the Enemy Withdrew in Disorder—Roberts' Casualties.

London, May 15. — (3.45 a.m.) — Gen. Buller's turning of the Biggarsberg position was effected by a bold movement. The Boers had evacuated Helpmakaar, but were making a stand Monday evening at Bleskoplaagte, seven miles from Dundee. The correspondents on the spot regarded this as a rear guard action, intended to cover the retreat of the army.

At the same time Gen. Hildyard took Indoba, and it is reported that the Boers withdrew in disorder.

Buller Will Push On.

Gen. Buller, who seems to be employing his full strength, is expected to push on. His first marches were 45 miles in three days. He is thus breaking into British territory, which had been administered for six months by the Transvalers as though it were part of the republic, holding courts and levying taxes. His success therefore has political as well as military consequences, while Lord Roberts' forces is concentaring at Kroonstad, where they will rest for a day or two. His horsemen have penetrated 18 miles northward.

200 Boers Surrender.

Two hundred Boers who had ridden in the river jungles near Kroonstad to escape service have surrendered to the British and taken the oath of allegiance.

Proposed to Imprison Steyn.

According to a despatch from Bennett Burleigh to The Daily Telegraph dated May 10, Paul Botha and McDonald, members of the Free State Volksraad, demanded that the chairman should call a meeting to sue for peace, as further resistance was suicidal, and proposed to make President Steyn a prisoner.

Nothing From Mafeking.

Nothing definite has been heard about the expected relief of Mafeking. The Cape Town correspondents continue to wire that relief is imminent, fixing Tuesday or Wednesday as probable dates. Inquirers at the War Office are told that the news of the relief will be made public immediately upon its receipt. No word has come to hand at midnight.

East of Bloemfontein Gen. Rundle is advancing toward Ladybrand. His troops and those of Gen. Brabant are stretched over a distance of 30 miles. The Boers are described as quite disorganized, and as retreating northward. President Steyn's lieutenants are trying to rally them.

At the British hospitals in Bloemfontein the deaths from enteric fever average from 8 to 10 daily.

MORE CASUALTIES THAN REPORTED

In the Cavalry Division on May 10—Capt. Elsworthy Was Killed.

London, May 15. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Kroonstad, Sunday May 13. — There were more casualties in the cavalry division May 10 than reported by me. I have been unable to get an exact account of what occurred, as the commanding officer, Capt. Elsworthy, was killed and two officers were wounded at the same time, and have been sent to the rear. But it would appear that a party of outmen, going up to a kraal on which a white flag was flying, was suddenly attacked by a large number of the enemy. Two officers, Capt. Haig of the Sixth Dragoons and Lieut. Wilkinson of the Australian Horse, were made prisoners, and twenty-one men are still unaccounted for. Some of them may have turned up, as the cavalry covered a considerable distance May 10, and men reported missing have been rejoining during the last few days."

The above despatch refers to the losses sustained by the Inniskillings May 10. The troopers were fired on while unsaddling their horses, having approached the kraal unsuspiciously while a white flag was flying from it.

GEN. BULLER'S SUCCESS.

Boers Near Helpmakaar Outflanked and Forced to Abandon.

London, May 14. — A special despatch from Stone Hill Farm, Natal, dated to-days, says:

Stone Hill Farm, Natal, May 14. —Gen. Buller's advance commenced Thursday, when he left Ladysmith in strength. When within two miles of Helpmakaar the Boers opened a heavy artillery fire, and the British guns replied, while a portion of Buller's troops worked round the Boer flanks. The British attack was pressed home Sunday. Bethune, on the right, outflanked the Boers, whose splendid defensive positions on the Biggarsberg were practically taken. Gen. Buller's march, subsequent to the attack, was carried out without a hitch. The British are still pushing on.

—There was no session of the police court this morning.

STEYN AT HEILBRON.

Hundreds of the Burghers Surrender Their Arms.

Kroonstad, Saturday, May 12. — President Steyn has gone to Heilbron, not Lindley. He has declared the former the new capital. Four hundred burghers have given up their arms here and in this neighborhood.

Flour and Grain Captured.

Thabanchu, Sunday, May 13. — The eighth division, with its front extending thirty miles, was yesterday moving forward. Gen. Grenfell and Gen. Brabant followed the Boers, reaching Newberry's Mills, and captured great quantities of flour and grain. Gen. Brabant's main force, with Campbell's brigade of Guards and Gen. Boyes' brigade, have cleared the country. The Boers are splitting up, and retiring in the direction of Clocoland.

MAFEKING TO BE RELIEVED.

House Told That the Work Will Shortly Be Accomplished.

London, May 15. — The Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office, Mr. George Wyndham, in the House of Commons yesterday declined to divulge Lord Roberts' plans for the relief of Mafeking, but added significantly that he hoped that they would shortly be accomplished.

Reports From the Boer Side.

Pretoria, Saturday, May 12, via Lorenzo Marquez. — A war bulletin has been issued here, announcing that the British are advancing against the Federals at Helpmakaar and Tonder's Nek. The burghers this morning attacked Mafeking.

The telegraphist at Malopo says that a heavy rifle and cannon fire was heard before 6 o'clock Monday, and that the Kaffir location was in flames within an hour and was totally destroyed. At 10 o'clock, he adds, everything was quieter.

At a meeting of 350 Afrikander women, held yesterday, it was resolved to ask the Government for arms and ammunition, and to suggest that they do the work of the men officials in the town, who, they declared, "ought to be fighting at the front." The resolution was carried unanimously.

The Crowning Production Of a Great Physician.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Great Life Renewer and Health Giver.

A Noted Physician's Opinion.

Such a physician could only give what was worthy of his great and elevated character to suffering humanity. His best hours were devoted to the perfecting of what is now known in millions of homes in Britain, Europe and on this continent as Paine's Celery Compound, nature's food medicine for the nerves, brain and blood.

After our long winter and late spring, a host of people of every age have been left in a weak, languid, and depressed condition of health. The nerves are unstrung, the body is emaciated, the blood is stagnant and impure, digestion is faulty and constipation is doing its deadly work.

Your safety, health and future physical happiness demand the immediate use of Paine's Celery Compound, whose marvellous virtues are recognized by our ablest physicians, many of whom make personal use of it in their homes. Dr. A. W. K. Newton, writing to the proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound, says—

"The formula of Paine's Celery Compound led me to give it a personal trial, and I was much pleased with the result. I prescribe it for men and women who have no appetite, cannot sleep, and for the weak and rundown. For this condition, and for disorders of the blood and nerves, it has no equal. It is the best possible remedy to keep up one's strength and energy during the spring and summer months."

Still In Doubt.

"So you have a new baby at your house? What is it, a little brother or a little sister?"

"I dunno," said little Jessie. "We haven't called it anything but 'it' yet."—Chicago Times-Herald.

In China there are large cities that have no municipal organization and spend nothing on public improvements or for official expenses.

The sea of Galilee is 13 miles long and 6 broad

Physicians Prescribe It

It has become quite common for physicians to prescribe Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for patients who are run down by the ravages of chronic disease. They recognize in it a restorative of inestimable worth in which are found the very elements of nature required to build up the system and form new flesh and muscle. Its revitalizing action on nerves and blood places it beyond the reach of rivals as an absolute cure for diseases of the nerves and blood. 50 cents a box.

DOMINION COMMONS.

Two Government Measures Were Introduced and Explanatory Speeches Were Made About Them.

Ottawa, May 15. — After Sir Wilfrid Laurier had endeavored unsuccessfully to have one of the three new French translators to the Hansard staff changed, so that Mr. Gelinas could be reappointed, the report of the Printing Committee was adopted.

Government Bills.

Dr. Borden's bill to amend the Militia Act so that the Government would have power to appoint a colonel to a regiment, and also under certain conditions a major-general to the force, was introduced and read a first time.

Mr. Fielding's bill to amend the Civil Service Act, by creating a class of junior second-class clerks. This was prompted by departmental convenience. The minimum salary of such clerks will be $600, and maximum $1,000. But if a clerk passes in two optional subjects, he is entitled to a minimum salary of $700, or if he is a graduate of any university, or of the R.M.C.A., it is $800. The bill provides that the minimum salary of a packer or sorter in the P. O. Department shall be $600, instead of $500, as at present.

In reply to Col. Prior Mr. Fielding said that while the question of a Mint for Canada had for some time engaged the attention of the Government, yet no official communications had been held with the Imperial Government. He was under the impression that while many bankers in Canada were in favor of a Mint, still the majority were opposed to it.

Third Readings.

The Quebec & Lake Huron Railway bill was read a third time without opposition.

Amendments to the Colonial Investment and Loan Company bill were duly sanctioned, and read a third time.

Only Absolute Proof of One.

Hon. Dr. Borden brought up the question of obtaining certificates of the deaths of members of the first contingent. He read a letter from Mr. Chamberlain to Lord Minto, stating that Lord Strathcona had applied for such certificates, and that they would be issued to him as soon as they were obtained. But it would be weeks, and possibly months before the necessary papers were ready. So far, the only absolute proof of death was in the case of Pte. Johnson.

No Officer Appointed.

In answer to Sir Adolphe Caron, Dr. Borden said that no officer acting under the Government had been requested by the Imperial Government to act for them in providing Canada stores for the supply of the forces operating in South Africa.

Prison Binder Twine.

There were 226,955 pounds of hemp received at the Kingston Penitentiary between Oct. 31, 1899, and April 1, 1900. Between June 30, 1899, and Jan. 1, 1900, 252,138 pounds of binder twine were shipped from the institution. From July 1, 1899, to May 1, 1900, 219,182 pounds of binder twine have been made at the penitentiary.

The House went into committee on the Criminal Code, and it was being scanned when the House rose at 6 o'clock.

After recess, the Code was the bill of fare. The clause concerning combinations was discussed. Mr. Puttee wished a clause inserted so that nothing in the act would be construed to apply to employes who had combined together for their own protection.

The Government agreed to the amendment.

Much discussion followed upon the remaining clauses, which passed with more or less alteration.

The House adjourned at 11.35 o'clock.

Deadly Storm at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., May 15. — Three persons were killed and two injured yesterday in a fierce wind and rainstorm which passed over the city. Fannie Mullen, John M. Land and Patrick Sexton were killed, and Miss Mary Sexton and Patrick Sexton, jr., were injured. The Sextons were driving when the storm broke. A board walk was blown into the carriage, killing Mr. Sexton instantly.

BE A JUST MAN.

Give Your Stomach a Chance to Do its Duty.

Don't Drive it to Death—Take a Couple of Boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and You Needn't Worry—They'll Cure Any and All Stomach Diseases.

If all the doctors of all the countries in the world were to meet in consultation, and, after due deliberation, draft a prescription for the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, waterbrash, Foul Breath, Catarrh of the Stomach, their experience could not produce a better remedy than Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Food must be digested. The stomach ought to digest it. But if the stomach can't do so—what happens?

He gets another man to do it for him.

Exactly. And that's what you do, if you are sensible, when your stomach gives out, and can't digest the food—get Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to digest it. They'll do it—quickly, faithfully, naturally and effectually.

There is only one way of curing Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure it in that way. Therefore, if you have Indigestion, Dyspepsia, etc., and want to be cured, you must use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The small, brown Tablets found in each box of Dodd's are the most perfect regulators of the bowels in existence. With Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they cure any case of Stomach Disease. If you don't believe it—test them. They'll convince you by curing you.

Might Be Worse.

"Fate has drawn us together!" he cried passionately.

"Then it is not so bad!" she said, with a sigh of relief. "I thought you were going to say some amateur artist had drawn us together."—Chicago News.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

And Good Programme—Decided Success in Every Way.

The ice cream social under the auspices of the Epworth League of George-st Methodist church, held last evening, proved a decided success. The lecture room was filled and a very pleasant evening was spent by all present.

Mr. John Jeffries was in the chair, and an interesting musical programme was given. The first number was a piano duet by Miss Wynnie Dobbin and Mr. Walden, followed by a pretty solo, "The Wide, Wide Sea" by Miss Pascoe. The rest of the programme included the following numbers:—Vocal Duet, Misses. Belleghem; Vocal Solo, Miss Gertie Kendrey; Instrumental Duets, by Misses, Hubbs and Campbell, and by Misses D. Comstock and Ethel Tully, which were greatly enjoyed. Misses. Josie Morrow and Wynnie Dobbin and Mr. L. Best gave a mandolin and guitar trio, and numbers of the Lakefield Glee club were heartily applauded. After the programme, ice cream and cake were served by the members of the social committee of the league.

THE CELEBRATION IS PROGRESSING

THERE WILL BE A GREAT DAY ON THE TWENTY-FOURTH

A Meeting of the General Committee at Which the Sub Committees Reported Showing That Good Progress is Being Made in Preparing for the Day.

The general committee having in hand the celebration of the 24th May, met at the battalion officers' quarters at the drill shed last night. There was a capital attendance of men interested in the work and bound to show the community what celebrations sprang from.

Reports were handed in from the parade, Cycle parade, sports, advertising and fireworks committees, showing that good progress had been made with details of the several features. There is as yet a lot to do, but in efficient hands nothing will be left undone to complete the success. When the Committee met last Thursday night it was found that after allowing for the expenses of fireworks, music, prizes for games and hospitality for the men of the cavalry coming in from the country, nothing was left for advertising and some other incidental expenses. It was felt by the merchants, on the committee, that it would be only right to make an effort to have as large a crowd as possible in town that day, not only for the business that would accrue to such places as provide refreshment and provender, but to give the town and its celebration a good name. Taking up this idea several merchants made a voluntary effort among the merchants and realized $85, which handsome sum will put the committee in a position to give the celebration a good send off.

As now arranged the military -arade will include the local corps and bands and also the Dragoons, all in full fighting trim. To complete this feature of the day an effort is being made to secure a section of the Durham Field Battery and a couple of the "Long Toms." These guns are at Port Hope, and would require to be brought here at the expense of the committee. An effort, on the side, is being made to raise funds to cover the outlay, and permission has been asked to bring the guns. A day or two will decide whether they can be had.

The sports committee reported and exhibited a long and varied list of games. Several amusing features have been introduced, as it was felt that the crowd must be amused as well as interested. The prizes for the games will be bought from the merchants along the street.

Lieut. Walker, who has charge of the detail of the assembling of the children of the town at the park to sing at the hour of salute, has had printed the three songs, "God Save the Queen," "Soldiers of the Queen" and "Maple Leaf." Copies have been distributed to the several class rooms and a number handed to the principal of the Separate schools with the request that they co-operate. As May 23rd is "Empire Day" in all schools, and as it is the proper thing on that day to have an exercise of patriotic songs and readings the whole thing will work in very well.

The fireworks committee reported and exhibited the programme of fireworks and special pieces which they had obtained. The committee was authorized to order a display the total cost of which is not to exceed, all told, $125. The display, we are assured, will be the finest ever shown in Peterborough.

The cycle parade committee reported, giving details of the feature. All riders of all wheels are urged to compete, and the opportunity to gain a prize has been made a general one. No restrictions have been placed on wheels, that is the oddest wheel in town may win first prize if successfully decorated. Any wheel, of any age and in any state of servitude may be used. Its the decoration that counts. For this feature Mr. Thos. Barrie has generously given a $40.00 cycle as the prize for the best decorated gentlemen's wheel, and Mr. F. Davidson and the committee together offer another wheel of equal value as the prize for the best decorated lady's wheel. Mr. F. McPherson, with commendable enterprise offers a $40.00 gent's wheel as a prize for the best lady's or gent's costume shown in the parade. The committee wish it understood that in these competitions the rider may appear decorated, or not. But if decorated his or her appearance will be considered as a part of the general decoration of wheels. Of course a well decorated wheel will have its value, but a decorated rider and decorated wheel will count for more. By decorated rider is meant one wearing a fancy costume. There is a wide opportunity for individual effort and ingenuity in getting up decorations, and the Review will be glad to aid riders with suggestions. It is understood that the judges in this feature, may render a sealed decision and, if they wish it, be allowed 10 minutes start for a place of safety. There is no telling what may happen these war times.

The cook's parade committee wouldn't report. They said their intentions and propositions were too sacred a subject for the prying public eye. What they intended to do would develop.

Further details will be made known after the next meeting of the committee.

THE EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Mr. Geil Talks on Repentance—To-night he Will Deal With the Jelly Fish.

There was a fair congregation at St. Paul's last night to hear Mr. Geil, the evangelist, but the many other attractions in other churches and the threatening weather told on the attendance.

Mr. Geil's address or talk was on "Repentance," which he illustrated by the use of a black-board.

To-night he will address himself more particularly to professing Christians, and will deal with "Christians Without Backbone."

The subject for to-morrow afternoon's address at Murray-st church will be "Sacrifice or Obedience, which?"

SUICIDED WITH PARIS GREEN

THOS. M'CUTCHEON, OF PARNELL-ST., TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Took a Large Dose of the Poison Between Three and Four O'clock and Expired About Ten.

Yesterday afternoon Thomas McCutcheon, an old resident of the town, living alone on Parnell-st, committed suicide by taking paris green. It is supposed he took the dose before 4 o'clock as about 4.30 he appeared in the yard of his house doubled up and holding his hands over his stomach as if in pain.

Dr. McClellan was notified about 6.30 o'clock and when he arrived at McCutcheon's house he found him very low. He had been vomiting severely some time before but was unconscious and could not speak a word. Dr. McClelland applied the stomach pump and removed a large quantity of the fluid. The man was too far gone, however, and passed away about 10 o'clock.

Before the doctor's arrival a neighbor named Gibson was in and talked to the poisoned man. An empty cup with traces of paris green in it stood by and McCutcheon admitted having taken the poison.

The deceased was between 65 and 70 years of age. He has a sister living in town, also a sister residing in Rochester. He was very respectably connected. He was not in want, being in fair circumstances, and it is hard to assign any reason for his act.

LOST IN A SWAMP

Death of Mr. William Saunders, of Glenarm, From Lack of Food and Exposure.

Lindsay, May 14.—An old man named Wm. Saunders, a farmer, living near the village of Glenarm, was found dead yesterday in a thick swamp, into which he had wandered on May 3rd. On the day of his disappearance he had been speaking of visiting his son near Lorneville, and when he failed to return at night his wife and son felt no great alarm, thinking he had gone there. Next day, however, they learned that the missing man was not at Lorneville, and a vigorous search was at once instituted. The services of the neighbors were called upon and firearms were discharged to guide the wanderer to his home. Yesterday afternoon as the son and a party of friends were returning to the road from the unavailing search they came on the body, lying face downward on the moist earth and within forty rods of the unfortunate man's home. He had evidently been resting on the log, and, being weak from loss of food and exposure, had fallen forward and perished, within calling distance of aid. From the appearance of the body death had probably taken place about 24 hours previously. Dr. Wood, Coroner of Kirkfield, did not think an inquest necessary.

Sad Death of a Promising Boy.

A sad death occurred on Sunday, when Bruce Hewie, the ten-year-old son of Mr. Andrew Hewie, of 190 Auburn-st died, after an illness of only one week. The boy, who was a bright, intelligent lad, very popular with all his school mates, was taken ill first with rheumatism after school on Friday, the 4th, and this was not considered serious when an obstruction of the bowels necessitated an operation. The deceased boy, attended the North Ward School. Much sympathy is felt for his parents. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

DEATH OF ANDREW WHITE, M. P. P.

Special to the Review.

Pembroke, May 15.—Andrew White, M. P.P., for North Renfrew, and brother of Hon. P. White, ex-M.P., died at his home this morning.

The late Mr. White was well-known in Peterborough where he has many friends who will regret his untimely demise.

THE HUMOR OF THE SCOT

Capital Lecture by Rev. A. Logan Geggie at St. Andrew's—The Musical Numbers.

St. Andrew's church's double anniversary, which was marked by special services on Sunday, was further commemorated by the congregational gathering held last evening, when Rev. Mr. Geggie, of Parkdale, who preached on Sunday, gave a lecture on "Scottish Humor." The anniversary was most pleasant and successful in all its features.

There was a large audience present, among them being noticed many of the prominent Scotchmen of the town, who thoroughly enjoyed the address and lecture that was given.

Rev. Mr. Potter, the pastor, officiated as chairman, and the programme opened with an anthem by the choir, "Love Divine all Love Excelling," in which Miss Eva Wrighton, Miss Vina Belleghem, A.T.C.M., Mr. Skitch and Mr. Jas. Browne took solos. The chorus and the solos were well sung.

Rev. Mr. Potter then made a short address in which he referred to the anniversary occasion, to the presence of Rev. Mr. Geggie, and to congregational matters. In regard to the latter he said on the occasion of another anniversary they could feel that God had been with them, that His approval had been their's, and that His sympathy will go forward with them. He spoke of the need of social intercourse in their religious development. They should look forward to a year of church work and be prepared to take a deeper abiding interest in all departments of the work. Mr. Skitch then sang "The Mariner's Warning," in magnificent voice, and "Flowerland" was rendered as a quartette by Misses Vina Belleghem and Eva Wrighton, and Messrs. Browne and Skitch. This was excellently sung. Miss Aggie Weddell then sang "I'm Far From My Hame," with great sweetness of voice and expression.

Rev. Mr. Geggie was then introduced, and for an hour or more he interested and amused his audience. As he said himself he kept well to his text, "Scottish Humor," and story followed story and incident followed incident, illustrating the humor of the Scotchman. The lecturer has the accent in all its loveliness and the hearts of the Scotch people present were delighted, while those whose education had been neglected and who could not master all the dialect found plenty to keep them interested. Rev. Mr. Geggie is free and easy as a lecturer, and he was full of his subject. He spoke of the difference between wit and humor, and claimed that the finest specimens of humor belonged to the Scottish race just as the finest specimens of wit belonged to the Irish. The lecture was enjoyed immensely.

A vote of thanks to the lecturer, to the choir and to those who had assisted in the anniversary music was moved by Mr. T. U. Elliott, and seconded by Mr. Geo. Edmison and carried.

The gathering dispersed after singing the National Anthem and the pronouncing of the benediction.

PASSED AWAY

Death of Mrs. Wm. Scott, of Ashburnham After a Year's Illness.

Much regret will be caused by the news of the death of Mrs. Wm. Scott, of Ashburnham, who passed away this morning at six o'clock, after an illness of about a year.

Her maiden name was Flora Macdonald and she was the daughter of the late Kenneth Macdonald. She was born forty-eight years ago at "Glen Morris," County of Brant. She was married to Mr. Wm. Scott in 1873 and they have resided in Ashburnham for the past eight years. The deceased lady was a member of St. Paul's church.

The children are Dr. Andrew Scott, of Toronto, and two daughters, Lizzie and Flossie. The husband and children will have the sincere sympathy of many friends

Mr. Jas. Macdonald, of Ashburnham, is a brother of the deceased. Her mother survives her.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, proceeding from the family residence, Elizabeth-st., to the Little Lake cemetery.

The Rogue Saved the Judge.

A judge of the English high court was once arrested on suspicion of having burglarious designs on the house of a friend in Mayfair. The police officer charged him in the police station with loitering with felonious intent, and the prisoner's description of himself as one of her majesty's judges was received with a grin of sarcastic derision.

At that moment an old offender was brought in who happened to catch sight of his lordship's face, which he had good reason to remember.

"You here, my lord!" he exclaimed, with unfeigned astonishment. "Well, this beats cockfighting."

The rogue's unsolicited corroboration of the judge's declaration saved the situation, and his lordship was allowed to depart in peace.

A Thankful Farmer

THERE is no class of men more subject to all the ills the human flesh is heir to than farmers. Their calling causes them to be out in all kinds of weather, consequently when sickness overtakes them they become great sufferers. Rheumatism is the disease most prevalent among the farming classes. Mr. C. W. Trotter, Cushendall, Ont., a most respected farmer of Pittsburg township, suffered for two years from this dread disease. So severely was he afflicted that for three months at a stretch he was compelled to remain idle. Being induced to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial, he is now very thankful he did so. Before the contents of one bottle had been taken the pains disappeared, and he was able to resume his work. He took only one bottle of the Rheumatic Cure and one box of pills, but even that small quantity completely cured him. He has not been troubled with the pain since, and is now as strong and healthy as ever.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE DRESSY WOMAN.

Tailor made silk coats, jackets and basque bodices are highly fashionable both here and abroad.

The natty Eton and bolero jacket styles rival the belted, round waisted models among spring tailor costumes being made ready for Easter and post Easter wear.

The handsomest of the new lace flouncings in duchess point, renaissance, venise, honiton or other choice or fancy pattern are shaped in circular form for both skirt and bodice garniture.

The stylish fancy belt girdle and expensive chatelaine accessories keep the round waist very prominent among favored modes. They are youthful looking when worn by graceful and slender women.

A transparent black hat is trimmed with large black ostrich plumes and an expensive gold buckle dotted with faceted onyx stones. Round the crown is a roll of folded heliotrope tulle delicately veiled with black point de gaze lace.

Light colored gloves are introduced this season, which in a great degree will supersede the pure white ones which have so long enjoyed the stamp of universal approval. Biscuit, doe color, sage gray, nickel, a pretty shade of tan, a light tint of sable brown and one of lilac are among the new colors.

The newest ornamental buttons for silk, satin or chiffon draped waists are those of French brilliants of various small sizes. They are either surrounded with a mere threadlike line of black enamel or else with no setting whatever. They fasten to the bodice by means of gold shanks and rings.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Cowboy Blacksmithing.

"Up at my camp near the Four Peaks," told Jim Bark, the well known cattleman, "the boys are all handy with a rifle. We've a lot of guns up there. Most of the new guns were bought during the Spanish war, when we would experiment all day with tree trunks and rough trenches, learning the art of war at home. We found that a bullet from one of the new Winchesters, driven by smokeless powder, was good for four feet and more of pine timber and for more than an inch of iron.

"I thought the boys had done about everything in the shooting line that could be done long ago, but I was mistaken. I sent them up a wagon. In hauling down some firewood they broke the bolsters all to flinders. The bolsters hold up the wagon bed, you know. Well, the boys figured out all right the rebuilding of the wood parts, but came near being stumped on the iron fixings. They got some old iron wagon tires and cut them in proper lengths, but hadn't a way that they could see to punch the necessary bolt holes. Finally the question was solved. One of the boys carefully marked the places for the bolts, stood the piece of tire against a tree and put a bullet, 30 caliber, through the tire at each place marked. It was a novel sort of blacksmithing, but it worked."—Arizona Grapevine.

Garland and the Virginian.

Cleveland's first attorney general, Garland—a specimen of what Lincoln called the plain people—was born in Arkansas and "raised" in blue jeans. One day, at the department of justice, he received a visit from a Virginia gentleman of aristocratic manner, who bored him horribly with talk about "first families."

"It seems to me, suh," said the visitor at last, "that there are Gyarlands in No'th Ca'lina. I once met a gentleman named Henry Gyarland, from that state. May I ask, suh, if he was a relative of yours?"

"First cousin," replied Mr. Garland shortly. "He was hanged for horse stealing."

A look of ill conceived horror and disgust came over the visitor's countenance. Then, drawing on his gloves, he rose to his feet, took up his hat, and, waving a hand toward the walls of the room, said: "A fine collection of portraits you have here, Mr. Gyarland. Your predecessors in office, I presume?"

"Yes," grunted Mr. Garland. The Virginian stalked out, evidently glad to make his escape, and the attorney general, turning to his chief clerk, grinned and remarked:

"He'll never bother me any more."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Wounded In War.

Army doctors look out for good news even more eagerly than the general in command of the forces, for they know that it makes the difference between life and death to many of their patients. Nothing hinders the recovery of the wounded so much as depression of spirits and anxiety. And when they hear that things are going badly at the front many of them who are on the turning point grow worse and die.

On the other hand, the news of a great victory will pull a man out of the jaws of death. This fact was very noticeable when both British and French wounded were congregated at Antwerp during the Waterloo campaign. When news of Napoleon's complete defeat reached the hospital, the French began to die at about twice the rate of the British troops.—London Globe.

A father who buried his son alive was let off because the boy abused him, and it is quite permissible for a father to strangle his daughter if she misbehaves.—Notes on Chinese Law by E. Alabaster.

BELIEVED IN GHOSTS

DR. ELLIOTT COUES SAID THAT HE OFTEN SAW THEM.

The Famous Ornithologist's Description of the Spirit of a Dead Friend Who Appeared to and Conversed With Him In His Room.

Dr. Elliott Coues, the famous ornithologist and member of the American Academy of Sciences, was long recognized as the foremost advocate of belief in the existence of ghosts. He had promised several of his friends that, if able to do so, he would appear to them after his own demise, and they are still waiting, with no little interest, to see if he can carry out the agreement.

"I have myself seen the ghosts of a good many dead persons," said the doctor one day. "I remember one occasion when I had just gone to bed, the light being turned out, I was composing myself to slumber when I suddenly became aware of a presence in the room. The impression conveyed to my mind was that it was the presence of a certain person lately deceased, with whom I had been on very intimate terms. In fact, I felt an overpowering sense of the nearness of the individual in question.

"About the same moment there arose slowly from the floor a nebulous mass of what looked like shining white vapor, which began to take shape, as did the smoke from the casket opened by the fisherman in the 'Arabian Nights'' tales. Gradually it assumed a more distinct outline, until it presented a radiant image of my friend. The lips appeared to move, and from them came an intelligible utterance, a message in short, from the departed. I do not care to say what that message was.

"I can assure you that the vision was no dream, and the nature of the message was such as to eliminate, to my own satisfaction at all events, the theory of hallucination. What, then, was this shape of shining white vapor? Was it a human soul? It is a question pregnant with intense interest.

"Each of us, I believe, has in him a ghost, which ordinarily is confined to the precincts of the body. When I die, my ghost leaves my body permanently, and, having done so, perhaps it may continue to be the vehicle and means of expression of conscious will, memory and understanding. St. Paul says, 'There is a natural body and a spiritual body.' It is of the spiritual body that I am speaking.

"Our senses take cognizance of no forms of matter except those which are in a certain degree of condensation, but the spiritual body may be of a more rarefied and tenuous substance. The nonappearance of ghosts to us may be a question not of the existence of specters, but of the acuteness of our perceptive faculties.

"My own experience is that the coming of an apparition is always preceded by a curious sensation which I call the 'ghost chill.' When this symptom arrives, the threshold of consciousness seems to be shifted to the extent of rendering possible a perception of something ordinarily invisible. The change is usually very brief, lasting only a few seconds, during which the manifestation occurs.

"One reason that I have for believing the evidence of my own senses in this matter is that on several occasions the apparition of my own personality has presented itself to other persons in places where my body was not at the time. Some years ago I was in Chicago, at an ordinary evening party with about 40 friends, when an individual in Washington, who did not even know where I was, was visited by my phantasm and received from it a brief message stating where I was at the time and giving the names of two or three of the guests present—persons with whom the observer was unacquainted. This was one of the rare cases where a ghost made itself audible.

"You ask what would happen if one should approach a ghost such as I have described and try to touch it. My reply is that there would certainly be no danger in doing so, for specters never do anybody any harm, the fear of them entertained by most people being simply a dread of that which is unknown and not understood. Whatever is unknown is always terrible. But the phantom is composed of matter too tenuous to present any obstacle, and I do not doubt that it would dissolve and disappear if you attempted to walk through it."—Washington Post.

Fish Living In Hot Water.

There is a pond at Golconda which is fed by the waters from the hot springs. This pond has an area of two or three acres, and the temperature of the water is about 75 degrees, and in some places where the hot water bubbles up from the bottom the temperature is almost up to a boiling point. Recently a discovery has been made that this warm lake is literally alive with carp, some of which are more than one foot long. All efforts to catch them with a hook and line have failed, and they will not touch the most tempting bait. A few of them have been shot, and, contrary to the general supposition, the flesh was hard and palatable.

What He Thought of It.

The following retort is recorded of Mr. Maurice Barrymore: Once at the Hoffman House, New York, an English stranger interfered with the conversation of a knot of friends by a long tirade against all things American. He finished by an attack on our spelling.

"Why, you can't even spell correctly in this confounded country! Honour, h-o-n-o-r; labour, l-a-b-o-r. What do you think of that, Barry?"

"Well," replied Barrymore slowly and distinctly, "as far I should judge, where honor and labor are concerned U would never enter into the question!"

Stole Watch to Get Square.

"Great Scott, but that's a fine watch!" came from the chorus. "Where'd you ever get it?" "Stole it," answered its possessor calmly. "You don't believe me, do you?" he went on. "Well, I'll tell you how it happened. I was on a western district which enjoyed the reputation of being the toughest one covered by the house. I had some time to kill and so went into one of the gambling joints. It isn't necessary to go into details as to what happened. As luck would have it, there were a half dozen others in the place besides myself who might be considered as possible victims.

"When the time came, the lights were put out suddenly, and then we had 'rough house' for about ten minutes. In the middle of it I felt somebody grab my watch and reached after him. I caught some one and felt that he was just putting a watch in his trousers pocket. I gave his wrist a hard wrench and got the timepiece. Then I broke away. When I got to the light, I found the watch was this one. And as I never heard from the owner I have kept it to compensate for the loss of mine."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Both Told the Truth.

"Truth compels me to state," said the presiding officer of a medical congress, "that upon the list of physicians present just read there is one that is no gentleman."

A stir of surprise passed over the assemblage at this, and one man upon whose foot, as the presiding officer said afterward, the shoe seemed to be a perfect fit half rose from his seat. But in another moment a woman's voice from the back part of the hall made itself heard.

"I quite agree with Dr. Blank," said the voice, "for I am that physician. In my turn I must say, however, that Dr. Blank is no lady."

THE ONTARIO CROP REPORT

Bulletin Based on Reports From 500 Special Correspondents.

General Tenor of Reports Is That the Condition of Fall Wheat Is Decidedly Favorable—Losses of Last Year Made Farmers Conservative in Sowing Clover, Which Is in a Backwood Condition—Cold Retards Spring Work.

Toronto, May 15. — The following statement has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture regarding the condition of crops and live stock during the first week of May, 1900, based upon reports received from over 500 special correspondents:

The Weather—The temperature of the winter of 1899-1900, including the six months November to April, was one degree higher than the general average for that period. November and January were both remarkably mild months, but March was unusually cold, its mean temperature of 20.5 being 5 degrees less than the average. The total precipitation (rain and snow) of the six months was 14.44 inches, or about an inch and a quarter less than the average for the period. The snowfall for March exceeded that of any other month, being 18.8 inches, and that of April was unusually light.

Fall Wheat — The general tenor of the reports as to the condition of fall wheat is decidedly favorable, the crop having in most localities stood the winter well and promising excellently, provided there is a sufficient supply of moisture. The principal cause of injury has been the formation of ice on level or low lying lands from water which collected in pools after the melting of the snow by which many young plants were killed, and the fields left uneven and patchy. The drifting of snow also caused some loss. Opinions as to the kind of soil upon which the crop made the best showing are so variable and contradictory as to preclude any conclusion being drawn from them. One point on which there is practical unanimity among correspondents, however, is the advantage of drainage. The crops on high and dry land whatever the character of the soil, wintered well with few exceptions, while those on wet, undrained ground suffered badly. A favorable feature of the situation is the general absence of destructive insect pests, the only mention of such being in connection with a few western localities where the Hessian fly and wire worm were in evidence, though the damage inflicted by them has been slight. Very little of the land sown to fall wheat will need to be plowed up. The crop in some parts, especially in the east, is beginning to require rain.

Clover—The losses of last year, when clover suffered severely from the severity of the winter, have somewhat diminished the area devoted to this crop. Owing to fall drouth there was a poor catch in newly-seeded meadows, but the winter was a favorable one, and the new growth has for the most part survived in excellent condition. There have been some losses of heaving by frost, more especially in old meadows, and in some parts the ice has caused injury. The eastern section of the province has suffered more in this respect than the west. Clover is in a slightly backward condition, and is beginning to need rain badly in some places.

Winter Rye — This crop is being grown more extensively than formerly, especially in stock raising neighborhoods, being used mainly for pasturage or green fodder, though there are many localities where it is not cultivated. It has generally wintered well, though some injuries from ice and want of snow are noted, and it presents a promising appearance, though not so far advanced as usual, owing to the late spring.

Vegetation—The present is a decidedly backward season, and vegetation generally is considerably later than the average, owing to the prevalence of frosts and cold winds, and the lack of rain. The grass is in excellent condition, and has made a good start, although in some localities it is too short and scanty for the pasturing of cattle, but the prospects are favorable for a bountiful yield if rains and warm weather set in. So far as there is any difference by reason of locality, the season seems a little more advanced in some of the eastern frontier counties than in the west. The buds of fruit trees and shrubs are swelling, and the forest trees appear to be about as well advanced as usual.

Spring Seeding—The coldness of the season has somewhat retarded spring sowing, which was commenced sometimes later than the customary date in most places. The ground was generally in good condition to receive the seed, the principal exception being as to clay soils, which frequently proved difficult to work, being stiff and lumpy. In the western portion of the Province the soil was generally dry, and rain was badly needed in some places, while in many eastern counties it was too wet to be satisfactorily worked excepting on the uplands or in the case of light soils. Owing to the backwardness of operations it was difficult to compare the extent of the area sown with the average, but a few correspondents consider that there will probably be an increase, one reason given being the extent to which the clover was killed out last season. The same cause prevents any forecast of the season's prospects from the appearance of young crops, which are only in evidence in very few instances. Spring sown grass and clover, where they have come up, are looking thrifty.

Fruit Trees—Fruit trees and bushes have come through the winter with unusually small loss. Although the season has been backward there was promise of a heavy bloom on fruit trees when correspondents wrote at the beginning of May and if frosts and heavy rains are escaped at the period of blossoming a large setting of fruit may be looked for. One great drawback to the bright prospects of orchard owners this season is the large number of caterpillars looked for at many points in the Province, east and west. Some correspondents prudently removed the eggs from the branches of apple trees during the winter, but in most cases spraying will be an imperative duty if the apple crop is to be saved from this pest. A few correspondents also referred to the San Jose Scale and the bark-louse as doing injury.

Live Stock—Reports as to the condition of live stock are in the main favorable, the animals being as a rule healthy and vigorous. Owing to the need of economizing fodder many of the cattle are lean. In many cases they went into winter quarters in poor condition by reason of the drouth. Though horses suffered in numerous instances from distemper and inflammation no contagious disease is noted. There has been active demand for horses, and they have come through the winter in good condition. Sheep have done well, though some correspondents state that the tick is prevalent in their neighborhoods. There appears to be a decrease in the number of pigs kept, due no doubt to the heavy demand, a large number having been disposed of. Pigs seem to have been more subject to disease than any other stock, many suffering from crippling or rheumatism. In Middlesex a plague affecting the lungs and causing sudden death has made its appearance. The cold weather of the season has been highly unfavorable to parturition, and the death of an unusual number of calves, lambs and young pigs is noted. There was a sufficient supply of fodder in most parts, but a shortage in the Lake Erie counties and some other sections.

Farm Supplies — Conditions as to the amount of hay and grain supplies available after satisfying the home demand are extremely variable. In most neighborhoods there is little or no hay for sale, but there are numerous exceptions, the farmers having in many instances kept large supplies on hand owing to the large price. Oats are generally scarce, but are offered freely in some places, more especially in the eastern counties. A good deal of wheat still remains in hand in the western part of the province, where many of those who could afford to hold have done so, hoping for a rise in price. Much of the grain now unmarketed will be fed to stock, more especially hogs, in preference to selling at present rates. The quantity of both fat and store cattle available is considerably below the average, many cattle raisers having marketed their stock in the winter. The supply seems to be particularly short in the east, where there are but few cattle remaining for export. Fat stock is rather more plentiful in some western neighborhoods, but stockers are difficult to obtain anywhere for shipment, as the owners generally prefer to fatten them for sale. Some are being held in readiness for the British market, in the hope of a reduction in ocean freight rates. The very noticeable increase in the production of hogs appears to have resulted in the raising of fewer beef cattle.

Surgical Operations as a Cure for Piles...

Are Painful, Expensive and Dangerous—The Only Certain Cure is Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Besides the acute misery produced by the itching and burning of piles, this horrible disease is the more dreaded because a surgical operation is commonly considered the only effective cure.

Fortunately this is a mistaken idea, for physicians have learned to use Dr. Chase's Ointment instead of applying the knife, not only because it is less expensive and less risky, but also because it is a more effective cure.

It frequently happens that after people have endured the torture of piles for years and submitted to operations, that they are finally cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, the only guaranteed cure.

Among persons operated on for piles and afterwards cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment we would mention Rev. J. A. Baldwin, of Athens, Ont., H. H. Sutherland, Truro, N.S., and W. B. Thornton, Calgary, N.W.T.

Dr. Chase's Ointment truly works wonders for it positively cures the worst cases of blind, itching, bleeding and protruding piles and all itching skin diseases. 60c a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Everybody is Coughing.

Except those who use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It loosens the tightness in the chest, stops the cough, allays the inflammation, heals the soreness and promptly cures all sorts of coughs and colds, bronchitis, croup, asthma, and sore throat. It is found in nine-tenths of the homes of this country. 25 cents a bottle. Family size 60 cents. 16

THREE MONTHS IN GOAL

Manager of a Junk Shop Punished for Receiving Stolen Goods.

William Mitchell, a young man employed as manager of a junk shop, was charged in police court Monday morning with purchasing two copper kettles from boys, knowing them to be stolen. He pleaded not guilty but was found guilty on the evidence and was sentenced by Magistrate Dumble to three months in gaol.

The two boys, Kimball and Ferguson, pleaded guilty to stealing the kettles and were thoroughly rawhided and then allowed at liberty on suspended sentence.

THE DEACON.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph N. Blanchard has resigned the rectorship of St. James' Episcopal church, Philadelphia, on account of differences with the vestry of the church.

The Rev. Dr. F. W. Hamilton of the Universalist church, Roxbury, Mass., has placed paid advertisements of his church in the street cars of Roxbury and in the cars of the Boston "L" road.

The archbishop of Canterbury, replying to protests against the petition for the dead in his "Form of Prayer," asserts that "it has been decided at law that prayers for the dead are not forbidden by the Church of England."

Dr Adler, the chief rabbi of London, has been elected a member of the Athenæum club of that city in accordance with the special rule allowing the annual introduction of persons of distinguished eminence in literature. It is significant that Dr. Adler's proposer was the bishop of London.

THE BEEKEEPER.

Drones from fertile workers or drones laying queens are raised as a general thing in worker cells.

The bees in the grub state, from the time of the hatching of the eggs until the capping of the cell, are called larvæ.

Propolis is a resinous substance usually gathered from the buds of certain trees by bees and used in covering rough places.

If old combs are straight and in good condition, but dirty, put them in or over a strong colony of bees, and they will clean up.

Bees do not as a rule swarm until they have got their hive pretty well filled up and have multitudes of young bees hatching out daily.

All Three Committed.

Magistrate Logan, in summing up, stated the case was now beyond his jurisdiction, and he committed Nolin and Walsh for trial on the third clause of the charge. He admitted there was no evidence to show that Dullman had been in Thorold on the day of the explosion, but the evidence shows his association with the other two all through the week. He also committed Dullman for trial.

Trial on May 22.

The trial of the three will come up at the Assizes, opening on May 22, and Chancellor Boyd will be the presiding judge, E. F. B. Johnson of Toronto will be Crown Prosecutor and Messrs. McBurney and German will defend the prisoners.

Piles for 15 Years.

Mr. Jas. Bowles, Councillor, Embro, writes:—"For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely."

"Neill" Shoe

FOR LADIES

We offer a new Shoe, which we have named "The Neill." This is a shoe we can endorse. It it a shoe we can guarantee. And why?

It has been made specially to our order by one of the best makers in Canada and for us. It is made on the latest American lasts, is made to fit the foot with comfort, has the favorite flexible sole, and for material the fine and fashionable "Vici" kid. This shoe has style, and shape and durability, and finish, and all the good points that go to make up a good shoe.

It is undoubtedly the best shoe at the money in the market. We can guarantee it in every respect. It is our own shoe. We are proud of its good points and sure it has no defects. Every pair is stamped "Neill." The prices are—as prices ever with us—reasonable. Ladies' sizes as follows :—

Balmorals - - - - $3.25 the pair.
Button - - - - $3.00 the pair.
Oxford (the low shoe) $2.50 the pair.

GEORGE STREET.

The Lady and the Teeth.

"I was called one day to a certain hotel to give chloroform to a young woman who was about to undergo a slight surgical operation to remove a morbid growth in the ear," said a physician. "The patient, as it developed on my arrival, had been married only a few days before and was in the city with her husband on their bridal tour. Although quite handsome, she was no longer exactly in her first youth, and she was very much averse to having her husband present at the operation. However, he insisted, and she finally agreed that he should stay, but I noticed that she seemed very nervous and preoccupied.

"The operation, as I said before, was trifling. She took the chloroform easily and all went well until she was just regaining consciousness, when she opened her mouth, and out fell a set of false teeth. She had said nothing about that detail, and the truth was that she had hoped, poor woman, to pass through the ordeal without the fact of her wearing such things being known to her husband.

"But the effect on that individual was entirely unexpected. He gave one horrified glance and then rushed at the old surgeon and seized him by the throat. 'You infamous scoundrel!' he yelled. 'You have broken my poor darling's jaw!'

"At that stage of affairs I beat a retreat. I never did learn exactly what the husband thought had happened or what sort of explanation was offered." —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

He Drank Alone.

In the early days of Ventura, Cal., Dr. Bard established such a reputation for willingness to fight that few presumed to provoke his anger. He was once informed that the lawyer he had engaged to represent him in a certain case had sold out to the opposing side. "I'll cut his heart out," said Bard when the news came to him.

Shortly after that, walking with one of his friends, Dr. Bard met the lawyer on the street. "Come in and have a drink," said that worthy, and the three men, entering the barroom, ordered three glasses of whisky, which were put before them.

"Drink," said Dr. Bard to the lawyer.

"Not until you are ready," the lawyer politely replied.

"No, not with me," said Bard; "you drink now."

"Not until you drink," insisted the legal light.

Dr. Bard's pistol was out in a moment and pointed between the eyes of the man who had betrayed him. "Drink!" said he in a voice of thunder; "drink, I tell you!" The lawyer drank with avidity, and when he was through Bard and his friend threw their full glasses on the floor. "We don't drink with curs," said they and, turning their backs, walked out of the room.

It Wasn't the Bell.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal tells a story of a minister in a prayer meeting who cut short "Uncle" Ira, a prosy old deacon, by ringing a bell at the end of five minutes. But after doing so he felt sorry, because he had apparently hurt the feelings of an old father in Israel. So he arose and went down to "Uncle" Ira and put his hand on the old man's shoulder.

" 'Uncle' Ira," said he, "I'm sorry for that. I ask your pardon and"—

"Uncle" Ira looked up, the anger still in his eyes.

"Why, ye don't think I set down on account of that pesky little bell of your'n, do ye?" he demanded.

"Why, I—I—well, I thought"— stammered the minister.

"Waal," said "Uncle" Ira, "ye needn't think no more about that bell. I want to tell ye right now that no bells ain't ever goin to set me down in this vestry where I've talked goin on 29 years. I want to tell ye right now, young man, if I hadn't jest swallered my chaw I'd 'a' kept on talkin till I'd 'a' 'lucidated that p'int if it had 'a' took me all night."

They Spilled Over.

Marjorie never cries when any little mishap befalls her and has been known to sustain without shedding a tear severe bumps that have rapidly acquired a black and blue aspect. But the other day Araminta, her dearly loved and tenderly cherished doll, fell into the open grate and received a contusion of the nose which was most unpleasant to contemplate. Marjorie winked very hard for a few minutes, and then, running with her injured Araminta to her mother, she buried her head in her lap, sobbing, "Oh, mamma, I don't want to cry, but my tears have all come unfastened!"

Where the Paint Went.

"I thought you were working on Jay Krank's new house," said the house painter's friend.

"I was going to," replied the house painter, "but I had a quarrel with him, and he said he'd put the paint on himself."

"And did he do it?"

"Yes, that is where he put most of it."—Philadelphia Press.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilities.

MAFEKING REPULSED THE BOER ATTACK

Buller has Occupied Glencoe and the Biggarsberg is Cleared of the Enemy--More White Flag Treachery Results in British being Wounded, Killed and Captured.

A Report from Cape Town Says the Boer Delegates have Advised the Transvaalers to Surrender if they are Defeated at the Vaal---This is Important if True.

MORE WHITE FRAG TREACHERY

London, April 16.—The War Office posts the following despatch from Lord Roberts, under date of Kroonstadt, May 15: "Two officers and six men of Prince Alfred's Guards while out foraging yesterday a few miles from Kroonstadt visited a farm flying a white flag, the owner of which surrendered himself with arms and ammunition. They then approached another farm, also flying a white flag. When within 20 yards of the enclosure they were fired upon by 15 or 16 Boers concealed behind the farm wall. Two of the men were killed, Lieut. F. B. Walton was wounded and Lieut. W. B. Everton and two non-commissioned officers were taken prisoners. The owner of the farm states that the Boers threatened to shoot him when he protested against their making an improper use of the white flag."

BOERS REPULSED AT MAFEKING

Lorenzo Marques, May 16.—A Portuguese official despatch says an encounter has occurred at Mafeking, and that the Boers have been repulsed with heavy loss.

BULLER OCCUPIES GLENCOE

London, May 16.—The War Office has posted the following despatch from Gen. Buller, dated Dundee, May 16: "We occupied Glencoe yesterday. The Transvaalers have now evacuated Biggarsberg. The Free Staters on the Drakensburg are much reduced in numbers. The Carolina, Lydenburg and Pretoria commandoes trekked north from Hlatikulu on the 13th and 14th of May. Eleven guns were entrained at Glencoe, the last train, with ambulance, left there at dawn, May 15. This result has been largely produced by the action of the 5th Division, which during the last few days has done a great deal of very hard work marching, mountain climbing and road making. Trains are now running to Wessel's Nek Station.

A CAPE TOWN REPORT

London, May 16.—A statement is cabled from Cape Town to-day announcing that the Boer delegates advised the Transvaalers to surrender if defeated at the Vaal. This remarkable announcement is vouched for on good authorities and evidently obtains more credence in Cape Town than would a mere rumor. Nothing further has been heard from Mafeking.

Old London Sundays.

We have got it into our heads that Sunday was better observed in the puritanical acceptance of the word three or four generations back than it is now. It was quite otherwise. All the great ladies when Queen Victoria came to the throne—the Duchess of Wellington, the Duchess of Rutland, the Marchioness of Salisbury, the Lady Hyde Parker, the Misses Walpole—had regular card parties on a Sunday, and there were concerts and receptions all over the town announced with becoming regularity in The Morning Post.—Saturday Review.

How to Get a Genial Dog.

A vagrant dog, particularly a cur with seven or eight different strains of common dog in him, is the best kind of a dog to own. He is always smiling and wagging his tail at you, and his appreciation of little favors is only equaled by his appetite. A fancy dog with a blue ribbon around his neck is always looking for an opportunity to snap at children. If we kept a dog, we would keep a yellow one, purchased as a pup from a negro boy.—Atchison Globe.

GLEANINGS.

The valley of the Amazon still remains almost unexplored. What has been done has been accomplished in great measure by Europeans.

There are 58,000 acres of most beautiful forests within the confines of the Yosemite, General Grant and Sequoia national parks of California.

The death rate of Dublin is causing considerable anxiety. Recently it has been as high as 50 in 1,000. In fact, the mortality rivals that in the worst of Asiatic cities.

For Over Fifty Years.

An Old and Well-tried Remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

THE GOVERNMENT IS AFRAID

To Investigate Brockville and West Huron Frauds.

Charges Brought Up in the House Based on Affidavits Which No Political Party Can Ignore and Retain the Confidence of the Canadian People—Sir Louis Davies Throws Technicalities in the Way of an Inquiry.

Ottawa, May 16.—The first batch of supplementary estimates were brought down by Mr. Fielding in the House yesterday afternoon. They amount to $96,618, and are on account of legislation. The items include $8,000 for reporting and printing of debates, $15,000 for publishing debates, $10,500 for sessional clerks, and $18,278 for the sessional staff of the sergeant-at-arms and $25,000 for printing and paper, etc. Mr. Fielding promised that the rest of the supplementary estimates would be brought down in a few days.

The Paris Exposition.

Mr. Fisher, in reply to a question, said last night that Prof. Robertson had gone to Paris to fix up the cold storage exhibit of Canada. Everything was now in shape.

In reply to Mr. Taylor, Sir Wilfrid said that the Fox Bay settlers had received notice to quit Anticosti from Mr. Menier. The Government had offered them land near Lake Winnipeg or Lake Winnipegosis and they had accepted it. The Government would see that their transportation was paid.

Election Investigations.

Sir Louis Davies resumed debate on Mr. Borden's motion for a committee to investigate the West Huron and Brockville elections at 3.25. He declared the House had acted with undue haste in referring these election cases to the Elections Committee last year, because that committee was about the most inefficient body existing to decide a question of fact. The committee was peculiarly qualified to decide a question of law, but a question of fact was beyond it. His arguments against the committee were: The British Parliament had withdrawn all questions of fact from such a body, the personnel of the committee changed daily; the law provided a properly constituted controverted elections court.

Sir Louis declared that Mr. Borden was to blame for the position the matter was in to-day. Because of his negligence, the resolution was brought up three and a half months after the opening of the session. The Government was in no wise to blame.

It Was Sir Wilfrid.

He was interrupted at this point by Mr. Borden, who said that the only person who repeatedly said "Stand" when the motion to grant an investigation came up, was Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It was the Prime Minister's duty, as custodian of the honor of the House, to have taken the first opportunity to send the cases to the committee, as had been done last year. (Opposition applause.)

Sir Louis Davies, resuming, said that Mr. Borden's resolution was couched in such equivocal terms that the Government had to reject it or swallow it whole. It linked West Huron and Brockville. Many members thought West Huron should be investigated, but not Brockville. He then reviewed the evidence, and in the case of Brockville concluded that there was shown no corrupt act, for which any man could be punished.

A Nasty Crack, This.

Mr. Borden—Official ballots were in the hands of Liberal workers.

Sir Louis retorted that the House had to prove a distinct and positive statement of wrongdoing. No charge had been made against the returning officer in Brockville in the affidavit read by Mr. Borden — the new element in the Brockville case. Sir Louis denied that it was an affidavit, and declared that Mr. Borden had been ashamed to read more than a paragraph from the document. Besides, Judge Morgan has characterized Pritchett, the maker of the affidavit, "a self-convicted liar." To ask the House to act on such evidence was an insult.

Again the Cry of Courts.

In conclusion, Sir Louis summed up his remarks, and declared that all parties should be relegated to the courts already provided by law. If the matter was referred to the committee, persons already tried and acquitted would be again placed on trial. This would violate one of the first principles of criminal law.

Mr. Powell at Work.

Mr. Powell (Westmoreland) accused the First Minister of dilatoriness in appointing an Elections Committee, in order to burk the inquiry. He reminded the Government that the procedure taken last year should have

LIFE..

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,869
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1900.

The next sweep of "Bobs'" brush of red will come very near Pretoria.

It won't be long before Canadians will be preparing to give the brave boys a welcome home from South Africa.

These wholesale election frauds and the corrupt and criminal work of the machine will cause Sir Wilfred to lose more than his temper.

Peterborough's celebration of the Queen's Birthday promises to be a success. All should help it along in every way they can, for it will be beneficial in more ways than one if successful. One thing it will do will be to show the townspeople that we can have a good, big day in town and that it is not necessary to go away in order to spend a holiday in proper style. Once roused Peterborough will hereafter have its holiday celebrations and keep its citizens at home and bring others here, as well, for the day. Keep the celebration going.

While the West Elgin election fraud commission can only be a farce, where the accused is the only party allowed to be represented by counsel, and while it is amusing to see the leading Liberals going into the witness box to swear that they knew nothing of the awful state of affairs and wholesale corruption that Mr. McNish confessed to, it is interesting to read the evidence given. That by Mr. Preston is above all amusing and requires no comment. The man who admits that he took Capt. Sullivan and others into the riding to "frown down" crooked work is too supremely innocent to even be a Government immigration agent at $5,000 a year. No wonder the Government sent him for an European trip at the people's expense in order to wear the innocence off his verdant mind. What innocence? Mr. McNish said in his confession that the men who did the crooked work and managed it were "outsiders," and Mr. Preston says he took in the "outsiders" to "frown down" wrongdoing. Funny, isn't it?

If Sir Wilfred Laurier and his Government do not desire to be classed as a body with the criminals and corrupters who have stolen and manipulated votes in the interests of their candidates, if they wish to leave themselves any claim to the name of being fair and pure, they must right-about-face in the stand they have taken regarding the enquiry into the election finances. That ballots were manipulated, that votes of honest electors were stolen and others substituted therefor has been proven, and a further and proper enquiry into the frauds is demanded in the name of the rights of the people and in the name of honest and fair dealing. The Premier has shown signs of playing with the enquiry in an effort to burke it, but if he follows such a course he blackens his own name and that of his Government forever. There is only one straight and honest course for a Government desiring to have purity in elections and in our politics, and that course is one that will assist and aid in every possible way the fullest enquiry and the punishment of the guilty ones.

Toronto World:—"The Montreal Star these days is in a series of articles making it clear to the electors of Canada that, if Sir Charles Tupper is called upon to form a Government after the next election, he ought to have, and will have, a free hand in the selection of his Government. The people of Canada, as the Star points out, are tired of the corruption and incompetence of individual Ministers and once a man has been found out in this respect his usefulness is forever gone. The Star is, therefore, anxious to let it be known that Ministers discredited in the past have no claims for recognition in the future, and that new men, with new ideas, and, most of all, men bent upon honest administration, must be taken in. The Star also, like other papers, is pointing to Hugh John Macdonald as an example of what a public man ought to be, when called to office. The Premier of Manitoba has lived up to his pledges, is reorganizing the Administration, checking leaks and promoting economy. Still another point made by the Star—and it ought to be held up to all public men—is that the people of Canada are determined hereafter to unmake one Government after another until they get something better than they have at present, or have had in the past. Why incompetent men or unprogressive men should be kept in office, or why these men should come to think that theirs is a permanent graft, is one of the mysteries of politics. New men and new measures, and one Government after another until something better is obtained, is to be the rule hereafter in Canada. Ontario will be coming up with new men."

The Boer peace envoys have reached the United States, and while much is read and heard of public receptions and resolutions of sympathy that will come from our American cousins, it is well to learn the feeling of the best class of the citizens of the United States regarding the Boers and their war. The New York Outlook is a publication that may be said to represent the cultured and higher thought of the American people. It has been represented in South Africa by an able correspondent whose letters have been widely read as an intelligent and unvarnished record, not only of the war, but of the Boers and their ideas and methods of life and government. The views of the Outlook, therefore, are interesting as representing the best thought of the United States, and other journals of the same standing across the border would do well if they expressed themselves as fearlessly and as honestly as does the Outlook. Speaking of the Boer peace delegates the Outlook says:

They will make their appeal, in the first place, to those Americans governed by anti-English feeling—a feeling which, in the interests of truth and civilization, is rapidly disappearing and will entirely disappear with a better understanding of historic conditions in the past and of international duties and possibilities in the present. They will appeal, in the second place, to the Irish element which remains strongly anti-English. This element, fortunately, counts for less and less in American public life; the Irish vote is rapidly ceasing to be important. Irishmen are as welcome here as Englishmen or Germans on the same conditions—namely, that they become Americans and cease to perpetuate old racial hatreds. The atmosphere of this country is not favorable to traditionary animosities. They will appeal in the third place, to the very considerable group of Americans who sympathize with the Boers because they believe the Boers to be fighting for liberty. If the Boers were fighting for liberty, there would be but one sentiment in America regarding them; in the judgment of the Outlook, however, they are not fighting for liberty, but for independence, which is a very different matter. Independence may or may not be a good thing. In the case of the Boers the Outlook believes that it would mean a perpetuation of slavery of the worst sort, oppression of native races, and the most bigoted exclusion of foreign interests and activity. The Boer commissioners will be treated with American hospitality; they will be listened to with respect; but, in our judgment, they are not pleading a cause which ought to command sympathy or support. The English have not always acted rightly; they have done unjustifiable things in South Africa; but in the present war, in our judgment, they are undertaking a piece of work which would have been imposed on some other Power if they had not taken it upon themselves.

A Vacancy in the Ontario House.

Pembroke, Ont., May 16. — Mr. Andrew White, M.P.P., for North Renfrew, brother of Hon. P. White, died yesterday morning. Mr. White had been in failing health for some time, though he was in almost regular attendance at the last session of the Legislature. He was first elected to the local House as a Conservative in 1898. He was a prominent lumberman, and a leading citizen of the Ottawa Valley. W. R. White, Q.C., Pembroke, is also a brother of the deceased, who was the oldest member of the family. Mr. J. P. Whitney was shocked to hear of his colleague's death. "He was an exceedingly able man in a quiet way," he said.

A GOOD COMPLEXION

Depends on Good Digestion.

This is almost an axiom although usually we are apt to think that cosmetics, face powders, lotions, fancy soaps, etc., are the secrets for securing a clear complexion. But all these are simply superficial assistants.

It is impossible to have a good complexion unless the digestive organs perform their work properly, unless the stomach by properly digesting the food taken into it furnishes an abundance of pure blood, a good complexion is impossible.

This is the reason so many ladies are using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they promptly cure any stomach trouble and they have found out that perfect digestion means a perfect complexion and one that does not require cosmetics and powders to enhance its beauty.

Many ladies diet themselves or deny themselves many articles of food solely in order to keep their complexion clear. When Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets are used no such dieting is necessary, take these tablets and eat all the good wholesome food you want and you need have no fear of indigestion nor the sallow, dull complexion which nine women out of ten have, solely because they are suffering from such form of indigestion.

Bear in mind that beauty proceeds from good health, good health results from perfect digestion and we have advanced the best argument to induce every man and woman to give this splendid remedy a trial.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found in drug stores and costs but 50 cents per package.

If there is any derangement of the stomach or bowels they will remove it and the resultant effects are good digestion, good health, and a clear, bright complexion.

been followed this. Why did the Government alter its policy? At every stage the Government opposed. The resolution was side-tracked by "stands at the request of the Government."

Mr. Powell then reviewed the evidence, and said all these facts made him believe that there had been a deep laid plot to steal elections. For years the turning of a Conservative majority in a constituency to a Conservative minority had made Conservatives suspicious that there was a wide spread conspiracy on foot. He proposed to trace that conspiracy. He read Donald McNish's confession in the West Elgin election. That confession showed that the same old gang that worked in West Huron had plied their trade in West Elgin. As they had no political influence the only conclusion was they were there to steal the election. Mr. Powell then read three affidavits made by Thomas Pritchett, ex-alderman, of London.

He challenged the Government to arraign Pritchett if they believed his evidence was false. He declared Pritchett defied the Government, because he knew too much.

The Government Challenged.

With these affidavits before the House, Mr. Powell challenged the Government to refuse an investigation. These affidavits, and the evidence already adduced, proved beyond a doubt that McLean, not Holmes, was M.P. for West Huron, and White, not Comstock, had been elected in Brockville. These things were food for thought, and required action on the part of the Government.

Attitude of the Ministers.

He reverted to the attitude of the Ministers before the committee last year. When Cummings had been convicted out of his own mouth of stealing ballots, Mr. Blair withdrew from the committee, declaring he needed no further evidence of fraud. But to-day it was left to Sir Louis Davies to stand as godfather to this clique, composed of Farr, et al. To-day, Sir Louis tried in vain to hoodwink people in order to protect the villainous gang, because, forsooth, he may have shared in the spoils. He called upon the members of the House to uphold the purity of elections, and asked if it was possible that Sir Wilfrid, who held the honor and integrity of the State in his hand, had not courage to grapple with the members of his own Cabinet, who desired to shield the gang from condign investigation.

Anthony Comstock, M.P., Brockville, was an interested member of the House last night. He laughed long and heartily when Pritchett's affidavits were read.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Britton and Bennett, and Dr. Russell moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House rose at 11.35.

The Senate.

Ottawa, May 16. — In the Senate yesterday Hon. Mr. Casgrain gave notice that he would move on Thursday next that the Senate adjourn till June 4. The Senators have run out of work again.

Mr. W. W. B. McInnes, M.P., Resigns.

Vancouver, B.C., May 16. — W. W. B. McInnes sent his formal resignation to Ottawa yesterday, to take effect as soon as received. In his speech at Nanaimo Monday night he said it was more important to have strong men at Victoria than at Ottawa, where people did not understand the seriousness of the Chinese question.

CATASTROPHE IN ITALY.

Thirty or Forty People Drowned Through the Capsizing of Two Boats Filled With Passengers.

Rome, May 16. — A terrible accident, resulting in the death of from 30 to 40 persons, took place yesterday at Ronciglione, on the Lake of Vico, during a celebration of the fete of St. Lucie, whose chapel is on the shore of the lake.

Two boats filled with young people capsized while returning from the chapel, within three hundred yards of the landing stage. Only 13 persons were saved.

Old Man Blake Released.

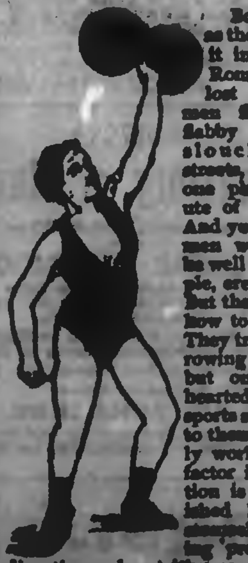
Kingston, May 16. — Thomas Blake, a prisoner in the Kingston Penitentiary, was taken to Perth yesterday morning by Keeper Beaupre. A year ago Blake, who is about 70 years of age, was sentenced to the penitentiary for the remainder of his life for murdering his wife. It was held that Blake was insane at the time he committed the terrible deed, and efforts have since been made to have him released. The Department of Justice finally decided to discharge the prisoner, and to place him in the hands of the Perth authorities, so that he might be sent to an insane hospital. Blake is quite harmless now, and as quiet as a child.

Crushed by the Wheels.

Ottawa, May 16. — Joseph Gervais, an employe of J. B. Renaud, city teamster, was jolted off a heavily-laden cart while driving in the vicinity of Gilmour and Hughson's Mill at Hull. He fell directly in front of the wheels, which passed over him, killing him almost instantly. The unfortunate man, who was about 37 years years of age, leaves a widow and family of four small children.

To Explore Ontario.

Toronto, May 16. — The Government yesterday mapped out the territory which will be covered by each of the ten exploration parties to be sent out this summer to survey and explore through Northern Ontario. The parties will be sent out under the direction of competent, qualified men, and will probably start out about June 1.



Body building, as they understood it in Greece and Rome, seems a lost art. Young men flat chested, flabby muscled, slouch along the streets, with scarcely one physical attribute of manhood. And yet these young men would like to be well muscled, supple, erect and hardy. But they don't know how to go about it. They try dumb bells, rowing and boxing, but only in a half hearted way. These sports should be play to them but are really work. The main factor in this condition is an ill nourished body. The stomach is not working properly. The digestive and nutritive organs are not in active health. The result is that the nutrition for the body is not distributed in proper proportions to make blood, bone and muscle.

Weak young men who take a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will find a marked change in their physical strength and energy. The body will be built up so that gymnastics will not tax and tire them, but be the natural exercise enjoyed by muscles which are nourished into firm health.

In a letter received from A. D. Weller, Esq., of Pensacola, Escambia Co., Fla. (Box 546), he states: "I have, since receiving your diagnosis of my case as stomach trouble and liver complaint, taken eight bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and must say that I am transformed from a walking shadow (as my friends called me) to perfect health. [illegible] Four months ago I did not think to be in shape to assist our 'Uncle Samuel' in case of hostilities, but thanks to you, I am now ready for the 'Dons.'"

Trouble in The Stomach

The experience of Mr. Blackwell is similar to that of many sufferers with chronic indigestion. Stomach medicines will seldom really cure indigestion. The kidneys and liver must be set right, and the bowels made regular and active.

Mr. Joseph Blackwell, Holmesville, Ont., says:—"I derived more benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills than from any other medicine I ever took, and can highly recommend them for stomach troubles. I was in a terrible state and could hardly work at my trade. I tried most every kind of medicine and doctors, until I was tired doctoring and before I used one box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I could see that they were helping me, and after taking a box and a half I found that I was cured."

Nearly every family on the continent has used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills or heard of the remarkable cures they have effected. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, May 16. — The receipts of live stock at the western stock yards yesterday were large, 90 carloads all told, composed of 1,583 cattle, 1,208 hogs, 380 sheep and 85 calves. The quality of fat cattle was generally fair, some few loads of extra well finished cattle being sold. Trade was equally as good as if not a little better than on Friday last, with prices firm at that day's quotations. Deliveries of sheep and yearling lambs being much larger than for some weeks, prices were easier. Prices for hogs declined 12½c per cwt. in each class. In all other classes prices remained steady but firm.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, May 16.—Cattle yesterday—Quiet, in absence of sale receipts, but, in view of the good position of the trade on Monday, the feeling was full steady. Calves were in light supply; unchanged. Sheep and Lambs — The basis on lambs was $7 and on sheep $5.50 to $5.75; spring lambs, $7 to $9.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Ingersoll, May 16. — At the cheese market held here yesterday 422 boxes second week of May make were offered; 9⅝c bid; no sales.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

Turquoise matrix is increasingly used and valued for the oddity and beauty of its markings.

In fine jewelry there appears a strong fancy for setting the ruby and the diamond together.

Some of the new purse chains incline to heavier and more massive styles, with slides of elaborate character.

The sides of flat purses in very fine mesh of rose gold are dotted with pearls and finished with a row of gold balls across the bottom.

Brooches which have the semblance of roughly hammered gold, into which are sunk various colored stones, represent one of the novelties.

A new style of setting ring stones, credited to Parisian ingenuity, is to mount one large round pearl on a plain gold band similar to a wedding ring.

One of the newest motifs in jewelry is the scarab. In the silky blue turquoise, the changing, flamelike glow of opal or the golden green of chrysoprase this curious Egyptian emblem achieves beauty and presages good fortune to its wearer. —Jewelers' Circular Weekly.

Waterloo Waterworks.

Waterloo, Ont., May 16. — A by-law to raise $10,000 by debentures to carry on extensions, etc., by the town Waterworks Commissioners, was voted on yesterday, and was carried by a majority of 201. Only 30 rate-payers voted against the by-law.

Tanners Will Be Pleased.

Toronto, May 16.— The Ontario Government has passed an order-in-council prohibiting the export of tan bark from the province from this date. Last year 1,267 cords were cut on Crown lands.

Couldn't Down the C. P. R.

New Whatcom, Wash., May 16. — The attempt of the Northern Pacific to shut the Canadian Pacific out of an American terminal has failed. Canadian Pacific trains will soon be running into Whatcom.

Snow in Germany.

Leipzig, May 16. — It has been snowing heavily here since early yesterday morning. The thermometer registers 33½ degrees. There is also a heavy snowfall at Chemnitz.

What the Session Cost.

Toronto, May 16. — The cost of the late session of the Legislature was $50,136, as compared with $58,136 for the session of last year.

THE BOER PEACE DELEGATES

Welcomed by Committee of New York Citizens to the U. S.

The Boers Hope to Nestle Under the Eagle's Wing After Great Britain Has Thrashed Them—Mr. Fischer's Reply to Welcome and in Interviews—Russia Their Hope If U. S. Fails Them.

New York, May 16. — According to the Pretoria correspondent of The Herald, the commission, composed of Messrs. Fischer, Wessels and Wolmarans, representing the Republics of the Transvaal and Orange Free State is empowered to take important action. The correspondent says:

"I have the highest authority for making the statement that the commissioners are empowered to ask the United States to assume a protectorate over the republics, this protectorate to tend, if desired, toward eventual annexation as territories or States.

"Secretary of State Reitz, who is rapidly breaking down under the strain he is undergoing, voiced this national hope in these words: 'We will maintain our independence if we can. If we can't we will appeal to the American people to take us under their wing. Surely the Declaration of Independence is broad enough to span the ocean. Our last hope is that, having again and again carried our burden of persecution into the wilderness to escape from England, we may be permitted to deposit it at the foot of the Statue of Liberty, to find peace and protection under the Stars and Stripes.' "

Welcome to the Delegates.

The steamship Maasdam, with the Boer delegates on board, was met by the revenue cutter Hudson yesterday, with the reception committee on board. Former Judge George M. Van Hoesen made an address of welcome to the envoys when the committee met them on the Maasdam.

Mr. Fischer's Response.

Mr. Fischer's response was as follows:

"I thank you most heartily for this welcome, which you have just extended to us. The warmth of a welcome does not lie in the length of words used, but in deeds. We believe that the American people will also extend to us a hearty welcome. For ours is a cause that is dear to their hearts. We are fighting for our country. As soon as they come to understand our cause, they will, I believe, echo the welcome you have just given us."

Reticent Regarding Plans.

The delegates were reticent concerning their plans. "We cannot say anything which may hinder our cause," said Mr. Fischer. "We should like to have the Government arbitrate with England, and undoubtedly we shall go to Washington and try to have an audience with President McKinley. If we cannot induce the Government to do what we like, we shall try to arouse the people so that they will compel the Government to recognize us in that way."

The Reception Committee have received invitations for the delegates from the Mayors of 60 towns and cities in the United States, and it is probable that they will visit many of these places before sailing again for the continent.

Statement by Mr. Fischer.

According to The Evening Journal, Mr. Fischer made the following statement: "Our intention now is to apply to the Government for relief. Failing in that we will appeal to the people that they may give us practical aid.

"I bear an official message to President McKinley, but I cannot speak of it before it is delivered. We will visit Washington and transact our business. We are vested with the greatest authority and anything we may do will be upheld by the South African countries.

"I cannot speak of an American protectorate. If we are unsuccessful in securing mediation or other intervention, there are several other contingent steps that we shall try.

"The subject of a protectorate had been discussed in Pretoria.

"If we fail in the United States I may say that we will seek Russian aid.

"If America should take action she would be upheld by the powers of Europe.

"But we look to America, because it is a republic. We would rather have American aid than help from any other country. As a friend we think she would be more influential with England. We hate bloodshed, but we will have independence.

"Surely there is some way to secure peace with no loss of prestige to England or independence to us."

The Burghers' Only Chance.

London, May 16. — The Lorenzo Marques correspondent of The Times says:

"Among the prominent burghers in Pretoria, there is a feeling that their only chance is to make the most of threats to destroy the Johannesburg mines, in the hope of securing intervention."

Charged With Manslaughter.

Ailsa Craig, Ont., May 16. — The coroner's jury, in the case of Christina Ann Charlton, has returned a verdict that the woman came to her death because of improper medical treatment at the hands of the so-called Dr. Victor B. Hall. The prisoner Hall was arraigned before the police magistrate at Ailsa Craig yesterday morning on the charge of manslaughter, and was remanded one week.

SHE MADE MANY WILLS.

One Woman's Plan For Living Well and Raising Family Ructions.

"Several years ago," said a New Orleans lawyer, chatting about queer experiences in his profession, "a woman died in this city who to my certain knowledge had made about 25 different wills. Of course there are people in the world who have a mania for will making, just as there are manias in other directions, but there was a distinct method in this woman's madness. She made her numerous wills for the deliberate purpose of exciting cupidity and then profiting by it, and if the true story of the curious complications growing out of that policy could be written it would form an astonishing chronicle of greed and duplicity.

"To begin with, she had a couple of pieces of improved property worth perhaps $6,000 and a lot of personal belongings which were mere junk and rubbish, but which she valued at a fabulous figure. Between the two she was reputed to be worth from $50,000 to $60,000, and there was much jealousy as to the prospective succession among a lot of distant relatives. The old woman's plan was to take up her quarters with some particular set of her kin and make a will in their favor. Needless to say, she would be treated with every consideration, but she was irascible and invariably got into a quarrel in the course of a few months and moved somewhere else, where the same programme was repeated. She spent years in migrations of that sort, going the rounds of her relatives several times and camping temporarily with numerous personal friends.

"When she finally died, it was found that her last authentic will left the coveted property to a niece who had shown her scarcely any attention at all, and the wail of rage and disappointment that arose was something simply terrific. I dare say she engendered more family bitterness when she was alive, precipitated more rows and was instrumental in causing a greater number of people to stop speaking when they passed by than any one person in the parish. This was an extreme case, but it was by no means unique. Almost every lawyer in town who has a large general practice could cite instances where judicious will making has kept old age surrounded by affectionate solicitude."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Shoes In Olden Days.

Early Britons wore shoes of raw cowhide, with the hairy surface outward. The Anglo-Saxons showed an advance, for they were black and laced by a leather thong. Then came what might almost be termed the bag shoe of the Merovingian period, tied round the ankle, a similar easy sort of covering obtaining in Germany, and so by gradual stages from the mediæval shoes to the poulaine shoes, a queer early German specimen, the band round the ankle being of engraved brass. The Irish shoe of early date is worthy of note, as for many years the Irish went not only barefooted, but barelegged, while their bodies were most gorgeously arrayed.

Why They Are So Salty.

Compared with the waters of the Dead sea, those of the Salt lake are decidedly fresh, and a scientific man whom I met in London gave me this explanation of the cause of their extreme saltness: All water carries a percentage of salt, and in both the cases of the Dead sea and the Great Salt lake there is no outlet to the lakes, and they maintain their levels through evaporation. Through the countless centuries during which they have existed this salt, since it does not evaporate, has accumulated until these bodies of water have attained their present brackish condition.—New York Tribune.

Physicians Prescribe It

It has become quite common for physicians to prescribe Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for patients who are run down by the ravages of chronic disease. They recognize in it a restorative of inestimable worth in which are found the very elements of nature required to build up the system and form new flesh and muscle. Its revitalizing action on nerves and blood places it beyond the reach of rivals as an absolute cure for diseases of the nerves and blood. 50 cents a box.

Barn Fired by Lightning.

Shedden, Ont., May 16. — About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon lightning struck and set fire to the large barns of L. Bainard here. The building, along with its contents, consisting of two cows, a quantity of hay and about 400 bushels of grain, was burnt. Loss, about $1,200.

FIRST MEETING OF CHEESE BOARD

SALE OF THE MAKE OF EARLY MAY CHEESE

Small Lots Boarded—Mr. Whitton and Mr. Rollins Did the Buying at 9 7-8 cts and 9 3-4 cents—Buyers Present.

The opening meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board for the season was held this morning at the Council chamber. The president, Mr. Drummond, occupied the chair. There was a fair attendance of salesmen.

Buyers present were:—Messrs. Rollins, Wrighton, Whitton, Fitzgerald, Kerr, Cluxton, Moore, Squires, and Watkins.

It was decided to board only the make of the first ten days of May.

A communication was read from the Warsaw Cheese and Butter Co., protesting against paying for the services of an instructor and inspector as they pay by the Babcock tester. The president stated that it had been decided by the Board that all factories selling on the Board should pay. There were other factories in the same position. The inspector was intended for the benefit of the whole cheese trade.

Mr. Watkins, one of the buyers, spoke a few words. He stated that he believed that all factories, no matter how they pay, should be visited by an inspector and these visits should be more frequent than they are. Every effort should be made to raise the standard of Canadian cheese. The patrons should take better care of their milk at home. Drawing whey back in the cans was a mistake. Mr. Watkins believed that the Peterborough Cheese Board was run second to none in the country.

The factories boarded as follows:—

No. 2.—Leave of absence from headquarters has been granted to Lieut. Eastwood from 2nd May to 13th June. Leave of absence from parade has been granted to Capt. Hayes.

No. 3.—The Regiment will parade with both bands on Sunday, May 20th, at 3.30 p.m., to attend divine service at St. Andrew's church.

No. 4.—The following extract from G. O. is promulgated for the information of of the Regiment. To be 2nd Lieut. (Prov.) Mr. Roland F. McWilliams, and is hereby posted to "C" Co.

By order,
H. A. MORROW,
Capt. and Adj.

REV. MR. GEIL ON BACKBONE

PEOPLE WHO PROFESS TO SERVE GOD SHOULD SERVE HIM ENTIRELY

There Should be no Compromise Between God's Work and the Work of the Devil—How Christians Should be Consistent.

A large crowd was present last night in St. Paul's church to hear Rev. Mr. Geil's address, showing the great interest that the townspeople are taking in the course of services.

Mr. Geil took as his subject "Backbone," and dealt with the man or woman who has not enough will power to stick up for what they believe to be the truth.

St. Paul was an ideal Christian, and he had intellect and courage enough to go down to Rome and preach the gospel of Jesus. He went down to Rome, the wickedest city in the world, and spoke the truth and his hearers respected him for his manliness. A man likes to meet a man whom he can respect.

The professing Christian who will drink with the non-Christian in order to do business with him is a man without backbone, and the chances are that he will not win the respect of the other.

Be a real follower of Christ or else have nothing whatever to do with his church. No man has a right to trifle with either his own character or the teachings of Jesus Christ.

"What," said Mr. Geil, "do you belong to the church for? To insure your getting a free burial service?" Serve God entirely or follow the devil. Be a man of backbone.

For we need people of will-power, preachers in the pulpit who cannot be bought or hushed for fear o foffending some rich sinner in the congregation, and we need people in the pews who are not afraid of becoming too good. There is no necessity for people dancing and card-playing all night in order not to become too good. We can't be too good.

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ," said Mr. Geil, "but I would be if I were one of those church members who have no scruples against dancing or gambling."

A true Christian should have more respect for his principles than to go to a house where card-playing is one of the means of passing "a pleasant evening." If a man has any mental stamina he ought to be ashamed of either the gospel or of these amusements.

"Better late than never." It is best, however, to be never late about taking Hood's Sarsaparilla to purify your blood. Take it now.

PAPER ON THE STREETS

Merchants Fined for Distribution of Handbills on the Streets.

At the police court this morning two George-st merchants were charged with distributing handbills on the street in such a manner as to create a nuisance. They pleaded not guilty but were fined $2 and costs each. These were the first cases of the kind that have been brought into court and the Magistrate remarked that hereafter the fine would be $5 instead of $2. The by-law prohibiting the throwing of paper on the streets applies to paper of all kinds and the police intend to strictly enforce the by-law.

THE FORESTERS' PATRIOTIC EVENT

A MOST ENJOYABLE AND SUCCESSFUL CONCERT IN THE OPERA HOUSE

Miss Hendren, Miss Jessie Alexander, Mr. Mulligan, Mr. Voss and Mr. Jas. Fax Supplied the Programme—The "Johnston Family" Made a Great Hit.

The patriotic concert in the opera house last evening under the auspices of the three local Courts of Canadian Foresters was a magnificent success, both as regards attendance and financial results and as regards the excellence and enjoyment found in the programme provided. The programme was a large one, yet it was sufficiently varied to prevent any feeling of weariness. The programme, which was preceded by the singing of "God Save the Queen," consisted of fourteen numbers, thirteen of which were contributed by four artists, Miss Hendren, Miss Jessie Alexander, Mr. Geo. W. Mulligan and Mr. Jas. Fax, all of whom are well known to Peterborough audiences. Besides this there was the presentation of "The Johnston Family," the laughable comedy drill that was seen at the Ashburnham entertainment and which was re-produced last evening with great success under the guidance of Miss Maggie Calcutt, who trained the children. It made an immense hit with the large audience, and the nine "Johnstons" were recalled, when they made a still greater hit with their cake walk, the work of the little people being very funny. The children, who did well, in order were: Harry Rogers, Greta Symonds, Sid Rogers, Hazel Hickey, Sammy Long, Geo. Butcher, Alex. Gillespie, Bella Long and Alice Neild. Miss Katie Calcutt played the accompaniment.

Miss Hendren, who made a most pleasing stage appearance, was heard in three solos, and her rich, sweet voice was heard to splendid advantage. Her first number was a patriotic song "Sons of the Empire," and not only its patriotic sentiment but its delightful air and the charming manner in which it was rendered made it a popular number, and Miss Hendren was recalled when she gave a ballad, pleasingly interpreted. Her second number was the ballad "Why," the pathos and feeling of which was fully brought out by the vocalist. Miss Hendren was also fine in her third "A May Morning (Denza,) and was accorded enthusiastic applause. She will always be a favorite on a Peterborough programme.

Miss Jessie Alexander, the talented elocutionist, needs no eulogy here. She was heard in the same place a few weeks ago, and suffice it to say that all that charming grace of manner, the easy, pleasant enthusiasm in her selections, the remarkable talent of presenting varied characters and scenes, was manifested last night and made her the same favorite that she was before. Miss Alexander first gave "Henry V's Address to His Soldiers," and this inspiring presentation was loudly encored, when she gave one of Whitcomb Riley's, a child scene in which she easily excels. The Yorkshire dialect story "I have changed me mind," was her second and was capitally rendered, while her recital of "Through the Flood," a selection from Ian Maclaren's "Bonnie Briar Bush," was very clever. Her last number was "Bobs," given by request, and this endorsation of the popular General was vociferously applauded by the audience.

Mr. Geo. W. Mulligan was the male soloist of the evening, and he was in excellent voice. Both his selections were patriotic in character and had the further advantage of being new. They were "Three Jolly Britons" and "Who's that Calling," both of which were encored, and Mr. Mulligan very generously responded.

Mr. Jas. Fax, the humorist and comic vocalist, was on the programme four times and, needless to say, was a great favorite. Mr. Fax made his first appearance as chairman, when he, on behalf of the committee, thanked the audience for their attendance and explained changes in the programme. His comic songs were sung in costume, and he has all the old-time cleverness in "making-up." On each appearance he was recalled, and very kindly acceded to the rather heavy demands made on him. One of his best songs was "The Nations at Home," while his patriotic song "He Isn't Sleeping Now" was very popular. Mr. Fax will always be welcome here.

And now the entire programme has been mentioned with the exception of Mr. Andrew Voss' cornet solo, Non E Ver" (Mattei), which was rendered with all the purity of tone and brilliance of execution that has made this young cornetist so popular in Peterborough. Mr. Voss was recalled, when he gave a difficult and beautiful selection in excellent manner.

Mr. John Crane, who was on the programme as pianist was unavoidably absent, having been called to Montreal on Tuesday and detained until this morning. Mr. Rogers took his place, and met the trying and difficult demands made of him with masterly taste and skill.

TWO YEARS FOR BURGLARY

The session of the Police Court this morning was occupied with the trial of Albert Allen, who was charged with burglarizing Thompson & Son's store at Havelock last month. He had elected to be tried by the Magistrate.

Allen is a youth about 17 years of age. He has been in Police Court before and did not bear a good character. A large number of witnesses were heard this morning. A number of Havelock parties swore to seeing him in the village on the Sunday on which the store was robbed. He hid the clothe on his return in Scott and Hogg's shed and twenty minutes after they were found Allen was enquiring about the place as to whether anyone had seen them. He also enquired at Stevens' junk shop whether anyone had sold a bag of clothes there. He told the men at the shop that he had been in Havelock. The evidence was conclusive against him and he went into the witness box and swore that he was not in Havelock on the day of the robbery. He was found guilty and sentenced to two years less one day in the Central Prison.

Grace Church Tea on Friday is from 5.30 to 7 p.m. Concert opens at 8 o'clock. The managers heartily invite all who sympathize with Sunday School Work.

A Thankful Farmer

THERE is no class of men more subject to all the ills the human flesh is heir to than farmers. Their calling causes them to be out in all kinds of weather, consequently when sickness overtakes them they become great sufferers. Rheumatism is the disease most prevalent among the farming classes. Mr. C. W. Trotter, Cushendall, Ont., a most respected farmer of Pittsburg township, suffered for two years from this dread disease. So severely was he afflicted that for three months at a stretch he was compelled to remain idle. Being induced to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial, he is now very thankful he did so. Before the contents of one bottle had been taken the pains disappeared, and he was able to resume his work. He took only one bottle of the Rheumatic Cure and one box of pills, but even that small quantity completely cured him. He has not been troubled with the pain since, and is now as strong and healthy as ever.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE GIANT ANT EATER.

A Most Peculiar Creature That Is Found in Venezuela.

The giant ant eater of Venezuela is one of the most outlandish looking creatures in all the domain of nature. It is an animal about 2½ feet high. The body and tail taken together measure about seven feet in length. The tail is usually carried curved over the back, draping and shading the body. In appearance the bushy tail may be likened to a clump of ornamental grass. The head is very small, but it is prolonged into a snout a foot or more in length. The mouth is at the extremity of this snout.

The ant eaters belong to that group of the animal kingdom known as the edentates, a class usually toothless. If they have any teeth at all, they are very few in number, of a rudimentary or simple form, in the back of the head. They resemble in this respect birds, and they furthermore bear a resemblance to the bird creation in the possession of a muscular gizzardlike stomach. One feature of the edentates is that they all have some peculiarity in the covering of the body. The armadillo, for instance, has a shell of armor, the pangolin a series of shinglelike scales, the aard vark, native to the Transvaal, a piglike skin, scantily covered with hair, and, lastly, the ant eater, with a bushy tail and the body plentifully covered with hair.

The ant eater is in many ways unlike other animals. The most striking dissimilarity is in its mouth, which does not open and shut with an up and down movement of the lower jaw, as that of all other quadrupeds, but it is a mere aperture, opening only enough to admit of the passage of the foot long, whiplike tongue.

In captivity the ant eater is fed on bread and milk. In its native haunts, the forests of South America, it feeds exclusively on termites, or, as they are commonly called, white ants. These termites abound in the wilds of tropical America, and the ant eater tears open with its sharp fore claws their conical mud nests and with its slender tongue licks up the inmates out of every nook and crevice.

The ant eater has a queer way of walking. It is the manner in which it uses its fore limbs. The claws of its fore limbs are so constructed that they are incapable of sustaining the weight of the body, but are turned backward, compelling the animal to stand and walk on the outer surface of the wrists. When it ambles around, awkwardly, as it appears, it seems to be using two amputated fore limbs.—Forest and Stream.

ROUSSEAU AND HIS LINEN.

Among old police papers in the Bastille a curious interesting document has been discovered. It contains detailed information about the wardrobe of Jean Jacques Rousseau in the year 1750. The manuscript is not signed, but is undoubtedly in the handwriting of the philosopher himself. This entertaining "laundry list" has been reproduced in facsimile in the Revue d'Histoire Litteraire de la France. It relates to a theft that was committed on Christmas evening, 1750, in Rousseau's dwelling. It touched him at a tender point—that is to say, the thief found a particular attraction in Rousseau's linen, for which the latter, as appears in his "Confessions," had a special predilection. It was spread out on a table, fresh from the laundry, in a room where the thief gained an entrance, and, according to Rousseau's own account, there were missing "42 shirts of very fine linen that constituted the foundation of my wardrobe." The detailed description by Rousseau of the stolen garments which appears in the newly found report makes his grief comprehensible. It includes the following:

"Twenty-two everyday shirts of various kinds of linen, half Dutch, Guibert and other similar sorts. Trimmed, some with muslin of one color, some with cord. Some very pretty embroidered trimmings are a little worn. All the shirts have the letter R in blue on the right side. The sleeves are small, as for a very slender arm. Second, about a dozen collars; some old and unmarked have three buttonholes on one side; the other, newer, have four and on the reverse a blue R. Third, nine caps trimmed with rather coarse muslin discolored by the perspiration of the head, marked on top with a blue R. Fourth, four pocket handkerchiefs, one white and one of blue and white striped linen marked in the corner with a blue R. Fifth, a pair of linen stockings."

The theft seems to have had a moral effect upon him. He writes of it in the "Confessions" as follows: "This adventure took away my passion for fine linen, and since then I have never had more than three very ordinary shirts, which suited the rest of my clothes better."

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Drunkenness a Century Ago.

In reviewing "The Early Married Life of Maria Josepha, Lady Stanley," the London Spectator comments on the light in which drunkenness was regarded at the beginning of the nineteenth century. There was a christening of twins and rejoicing among the neighbors, tenants and laborers. "All the guests," says Maria, "were as drunk as I ever had the pleasure of seeing any one." Among the laborers, however, "that extent of intoxication was not reached which causes men to be swine."

Lady Sheffield, who received this account of the festivities, replies: "I would have given a great deal to be present. There is nothing I love so much as such sort of festivities, where one has the satisfaction of knowing that one makes one's friends happy as well as drunk." In London, she declares, "when you give a ball you affront many people, please a few, make many drunk and yourself miserable."

Stone Breaking.

At Heckingham there is a yard where tramps, in payment of their lodging, are set to break granite to be used in road repairs. I had a try at this granite breaking, and a poor hand I made of it. I hit hard and I hit softly; I hit with the grain and across it; I tried the large and the small hammer. As a result flakes of sharp stone flew up and struck me smartly in the face, but very little granite did I succeed in breaking. My companion tried also, and after him the master, who said that he understood the game, but neither of them did any better. I have come to the conclusion that even in breaking stones there must be a hidden art.—Rider Haggard in Longman's.

The smoke of London in certain states of the wind is found condensed on the sea as far away as Devonshire, blackening the water for miles.

CURTAIN RAISERS.

Marie Tempest denies the report that she intends to sing in the music halls in London.

Charles Frohman is having a play, based on Peg Woffington, written for Maude Adams.

This thing grows. Fay Templeton mimics Fougere, and Fougere mimics Fay Templeton's mimicry of her.

Wilson Barrett's "Sign of the Cross" has been translated into Polish and has made quite a success in Warsaw.

Mrs. Campbell is to revive some of the Maeterlinck plays in London and produce others never seen there before.

Robert Loraine, Julie Opp's former husband, who was to have acted with Ada Rehan in England, has gone to South Africa

Marie Wainwright has engaged Payton Gibbs to play Napoleon to her Josephine in her vaudeville sketch, "Napoleon Versus Josephine."

Wilson Barrett has added Robert Hichens to his dramatization of his novel, "The Londoners," and will act in the play in all probability.

Henrik Ibsen's "When the Dead Awake" has been acted in three German cities with success, although without giving the impression that it was likely to enjoy lasting popularity on the stage.

It seems that the new theater in St. Martin's lane, London, will not be owned by Charles Frohman after all, though that energetic American impresario will hold the lease of it and will establish there his London comedy troupe, headed by Seymour Hicks and Ellaline Terriss.

A SONNET TO WORK.

Whereto our labor and our bitter sweat?
The seed we sow we trample in the dark.
The flame we strike—our own tears quench the spark.
The white that we would purify we set
Our grimy print upon, and we forget
Thy ways and thoughts are not as ours and hark
Toward what we take to be some heavenly mark
And find we serve the devil to abet.
Then do thou blind us that we may not see
The measure of our own futility,
Lest, seeing, we should cease to work and die.
Or give us sight, that we may know thereby
How through our labor, whatso end it meet,
We reach toward thee who knowest no defeat.

PAYING CAR FARE.

Times When the Conductor Does It For the Passenger.

"Do we ever pay car fare for people?" said a street car conductor in reply to the question of a reporter who had scraped acquaintance through frequent trips over the line. "Well, I should say we do. I have a lot of steady customers on this run who ride with me as regularly as the clock, and it's no uncommon thing for one of them to get on without any money. In such a case I put up the nickel myself as a matter of course and collect it next day. But there are plenty of others where I have to take chances or else seem brutal, and sometimes it's pretty hard to know what to do.

"It seems queer, but most of the folks who suddenly discover they haven't the price appear to be people of means, and a good many of them tell me they make it a rule never to carry any money except a little small change, which they are apt to spend without being aware of it. Generally they give me their cards, take my number and send around a servant with the fare as soon as they got home. I'm sorry to say, however, that some of them are far from being that considerate.

"Last fall a very elegantly dressed lady got on the car and found she had nothing in her purse. 'Oh, well,' she said, 'I'll just give you a check,' and in spite of my protests she pulled out a book of blanks and a gold fountain pen and wrote me a check for 5 cents. Just for the fun of the thing I presented it for collection, but the teller insisted on my being properly identified, and the result was that I missed my afternoon detail and lost half a day's pay.

"Another lady, who is very wealthy, gave me her address and made me promise to call next day. Her house is away out in the suburbs, and after allowing me to wait for half an hour in the hall she sent down a servant with four coppers and a postage stamp. All in all, though, I have actually lost very little money paying passengers' fares. It wouldn't amount to half a dollar in the last two years, and during that time I've certainly made good for several hundred people."

A Troopship's Water Supply.

The ship's ordinary supply would be totally inadequate for the requirements of, say, 1,000 troops besides horses, but the difficulty is overcome with the aid of a good condensing apparatus. From the tanks into which the water is condensed (about 225 tons and upward a day) extra iron pipes are run to suitable positions on the different decks, and draw off cocks are fixed. Under the cocks for supplying the horses tubs are placed into which the water is run. In the soldiers' quarters small pipes are fixed, and the supply is taken from spring cocks, the amount allowed being usually six pints a head a day, except when the vessel is in the tropics, when one gallon a head is allowed.

To provide against any breakdown of the condenser portable iron tanks holding about 400 gallons each are placed in the lower holds and filled. Lift pumps are then fixed fore and aft on the main deck, and the suction pipe from the pumps is taken down close to these tanks and flanked with a union, on to which a rubber suction hose is screwed, and led to each tank as required. A rising main taken from pump is turned down and run parallel with the main supply and finished at the same points.—Building World.

Where Rain Is a Novelty.

The Chilean provinces of Atacama, Tarapaca and Tacna are in the rainless region, or desert country west of the Andes, and are entirely devoid of vegetation. The winds in all of this region are from the east and in passing over the elevated perpetual snows of the Andes are stripped of their moisture and arrive on the coast perfectly dry.

The last rain, a slight shower which fell in Antofagasta, in Atacama province, was the first rain which had fallen in 16 years. The last rain which fell in Iquique, in Taracama province, was the first in 24 years. With both of these showers a notable phenomenon occurred. The bare hills back of these cities assumed a green tint from a little plant which sprang up almost in a night.

The query is, From where did this plant come? The whole of the coast presents a most dismal and discouraging appearance from the sea, but the climate is healthy, being especially adapted to pulmonary and throat troubles from its extreme dryness and freedom from germs. The heat is modified by a local sea breeze, and the sea bathing is most invigorating, as the water is cold.

A Singing Frog.

A traveler recently returned from Japan tells that in that quaint country trained insects are kept in cages as singing "birds."

Fireflies and crickets are often found, but an especial favorite is the singing frog. A rare one belongs to a lady of the Japanese court. It is highly accomplished, as it has been in training for seven years. It sings beautifully and will do so even in the presence of strangers. In the winter it hibernates. During its long sleep its bed is a jar full of tiny stones. Over the jar is fitted a covering of straw rope as a protection against cold. These frogs are delicate creatures and are very sensitive. They show great affection to those who treat them kindly.

Growth of Pity.

No one formerly looked on with any pity or even horror at punishments which are now found too dreadful for description. Men were broken on the wheel, were burned at the stake, were racked, were cut up alive. No one seems to have felt any pity for their agonies. Men were put into noisome prisons, where, with bad air and insufficient food, they died unnoticed and unpitied. It is very different now. Human hearts are more tender.—Chicago News.

The officials of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad have decided to follow the lead of other roads in the matter of providing technical instruction for their employees on the road. The "school on wheels" for engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen is to be a part of the Rock Island system.

"Smash the trusts" is a fetching and very simple formula for dealing with the trusts, but unfortunately it does not mean anything, as any one will discover who will try to draft a law intended to have that effect.—San Francisco Chronicle.

BULLER CAPTURES DUNDEE.

Slight Loss Attends the Success of His Skillful Plans.

Nothing Definite as to Mafeking's Fate—Boers Attempted to Storm the Town on May 12, But There Is No News as to the Result From British Sources—British Relief-Column Is Due There Now.

London, May 16. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller:

"Dundee, May 15.—(1 p.m.)—We have occupied Dundee. About 2,500 of the enemy left yesterday for Glencoe, where they entrained. Their wagons also left yesterday by De Jager's Drift, and the Dannhauser road. Their Kaffirs said they were going to Laing's Nek. Almost every house in Dundee is completely looted. The Navigation colliery is all right. The machinery of the Dundee collieries is destroyed. The houses of the town are damaged, but are structurally intact."

Details of the Operations.

"Kemp's Farm, May 15. — The following telegrams sent to Lord Roberts are now repeated to you. They begin under date of May 13:

"In accordance with instructions to keep the enemy occupied at the Biggarsberg, on May 11 I concentrated the third cavalry brigade of the second division and some corps of artillery at Sunday's River Drift, on the Helpmakaar road, and directed Col. Bethune to advance on Greytown with the Bethune Infantry, the Umvoti Mounted Rifles and the Imperial Light Infantry. On May 12 we moved to Waschbank, and Bethune to Pomeroy, while General Hildyard, from Elandslaagte, occupied Indoda Mountain. On May 13 I sent General Hamilton, with three battalions, up the steep slope of Withock Hill. The third cavalry brigade crowned a hill on each side of the main road, and Bethune attacked by the Pomeroy road from three sides. The enemy hurriedly abandoned the position, which they had strongly entrenched, and retired to the nek in front of Helpmakaar, whence we hope to dislodge them to-morrow, as many of them have retired. We have gained the summit of the Berg with the loss of only a few men wounded. I advance to-morrow on Beith, and Hildyard moves on Wessel's Nek. Our small loss, I think, was certainly due to the excellent troop leading of Generals Hamilton and Lord Dundonald and Col. Bethune.' "

The Enemy Stole Away.

A second despatch dated May 14, says: "The enemy evacuated Helpmakaar Nek during the night, leaving a rear guard of about 1,000 men in front of us. These we have forced back throughout the day under considerable difficulties, as they fired all the grass on top of the berg as they retreated and the wind being unfavorable to us, we were scarcely able to see at all. I halted the infantry, who marched very well throughout the hot smoke, at Beith. The cavalry have not yet reported, but are some miles ahead. We have taken a few prisoners. Our casualties are small."

Dundonald's Good Work.

A third despatch dated from Kemp's Farm, May 15, says:

"Dundonald reported late last night that he had driven the rear guard on the main body of the enemy, near Buralinden, where they occupied in force, a strong position with three powerful guns. Major Gough, with the composite regiment, manoeuvred to the right round their left flank, and they retired. Dundonald then halted. He was 25 miles, as the crow flies, from his previous night's bivouac, and had covered nearly 40 miles during the day in a waterless country, most of the time riding through smoke. I think his pursuit a very fine performance. From prisoners I learn that the enemy numbered over 2,000 at Helpmakaar, and being now joined by those who left Van Jonder's Pass, they must total nearly 3,000 men. We move on Dundee to-day."

Hildyard Is Also Working.

"Hildyard reports the occupation of Wessel's Nek and is repairing the line."

WORD FROM BADEN-POWELL

All Was Going Well May 7—Garrison Peaceful, Food Enough to Last Till June 10.

London, May 16. — The War Office has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Kroonstad, May 15:

Baden-Powell reports, under date of May 7, all going well. Fever is decreasing. The garrison is peaceful and the food will last until about June 10.

Both Claim Victory.

A special despatch from Lorenzo Marques says it has been reported that a large force of Boers had been captured by the British at Mafeking.

Pretoria, it is added, reports on the other hand, that Mafeking has fallen.

Brawn Made From Hides.

Mafeking, May 1 (via Lorenzo Marques, May 14).—Excellent "brawn" is being made from horse and ox hides and is eaten by whites and blacks. The garrison is very cheerful, very dry and very hungry.

FIERCE FIGHTING AT MAFEKING.

Boers Attacked the Town With Artillery, But Were Surrounded.

London, May 16. — A despatch to The Daily Mail from Lorenzo Marques, dated yesterday, says:

"There is now no doubt that there was desperate fighting at Mafeking Saturday, but it is believed to have gone in favor of the garrison. All that can be ascertained of a reliable character follows:

"The Boers, using artillery, attacked the town Saturday. Very soon the Kaffir location was in flames, some say as the result of shell fire; others as the result of treachery. Fighting at close quarters became general, and in the midst of the confusion the Boers gained possession of the Kaffir location, from which point of vantage they brought guns to bear on the town at close range.

"By an adroit move, the garrison, despite its attenuated numbers, succeeded in actually surrounding the party of Boers who had captured the Kaffirs' location. Severe fighting followed, but, according to the latest reports, the Boers still hold the location in which they are probably surrounded.

"The truth is, I believe, that the Pretoria authorities, knowing of the progress of the relief columns, gave orders to Gen. Synman to storm the place. As soon as the location was in flames, Boer bulletins of victory were flying about everywhere to encourage the weak-kneed burghers. Boers who came down here yesterday from Pretoria produced, for the edification of incredulous Britishers, two telegrams by officials, one of which was signed "Synman," and said: 'I was lucky enough to capture Baden-Powell with 900 this morning.'

"There is no doubt about the heavy fighting, a telegram from the Portuguese Consul to the Governor-General here, confirms this, and there is little doubt of the occupation of the Kaffirstad, but similar telegrams were published at Pretoria about Ladysmith, and quite recently about Wepener, just before Col. Dalgety was relieved."

British Relief Column Due.

London, May 16. — The British relief column is due at Mafeking now. Ten days ago Gen. Snyman was having difficulty in keeping the burghers together, owing to the approach of the British and when the last despatch left Mafeking on May 7, the Boers had killed on the previous day one of the Horse Guards and had captured several of Col. Baden-Powell's few remaining horses.

Major F. D. Baillie has sent to The Morning Post from Mafeking, under date of May 7, this message: "This morning the Boers attacked us. Result as usual. There is an aching void here. Pass the loaf."

CASUALTIES OVER 20,000

Gen. Roberts Cannot Predict End of the Campaign.

London, May 16. — (4.30 a.m.)—The War Office last evening issued an abstract of the British casualties since the beginning of the war. This shows a total of 20,036, exclusive of the sick in the field, and the invalids, including the wounded sent home, who number 8,901.

When Will the War End?

Lord Roberts contributes a line to the discussion going on in the press as to when the war will end by the following telegram, dated Monday, and sent through a correspondent who had made the direct inquiry:

"I regret that I cannot give any reply to your question, as it is impossible at present to predict when the campaign may end."

Where the Boer Army Is.

The Transvaal army has taken a position at Blaauwbaschdoort Pass, near Heilbronroad Station, 50 miles north of Kroonstad. Its rear guard is still holding the hills north of the Vaal River, where the Boer scouts are in touch with British reconnoitering parties 20 miles north of Kroonstad.

Brabant Takes Ladybrand.

Maseru, Basutoland, May 15. — A portion of Brabant's Horse occupied Ladybrand to-day, and another portion is pushing on to Clocolan.

Kruger After the Portuguese.

Lisbon, May 15. — It is rumored here to-day that President Kruger has ordered the Portuguese Consul to leave the Transvaal Republic.

Winnipeg Man Dangerously Ill.

London, May 15. — Pte. C. C. Thompson of "A" Company, Royal Canadian Regiment, is dangerously ill in the hospital at Wynberg. Before enlisting he belonged to the 5th Regiment Canadian Artillery at Winnipeg.

The Canadian Casualties.

Kroonstad, May 13. — (Toronto Globe Special). — The Royal Canadian Regiment reached here yesterday. The following casualties have occurred since my last message:

Killed—Pte. Hy. Cotton, Carlton Rifles, at Tabya Mountain, April 30. Pte. F. G. Floyd, 7th Fusiliers, at Zand River, May 10.

Wounded—At Tabya Mountain, May 1: Lieut. J. M. Ross, 22nd Oxford Rifles, slightly; Pte. R. Irvine, 19th St. Catharines, slightly; Pte. Rorison, 21st Essex Fusiliers, slightly; Bugler Foster, of Montreal, slightly; Pte. J. Lutz and Pte. J. Letson, 62nd Batt., both slightly.

At Zand River, May 10: Pte. G. W. Leonard, 22nd Batt., dangerously; Pte. E. Armstrong, R.C.A., Quebec, and A. F. McLean, 36th Dufferin Rifles, slightly; Stanley McKeown Brown, the Mail and Empire's correspondent, was wounded in the thigh at the Zand River fight, May 10.—Frederick Hamilton.

WILL TRY TO RUSH THE CORDON

Sir Fred Hodgson Will Endeavor to Get Out of Coomassie.

Accra, May 16. — The situation is unchanged. It is said in official circles that the Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Gold Coast Colony, Sir Frederick Hodgson, has announced his intention, unless immediately relieved, to make an attempt to rush the cordon.

There are now 450 troops at Coomassie, 450 between Cape Coast and Prahau, and 500 on their way from Jebba.

The disaffection is spreading among the northern tribes. Kings Takie and Cudgoe of Accra have been approached by the Ashantees.

Fearful Heat in Chicago.

No Wild and Woolly West.

Easterners have an erroneous impression about the vast plains country that stretches eastward from the flanks of the Rockies to the wheatfields of the Dakotas. It is a region where crimes are far less numerous in proportion to population than they are in the densely settled regions of the eastern and middle states.

If the sombreroed ruffians with pistols and knives in their boots and cartridge belts around their waists are not in the cattle country, where, then, are they to be found? Where are these Alkali Ikes, Lariat Bills, et al. who fire at the decanters in barrooms and at the silk hats of tenderfoot strangers—the villainous desperadoes whose lynching bees and other harrowing anecdotes make up considerable of the stock in trade of our eastern comic illustrators? I do not know.

For many years I have wandered through the great northwest on horseback, stagecoach and in canoes, as well as in the palatial Pullman sleeper of the great transcontinental lines, and I have never discovered any of the fierce, bewhiskered dime novel heroes. During all my travels in the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and British Columbia I have never seen a man hurt or witnessed any sort of row, and I would feel much safer to strike across the mountains or plains alone on a broncho and unarmed than I would to walk up Clark street at night in Chicago

Infant Baptisms in Russia.

"I was fortunate enough," writes Trumbull White, "to visit the Church of St. David, in Tiflis, Russia, just in time to attend a baptismal ceremony. According to the rites of the Greek church, as practiced in this ancient Georgian temple, the youngster in question, a fine boy 4 or 5 weeks old, had to be immersed three times in a baptismal font filled with water, each time to be completely covered, in addition to various blessings and anointings with holy oil and several long prayers.

[illegible] looking old priest proved himself a man of kindly thoughtfulness. While the family group around the baby was getting him properly undied, for the ceremony requires that the child shall be naked, the priest surreptitiously dipped his finger into the font, and I saw by his face that it was too cold. Then he stepped behind a screen, where his samovar was steaming, emptied the hot water into a pitcher, and, while the family still kept busy over the baby he poured enough to temper the pool that had been provided for the shorn lamb. The result was that the little fellow took his plunges without a murmur and thereby distinguished himself."—Chicago Record.

"Paradise B'iled Down."

A tourist tells how he traveled with a young couple evidently on their honeymoon, and the passengers in that particular carriage were on the grin most of the time over their antics.

The bride had got the man she loved, and she didn't care who saw her put her head on his shoulder. The bridegroom had got a farm with his wife, and if he wanted to feed her on sweets or squeeze her hand whose business was it?

A little old man sat directly opposite the couple, and he looked at them so often that the young husband finally explained:

"We've just got married."

"I knowed it all the time," chuckled the other.

"And we can't help it, you know."

"No, you can't. I'll be blowed if you can!"

"I presume it all seems very silly to an old man like you," continued the husband.

"Does it? Does it?" cackled the old fellow. "Well, I can tell you it does not, then. I've been there three times over, and now I'm on my way to marry a fourth. Silly! Why, children, it's paradise b'iled down!"—London Fun.

MATRON AND MAID.

Minnie, the 11-year-old daughter of General Botha of the Transvaal army, is a pupil in a school in Highgate, London.

Miss Elizabeth G. Jordan, the new editor of Harper's Bazar, began her literary career as a reporter attached to the local staff of a New York daily.

Miss Ella Little, an American, has received a doctorate at the University of Heidelberg, "summa cum laude." This is the first time the distinction has fallen to a woman.

Euchre is the White House amusement after dinner when there are no state functions or receptions. Mrs. McKinley is a devotee of the game and considers herself an expert.

Mrs. Annie Theil of New York, who refused to accept payment of rent from her tenants, has been pronounced insane by competent physicians. This form of insanity is exceedingly rare.

The Duchess of Marlborough, according to report, has been staying awhile at Monte Carlo with her mother, occasionally trying her luck at the tables and always wearing a new, fascinating frock.

The money contributed by a grateful nation to Mrs. Mary G. Lawton, widow of Major General Henry W. Lawton, was handed over to her at Washington recently by Adjutant General H. C. Corbin, the amount being $98,407.07.

Miss Alice Bache Gould has given $20,000 to the American National Academy of Sciences. The income of this sum is to be devoted to aiding such researches in the astronomy of precision as shall be judged worthy of it by a committee of competent professors.

Mrs. Blaine has purchased a lot of seven acres adjoining the city cemetery at Augusta, Me., overlooking the Kennebec, which was a favorite place with Mr. Blaine. It is said that she contemplates having her husband's remains removed there from Oak Hill, Washington.

Anna Held, who has a weakness for diminutive canines, has acquired possession, by purchase, of Daisy, the smallest exhibit at the New York dog show. The smaller a blue and tan, the greater its value, and Miss Held's latest pet has involved her separation from much money.

Mrs. Dewey, wife of the admiral, is said to be of ready wit. An editor called her up and protested that the only photograph he had of Mrs. Dewey, for use in an article, was one that had been taken years before. Mrs. Dewey told him to use it nevertheless. "But don't you want justice done you?" inquired the editor. "No, I can only hope for mercy," answered Mrs. Dewey.

The "Neill" Shoe

FOR LADIES

We offer a new Shoe, which we have named "The Neill." This is a shoe we can endorse. It it a shoe we can guarantee, And why?

It has been made specially to our order by one of the best makers in Canada and for us. It is made on the latest American lasts, is made to fit the foot with comfort, has the favorite flexible sole, and for material the fine and fashionable "Vici" kid. This shoe has style, and shape and durability, and finish, and all the good points that go to make up a good shoe.

It is undoubtedly the best shoe at the money in the market. We can guarantee it in every respect. It is our own shoe. We are proud of its good points and sure it has no defects. Every pair is stamped "Neill." The prices are—as prices ever with us—reasonable. Ladies' sizes as follows:—

Balmorals - - - - $3.25 the pair.
Button - - - - $3.00 the pair.
Oxford (the low shoe) $2.50 the pair.

THE VACANCY FILLED

Mr. Robt. Sheridan Was Elected Councillor in Ashburnham by Acclamation.

Nominations to fill the vacancy in the Ashburnham Council caused by the resignation of Mr. J. Z. Craig were held to-day, and excited little interest.

Mr. Robt. Sheridan, an ex-member of the Council, was the only candidate nominated, and he was accordingly elected by acclamation.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH

Mrs. Robt. H. Green Dies Suddenly From Heart Trouble.

A very sudden death occurred about noon to-day when Mrs. Robt. H. Green passed away at the family residence, corner of Simcoe and Stewart-sts. The deceased lady had been ill with an attack of grip for a few days and, although her general health was not good, nothing serious was feared. At noon to-day, however, she was suddenly seized with a severe heart attack, from which she did not rally but passed away notwithstanding all that medical skill could do. Coming so suddenly her demise is a sad blow to her friends.

The late Mrs. Green was a native of North Monaghan where she was born about fifty-seven years ago. Her maiden name was Ellen Fowler, she being the second daughter of the late Wm. Fowler. About thirty years ago she married Mr. Robt. H. Green and came to town to reside, living here ever since. She leaves her husband, whose faithful attendant she has been though a long and trying illness, and several sisters and brothers to mourn her demise. The sisters are:—Mrs. Walter Scott, of Emily; Mrs. John Dobbin and Mrs. Andrew Grant, of town; Mrs. Robt. Leitch, Detroit, and Mrs. Richard Lillico, of North Monaghan. The brothers are:—Messrs John Fowler, of North Monaghan; Wm. and Geo. Fowler, of town, and Jas. Fowler, of Toronto. The deceased was a member of St. Andrew's church, and a lady respected and esteemed among a wide circle of friends.

"A Single Fact

Broke 40 Lights of Glass.

Bran and buttermilk make a good ration for laying hens.

Wheat middlings and cornmeal mixed is a good feed for young chickens.

In nearly all cases diseases and vermin will attack the poorly fed and ill kept chickens.

Charcoal is valuable in the poultry yard if broken in small pieces and placed where the fowls can have ready access to it.

If the hen is fed on the nest it tends to give her a bad disposition and to make her often difficult to manage when she comes off with her brood.

One of the secrets of raising young ducks is not to allow them to get wet, at least until they are fairly well feathered. Keep them away from ponds.

Whenever fowls can be allowed to run at large without detriment to the garden, they should by all means be given a free range, as they will keep much healthier.

Turkeys have rapid digestion and are always apparently hungry. If allowed a free range, they can generally be kept at a small expense, but they do not thrive in confinement.—St. Louis Republic.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

To prevent steel from rusting place a little bag of quicklime away with the bright steel goods.

To remove panes of glass lay soft soap over the putty which fixes them, and in a few hours they may be easily removed.

When brushing a room, sweep toward the fireplace; otherwise the draft from the chimney draws the dust in that direction and scatters it about the room.

Nothing in the way of linen lasts longer than the half bleached damask, and it is great economy to buy it, for it will not grow yellow when laid away as quickly as the fully bleached.

UNCLE JACK'S PLEA.

It Was Powerful Enough to Save His Bad Case.

When I was in North Carolina, a friend told me about an old darky who was on trial for stealing a turkey, and the proof was positive, and yet he did not seem to be alarmed. His lawyer was discouraged and said: "Uncle Jack, it looks like they have got you."

"No, dey ain't, Mas John; dey ain't got me yet, and dey ain't gwine to get me. Tell you how it is, Mas John. Do jedge seten up dar was my young master when de war broke out and not gwine to send me to de pen. No, sir, he ain't; he ain't done forget what I know."

But Mas John had lost confidence, for he knew that the judge would do his duty and execute the law. In a short time the trial was over and the judge asked Uncle Jack if he had anything to say in extenuation of his crime. The old gray headed man got up with a grunt and, looking around upon the spectators and then at the judge, said:

"Nuffin much, Mas Jedge; nuffin much. Only dis, you know all about dat old war which we all got whooped, and you hain't forgot how I went out wid you to de army, for you was a cappen, and old master told me to go 'long and take keer of you, and you knows I did de very bes' I could for four mighty long years and how one time you got wounded and I staid by you ontell you was well again and how anoder time you took de measles and me, too, and I stay by you and nus' you and how anoder time dem Yankees cotch me and I got away in de night and come back to you and how sometimes you get out of money and out of sumfen to eat all at the same time, and you call me up and say, 'Jack, you mus' go out a-foragin and get us sumfin,' and I go out late in de night and bring you chickens and roastin ears, and one time I bring you a turkey, and you neber ax me nuffin about whar I got him and you neber giv' me any money to buy him, did you, Mas Jedge? You call it foragin den, didn't you, Mas Jedge, and if it was foragin den, how cum it to be stealin now?"

By this time the courtroom was convulsed with laughter, and the judge could not conceal his emotion, for his recollection of the old darky's faithfulness was revived afresh. He wiped his brow and his eyes and said: "Mr. Sheriff, adjourn court. Uncle Jack, I will pay for that turkey, but you must not do so any more. When you need anything, you must come to me. I haven't forgotten you."—Atlanta Constitution.

A CROWD IN THE STREET.

Guessing at Its Number and Watching Its Wave Movements.

"Estimating the size of a crowd is the hardest kind of guessing in the world," said an old citizen. "Nothing is more elastic, more compressible and more deceptive than a great throng. On two occasions a street or square may appear to be packed to its capacity, and one would say roughly that about the same number of people were present each time. As a matter of fact there may have been a difference of several thousand. I am convinced from observation extending over a number of years that it is impossible for anybody standing on the level occupied by a crowd to form even an approximately accurate estimate of its size. Such a spectator has no means of arriving at the density of the mass before him, and that is the vital point in the whole calculation.

"The proper place from which to size up any great gathering is as nearly as possible overhead—in other words, from the roof or upper windows of some adjacent tall building. It is only by looking down on crowds from a height that you can appreciate their great differences. One will be full of lanes and passageways, with little open spaces here and there, while in another the people will be standing shoulder to shoulder with almost military precision.

"From above, too, the strange wave movement which occurs in all crowds is clearly discernible, and it is certainly a curious sight. A slight stir will be seen from some extreme corner. For a few seconds it will travel toward the center, exactly like a ripple over water, then suddenly it will break and spread itself along three or four irregular paths, each ending in a crush which must be entirely inexplicable to the people in the vicinity. What causes these movements to take such eccentric routes through a throng is at first blush a mystery, but I suppose it can be easily explained on the common principle of force moving in lines of the least resistance. Some chap on the outskirts starts the thing by shouldering his neighbor, and the impulse is passed along, always by way of the weakest."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Deacon's Dream.

"May you take this lesson home with you tonight, dear friends," concluded the preacher at the end of a very long and wearisome sermon, "and may its spiritual truths sink deep into your hearts and lives to the end that your souls may experience salvation. We will now bow our heads in prayer. Deacon White, will you lead?"

There was no response.

"Deacon White"—this time in a louder voice—"Deacon White, will you lead?"

Still no response. It was evident that the deacon was slumbering. The preacher made a third appeal and raised his voice to a pitch that succeeded in waking the drowsy man.

"Deacon White, will you please lead?"

The deacon rubbed his eyes and opened them wonderingly.

"Is it my lead? No—I just dealt."—Detroit Free Press.

BOER REPORTS ADMIT THAT MAFEKING REPULSED ATTACK

And Kruger's Grandson was Captured by Baden-Powell--It is Officially Announced that Hunter's Column Entered Christinia, in Transvaal, Unopposed.

KRUGER'S GRANDSON CAPTURED

Cape Town, May 17.—A despatch from Lorenza Marques, dated to-day, says that Commandant Eloff, grandson of President Kruger, with a patrol entered Mafeking. Col. Baden-Powell opened fire on the burghers killing 17 of them and taking Eloff and 90 of his men prisoners.

BULLER REPORTS PROGRESS

London, May 17.—The War Office to-day received the following despatch from Gen. Buller: "Dann Hauser, May 17.—The second division has reached Dann Hauser and I hope my advance patrols are at Newcastle. The 5th Division is echeloned from Elandslaagte to Glencoe, repairing the railroad. The 4th Division is at Sunday River Drift, on the old Newcastle road. Several Natal farmers are handing over their arms. All reports agree that about 7,000 of the enemy passed north very hurriedly on May 14th and 15th."

ROBERTS REPORTS FROM KROONSTADT

London, May 17.—The War Office to-day received from Lord Roberts the following despatch dated Kroonstadt, Wednesday, May 16: Rundle yesterday occupied Mequatlings Nek and Modder Poort without opposition. Hunter has entered the Transvaal and has advanced within 10 miles of Christiana. Methune has reached a point 12 miles on the Hoopstad Road without seeing the enemy. Natives and local whites have confirmed the previous reports of the disorganization of the Free Staters. The situation here is unchanged.

BOERS ADMIT THHE REPULSE AT MAFEKING

Pretoria, Tuesday, May 15.—An official bulletin announces that the Federal troops stormed and occupied the forts around Mafeking on Saturday morning. The same night the Federals were surrounded losing, so far as known, 7 killed, 17 wounded and a number taken prisoners. The British casualties are said to be 50 killed and wounded It is reported that the advance guard of the force proceeding to the relief of Mafeking from the south was repulsed yesterday.

RUNDLE'S UNOPPOSED ADVANCE

Thaba Nchu, Tuesday May 15. The British advanced this morning 20 miles to the northeast and took possession of Maquatlings Nek. Prisoners continue to be taken daily.

OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED

London, May 17—It is officially announced that Gen. Hunter has occupied Christiana, on the Vaal river, in Transvaal territory, without oppositition.

THE TRENT CANAL

A Statement of Trade Done on One Section of the Completed Work.

In an article on the Trent Canal the Lindsay Post gives the following statement of the trade done on the completed inland section of the canal for the year 1899, by the steamers owned at Lindsay or in the immediate vicinity, and does not include the work done by the Lakefield steamers or those on Lake Simcoe or Rice Lake, which it is fair to suppose is quite as much more:—

Steamer Stranger.—3 scows of lumber, 4 scows of brick, 300 cords wood, 20,000,000 feet of logs through lower lakes to Lakefield.

Steamer Maple Leaf.—5,000 passengers, 200 tons of freight.

Steamer Marie Louise.—70,000 saw logs, 20,000 railway ties, 60,000 posts; 1,300 cords of wood, 200 cords tan bark, 200,000 ft. lumber, 4 scows brick.

Steamer Undine.—300 cords wood, 300 cords stave bolts, 1,500,000 feet lumber, 110 pcs. heading, 2,000,000 shingles; 50,000 ft. logs, 1 scow stone, 1 scow gravel, 4 scows building material, 50,000 bricks, 1 scow coal oil, 1 scow of grain.

Steamer Beaubocage.—4,000,000 ft. lumber.

Steamer Esturion.—27,500 passengers, 500 tons freight.

Steamer Alice-Ethel.—4,000 cords of wood, 10,500 logs, 3 scows tan bark, 3 scows stone, 2 scows sundries, 10,000 passengers.

Steamer Dawn.—5,000,000 feet logs, 1,000 passengers, 2 scows stone, 500 cords wood.

Steamer Greyhound.—25,000 ties, 1,000 posts, 17,000 logs, 4 scows stone, 6 scows wood, 2 scows brick, 500 passengers.

Steamer Beaver.—50,000 logs, 120,000 ties and posts, 500 cords shingle bolts, 1,000 cords of wood, 500 telegraph poles, 1 scow tan bark, 500 passengers.

To reduce the foregoing figures to an intelligent and more easily understood condition, says the Post, we might state that the quantity of passengers carried by local steamers would fill 1,500 railway coaches, and it would require fully 10,000 freight cars to transport the freight moved along the canal in our immediate vicinity. As before stated, we believe that this does not represent more than one-half the trade done along the completed portion of the canal.

Boer Delegates Say So While En Route to the United States.

Mr. Patrick O'Connor, Who Understands Dutch, Tells to a London Paper What He Heard Fischer, Wolmarans and Wessels Say on Board the Maasdam—These Representative Boers Admit It Is a Hopeless Fight Now.

London, May 17. — The Daily Express publishes this morning a three-column New York special, signed by Patrick O'Connor, who crossed the Atlantic with the Boers delegates on the Maasdam, under pretense of being an Irish-American and a Boer sympathizer.

As a matter of fact, Mr. O'Connor understands the Dutch language, and he claims to have overheard much private conversation, in the course of which Mr. Wolmarans is reported as saying to Dr. Fischer:

'I think we should be careful of what we say to this man, as he may be a spy. Are you sure he is an American?"

Mr. Fischer—"There is no doubt of it. I can tell by his accent."

Mr. Wessels—"It would never do, of course, for the British to know that we are really in the last extremity, or for them to know that we are thinking of staying in America."

Blame Cecil Rhodes.

Then, resuming the English language, Mr. Fischer began by blaming Mr. Cecil Rhodes for bringing on the war. He said:

"I haven't the slightest doubt that Sir Alfred Milner was sent to South Africa to prepare for the spoliation of the Boer Republic, by force, if necessary. The franchise ruse was all humbug. President Kruger conceded so much at the Bloemfontein conference that Milner was in mortal fear lest all his requests should be granted, and lest he should thereby lose the chance of annexing the Transvaal."

Mr. Wolmarans, to Mr. Fischer, in Dutch, continued:

"Do you think we had better tell him how Kruger broke off the conference?"

Mr. Fischer—No.

Mr. Wolmarans (in Dutch — Our position just now is precisely that of Jameson at the time of the raid. He expected Johannesburg to rise to his assistance. We expected the same of Cape Colony and Natal. We are bitterly disappointed. Tell him how Schreiner deceived us."

Mr. Fischer—"He knows well, as well as we do, that Schreiner is loyal to Great Britain."

Resuming English, Mr. Fischer said: "We are going to win the war if it takes years,"

Had Better Be Cautious.

Addressing Mr. Wessels, and using Dutch, Mr. Fischer then said: "We had better not say too much. We are getting badly beaten now. We are going to America in the hope of obtaining the friendly help of the United States in the cause of peace. That is what we will say to the public. As a matter of fact we have no hope whatever. We have no cut-and-dried programme."

Mr. Fischer went on to say that the brother of Mr. Wessels, who happened to be in the United States, and who was in conjunction with Mr. Montague White, believed that some sort of peace preliminaries might be arranged, but if the delegates failed in the United States, the Boers, Mr. Fischer declared, would still not give in.

Mr. O'Connor says: "The delegates were much astonished at the reception on their arrival in New York. When land was sighted Mr. Wolmarans exclaimed: "What shall we do when we get there?"

Boer Envoys in New York.

New York, May 17. — Beyond a drive through Central Park and the principal localities of interest in the city, no programme was arranged for the Boer envoys yesterday. They spent the forenoon in answering telegrams and letters from cities in the United States from which invitations had been received to be guests. An effort is being made to arrange a plan so that the envoys can visit a majority of the cities.

Cablegram From Kruger.

Charles B. Pierce, the Consul-General of the Orange Free State, received the following cablegram from Pretoria:

"Messrs. Wessels, Fischer and Wolmarans: May justice and righteousness be with you. (Signed) Kruger."

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world. English Law as to Fits.

A mackintosh that did not fit was the subject of a legal decision in the Westminster county court. The Regent street shopkeeper who made the garment said that the purchaser (who sued for the return of three guineas paid) did not give him time to make another that would fit. The judge said a person was entitled to a "fit" when a garment was sent home, and any permission to alter or make a fresh article was mere good nature and not law. The case should not have been defended. He gave the disappointed customer his three guineas, with costs.—Birmingham Post.

A Victim of Piles

For 20 Years—A Constant Sufferer From Bleeding and Protruding Piles—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

In vain did Mrs. Jas. Brown, of Mintonburgh, near Ottawa, search for a cure for piles. In Europe and America she tried every remedy available, but it remained for Dr. Chase's Ointment to effect a cure.

Mrs. Brown writes:—"I have been a constant sufferer from nearly every form of piles for the last twenty years, and during that time both here and in the Old Country have tried most every remedy.

"I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment when I say that I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding and protruding piles. I strongly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to mothers, or indeed to any person [illegible] dread torment—piles."

Physicians and druggists recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the one preparation that will never fail to cure piles. It is guaranteed to positively cure piles, whether itching, bleeding or protruding. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

FAITHLESS TO DUTY.

The Laurier Government has decided to refuse any further investigation into the election frauds which were practised in the bye-elections in West Huron and Brockville. In doing this the Ministry at Ottawa places itself in the same category with the discredited and shuffled combination at Toronto where petitions were neglected and prosecutions played with and delayed by a Government who dared not deal with the criminals—some of whom were Government employees—who had stolen votes, slipped ballots, personated deputy returning officers, etc. At Ottawa it was charged that many of the same gang of criminals had worked in behalf of the Liberal candidates in the Dominion bye-elections. The "machine" was doing double duty and working for both Governments. But it was hoped that the Ottawa Government being new, and not fighting to keep a narrow majority in existence, would be equal to its duty and would investigate the charges and punish the wrong-doers, if crime was disclosed. Last session an investigation into the West Huron case was begun, when sufficient evidence was brought out, notwithstanding the Government methods of delay and its too-apparent anxiety to cover up crookedness rather than lay it bare, to show conclusively that votes had been stolen and bogus ballots substituted. But the investigation was so delayed that an adjournment was made with the understanding that it would be proceeded with this session. But now the Government has been forced to a straight stand, and it has decided that no further investigation can be allowed, although affidavits have been read in Parliament and charges against individuals made and sworn to.

The people now have the case before them, and it is for them to decide whether they will support men who take such a bold stand to shield scoundrels who steal the votes of electors, or whether they will drive such from office, and thereby give notification to public men that honesty is the first requirement of Ministers of the Crown. The charges made do come close to those in high places, and the fact that an investigation is refused makes the members of the Government guilty of further faithlessness to their public trust, failure to protect the people's most important rights, and complicity with the criminals in preventing the exposure of their crimes. It is a bad case against a body of men who have dared to call themselves the "party of purity," and yet who traffic with such a gang of crooks.

What do old-time Liberals think? The men who advocated and promised so much have cast aside their principles and disregarded their promises in the most shameless manner. They have paid no heed to pledges that were made, and now, have shown that the sacredness of the ballot box is not to be respected under them, vote-stealers and personators have too big a pull and know too much of those in high places to have their deeds exposed and punished. Do old-time Liberals, who were honest in their advocacy of principles and believed in the promises made, who thought their leaders were honest and would not tolerate crookedness in elections, much less organize a "machine" and when evidence of dishonesty was secured would burke and prevent any proper investigation, endorse what has been done? Liberalism, as seen at Toronto, and as seen in the men at Ottawa, we believe does no credit to the Liberalism that used to be, and Liberals not wholly prejudiced and hide-bound will agree with this.

MATTER OF PRINCIPLE.

Sir Louis Davies in Parliament on Tuesday said the Government must refuse further enquiry into the election frauds because there was a Controverted Elections Act. In 1887 speaking in the House of Commons, Sir Louis said this:—

"Sir, I contend as a matter of law that the rights which this House can exercise respecting the election of its members have not been in any degree minimized by the passage of the Controverted Elections Act. I state that as a clear principle of constitutional law, and I think I have the authority, not only of the leader of the Opposition, but of the leader of the Government for that position—that the same rights which the House retained to itself when in former days it relegated the trial of election petitions to the Election Committee of the House, these same rights the House continues to retain after it has relegated the trial of election petitions to the judges of the land. There has been no change."

Sir Louis is a lawyer, and this was his opinion. Then what do people think of this man when he now rises and states that because of the Controverted Elections Act, there can be no investigation? How serious his possession becomes, and how ridiculous is the Government for which he spoke. Will the people quietly submit to such a class of men at the head of affairs? Is it honest? Is it statesmanlike? Is it what we want in our Dominion Government?

The Ministers at Ottawa are as afraid of the "machine" men as the wobbly Ministers at Toronto.

It is to be hoped that Dominion Ministers will never so insult the intelligence of the Canadian people as to refer to their party as the "party of purity."

A TORONTO LADY

Sends Wise Advice to Her Suffering Sisters Everywhere.

It is: Use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and They Will Make you Well. Mrs. Henderson Speaks From her Own Experience.

Toronto, May 16.—Mrs. Webb, of Whitby, is not the only lady who has recently discovered the almost miraculous power of Dodd's Kidney Pills over "Female Weakness," and Kidney Disease.

The Toronto ladies who use this wonderful medicine are numbered by hundreds. And we may be sure that they would not use it if they did not find it the best for their particular troubles.

Mrs. J. Henderson, living at No. 237, Sumach-st, has experienced the healing power of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and like all true women, she is anxious that her suffering sisters should share in the good things. Therefore she makes the following statement:—

"I have for eight years endured the tortures of 'Female Weakness,' and Kidney Disease, without being able to find any relief from either doctors or medicines. Finally, however, I heard of several ladies being cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought and used two boxes, and am now thoroughly and completely cured."

Could any lady who suffers from any form of "Female Troubles" need a better "pointer" than this?

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all "Female Troubles" by removing their cause.

They go further than this. They heal and strengthen the kidneys, ensuring a plentiful supply of pure, rich cool blood, pure, clear complexion, and vigorous health.

To weak and suffering women, and young girls just budding into womanhood, the best advice possible is "Use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Try a box. Dodd's Kidney Pills convince by curing you.

Swallowed the Ointment.

A curious case is reported by Dr. Mosbacher of Bochum in the Munchener Medicinische Wochenschrift. He was consulted by a workman for erysipelas of the face and prescribed an ointment of 10 per cent ichthyol. The next morning the wife of the patient (a Pole) came to Dr. Mosbacher complaining that the medicine had produced such severe diarrhea and colic that her husband was unable to persevere with it.

Dr. Mosbacher, greatly astonished, went to the house and found that instead of using the ointment in the ordinary way the man had taken it by the mouth. The erysipelas had nearly disappeared, and the patient in broken German expressed his gratitude for the somewhat strong but very efficacious medicine which had done him so much good.

Dr. Mosbacher adds that notwithstanding this success he has refrained from administering ichthyol internally.

THE FIRE FIEND'S DOINGS.

Welland Vale M'f'g. Company at St. Catharines Suffer Heavily.

The Greatest Conflagration Which Ever Visited the Garden City—Canada Cycle and Motor Company Also Struck—Firemen Worked Heroically—Loss $250,000—Port Dalhousie's Music Hall a Total Loss From Fire—Other Fires.

St. Catharines, Ont., May 17. — most disastrous conflagration that has occurred in the history of this city was that which destroyed the large factory building occupied by the Canada Cycle and Motor Company, and the whole of the Welland Vale Manufacturing Company's shops, with the exception of the two storehouse buildings at the north end of the yards.

Firemen Driven Back.

It was the fiercest fire that the city has ever known, and the brigade were driven from point to point by the intensity of the flames. Several lines of hose were destroyed before they could be taken out, but there was no shirking from the arduous task that was before them.

Origin of the Fire.

It was about 3 o'clock yesterday morning when the fire originated in the boiler room of the bicycle shop, a room attached to the main building. There were a few toolmakers at work, and when the flames were discovered an alarm was sent in from box 38, which is situated just across the canal at the end of the float.

There was a quick response. The southern end of the large building was a mass of flames. The wind was blowing down stream and fanned the fire to such an extent that it was readily seen that the Welland Vale shops were doomed.

Flames Leaped Across the Lane.

From the bicycle shop the flames leaped across the lane to the office and the axe factory buildings, consuming the shipping department, the general machine room, the forging department, the grinding room and the carpenter shop. These buildings were frame and of one-story in height, and covered a large area. The two large warehouses, which were filled with goods ready for shipment, escaped by the wind suddenly changing.

Much Hose Was Burned.

Upwards of 1,000 feet of hose were destroyed. Four or five lines had to be left to the flames, as there was no way of uncoupling. The explosion of oil in the bicycle shop made numerous loud reports and added intensity to the flames.

The wind was blowing towards the building, but later changed, or not a vestige would have been left of the entire establishment. The blacksmith and tempering shop fell easy prey, and then the hammer and forge shop was assailed. It simply melted away in the heat, and no human power could then have been of avail. After the bicycle shop was burned the office buildings and others adjacent soon went, and the change in the wind saved the storage houses, that are left standing. All else is a blackened waste.

Loss Probably $250,000.

It is hard to estimate the losses. That of the Welland Vale Manufacturing Co. will be about $200,000, with an insurance of $85,000. The Canada Cycle and Motor Co. had an insurance of $40,000 on machinery and $65,000 on stock, besides some smaller amounts. Their loss will be trifling compared with that of the Welland Vale.

The Companies Interested.

The insurance companies are as follows:

Imperial, $20,000; Lancashire, $20,000; British America, $15,000; Aetna, $15,000; Western, $15,000; Caledonian, $12,000; Alliance, $10,000; Liverpool & London & Globe, $10,000; Manchester, $10,000; North British & Mercantile, $10,000; Northern, $10,000; Royal, $10,000; Norwich Union, $7500; Phoenix of Brooklyn, $7500; Phoenix of London, $7500; Union, $7500; North America, $7000; Commercial Union, $5000; London Assurance, $5000; London & Lancashire, $5000; National, $5000; Sun, $5000; Victoria, Montreal, $5000; Connecticut, $2500; Anglo-American, $2500; Berlin Mutual, $2500; Canadian Fire, $2500; Mercantile, $2500; Merchants' $2500; Phoenix of Hartford, $2500; Quebec, $2500; Queen, $2500; Waterloo, $2500.

Port Dalhousie Music Hall [illegible]

Port Dalhousie, Ont., May 17. — Between 1.30 and 2 p. m. yesterday fire was discovered in the interior of the Music Hall, and gained such headway that it was totally destroyed. It was owned by the defunct Port Dalhousie Bank, and was insured for about $800. The adjoining residence of George Scott was somewhat damaged by the heat.

Charlottetown Suffers Heavily.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., May 17. — The pumping station here was destroyed by a fire yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. The engine and pumps were greatly damaged. The city water supply has been shut off. The fire started in the engine room. The water in the reservoir is being reserved for fire purposes. It will be some days before the water system will be restored.

Thomas Cross a Victim.

Toronto, May 17. — Thomas Cross who was so terribly burned in the fire in his coal and wood yards early yesterday morning, succumbed to his injuries in the Emergency Hospital about 6 hours later. Deceased at the time the fire broke out was alone in the house, which adjoins the yards. On seeing the smoke, he hurried to the stables, where a number of horses were kept, and on leading the first animal through the flames his clothes took fire.

The Weir Appeal Refused.

Montreal, May 17. — Hon. Horace Archambault, Attorney-General, has refused the application of Messrs. McMaster & McLennan, made on behalf of William Weir, ex-president of the Ville Marie Bank, for permission to move in the Court of Appeal for leave to appeal to have the verdict in the case against him of having made a false return to the Government set aside.

Hirsch Succession Duty.

London, May 17. — In the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Justice yesterday, Judges Bidley and Darling gave judgment in favor of the Crown in the case of the Government v. The Jewish Colonization Association on a claim for succession duty amounting to £1,250,000 upon property valued at upwards of £8,000,000, settled by the late Baron Hirsch, in 1892, upon the Colonization Association.

Oliver Doyle Is Dead.

Rat Portage, Ont., May 17. — Oliver Doyle, a well-known man about town, died early yesterday in a house of ill-repute in the East End, under suspicious circumstances. The doctor called in is of the opinion that he died from the effects of an overdose of morphine. An inquest will be held. Doyle was a single man, about 38 years of age. He had been a prospector.

A Prospector Drowned.

Rat Portage, May 17. — Geo. W. Falkiner, prospector, was drowned Monday evening in Shoal Lake near the Mikado mine, by the upsetting of his canoe. The body was recovered last evening. Deceased was an Englishman, 31 years of age, and unmarried.

Sir E. W. H. Carson Walks Over.

London, May 17.—Dublin University has returned Sir Edward W. Henry Carson to the House of Commons, without opposition, on his appointment as Solicitor-General in succession to Sir Robert Bannatyne Finley, appointed to succeed Sir Richard Webster as Attorney-General.

More "Boxer" Outrages.

Tien Tsin, May 17. — More "Boxer" outrages are reported sixty miles north of Tien Tsin, where a number of native Christians have been massacred. The British admiral has arrived here and proceeded to Pekin.

Sir Charles and Mr. Bennett.

Ottawa, May 17. — On the 24th of May Sir Charles Tupper and W. H. Bennett, M.P. for East Simcoe, will attend a monster Conservative picnic to be given at Whitby, the county town of the County of Ontario.

Old Lady Killed by Lightning.

Cayuga, Ont., May 17.—Mrs. Halkey, an old lady of the Township of Rainham, near the Village of Selkirk, was killed by lightning on Tuesday afternoon.

Leyland Gobbles West India.

London, May 17. — The Leyland Steamship Company has taken over the West India Steamship Company. The purchase price was £992,000.

A man may as soon fill a chest with grace, or a vessel with virtue, as a heart with wealth.—Phillips Brooks.

If life were strewn with thornless roses, there would be no pricks to urge men on to better things.

SENSITIVE WOMAN.

There is a wonderful little tropical plant, the mimosa or sensitive plant as it is called. The curious thing about it is that if you pinch any part of the root or the stem, all the delicate little branches and fragile leaves will curl up and shrink together as if they had been blighted with a sudden frost.

Woman's delicate and sensitive organism is remarkably like this little plant. If the very roots of a woman's life are injured or diseased, her whole being suffers, both physical and mental. She shrinks within herself and covers up her sufferings enduring all in silence as best she may.

"My sister was in bad health for years a great sufferer; all broken down and very weak and nervous," says Mrs. [illegible] M. White, of Stony-creek, Warren Co., N. Y. "She was troubled with all the pains and aches one so slender could endure. She took everything she heard of, hoping to get help, but in vain. The doctors said she could not live to have another child as she came near dying so many times. She tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did wonders for her.

"This spring she had a nice boy weighing eleven pounds; she got through before we could get anyone there. I was afraid she would not live. We cried for joy when we saw how nicely she got along. I cannot say enough in praise of your 'Favorite Prescription.' I never saw a [illegible] of a [illegible] before. I hope all women will try it. May God bless you for the good you have done."

Any woman may write to R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., in absolute confidence. Her communication will be thoroughly and earnestly considered and she will receive sound, professional, fatherly advice (in a plain [illegible] envelope) free of charge.

Conditions of Beleaguered City Still the First Topic.

Boers Are Said to Be Holding Back Big News—Their Latest Official Bulletin Says Mafeking Relief Column Has Been Defeated With Great Loss—Gen. Buller Occupies Glencoe — Roberts Resting at Kroonstad.

London, May 16. — (3.30 p.m.)—The British relief column fought the Boers at Kraalpan, 42 miles south of Mafeking, on Tuesday, according to a telegram received Wednesday night at Lorenzo Marquez from Molopo, 100 miles north of Mafeking.

This intelligence is accepted here with some reserve, because it is difficult to understand how the news could have been so quickly put on the wire from a place 132 miles from the scene of the engagement.

Correspondent Captured.

A correspondent of The Morning Post, presumably John Stuart, is reported captured by the Boers at Kraalpan. The British public is keenly expectant of the announcement that Mafeking had been relieved. In army circles the opinion seem to prevail that this has already been accomplished, although two hours before midnight the War Office said that no news of the relief had been received. The steadfast courage of the hunger-bitten garrison has produced a deep impression, and the news of succor is awaited with more anxiety than has been felt regarding any other event of the war.

Boers Holding Back Big News.

Douglass Story, The Daily Mail's correspondent at Pretoria, wires:

"The Boer Government is holding back some big news. Feverish activity prevails here. President Kruger is working day and night. The latest official Boer bulletin is that the relief column has been defeated with great loss."

Roberts Remains Passive.

Lord Roberts remains passive at Kroonstad. His cavalry are stretching like a semi-circle screen many miles in length with overlapping flanks. The railway will probably be completed to-day. The Kroonstad censor permits the passage of long despatches dealing with incidents prior to the occupation.

French Had a Lively Fight.

It seems that Gen. French's cavalry had one lively fight after crossing the Zand River. A mixed squadron, composed of the Scots Greys, the Inniskillings, Carbiners and Australian Horse, took a kopje and dismounted. The Boers suddenly fired from a concealed position, killing many horses and stampeding the rest. The Boers advanced in overwhelming numbers and drove the squadron, capturing some. The Boers robbed the dead and looted the saddles. Finally a brigade of cavalry drove them off. Farther north the Hussars charged the Boers, killing and wounding many stragglers with sabres and pistols.

Marched 120 Miles in a Week.

Lord Roberts' infantry marched 120 miles in seven days. Gen. French marched 80 miles in one day.

The Boers when retiring dragged 32 guns through Kroonstad.

Buller on the Move.

Gen. Buller is moving toward Newcastle. He appears to be using 25,000 men against 5,000 or 6,000. His operations will almost certainly result in his forcing his way into the Transvaal, possibly in time to co-operate with Lord Roberts' advance, although Gen. Buller is 258 miles from Johannesburg, or 25 days' march.

Canadian Battery at Beira.

A Canadian battery of 15-pounders arrived at Beira, Portuguese East Africa, May 10.

Will Mines Be Destroyed?

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Times, under Tuesday's date, says:

"There has been a heated discussion in the Raad in secret session respecting the expediency of destroying the mines. The result is not publicly known. The foreign mining representatives are greatly alarmed, and have addressed strong representations to their respective consuls."

Persons acquainted with Colonel Baden-Powell's scheme of defence at Mafeking assert that the occupation of the Kaffir location by the Boers would not endanger the garrison, provided relief came quickly.

A gentleman from Cape Town says that Mr. Cecil Rhodes has decided to retire altogether from Cape Colony politics.

GLENCOE OCCUPIED.

Gen. Sir Redvers Buller Marching in Good Luck Now.

London, May 17. — The War Office has posted the following despatch from General Buller, dated Dundee, May 16:

"We occupied Glencoe yesterday. The Transvaalers have now evacuated Biggarsberg. The Free Staters on the Drakensberg are much reduced in numbers. The Carolina, Lydenberg and Pretoria commandos trekked north from Hlatikulu on the 13th and 14th of May. Eleven guns were entrained at Glencoe. The last train with ambulance left there at dawn May 15th. This result has been largely produced by the action of the Fifth division which, during the last few days has done a great deal of very hard work — marching, mountain climbing and road making. Trains are now running to Wessels Nek Station."

ABUSE OF THE WHITE FLAG.

Lord Roberts Reports the Shooting Down of Seven Britishers.

London, May 17. — The War Office posts the following despatch from Lord Roberts under date of Kroonstad, May 15:

"Two officers and six men of Prince Alfred's Guards, while out foraging yesterday a few miles from Kroonstad, visited a farm flying a white flag, the owner of which surrendered himself with arms and ammunition. They then approached another farm, also flying a white flag. When within forty yards of the enclosure they were fired upon by fifteen or sixteen Boers concealed behind the farm wall. Two of the men were killed, Lieut. F. B. Walton was wounded, and Lieut. W. B. Everton and two non-commissioned officers were taken prisoners. The owner of the farm states that the Boers threatened to shoot him when he protested against their making an improper use of the white flag."

Says Boers Were Repulsed.

Lorenzo Marquez, May 17. — A Portuguese official says an encounter has occurred at Mafeking, and that the Boers have been repulsed with heavy loss.

The Queen at Netley Hospital.

London, May 17. — The Queen visited Netley Hospital yesterday afternoon, distributed flowers to the wounded, and conversed with many of them.

Rifle Clubs in England.

London, May 17. — The War Office has asked the National Rifle Association to submit a plan for rifle clubs, as advocated by Lord Salisbury in his recent speech.

CANADIANS TRANSFERRED.

Some Have Been Granted Commissions in Other Regiments.

Ottawa, May 17. — In a militia order, published yesterday morning, it is announced that the following members of the first Canadian contingent, on service in South Africa, have been transferred to other regiments: Lance-Corp. F. A. Southey, formerly lieutenant in the 46th Durham Regiment, Bowmanville, to the Duke of Edinburgh's Rifle Volunteers, S.A., in which corps he has been granted a commission.

Lance-Corp. C. R. Molyneux, 5th Royal Scots, to Roberts' Horse, in which corps he has been granted a commission.

Pte. J. F. Ramsay, 48th Highlanders, to Brabant's Horse.

Pte. P. Hugel, R.C.A., to D Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery.

Pte. Roberts, R.C.A., to C Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery.

Pte. Raymond Wounded.

Ottawa, May 17. — The following cable message from Sir Alfred Milner to His Excellency the Earl of Minto, was handed to the press yesterday:

Cape Town, May 14. — 7,833, Pte. J. W. Raymond, alias J. W. Culver, was slightly wounded, Israel's Poert, 25th April.

334, Trooper T. Woolcombe, Second Canadian Mounted Infantry, died of dysentery and pleurisy at Carnarvon on 2nd April. Casualty was reported officially to War Office, but only to-day to me, hence the delay.

Sir John Macdonald's Effects.

Ottawa, May 17. — A considerable number of articles were disposed of yesterday at the sale of the effects in the residence of the late Sir John Macdonald at Earnscliffe, and there were plenty of bidders. The desk at which the late Premier used to work was sold for $101 to Mr. James W. Woods. There was spirited bidding for this article. An inlaid secretary, bookcase, etc., brought $65. The late Sir John's fine library is being catalogued and will be sold next week.

THE ELECTION ABSCESSES.

West Huron and Brockville Will Not Be Investigated If the Government Can Help It.

Ottawa, May 17. — The Ministers of the Crown stood a fire of questions yesterday afternoon. The list was long, but it was soon disposed of.

Major Guillet asked: What substantial inducements are likely to be offered to our volunteers in South Africa to settle in that country at the close of the war? and others of like nature.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the Government had no information on the matter; besides it would be time to consider such questions when the war was over.

Mr. Clarke was told that the Allan Line had received $140,573, and the Elder, Dempster Line $175,987 for provisioning the second Canadian contingent.

Leper Patients Cared For.

Col. Prior was told that there are 19 patients now in the Tracadie lazaretto. Of these 14 came from New Brunswick, 1 from Prince Edward Island, 3 from Manitoba and 1 from Nova Scotia. All had been admitted since April 15, 1897. The Government had been asked to assume the cost of the maintenance of the lepers in British Columbia, but had refused to do so, under the provisions of the Quarantine Act.

Mr. Davin asked a series of questions regarding the Standard Oil Co.

Mr. Fielding replied at length, and said the Government had already disallowed an increase in freight rates by railways. Other reforms had been made by the Government in this direction.

The Election Investigation.

Another day was spent yesterday in the House discussing Mr. Borden's resolution, asking for an election investigation. The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Russell, jr., member for Halifax. Dr. Russell finished his speech at 6 o'clock. He declared that had the charges been sent to the Privileges and Elections Committee the result would have been valueless and farcical. He said Mr. Borden's delay in bringing in his motion amounted to practically burking inquiry this session.

After recess, John Ross Robertson closed his speech against the Government's contentions by saying that as he viewed the matter, the Government did not want the truth to come out, either in the courts or anywhere else.

Sir Hibbert Tupper termed Dr. Russell audacious for saying that Mr. Borden had himself burked an investigation into these charges. Reviewing affidavits presented, he said that Postmaster-General Mulock and Hon. James Sutherland had taken part in the West Huron and Brockville elections. They were not anxious for an inquiry, and he believed the irresistible conclusion was that the Postmaster-General and Mr. Sutherland dreaded further inquiry and had dragooned their followers to pull them through this ordeal to prevent a full, free and untrammelled inquiry.

In conclusion, Sir Hibbert warned the Government that the people were aroused over these matters, and that if a proper enquiry were prevented the conclusion the country would reach was that the Government was equally guilty with the parties charged with corrupt practices.

Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick followed Sir Hibbard, and derided the Privileges and Elections Committee as a tribunal to try election cases. The only tribunal was the Controverted Election Court, that should have been appealed to at first. He said that Pritchett had been brought to Canada from Detroit by Lawyer Barker of Hamilton, and Fleming of Windsor, who promised Pritchett that the Conservatives would not prosecute him. He was informed that these two lawyers had then a warrant for Pritchett's arrest, and still possessed it. The whole circumstance put the leaders of the Opposition not a great distance from the verge of a jail, while Barker and Fleming compounded a felony with a fugitive from justice, and the case was more serious in regard to them than in regard to Pritchett.

The fact was that Conservatives feared to bring these elections into the courts. Personally, Mr. Fitzpatrick could see no reason to continue the enquiry. It was practically settled last year. It was a dead issue.

Honor of Canada Smirched.

Hon. Mr. Casgrain replied to the Solicitor-General, and to all other Liberals that had preceded him. These grievous accusations affected the honor of Canada, and no reasons had been advanced why they should not be referred to the committee.

In conclusion, he said he was surprised that Holmes and Comstock did not ask for an investigation. They should get an enquiry or resign. It was due to the honor of Canada that the charges should be disproved, or the makers of them punished.

The House adjourned at 1 o'clock.

Col. Delamere in Command.

Ottawa, May 17. — A militia order issued yesterday gives the official list of the Bisley team. For the first time officially Col. Delamere, Q.O.R., is named commandant and Major Mackay, 65th Regiment, adjutant. The team sails from Montreal on June 22.

The Yukon garrison has been ordered home at the opening of navigation. Rifles and ammunition will be left in the Yukon in care of the N. W.M. Police.

Frenchman Recalled From Berlin.

Berlin, May 17. — M. H. De La Roche-Vernet, second secretary of the French Embassy in Berlin, has been recalled to Paris because Emperor William had complained to the French Ambassador, the Marquis de Noailles, of the secretary's improper public remarks during the recent visit of Emperor Francis Joseph.

Coppered the Prescription.

"I am a great coffee drinker," said a certain Memphian as he ordered another cup, "though I never drank a cup of it until I was 24 years old. It happened this way: When I was about 24, I had a severe attack of dyspepsia, and after going to several physicians I finally went to an eminent specialist, who, after making a diagnosis, said with the most cock sure air imaginable: 'Young man, your case is a simple one. Coffee drinking has ruined your stomach. If you will quit drinking coffee, you will be well within two months.'

"I asked him how much his fee was and paid him $25 for what he had told me. At my next meal I began drinking coffee, and I have been drinking it ever since. And on the whole I feel much better than ever before."—Memphis Scimitar.

A MODEL OF STORE FURNISHING

THE HANDSOME INTERIOR OF A. H. STRATTON & CO'S BOOKSTORE

The Most Elegantly Fitted up Store Between Toronto and Montreal—Magnificent Woodwork—Departments all Specially Stocked.

For a model of a complete and handsome store it is hard to imagine anything to surpass the book, stationery and fancy goods establishment of Messrs. A. H. Stratton & Co. The improvements that have been made this spring have resulted in a wonderful transformation and the appearance and convenience of the store are immensely superior to what they were previous to the fire of last winter.

The workmen have now completed their tasks on the premises, the greatest care having been taken even in the finishing touches. The store is strikingly handsome and has drawn forth expressions of admiration from all who have inspected it. The interior furnishings are magnificent and palatial and every feature combines beauty and utility in the highest degree.

Neither money nor thought and labor have been spared in the rehabilitation of the store. Mr. Stratton studied the best features of the best stores of the cities and combined and adapted these to suit his business here. Then the work was placed in the best hands to be carried out in the most workmanlike and artistic manner.

All the interior is finished in antique oak, hand carved and polished. The carving is highly ornamental and of very pleasing pattern and the oak presents a charming and attractive appearance. Every shelf and upright has been finished with the greatest care. The cornice is deep and rich and elegantly carved. The windows have a background of latticed oak. A very fancy grilled arch extends across the store at the office and gives a pleasing effect.

The papering is in delicate tints of blue and gold that harmonize very nicely with the oak woodwork. The combination is a very bright and pretty one, well adapted for the display of a stock of fine goods.

The furnishings are of a style in keeping with the store. A number of the new display cases of plate glass and oak have been put in and present a brilliant appearance with their contents of rich fancy goods. These cases are models of beauty and display power. The wall cases are filled with Bibles, prayer books and fancy goods of all kinds. The stock of Bibles and prayer books is an unusually large and attractive one. The tables are all of oak. The book shelves on the south side of the store are made with a view to special convenience and are stocked with a perfect stock. The miscellaneous goods are placed in the lower shelves.

The wall paper department is worthy of special description were it not that the firm's reputation in this line is already so well established. The stock this spring is large and includes all varieties from the most magnificent to the common varieties. Some exceedingly pretty and tasty goods are to be seen.

The newspaper and magazine department has been placed conveniently near the front of the store.

Upstairs are the various departments—picture framing, baby carriages, boys' waggons, carts, etc.—in all of which a full stock is carried.

The store is magnificently lighted and at night with all the incandescent lamps turned on presents a fairylike appearance.

The exterior has been painted very tastefully in white.

The interior woodwork was put in by the Peterborough Canoe Co., under the superintendence of Mr. J. R. Donnell, to whom great credit is due for the splendid result gained. Messrs. Stratton & Co., can now boast of what is perhaps the handsomest book and fancy goods store in Ontario.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE

Of the New Catholic Church at Campbellford on Sunday Next.

The important ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Roman Catholic church at Campbellford, will be performed by the Right Rev. Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, at 3 o'clock, on Sunday afternoon next. The address will be read by the Rev. Dr. Teefy, of St. Michael's College, Toronto.

CONFIRMATION AT ALL SAINTS'

Impressive Ceremony of Confirming of Twenty-four Candidates.

An impressive ceremony was conducted at All Saints' church last evening, when the Bishop of Toronto administered confirmation to twenty-four candidates, three of whom were from St. John's. There was a very large attendance and all present greatly enjoyed the service.

The Bishop delivered an eloquent address, marked by the choicest and most polished language and delivered in highly pleasing style. He gave a short history of confirmation, showing the Bible standpoint. He showed the important step which it is in Christian life, the public profession of faith in Christ. He dwelt on the extreme importance of the gift of the Holy Ghost, showing that in the fall of man that gift was lost and through Christ it is restored to us and power given to live for Him. He impressed on his hearers the sacred duties of church membership and of the Christian life.

At the close of the confirmation service Messrs. H. Rush and R. Kirkman were licensed as lay readers in the parish and had their licenses delivered.

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

LIBERALS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH HOLD A FELICITATION MEETING

Organize and Pass Divers Resolutions Congratulating Themselves on the Strength of the Ross Government and Other Matters for Satisfaction.

A meeting of the Liberal Association of West Peterborough was held yesterday afternoon in the hall over Stevenson's store, Water-st.

Mr. G. M. Roger, secretary, explained the object of the meeting as for purposes of organization and the election of officers, the presidency especially being vacant through the removal of Dr. Bell from the riding. The following officers were elected:—

Hon. Presidents.—Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. Richard Hall.

President.—Mr. Peter Hamilton.

Vice-Presidents.—Messrs. A. J. Gough and Geo. E. Elliott.

Secretary.—Mr. G. M. Roger.

Treasurer.—Dr. Moher.

A number of resolutions were passed, all with a dressing of oratory. One moved by Mr. D. O'Connell and seconded by Mr. Wm. Graham, expressed devotion to the Queen, endorsed the closest connection with Great Britain and Ireland and rejoiced in the aid that Canada has been able to give the Empire in the South African war and in Britain's appreciation of the same.

A resolution moved by Mr. A. J. Gough, seconded by Mr. G. E. Elliott, expressed confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government. The resolution also pledged the association to use every legitimate endeavor to secure at the forthcoming general election the return of a representative of this riding who will support the Laurier Government.

Mr. E. B. Stone moved, seconded by Mr. Wm. Eyres, a resolution placing on record the regret of the association at the departure of its late president, Dr. Bell, from Peterborough, and wishing him success.

Messrs. F. D. Kerr and Dr. Moher were sponsors of a resolution expressing satisfaction with Hon. G. W. Ross as premier of Ontario and congratulating Mr. Stratton on his appointment as Provincial Secretary.

Hon. Mr. Stratton returned thanks for the reference to himself and referred to the "strength" of the Ontario cabinet and its ability to carry out a big policy—the development of New Ontario.

The matter of the selection of an executive committee was deferred to future meeting. This committee will consist of the officers of the Association, five representatives from the town of Peterborough and two from each of the municipalities of the riding. The meeting to select the Peterborough members of the executive committee will be held on Tuesday evening next at the office of the Secretary, Mr. G. M. Roger, Water-st.

The meeting closed with cheers.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED.

Board of the George-st. Church Regrets the Departure of Rev. and Mrs. Shorey.

At the quarterly meeting of the George-st. Board, held last evening, the following resolution was passed:—

Moved by D. W. Dumble, seconded by J. J. McBain:—

This being the last quarterly meeting in the pastorate of the Rev. S. J. Shorey, this Board desires to place on its minutes a record of their appreciation of the faithful services of their pastor during the last three years.

Mr. Shorey has been educating and edifying as a preacher, as a visitor he has looked after those of his people who most needed pastoral visitation and comfort; his bearing and intercourse with his own people and all classes of society has been manly, courteous and kindly; from all he has won respect, and his own people people part with him with great regret. Gladly would they have accepted his pastorate had he preferred to stay longer with them.

Mrs. Shorey hath done what she could in the time which her family duties gave to her, and both carry with them a large measure of the love of the people.

We thank both Mr. and Mrs. Shorey for their faithful Christian labors, their beautiful and helpful Christian lives and examples, and we commend them to the loving care of the God whose they are and whom they serve.

A TALK ON FOOLS

Mr. Geil Discusses Several Classes Before a Large Audience at St. Paul's.

There was an immense congregation at St. Paul's church last night to hear Mr. Geil. The subject of his talk was "Fools," of which he said the Bible gave one hundred and sixty instances, which he divided into nine classes. Fools were people who dealt more in reputation than charity. Did you ever study pigology? asked Mr. Geil. Well a pig cannot see upwards. A pig cannot see the stars unless you get him on his back. Many people have pig eyes. They cannot see anything high and holy unless they are on their back. You are religious when sick, but you've no use for the preacher unless you're very sick. You always want to see a preacher when you're about to die, or when there's somebody dead. Heedless people are fools, and he repeated the parable of the farmer whose crops were so large that his barns would not hold them, and who was visited by the Angel of Death, who said to him, "This night thou shalt surely die—this night thy soul is required of thee." Oh, friends it is a sad matter when God calls a man a fool. The man who saves 25 cents a day in preparing for a rainy day, is a fool unless he has first sought the love and protection of Almighty God. Thick headed people are fools. A man who says in his own heart that there is no God, is a fool. It is bad enough to say it in the head—but oh my friends, coming from the heart it is terrible. God forbid there are any thick headed fools in Peterborough. The boaster is a fool. Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. The man who says he can take a drink or leave it alone is a fool. A man who tries to be an abnormal curiosity is a fool. A German poet wished to describe how it would feel to be hung. So he got a rope and a box and tied the rope around his neck after fastening it to a beam, and kicking the box from under him and hung by the neck. Fortunately or unfortunately, I don't know which, however, after he had had sufficient experience, there chanced to come his way a man who cut him down. This man was an abnormal curiosity—a colossal fool. Then we have the wee-little bit of a fool—the cigarette fool—the smallest fool on the planet. Boys and young men, if you want to commit suicide, go and take a big dose of rough on rats—it will do it a little quicker and without half so much smell. You poor little wee fool—stop trying to commit suicide. If you have no brains go to the butcher shop and buy some. It does not pay to commit sin. If you must boast, boast of the things that are good and high, and holy, and beautiful. Self-confident people are fools. This class carries the most fools, said Mr. Geil. It takes no longer to live a godly life than an ungodly life. It costs no more to live and serve God than it does to serve the devil. The evangelist concluded by warning them not to go against the teaching of Christ in trying to please themselves. He asked all to leave the paths of fools for those of the wise.

This evening Mr. Geil talks on "Where is the Devil."

The afternoon meetings are being well attended and the addresses are of great interest.

The King's Cock Crower.

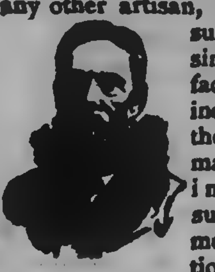
In the good old time there was an English court official known as the king's cock crower. It seems a strange office. Why did the king require a cock crower? And why could not the common barn door variety serve his majesty's purpose? The reason, as you shall see, was that the barn door variety cannot be depended upon for times and hours, and he has never been persuaded to observe Lent.

Now, this was a pious custom and a religious duty. All through Lent the king's cock crower crowed instead of calling the hours of the night in the palace. He began on Ash Wednesday, when he entered the hall in which the king's supper was served, and then crowed the hour in the presence of the royal party.

The meaning of the custom is obvious. It was only one of the many ways in which the history of the Christian religion was brought home to the minds of people before the reading of the gospel in the vernacular. The office was continued down to the year 1822.—London Queen.

THE TILLER OF THE SOIL.

When afflicted with disease, the farmer, perhaps more than any other artisan, is obliged to suffer acutely, simply from the fact that relief is inconvenient. At the same time a man might live in a block surrounded by medical practitioners, and then obtain little or no relief from rheumatism, once the disease permeates the blood. It is the discovery of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure that then proves a boon to the rheumatic sufferer. Mr. John Connell, Bedford Mills, Ont., had a bad attack of rheumatism from April till June, two years ago. He was so bad that he could not put his foot on the ground. He saw Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure advertised in the papers, bought two bottles and used them both. This so relieved him that he was able to walk around, and after using four bottles he was perfectly cured, and has not been troubled with rheumatism since.



MR. JOHN CONNELL

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

HER COMING.

A month ago the year was growing gray;
The restive swallow and the oriole
Had lured the summer southward, and the gay
Deceitful breezes bred a chill that stole
The living green from the confiding leaves,
Deluding them with fickle reds and gold,
And leaden days encamped in empty sheaves
That murmured hollow protests to the cold.
And then you came, a fair enchantress who,
With half relenting smile replaced the skies,
Reproved the dreary autumn with kind eyes,
That offered spring and tenderness and threw
A wealth of roses in my path the day
You turned a sad November into May.

THE SELF MADE MAN.

This Writer Must Have Met One That He Did Not Like.

Notwithstanding the self made man does not reflect unadulterated credit upon his maker, he is himself fully convinced that he is the perfect article.

Even if, as may sometimes be the case, he is conscious of a few imperfections, he refers them to his parents, who were responsible for the man in the rough, so to speak, before he began to mold himself into the ideal creature that you now behold and therefore not chargeable to his account.

It is a constant wonder to him that others with no worse material than he had to found himself upon should have turned out such inferior pieces of work, and it is natural, therefore, that he should contemn the droves of failures that he sees about him.

But happily for him he only observes others sufficiently to exalt his own greatness by comparison. His best hold and his strong suit is introspection. By looking within he has ever before his mental vision an object that swells his bosom with pride to look upon, and he makes the most of the show, which, being a continuous performance, keeps him ever busy and always supremely happy.

To others he may seem a sublime egotist and a conceited ass, but what is that to him? How are these underlings either to recognize or appreciate grandeur which it is impossible to conceive or to understand?

So he goes through the world worshiping his creator incased in an armor of self sufficiency which is impervious to the slings and arrows of the cynical or the contemptuous.

If he could see himself as others see him, he might discover many shortcomings and possibly some glaring defects, but he has no use for others' eyes. His own are good enough for his purpose, which is to admire his own handiwork.

He is a continual satisfaction to himself and is happy, and to others he is not without its uses. He gives them something to laugh at and something, besides, to avoid copying. In fact, who knows how much worse the world would be and how less amusing were it not for the self made man?

So, on the whole, we owe the self made man a great debt for his workmanship, and therefore let us thank him for his achievement.—Boston Transcript.

An Awkward Cigar Holder.

"Probably no one but a German would ever have invented the thing, and now that he has invented it not even a German could tell to what use it could be put."

So commented the buyer for a big department store in search of novelties. The thing commented on appeared to be an umbrella, tight rolled and looking like other umbrellas with natural wood handles except that there was no ferrule at the tip. It turned out to be a cigar holder, for a silver cap on the handle end unscrewed, and there was a place for the butt of the cigar. Through the rod of the umbrella was a tube, and the thing was smoked by pulling at what turned out to be a mouthpiece at the tip.

A more ungainly thing for the purposes of a cigar holder could hardly be devised, and it was useless as an umbrella, for that part of it was a "fake." Yet somebody in Germany manufactures them, and a Chambers street dealer has had a lot shipped to him for sale. Why any one should buy one is a mystery, and what he would do with it after the purchase is an even greater one.—New York Times.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Squirrels and Turkey Calls.

Did it ever occur to you to use a turkey call in squirrel hunting? I once had three gray squirrels up a large gum tree and had tried to slip up to them, but they saw me and hid. I went up as close to the tree as I wanted and sat down to wait for them to come out. I sat there 20 or 30 minutes, and they did not move that I could see. I was in a fairly good turkey country and so got out my turkey call and made a few calls, and in less than two minutes all three squirrels were in sight, and in a good deal less time they were all mine on the ground. I take it that they thought that if it was safe for a turkey to be calling they were in no danger. I would like to know if any one else ever had a like experience, and if I ever get in a like situation I will make experiments until I am satisfied.—Forest and Stream.

Got What He Asked For.

"So you are looking for a position," said the merchant to the youth with the high collar and noisy necktie. "What can you do?"

"Oh, any old thing," replied the young man. "Of course I don't expect the junior partnership at the start, but I want to be sure of an early rise."

"Very well," replied the merchant. "I'll make you assistant janitor. You will rise at 4 o'clock every morning and sweep the floors."—Chicago News.

Longevity of Whales.

Some light was thrown upon the subject of the vitality of whales by finding one of these animals in Bering sea in 1890 with a "toggle" harpoon head in its body bearing the mark of the American whaler Montezuma. That vessel was engaged in whaling in Bering sea about ten years, but not later than 1854. She was afterward sold to the government and was sunk in Charleston harbor during the civil war to serve as an obstruction. Hence it is estimated the whale must have carried the harpoon not less than 36 years.

In connection with this fact William H. Dall gives an account in The National Geographic Magazine of a discussion with Captain E. P. Herendeen of the United States National museum of cases of whales that have been supposed to have made their way from Greenland waters to Bering strait and to have been identified by the harpoons they carried. While it is very likely that the whale really makes the passage an uncertainty must always be allowed, for ships were often changing ownership, and their tools were sold and put on board of other vessels, and harpoon irons were sometimes given or traded to Eskimos. It therefore becomes possible that the animal was struck with a secondhand iron.—Popular Science.

His Ability.

Suitor—Pardon me, sir; I asked only for her hand.

The green 4-year-old pacer Sharkey recently worked a quarter at Pleasanton, Cal., in 31½ seconds. He is by Direct, dam by Nutwood.

I Direct, 2:13, is showing speed early in his work at Pleasanton, Cal. He was given a mile recently and after stepping the half in 1:14½ was given his head and came home the other half in 1:04½.

S. O. Cheetham, Urbana, O., has sold King of Belair, 2:24, to M. E. Ellis, Grayville, Ills. King of Belair is the youngest stallion living, with two as fast performers as Indiana, 2:06¼, and Dan T, 2:06¾.

Tom Keating's horses are going well for him at Pleasanton, Cal. He has driven Eureka, 2:15¼, a mile in 2:18, Corinne Neilson a trial in 2:22 and a 3-year-old colt by Charles Derby showed him a mile in 2:24.

Lesh Farm, Goshen, Ind., has sold to a horseman in Pennsylvania the 4-year-old brown gelding The Lover, by Ontonian, 2:07½, dam Allie K, 2:20¾. This colt has been a half in 1:07 and will be campaigned this year.

Ildrim, who was an unlucky colt last season, inasmuch as he failed to win when he was by long odds the best youngster in his class, has developed into a fine 3-year-old. Gene Leigh recently refused an offer of $10,000 for him, a big price for a maiden.

POULTRY POINTERS.

With turkeys, size and weight are to be bred for, since pounds count.

A duck fattens very readily, and this must be guarded against when laying.

While it is important to feed growing chickens liberally, care must be taken not to feed too much corn.

As a general rule it is not a good plan to feed sitting hens on the nests. They need all of the exercise they can have.

Too much stimulating food causes overproduction of eggs, and the result will be poor batches, weakly chickens and inferior fowls.

When a hen is sitting, she comes off as regularly to dust herself as she does to feed. It is one of the best ways of ridding herself of lice.

One reason why the hen that steals her nest always hatches well is that she is not too fat, and every egg has the same vitality, while in sitting a hen the eggs are usually gathered from a number of different hens.

Young and old fowls need sufficient nutritious food to keep them in a thrifty condition. The object in feeding well is to increase as rapidly as possible the size of the growing chicks and to furnish nutriment and material for the laying hens.—St. Louis Republic.

THE BEECHER FAMILY.

The Beecher family, the sons and daughters of Dr. Lyman Beecher, constitute one of the famous families in this country's history and are not surpassed by any American family save the Adamses of Massachusetts.—Syracuse Herald.

Thomas Beecher was in fine a broad minded, warm hearted, forcible, uncompromising and generous man, knit up of contradictions, which were nevertheless perfectly accordant in his very striking personality and service.—Springfield Republican.

Thomas K. Beecher not only preached, but practiced. He had several adopted children, and his life was full of good works. His influence was large and helpful in a wide circle, and it will linger long in the community his labor blessed. —Indianapolis News.

The death of the Rev. Thomas K. Beecher and of Mrs. Mary Beecher Perkins removes all but two of the 11 noted sons and daughters of the Rev. Lyman Beecher, the most famous of which were Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe.—Chicago Tribune.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Mother of pearl articles should be cleaned with whiting and cold water. Soap discolors them.

Narrow strips of ticking tied to a piece of broom handle is the best whip to beat upholstered furniture.

The old remedy for removing tar is butter. Tar is soluble in fat and especially in butter. Apply the butter to the tar spot and let it stand for some time. Both the butter and the tar may then be washed off by a sponge with soap and water.

Medicine stains demand a combination of fuller's earth and ammonia and should be removed before the article is washed. Make a paste of fuller's earth or pipe clay and the ammonia and rub it well into the stains. Let the paste dry. Before putting the article into the ordinary wash rub it out in cold water.

RAILROAD TIES.

The Santa Fe Railroad company is to use oil for fuel on all its engines in California.

Metal culverts have been used with much success on the Kongo railway, in Africa. Masonry is extremely expensive there.

Massachusetts has 116 street railway companies, controlling 1,498 miles. Last year the increase in mileage in the state was 25.

Prussia began absorbing railroads in 1876. In eight years she owned 8,000 miles. Now nearly 16,000 miles are under control of the state.

POLITICAL QUIPS.

Senatorial speeches on pending questions are rarely as deep as they are long. —Philadelphia Ledger.

The number of statesmen who get over an affection for private life just before a political convention is always remarkable.—Washington Star.

To 11 states of the Union has been confined the honor of providing the nation's rulers, while all the others await their turn.—Albany Times-Union.

FELLING FOREST GIANTS.

Methods Used In Cutting Down the Redwoods of California.

It is a most interesting sight to behold one of these giant redwoods fall. The process of cutting is effected through the use of the ax and the saw. All axes are double faced, through which much time is saved in sharpening. Sometimes the axes start the cut on both sides of the trunk and at places about opposite each other through the thickness of the tree. After the chopping has penetrated to the depth of about two feet on each side the saw is started in the line of the incision and the job completed with that instrument. Generally, however, the direction in which the tree is to fall is determined, and the cut is made in that side to the depth of one to three feet. Then the choppers pass to the opposite side and begin sawing at a point several feet higher than the place of the incision. As the saw moves through the heart of the giant he begins to sag down on the side where the wound is gaping. In doing this he lifts apart the cut and opens the section which the saw is making, thereby keeping free play for the saw. This is aided at times by driving wedges at the place where the saw entered.

Presently it is apparent that the section is opening wider and wider and that the tree is beginning to lean away from the cutters. They continue with their work a moment longer, then is heard the cracking of the wood fibers in front of the saw teeth. Another swish of the saw, and these increase. They give a report like firing pistols and the rapidity of detonation of a Gatling gun. The sounds, getting more rapid, presently merge into a continuous roar. Then if you are standing near by and the tree is large you will get the impression that everything above is coming to earth, that the whole forest is falling. The great mast starts slowly to topple, cracking and exploding ever louder at its base, until with a fearful momentum it comes sprawling down, cracking and crashing and roaring and hitting the earth with a clump and thump as if a whole broadside of 13 inch bombs had simultaneously struck a bastion.

The choppers quickly run over the trunk with their axes and cut away all the branches. Almost before you can recover yourself the long stalk is bare of limbs, and then the men begin cross cutting it into logs or sections of from 24 to 30 feet, as long as it is desired that the boards into which it is to be reduced at the mill shall be. This done, the logs are peeled of their bark, the crowbar being used to pry off the thick integument, which is sometimes a foot in depth, the log being turned with jackscrews when such is practicable to get at the under side.

A Coffee Hint.

A French housekeeper says that in her country it is an invariable rule to add a little butter and powdered sugar to coffee beans while they are roasting. A very small piece of butter is needed to the pound, a bit perhaps as large as a hazelnut, and not more than a teaspoonful of powdered sugar. This treatment is the secret of the pleasant burned sugar flavor in French coffee.

"And love restored his reason," said the sweet young thing in concluding her story.

"It is the first time," returned the old bachelor, "that I ever heard of insanity curing insanity."—Chicago Post.

The Ox Pecker.

These starlings not only rid the animals they frequent of ticks and other vermin, but they often peck at sores on oxen and donkeys until they form cavities which measure sometimes two inches or more in diameter and as much in depth. They actually do eat the flesh and drink the blood of these animals. Oxen submit quite placidly to this process of being eaten alive and seem none the worse for it afterward, but donkeys show their objections by trying to rid themselves of the birds by rolling on the ground and running under bushes.—"Birds of South Africa," by A. C. Stark.

We Are Cleaner Today.

With regard to all the refinements of habit conveyed in the words cleanliness, sanitation and facility of locomotion the small shopkeeper, the mechanic, the very peasant of today, is better off than were princes and noblemen 70 or 80 years ago. That little bathroom of poor Queen Marie Antoinette at the Trianon must have been almost as much an object of curiosity for its singularity in her day as it is now for its associations, and certain it is that in all those vast piles of buildings at Versailles, with all their gorgeous magnificence, bathrooms were an unknown quantity.

According to some authorities, Louis XIV never washed, a little cold cream applied with a cambric handkerchief serving instead. This let us hope was a calumny, but in St. Simon's minute and detailed account of the monarch's day, from the handing in of his periwig through the closed bed curtains in the morning until several dukes and marquises had handed the royal night chemise to each other, the highest in rank placing it on the royal shoulders, and his chaplain, kneeling at a priedieu at the foot of the bed, had said his night prayers for him, no mention is made of any ablutions, except that he was shaved every other day.—Cornhill Magazine.

Age Told by Teeth.

"Men's ages can be told by their teeth as accurately as horses," said a Frankford bookkeeper over his luncheon. "I have found this out by my intercourse with salesmen. They come into the office, stand at the little counter, and when the proprietor is not in they entertain me a weary while with accounts of their business skill and merited success. Having nothing to do, I watch their mouths—their mouths that cannot be stationary.

"Up to the age of 28, I have learned, a man's mouth closes and opens like a child's, and what teeth are displayed are the upper ones. At 30 the lower lip becomes loose, and the lower teeth are as much shown as the upper teeth. At 32 the tops or edges of the lower teeth are blunt, but they are still white. At 34 the upper teeth don't show at all. The lower ones' edges then are a pale brown.

"And so on, as the years go by, the lower lip droops more and more, the lower teeth become shorter, and their edges grow blunter, thicker and darker. I have often wondered why it is that the lower teeth wear down in this way, while the upper ones don't do it, and why only the upper front teeth decay."

Trouble in The Stomach

The experience of Mr. Blackwell is similar to that of many sufferers with chronic indigestion. Stomach medicines will seldom really cure indigestion. The kidneys and liver must be set right, and the bowels made regular and active.

Mr. Joseph Blackwell, Holmesville, Ont., says:—"I derived more benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills than from any other medicine I ever took, and can highly recommend them for stomach troubles. I was in a terrible state and could hardly work at my trade. I tried most every kind of medicine and doctors, until I was tired doctoring, and because I used one box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I could see that they were helping me, and after taking a box and a half found that I was cured."

Nearly every family on the continent has used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills or heard of the remarkable cures they have effected. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

His salary at the University of Michigan was $1,600.

THE HONEY MAKERS.

If honey granulates, it is safe to say that it is pure.

In hiving swarms all washes for the hives are useless.

During the warm spells in winter bees will almost invariably rear brood, especially toward spring.

When you are certain that the bees have enough stores to last them, it is best not to disturb them in any way.

Early in the spring is a good time to transfer, when the bees are getting a little honey and when there is very little honey in the combs.

If a colony becomes queenless, be sure they have unsealed brood of the proper age to raise another, and when this one is raised be sure that she becomes fertile.

When the bees are covering the doorsteps and entrances to the hive with a greenish, disagreeable looking excrement, it is a pretty good indication that they have dysentery.

Foul brood is not a disease of the bees, but of the sealed brood. The symptoms are a dwindling down of the colony because the brood fails to hatch. The capping of the sealed brood will be found to be sunken.—St. Louis Republic.

THE CYNIC.

The older people become the more excuses they are able to find.

Every man falls heir to something—usually to a bad case of kin.

Every one thinks he works for a man who is mighty unappreciative.

THE COOKBOOK.

The tomato is now definitely assigned a place as a tonic among foods. A noted physician has made extensive experiments with the juice as a medicine and says as a health preservative it is unequaled.

A fairly good substitute for whipped cream, when the genuine cannot be had, is prepared thus: Beat the white of one egg to a stiff froth, add one cup of milk (one spoonful at a time), sweeten to taste and flavor with vanilla.

Beef and pigs' livers are less strong if soaked in cold salted water ten minutes, and any liver is less hard and dry on the edges if dipped in boiling water and the skin pulled off and veins removed before cooking. Wipe dry, roll in flour and fry quickly in hot fat.

For Williams and Didn't Know It.

"John," said the wife, "who air you fer in the race fer sheriff?"

"I'm fer Tompkins fust an last."

"No, John, you ain't fer Tompkins; you're fer Williams."

"I said Tompkins," replied John.

"I know you did, John. But, all the same, you're fer Williams!"

Then he made a grab for his hat and was about to make for the door when she locked it and, standing against it, said:

"Don't let us fuss over this matter, John. Be reasonable now an own up that you're fer Williams."

He fumbled with his hat and kicked the fire.

"Molly," he said, "ef you ain't as good as a mind reader I'll give it up! Course I'm fer Williams fust an last! Durn him!"

Physicians Prescribe It

It has become quite common for physicians to prescribe Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for patients who are run down by the ravages of chronic disease. They recognize in it a restorative of inestimable worth in which are found the very elements of nature required to build up the system and form new flesh and muscle. Its revitalizing action on nerves and blood places it beyond the reach of rivals as an absolute cure for diseases of the nerves and blood. 50 cents a box.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

Showing How Completely One Habit May Supplant Another.

"Habit is a curious thing," said Mr. Joggleton, "but the completeness with which one habit can be supplanted by another seems more curious still.

"I had a chair that I had used for years and which, as I was firmly convinced, was by long odds the most comfortable chair ever made. After breakfast, when I read the paper, I used to sit in that chair, and after dinner at night I settled down into it, with a cigar, in peace and happiness and thought there never was a chair that combined so many good points as to height and pitch of seat and slope of back and all that. I had never seen a chair that suited me so well.

"But one day this chair was tipped over or something or other happened to it, I don't know what, but something so serious that it was put out of commission. With our usual conservative slowness we put off from day to day and from week to week getting that chair repaired, and, as a matter of fact, it was two or three years before we had it fixed up and brought into use again. Meanwhile I had singled out another chair which I came commonly to occupy. This didn't begin to be at first so comfortable as the old one had been, but gradually its objectionable points disappeared, and I'm blessed if it didn't begin to develop good points that I had never suspected in it, and I came at last to look upon it as a very comfortable sort of chair indeed. But at last the old chair—the good old chair—was fixed up again and brought back into use, and the day it appeared I looked forward to settling down in it at night with all the old time comfort.

"But when, with all these pleasant anticipations, I came to sit in it again I did not find the pleasure that I had expected. It was too high or too low or the seat sloped too much or something, I don't know what. It wasn't as it used to be—to me. I tried it once or twice more after that and then gave it up and went back to the new chair. My new habit had become firmly fixed. I liked the new chair better, and now as I settled down in it its good points were at once emphasized and softened and rounded into completeness, and I accepted it in full as the chair of satisfying comfort and wondered as I looked across at the other what I ever could have seen in it to make me like it so much.

Japanese Courtesy.

Dr. Seaman is an authority on Japan, and he tells this story of his last visit to that country:

"There was a little incident happened while we were in port that showed the magnanimity of these people. A United States soldier was out riding a bicycle, and he was coasting down hill, when he ran over a man. They promptly arrested him, and he was taken before a magistrate. We all went up from the transport to see how things went with him. The magistrate heard the case and fined him $5 for running over a blind man.

"'What!' said the soldier; 'was the man blind? Here, give him $20,' and he pulled out a $20 goldpiece and handed it over to the magistrate.

"And what do you think they did? They were so pleased that they remitted the whole fine, or would have done so, only the soldier would not take it back, but insisted on its being given to the blind man, and then they gave him a diploma setting forth what he had done."—New York Tribune.

She Was Saved.

From days of agony and discomfort, not by great interpositions, but by the use of the only sure-pop corn cure—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Tender, painful corns are removed by its use in a few days, without the slightest discomfort. Many substitutes in the market make it necessary that only "Putnam's" should be asked for and taken. The McIntyre Shooting.

Toronto, May 17. — Magistrate Kingsford yesterday committed for trial Arthur McIntyre, the lad who killed his father, Peter McIntyre, on Thursday last, by shooting him with a revolver. Mr. T. C. Robinette, who is defending the boy, waived examination, and asked that the lad be committed on the evidence taken at the inquest. The case was laid before the grand jury of the Criminal Assize Court in the afternoon, but their finding will not be made known until Monday next, when the court is resumed.

NEITHER GUILTY NOR INNOCENT.

Hamilton Church Court Verdict in Rev. Dr. Beavis' Case.

Hamilton, May 17. — The Church Council investigating the case of Rev. Dr. Beavis started to work again yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The mill ground on until nearly 5 o'clock, when a majority verdict, leaving the whole matter in serious doubt, was rendered.

Dr. Beavis received the announcement with agitation. He felt the deepest disappointment, he said, that the council, not having found him guilty, had been unable to declare him innocent.

The Statement Handed Out.

The following was handed out for the public:

"1. That, as a council, we desire to place on record our high appreciation of the standing and usefulness of Dr. Beavis during the term of his ministry among the Congregational churches of Canada, and we also recognize the eminently strong testimonials furnished by Dr. Beavis, covering a period of 25 years' ministry among the Presbyterian Churches of the United States.

"2. After a lengthy and thorough investigation of the charges of immorality preferred against Dr. Beavis, the council decides:

"(a) That they are not proven; but

"(b) We regard the evidence brought forward in respect to these charges to be of such a nature as to leave the council in serious doubt.

"(c) The council approves of the action taken by the church in the present difficulty."

From section B of this finding, Rev. Geo. Extense of Immanuel Church, Hamilton and Rev. J. Hindley of Guelph recorded their dissent. The trouble is said to have arisen from the fact that the Minister called frequently at the house of a lady of alleged doubtful repute, who was the mother of one of the doctor's Sunday School pupils.

Lady Georgiana Grey, daughter of the reform minister, Earl Grey, entered upon her one hundredth year not long ago, apparently in good health.

The first woman in Chicago to be granted a license to operate an automobile is Miss Juliet E. Bracken, who passed an examination before the city electrician and city engineer.

Miss Eleonora Jackson, the young violinist, was a close friend of Oliver Wendell Holmes, and among her most treasured possessions is a copy of "Over the Teacups" which he gave her.

Mrs. Steyn, the wife of the president of the Orange Free State, has been in Scotland since last summer. It is said that her husband put his private fortune into the keeping of a London bank before the war broke out.

Mrs. Emyle Hyde Grinnell of Colchester, Vt., who died the other day at the age of 103 years, was the oldest resident of the Green Mountain State. Her forefathers were prominent in the early civil and military history of that commonwealth.

Lady John Scott Spottiswoode, who died in London the other day, was the composer of "Annie Laurie" and other familiar melodies. She was 91 years of age. She was a great upholder of old manners and customs. When traveling, she rode in a carriage, always had postilions and encouraged the observance of all ancient customs.

Mrs. Hugh Reid Griffin, president of the Society of American Women in London, was presented by Mrs. Choate at the recent drawing room held at Buckingham palace. The presentation was followed by a drawing room tea at the beautiful town house of Mrs. Louis Sinclair, when Mrs. Griffin assisted Mrs. Sinclair in receiving 700 guests. Both wore their court gowns.

Breathing in rough water is made easy by a new life preserver, which has a vertical tube secured to the front of the air chamber, with a mouthpiece through which air is drawn from the top of the tube, which extends above the head.

To prevent the reins from catching under the horse's tail a new harness attachment is formed of a metal yoke secured to the back strap, with fingers extending on either side to carry the lines, a brace being set at right angles with the yoke to hold it vertical.

By the use of a Tennessee man's device horses can be checked and unchecked without leaving the carriage, a short strap being used to connect the reins over the back pad, with a second strap joining the first strap to the check rein, in order that a pull on the reins can guide the check over the hook.

THE COOKBOOK.

When making bread, do not use too much salt or the loaves will not be light.

An appetizing relish for dinner meats is made from a cabbage heart cut into dice and pickled like little onions.

Following the English fashion, crisp, tender celery stalks are often nowadays handed around with cream cheese and crackers at dinner just before the coffee is served.

If chicken that is to be creamed in the chafing dish is marinated for a couple of hours in olive oil, the flavor of the dish will be much improved. Allow two tablespoonfuls of oil to a cup of chicken. In creaming it later, use strong celery salt freely.

GENERAL HUTTON CAPTURES BOTHA

The Boer Commandant and Forty-three Others Surprised and Captured—Methuen and Broadwood Occupy Towns Without Opposition

Nothing Official yet Regarding Mafeking, Although Refugees State that the Place has been Relieved—Buller Making Progress.

SAY MAFEKING IS RELIEVED

London, May 18.—A special despatch from Lorenzo Marques, dated yesterday, says the last 500 refugees who arrived there agree in saying that Mafeking has been releived.

NO NEWS THIS MORNING

London, May 18.—The end of the war is anticipated by the Queen's birthday, May 24th. It is stated at the War Office that no news as to the relief of Mafeking had been received up to 8 o'clock this morning.

BULLER ENTERS DANHAUSSER

Danhausser, Thursday, May 17.—Gen. Buller entered Danhausser at 10 o'clock this morning. The houses in the town were found to be not much damaged, owing to the sympathies of the Boer inhabitants. A house at Hatting Spruit, however, was destroyed. A number of rebels were found at their homes and arrested. The railway is little damaged, but several large culverts have been destroyed. The Boers north of Newcastle are falling back on Amajuba. General Buller has received a message from the Queen congratulating him upon the taking of Dundee and expressing appreciation of the work of the troops, to which he has replied. The Boers left two doctors and an ambulance here.

IMPORTANT CAPTURES MADE

London, May 18.—It is officially anounced that Gen. Methune entered Hoopstad yesterday unopposed, that Generals Duprey and Daniels and 40 men have surrendered and that Gen. Broadwood occupied Lindley yesterday. It is also further announced that Hutton's mounted infantry yesterday surprised and captured Commandant Botha and 23 others, 30 miles northwest of Kroonstadt.

THE BOER DELEGATES.

Mayor and Municipality of New York Tender Them a Warm Welcome—Their Responses.

New York, May 18. — The principal event in connection with the visit to this city of the Boer delegates, Messrs. Wessels, Wolmarans and Fischer, occurred yesterday afternoon, when they were received at the City Hall by Mayor Van Wyck, and, in accordance with the resolution passed by the Municipal Assembly, officially welcomed to the city.

Delegate Fischer's Response.

Delegate Fischer, in response, said: "This is to us an occasion of pleasure and pride. We are not so conceited as to take to ourselves the honor shown us, but we wish to show that we don't represent an unworthy people. We believe that no people can understand what it is to struggle for freedom, except a people which has gained its freedom by such a struggle. This reception is an honor which we will remember. The small liberty-loving people will think the better of their big brother. We think we will come well out of the struggle. We have been told that 90 per cent. of the people of America sympathize with us. We want to convert the other 10 per cent. by simply telling the truth. We hope that a free people will not have appealed to a free people in vain."

Municipal Address.

Ald. Kennedy then read an address prepared on behalf of the Municipal Assembly, welcoming the delegates. Delegate Wessels then said: "Each member of this commission has a part to perform. The part assigned to Mr. Fischer is speechmaking. We have other duties, which we will not mention now. We have come to tell the free people of America that we mean to win, and to retain our freedom; if not to-day, to-motrow; if not to-morrow, we will keep on fighting for it for the next 100 years. We have had to fight for our liberty. We did not want to fight, but we had to. We ought to be worth some consideration to the United States, because we are one free people appealing to another free people. We don't ask you to fight for us, but we ask you to say to England: Stop, and we think if America said the word, the war would be stopped. We are doing our own fighting, but you can hardly call it a war. It is like a little boy trying to defend himself when attacked. If we are beaten, America will probably be ashamed in future years if the question should be asked: What has happened to your little sister?

Delegate Wolmarans, who spoke in Dutch, gave a history of the Transvaal trouble.

As the envoys left the City Hall, they were shaken by the hands by persons on all sides.

Fischer Spoke to the Crowd.

On making their re-appearance, Mr. Fischer, standing on the steps of the City Hall, delivered a brief address, in which he said the people of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State were struggling for their liberty and wanted the sympathy of the people of America.

The Story Denied of Course.

New York, May 18. — Mr. Fischer one of the Boer envoys, when shown the published statement in which the envoys are reported as having made indiscreet admissions on the steamship to an employe of a London newspaper, said yesterday that the story was false in every material particular.

MURRAY TRACES FENIAN PLOT

Recent Welland Canal Outrage Traceable to That Order.

Walsh and Nolin Worked Under Orders of the Napper Tandy Club of New York, a Clan-Na-Gael Society—The Inspector's Clever Work—How the Men Found Their Way to Buffalo Where Dullman Was Working.

Toronto, May 18. — Inspector John Murray of the Ontario Government detective service has been following up the careers of the three dynamiters now awaiting trial at Welland on the charge of attempting to blow up the Welland Canal on April 21 last. The details of the outrage are well known, but what was the motive? This was a puzzler to everybody. Inspector Murray has lost no time, either day or night, since he took up the case. He has just returned from New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Va., and Washington, and during his trip he has discovered the motive for attempting to destroy the canal.

Who Nolin and Walsh Are.

Just here is needed a little explanation showing who the men charged with the crime are and what has been discovered as to their movements during the past few years.

First Trip to America.

In 1894 there started from Dublin, Ireland, for New York, John Rowan, John Nolin and John Merna. When they reached New York they quartered with a man named John M. Kerr, 45 Peg Slip, New York. Nolin and Rowan were two machinists or fitters. All three were natives of Dublin. Nolin went to Philadelphia and got work at his trade at the Baldwin Locomotive Works. Rowan also got a job in another shop in Philadelphia. Merna, who had no particular trade, knocked around the country. Finally, two years afterwards, the three returned to Dublin, Ireland. Before Merna went back to Ireland he declared his intention to become an American citizen on May 17, 1894. On returning to Ireland, they worked at their trade. In 1897 Edward Kennedy, a friend of Nolin, who was then living and keeping a saloon in Washington, on 9th street, went over to Ireland on a visit.

Their second Visit.

Finally, the result of the visit was that in November last Rowan, Nolin, Merna and John Walsh came to America again. Walsh worked for one year for the Dublin Electric Tramway Company, in charge of men and horses, and got his certificate discharge from the superintendent of the company on the 12th of last October. Walsh's wife and three children are now living in Dublin at No. 16 St. Michael's Hill. These four sailed on the American Line steamer Greenland, from Liverpool, for Philadelphia, and the ship was 19 days on the trip. Then the four men went on to New York, where they again stopped with Kerr.

Joined the Clan-Na-Gael.

While at Kerr's, Nolin and Walsh joined a New York society, known as the "Napper Tandy Club," a branch of the Clan-na-Gael Society. Their hall in New York is known as Tom Moore's Hall, corner 16th street and 3rd avenue. It is strictly a secret society, and the entrance to the hall is on 86th street. They joined the society on the proposition of a man named John Hand. Then Merna, Walsh and Nolin went on to Washington. Rowan went back to Ireland. Merna got a job as bartender with Joe McErney, at 212 9th street, N. W. Washington. Nolon went to Richmond, Va., where he got a job at his trade. As Walsh was doing nothing, Nolin sent him a little money to Washington. Later Walsh got a job with Merna in McErney's saloon. On March 12 Merna committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. At the inquest it was shown that it was a straight case of suicide. Nolin came from Richmond, Va., to Washington to the funeral.

A Clan-Na-Gael Order.

About a month later Nolin got an order from the Napper Club to go to Washington from Richmond, Va., and get Walsh and proceed to Philadelphia. They were to go to the Reading depot there, where they would meet a strange man. They were to be known by other names. Nolin was to be "Smith," and Walsh was "Moore." Nolin and Walsh were to be at the depot at 7 a.m., on April 14 last. Before Walsh left McErney's saloon he was offered $12 more per month to remain, but he was bound to leave. When Nolin and Walsh appeared at the Reading depot, a man (whose name is now known to Inspector Murray), stepped up to the men and said: "I am the man you are looking for." He took Walsh and Nolin aside and gave them $100

KING QUALITY

We name them thus

Because we believe they are King of all shoes. We don't believe there is a woman's shoe sold for $3 in this whole world which is as good as our King Quality. That is a broad statement, but try the shoe and you will agree that we have reason for boasting.

It is simply perfection.

It has all that a shoe ought to have—ease, durability, style—and it costs but $3 while it looks like a $5 shoe.

Try and judge for yourself.

FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1900.

HIS HIGH MORAL SENSE.

When Sir Richard Cartwright, the great "blue ruin has been," was being banqueted at Ottawa the other night he made a most vicious attack on Sir Charles Tupper, calling him a man who had no moral sense, who was guilty of all sin but so deeply dyed that he did not know when he did wrong. Sir Charles was immoral, was a scoundrel and was of Dutch descent and some relation to Kruger. This is a mild way of putting the gross and vicious things which Sir Richard, "the discarded," made against Sir Charles Tupper. This attack was in such bad taste and was so untrue that even newspapers of Liberal leanings did not hesitate to condemn it.

But let it pass and only be recalled in order to remember that this Sir Richard who made such an attack on Canada's veteran statesman who has been identified with all the movements and policies that have built up Canada while Sir Richard has spent his years fighting these progressive movements and policies, this same Sir Richard, with such a high moral sense, in speaking of the investigations into the West Huron election frauds last session said as follows:—

"I fully subscribe to the doctrine that even if you do not choose to go to the courts, this House has not divested itself and should not divest itself of control over its own officers. Sir, the Government invite investigation. Let hon. gentlemen opposite make themselves responsible for the charges, let them state their evidence and what they can prove, and they shall have their committee, they shall have their enquiry, they shall have their investigation with full powers to bring forward their witnesses and their evidence—and we shall see what they will make of it."

And what has happened? In less than a year Sir Richard sits in the House and hears the Government attempt to justify a refusal of the investigation that Sir Richard said would be given on the ground that they cannot interfere. Sir Richard fully subscribed to the doctrine which the Government now says is false, but Sir Richard makes no protest, he allows himself to be turned for party purposes, and worse. He sits quietly and sees the promise he gave violated for the purpose of shielding the iniquitous gang that operated on ballot boxes, stole votes, etc. And yet this is the man who would make such a violent attack on one who has served his country consistently and who has never given such exhibitions of pledge breaking, promise violating and principle swallowing as has Sir Richard. The aged knight of blue ruin fame will do well not to talk of immorality or charge others with being unmoral when he condones such acts as the covering up of election crookedness in such bare-faced manner.

The Globe's correspondent with the Canadian Mounted Rifles in one of his recent letters gives a good hint at the feeling that exists among the Canadians who are serving in South Africa regarding the parsimony or worse in the Dominion Government that prevented the soldiers from Canada being used as other Colonials have been. Mr. Tarte and Mr. Bourassa and the other influential Laurier followers who opposed the contingents and talked of precedents not being established, etc., had their way, but it will not please the loyal Canadians who appreciate what the boys have done in South Africa any more than it pleases the boys themselves. Mr. Ewan, the Globe correspondent, writes:—"There is a good deal of feeling because, while the Canadians have nothing but the Imperial pay, about 30 cents a day, other colonial troops have extra pay from their local Governments. The Cape Colony troops, for example, have altogether 5s 6d per day, and the New Zealanders and West Australians like same, the only condition being that 2s 6d per day is held back, to be paid only to those men who return to their respective colonies. Most of our men believe, however, that in the end the Canadian Government will not see th[illegible] remunerated than their coloni[illegible] subjects."

in cash and two tickets over the Lehigh Valley Railroad to Buffalo. They were also given two sleeping car tickets. They were told to go to the Stafford House in Buffalo, and that another man would meet them there.

Dullman Appears.

They arrived in Buffalo on Monday morning, April 15, and went to the Stafford House. They got room No. 88, and it being late, they ordered liquor up to the room. Before the liquor came up a man came to the door and introduced himself. He said his name was Dullman, and he guessed they were two men he was looking for. They all had drinks. Finally Dullman took Walsh and Nolin out for a walk. While they were out he told them who he was. He told them they would make an early start the next day. About 9 o'clock the next day Dullman paid his bill. Nolin and Walsh paid theirs. Later Dullman took the two upstairs and picked up in his room two canvas grips, which contained dynamite. The explosive was in the shape of a large cake, about the consistency of a stiff dough, and on top of it was coiled waterproof fuse, to which was attached a detonator, but the detonator or cap had not been attached to the dynamite. The three men took the trolley cars for Niagara Falls, N.Y. Walsh and Nolin went to the Hotel Imperiali and Dullman to the Roslie House, an the Canadian side. The movements of the three men after this are now well known, but Detective Murray is convinced that the dastardly act was the work of the Clan-na-Gael.

A GOOD COMPLEXION

Depends on Good Digestion.

This is almost an axiom although usually we are apt to think that cosmetics, face powders, lotions, fancy soaps, etc., are the secrets for securing a clear complexion. But all these are simply superficial assistants.

It is impossible to have a good complexion unless the digestive organs perform their work properly, unless the stomach by properly digesting the food taken into it furnishes an abundance of pure blood, a good complexion is impossible.

This is the reason so many ladies are using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they promptly cure any stomach trouble and they have found out that perfect digestion means a perfect complexion and one that does not require cosmetics and powders to enhance its beauty.

Many ladies diet themselves or deny themselves many articles of food solely in order to keep their complexion clear. When Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets are used no such dieting is necessary, take these tablets and eat all the good wholesome food you want and you need have no fear of indigestion nor the sallow, dull complexion which nine women out of ten have, solely because they are suffering from such form of indigestion.

Bear in mind that beauty proceeds from good health, good health results from perfect digestion and we have advanced the best argument to induce every man and woman to give this splendid remedy a trial.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found in drug stores and costs but 50 cents per package.

If there is any derangement of the stomach or bowels they will remove it and the resultant [illegible] are good digestion, good health, and a clear, bright complexion.

THE HOUSE SPENT ALL DAY

In Showing Up West Huron and Brockville Election Frauds.

Mr. Richardson, a Liberal, Speaks Out Plainly About the Terrible Condition of Election Affairs To-day—Mr. N. F. Davin Goes Further Into Details and Reads An Affidavit Which Speaks of Preston—Other Speakers.

Ottawa, May 18. — Two bills were introduced yesterday afternoon. They were to amend the Expropriation Act and to amend the acts relating to interest, They provide that the standard rate of interest be 5 per cent. instead of 6 per cent.

A Kick From I. C. R. Workmen.

Before the orders of the day Mr. Gauvreau, Temiscouata, speaking in French, drew attention to certain grievances of workmen in the I.C.R. shops at River Du Loup and Fraserville. At present the work was increased 25 per cent., because of the acquisition of the Drummond County Railway, yet the wages of the workmen remained the same. Skilled labor was paid from $1.25 to $1.45 a day, while similar labor brought from $1.50 to $2.25 a day in the G. T.R. and C.P.R. shops. He called upon the Government to appoint a commission of competent mechanics to look into the matter.

Mr. Blair promised to look into the matter.

These Election Frauds.

The discussion on the West Huron and Brockville elections was continued by Mr. McClure (Truro, N.S.), who said not one particle of evidence had been adduced to connect any returning officer or deputy returning officer with the alleged corruption. Pritchett, he said, was a liar and a blackguard, and his affidavit, unsupported, needed no denial. Mr. McClure read telegrams from W. L. Horten, W. H. Gundry and D. B. Grant of Goderich, denying Pritchett's statements.

Davin After McClure.

Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin was the next speaker. He reviewed last year's evidence, and charged that certain Ministers of the Crown were in touch with Smith, Vance, Preston, et al. when their nefarious work was done. He gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier credit for not knowing the state of affairs last year till after the committee met, but then his eyes were opened by his colleagues, who showed him how he had got into power. Then was presented the lamentable spectacle of the First Minister of the Crown swallowing himself. Mr. Davin then read another Pritchett affidavit, detailing his work in South Ontario, in which occurred this paragraph: W. T. R. "Preston said: 'I will be ready for you in a minute.' Brant and I went into a room near by. In a few minutes Preston came into that room and handed me $50 in $2 bills. He said nothing and went out again." Reviewing the facts, Mr. Davin declared the Government could not get over the circumstantiality of the sworn statements, and he warned the Government that it was taking a stand that would never meet with the approval of Canadians.

Mr. D. C. Fraser (Guysboro, N.S.), followed. He said he was remanded by the speech just heard of Dante, who used to be pointed out in the streets of Florence as "here walks the man who walked through hell." The presentation of Pritchett's affidavit made him feel that Mr. Davin must surely have been through all the corruption he so glibly described. Davin was an M.P. by reason of flagrant corruption. He represented perjured voters.

Six o'clock recess was taken.

After recess Mr. Fraser said that the Conservatives with taking good care that Pritchett's affidavits were made in Detroit. He said that if Pritchett made such an affidavit in Canada, he would bring him into a court of justice.

Hon. N. Clarke Wallace said that Pritchett was one of the Government's trusted agents in the past. Pritchett was under Government pay last year and could not be brought before the committee. But Pritchett was in the country now, and had made charges on oath. Why did not Mr. Fraser and his friends lock him up? Why not continue the enquiry? This case was the most widespread conspiracy to rob the people of their rights. Brockville had been stolen for the Liberals. Who composed the machine? W. T. R. Preston, a former organizer of the Liberal party, was one of them. Alex. Smith, who was even now in the confidence of the Government, though judges had strongly condemned his action. Mr. Wallace amused the House with a classification of the members of the gang. There were first the manipulators of ballots, the Cap. Sullivans, the Pritchetts, et al. Then came Preston and Smith, the recognized and paid organizers of the party. Then came the other class to supply the money to put the gang into machine order. Who were they? The Ministers of the Crown. Here was the incontrovertible chain of responsibility, fastening the blame upon the Ministers of the Government.

Mr. [illegible] Richardson (Lisgar) said he [illegible] regard the question as one of [illegible]. The question was, [illegible] enquiry? The charges [illegible] circumstantial, [illegible] absolutely undesirable to [illegible] investigation. It was inconsistent for Liberals to say there should be no investigation, for the stand taken by Sir Wilfrid last year that the ballot box should be protected was a precedent. He declared he was a Liberal and as a Liberal would support an inquiry. Referring to the evidence brought out in committee, he said he was firmly convinced that gross iniquity had been prevalent in West Huron. As to the trial of the gang, he believed the time had come when Parliament should wipe it out altogether. The charges made shocked the country. The public demanded an immediate investigation. Prompt action on the part of the Government would please him as a Liberal.

The production of the new affidavits gave the Government a chance to crawl out of an awkward position. If the Government would grant a commission at once to be composed of three Queen's bench judges to try these cases, giving the Liberals power to choose the counsel for defence, and the Conservatives the counsel for the plaintiffs, then he would vote against the resolution. The Parliament of Canada should strike with deadly intent at corruption. Unless the Government announced its intention of granting the inquiry, Mr. Richardson had suggested, he would vote for the resolution.

Mr. M. K. Cowan of South Essex said he was strongly opposed to all corruption in elections and contended the present charges should be referred to the courts, where a thorough investigation could be had. The Elections Committee could not, by its finding, affect the seats in question, or punish the wrong doers.

Mr. Craig followed, and at 2.45 a.m. the talk was continuing as if it was expected the House would sit till after daybreak.

This Man a Terror.

Copenhagen, May 18. — A telegram from Koping, Sweden, reports that as the steamer Koping Wednesday night was passing the Prinz Carl, a man sprang up on the deck of the latter vessel and shouted: "If any one comes near I will shoot." At the same moment a woman was seen hanging over the ship's side, shrieking for help.

The man escaped in a boat. When the Prinz Carl was boarded it was found that 12 men on board had been shot, seven of whom, including the captain, were dead. The rest were found locked in their quarters, One of the wounded has since died. A man named Norduland, who was caught 57 miles west of this city, has confessed to the crimes.

Battle Raged 70 Hours.

Colon, Colombia, via Galveston, May 18. — News has been received here of a victory by the Government troops over the insurgents, in a battle in the Vetas district, which began May 11 and lasted 70 hours. Gens. Leal and Herrera were among the killed, who are said to have been enormous, the slaughter being described as "horrible butchery." Twelve hundred insurgents were taken prisoners.

Murdered in Montana.

London, Ont., May 18. — News has been received here of the murder in Montana of Mr. Alexander Tate, a former resident of this city, and the wounding of his wife, formerly Miss Brooks, also of this city. Mr. Alexander Tate, father of the murdered man, lives in South London. Four brothers and one sister of Mrs. Tate, reside in this city, also Mrs. Brooks, her mother.

A GREAT TRUTH.

All organized living things, whether belonging to the animal or vegetable kingdom contain within themselves the germs of death and decay.

Germs of disease are often generated within the human system through imperfect digestion of food, producing various poisons which scientists have denominated ptomaines. A stomach weakened by abuse, gorged with over eating or over burdened with hot bread, too rich or greasy foods or those too highly seasoned, becomes weakened and fails to thoroughly digest the food. A heavy, sodden mass is accumulated in the stomach to ferment as the first step in its decay, giving off foul gasses to distend the stomach, and poison the blood, until it becomes thin, weak and lacking in the red corpuscles so necessary to perfect health.

The over distended stomach presses upon the heart, and the latter organ is also disturbed through sympathy, the same system of nerves being distributed to both organs. Thus palpitation and irregular action of the heart with its attendant shortness of breath, result, and in time, disease of the heart itself is established.

The gases and other poisons generated from undigested, fermenting and decaying food in the stomach becloud the brain, causing headaches, and pain in the eyes.

Being absorbed into the blood these poisons reach every part and organ of the system. The kidneys are thereby poisoned, causing Bright's disease and diabetes. Filtering through the skin, troublesome skin diseases often show themselves.

Every organ and every nerve, depending as they do for their nourishment and renewal upon the stomach, weak digestion shows itself not alone in loss of appetite and flesh, but also in nervousness, debility, bad complexion and many other derangements.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery tones and regulates the stomach; stimulates the digestive juices; invigorates the torpid liver; promotes intestinal strength; cleans bilious poisons and diseased germs out of the circulation; gives the blood-making glands fresh assimilative power, and furnishes Nature with the fresh, abundant nutrition out of which she manufactures firm flesh, strong muscles, clear skin, healthy lung tissue and nerve-fiber, and gives sound, unfailing, active energy to the whole system.

THE DRESSY WOMAN.

There has been an unprecedented demand this season for novel and fashionable black dress fabrics.

Khaki fabrics are among the popular materials for spring wear, and it will be found necessary in every instance to relieve this ugly sand color with white or colored silk or satin.

Many of the modish spring Etons and other jackets have narrow, medium length stole ends in front, with short, double revers on each side, reaching in length a little below the bust.

Some of the smartest street gowns for spring wear are formed of handsome, smooth finished costume cloth of light weight, with the still fashionable decoration of stitched straps of the same material.

In keeping with the revived fashion of plaiting dress materials, the Norfolk jacket will reappear en suite, with kilted costumes of tweed, cheviot, frieze, zibeline, camel's hair, serge and other utility fabrics.

One of the great French authorities has said that, while many other effects will vie with it, the overskirt will take its place as a factor among other spring styles particularly suited to tall, slender women.

Among new French costumes are those of black satin faced cloth, with a finish of rows of white silk stitching on skirt edge and bolero or jacket, the costume finished either with a boa of black and white ostrich tips or one of black and white chiffon and fringe.

On models for summer gowns appear skirts alternately tucked and frilled in horizontal rows, with perpendicular side plaitings in clusters of five alternating with one rather wide box plait, with a mixture of fancy kilt and fan plaitings, the fabric first scalloped at the lower edge or bordered with braid or ribbon.—New York Post.

GLEANINGS.

A common sight in Cape Colony is a herd of ostriches accompanying a railway train as it speeds on its way.

A New Yorker who was in Kimberley recently was cured of homesickness by a familiar sight, nothing else than an old Broadway horse car, still bearing the legend, "Battery to Central Park."

A young man who was struck by lightning in Berlin a few weeks ago remained unconscious a long time, but shouted in his delirium that he was in hell and begged to have the devil taken away.

Thomas H. Gilbert, Jr., of Orono, Me., lately cut in Onawa a pine tree that contained 3,200 feet and is claimed to be the largest pine or tree of any kind ever cut for lumber on record in the New England states.

A new method of preserving telegraph poles is to surround the portion in the ground with an earthenware pipe like a drainpipe. Into the space between the pole and the pipe is poured a mixture of sand and resin.

There are two well known families in Devonshire, England, the Carews and the Careys, and it is said that the members of the Carew family pronounce the name "Carey," while the Careys call themselves "Carew."

UNCONSCIOUSNESS.

The Causes That Induce This Condition and Its Various Phases.

It is often difficult when a person is found unconscious to determine the cause of the condition. Yet this determination is of the greatest importance, since upon it must depend the treatment and perhaps the life of the sufferer.

Of course this is a task for the physician, and it is often one that taxes his acumen to the utmost. But there are certain signs which every one may learn to know and so be prepared to prevent maltreatment before the physician arrives.

The chief causes of a sudden loss of consciousness are apoplexy, Bright's disease, diabetes, drunkenness, opium poisoning, injury to the head, epilepsy and fainting.

A person found unconscious should be placed on his back, the clothes, especially those about the neck, should be loosened, and he should have plenty of air, curious spectators being kept at a distance.

If the breath smells of alcohol, the first thought is that the man is drunk, but it is most unsafe to assume this to be the case without corroborative evidence. The man may have taken a drink just before the accident befell him, or he may have been slightly drunk, and in that condition he may have had a stroke of apoplexy or have fallen or been struck a blow on the head, or some bystander may have poured whisky down his throat with the mistaken idea of helping him.

The head should first be examined to see if the skull is broken, if there is a wound of the scalp or if blood is coming from one of the ears, which is a sign of a fracture of the base of the skull.

Note should be taken of the breathing. If it is very slow, six or eight times or less a minute, the probability is that the case is one of opium poisoning. If the respiration is rather slow and snoring, with blowing out of the lips and of one cheek, apoplexy or concussion of the brain may be suspected.

In unconsciousness resulting from Bright's disease the breathing is usually more rapid and not noisy, and in that resulting from diabetes the inspiration is slow and prolonged, while expiration is short and quick.

A drunken man can usually be aroused temporarily if spoken to in a loud voice or pricked with a pin, and the same is true of one suffering from Bright's disease, but in apoplexy and opium poisoning the unconsciousness is usually complete.

Unconsciousness may be hysterical in its nature and may simulate any of the types mentioned above. A dash of cold water in the face will often restore consciousness with great rapidity in such a case.—Youth's Companion.

ALL ENGLAND AWAITS NEWS

Of the Relief of Mafeking With Intense Interest.

One Thing Seems Clear That the Beleagured Town Still Holds Out—Boers Get Into a Trap—Baden-Powell's Strategy Again to the Fore—Boer Stormers Killed—Kruger's Grandson and Others Captured—The Situation.

London, May 18. — (3.30 a.m.)—England still waits with intense and almost breathless interest for news of the relief of Mafeking. A crowd remarkable for the number of men in evening dress and including many ladies, lingered around the War Office even after midnight, hoping for some announcemnt. Only reluctantly did the people disperse when the lobbies of the War Office were finally cleared with the word that nothing had been received. One thing seems clear. The town still holds out. Were it otherwise the Boer wires laid to the camps of the beleaguers would have flashed the news.

Canadians at Bulawayo.

The Canadian artillery contingent of the Rhodesian force is now reported to have reached Bulawayo, May 2. The distance from Bulawayo to Mafeking is 490 miles. As the railway is open all the way to Pitsani, 28 miles from Mafeking, where Col. Plumer is, the Canadians may yet take part in the relief.

To Annex the Free State.

President Steyn, according to one despatch, has gone to Pretoria. Another says he is a fugitive at Lindley. The Free Staters are surrendering on all sides. A despatch from Cape Town says that proclamations are being printed there, to be published on the Queen's Birthday, May 24, annexing the Free State. One of President Steyn's brothers, who is a prisoner of Gen. Brabant, says the Free Staters will accept annexation. Those who took up arms the second time, he explains, had to do so under threats of instant death if they refused. Five hundred rifles have been surrendered at Kroonstad, in excess of the number of Boers who have taken the oath of allegiance.

Rundle in Luck.

Gen. Rundle has captured 70,000 bags of corn. He is marching slowly through a district which is described "literally teeming with cattle, sheep and horses."

First Stand Near Johannesburg.

The Standard says: "From pro-Boer sources we learn that the first great stand by the Federals will be on the ridges near Johannesburg. This position has been strongly entrenched, and the burghers believe they can hold it for some time. If driven from that position, part of the force will be thrown into Pretoria, to withstand a siege, while the main body will retreat to the Lydenburg district, with the intention of keeping up a guerilla warfare from that mountainous region. They believe they can indefinitely postpone a pacification of the country."

Kruger About to Skip Out.

A despatch to The Times from Lorenzo Marquez, says:

"There is general talk in Pretoria of President Kruger contemplating an immediate departure from the capital. There seems no longer any doubt of the intention of the Transvaal to transfer the seat of Government to Lydenburg district, and to make a final stand there. The Raad is reported to have endorsed the proposal."

The Times also says that a number of the Transvaal officials are preparing for flight and that State Secretary Reitz has selected South America as his future home.

Kitchener for Mafeking.

It is unofficially believed that Lord Kitchener is in command of the Mafeking relief column and that news of the relief of the town cannot be received till Monday.

BADEN-POWELL'S SUCCESS.

British Killed 17 Burghers, Captured Eloff and 90 Other Prisoners at Mafeking.

London, May 18. — A despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, dated yesterday, says that Commandant Eloff (grandson of President Kruger), with a patrol, entered Mafeking. Colonel Baden-Powell opened fire on the burghers, killing 17 of them and taking Eloff and 90 of his men prisoners.

More Fighting at Mafeking.

Pretoria, Tuesday, May 15. — An official bulletin announces that the Federal troops stormed and occupied the forts around Mafeking on Saturday morning. The same night the Federals were surrounded, losing, so far as known, seven killed, 17 wounded, and a number taken prisoners. The British casualties are said to have been 50 killed and wounded. It is reported that the advance guard of the force proceeding to the relief of Mafeking from the south was repulsed yesterday.

Has Mafeking Been Relieved?

London, May 18. — In the committee room of the House of Commons yesterday morning, Sir James Kitson (Lib.) announced that Mafeking had been relieved.

The War Office, however, was unable to confirm the announcement.

BRITISH IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Gen. Roberts Reports That Gen. Hunter Has Occupied Christiana.

London, May 18. — The War Office has received from Lord Roberts the following despatch, dated Kroonstad, Wednesday, May 16:

"Rundle yesterday occupied Mequatling's Nek and Modder Poort, without opposition. Hunter has entered the Transvaal, and has advanced within 10 miles of Christiana. Methuen has reached a point 12 miles on the Hoppstad road, without seeing the enemy. Natives and local whites have confirmed the previous reports of the disorganization of the Free Staters. The situation here is unchanged."

A Second Message.

The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Kroonstad, May 17.—Hunter has occupied Christiana, without opposition, the enemy having retired to Klerksdorp, under the impression that the latter was threatened by a portion of this force from Parys. Rundle's force was close to Clocolan (southwest of Ficksburg) yesterday evening. The country was clear of the enemy. The resident commander in Basutoland reports that a number of Boers, living in the Ficksburg and Bethlehem districts, have applied to him for advice, and as to the conditions of surrender. This is very satisfactory."

BULLETIN FROM GEN. BULLER.

Says Second Division Is at Dannhauser—His Advance Patrols.

London, May 18. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller:

"Dannhauser, May 17. — The second division has reached Dannhauser, and I hope that my advance patrols are at Newcastle. The fifth division is echeloned from Elandslaagte to Glencoe, repairing the railroad. The fourth division is at Sunday River Drift, on the old Newcastle road. Several Natal farmers are handing over their arms. All reports agree that about 7,000 of the enemy passed north, very hurriedly, May 14 and 15."

Boers Abandon Newcastle.

Volks Rust, South African Republic, Wednesday, May 16. — The Federals have abandoned the Biggarsberg, and it is believed they also abandoned Newcastle this morning, though their mounted men are still on the other side of the border, keeping the British at bay.

British Have Maquatling's Nek.

Thabanchu, Tuesday, May 15. — The British force advanced this morning 20 miles to the northeast, and took possession of Maquatling's Nek. Prisoners continue to be taken daily.

Pte. Wallace Out of Danger.

Ottawa, May 18. — Hon. N. Clarke Wallace has received a letter from His Excellency the Governor-General stating that he had yesterday received a cable from Sir Alfred Milner, reporting that Colonel Ryerson telegraphs: "Wallace out of danger and convalescent at Wynberg."

Five Deserters Captured.

Brockville, Ont., May 18. — The police here were notified that 5 men had deserted from A Battery, Kingston. The five deserters were captured at the railway station here yesterday morning. They had secreted themselves in a box car and were heading for Ogdensburg. They gave their names as J. Coony, Toronto; [illegible] McCloy, Toronto; T. Mitchener, Belleville; D. Wendell, Brantford; W. [illegible]tor, Brantford. A guard from the battery escorted the five back to Kingston.

NEWS NOTES.

James J. Corbett, the pugilist, says that he seriously intends to run for the U. S. Congress in the 12th district. He is a Democrat.

The 7-year-old son of P. Sehl was drowned in the river at New Hamburg on Wednesday. The lad, with some companions, was fishing, and fell into the water.

F. Wolferstan Thomas, general manager of the Molsons Bank, and one of the best known of Canadian bankers, died at Montreal at 1 o'clock this (Friday) morning.

There has been a serious anti-Christian outbreak near Peo-Ting-Fu, Province of Pe-Chi-Li, China. Seventy-three native Christians were murdered, including women and children. Many were burned alive. The Catholic missionaries report that the persecution is the most serious known for years.

MONEY FROM KIMBERLEY.

Five Hundred Pounds Sent for the Ottawa Relief Fund.

Kimberley, May 17.—Dr. Jameson, the leader of the Jameson raid, has been chosen a director of the De Beers Mining Company. The company voted £500 as a subscription to the fund for the relief of the Ottawa fire.

LOCAL LEGAL

Appeal in the Case of Fitzgerald vs Fitzgerald Dismissed With Cost.

Divisional Court.—Before Meredith, C. J., Rose, J., MacMahon, J.—Fitzgerald vs. Fitzgerald.—Watson, Q.C., and W. H. Moore (Peterborough), for plaintiff, appealed from judgment of Falconbridge, J., in action for construction of an agreement and an indenture made between the plaintiff and Tobias Fitzgerald, her late husband, deceased, during the lifetime of the latter. The plaintiff alleges that the proper construction is that upon the death of her husband she became entitled to possession in specie as it then was of his estate, without regard to and without payment of his debts and liabilities, and that she is the absolute owner of one-half, free of such debts, and entitled to the present enjoyment of the other half for her natural life. The trial Judge found in favor of defendant's contention, viz., that the defendant John A. E. Fitzgerald, executor under the will of deceased, was entitled to the possession in specie of the assets and to administer and pay the debts of deceased, and that only after such payment did plaintiff become entitled to one-half absolutely, and the other half for her life. Riddell, Q.C., and W. A. F. Campbell (Norwood), for defendants, except executor, and R. R. Hall (Peterborough), for defendant executor, contra. Appeal dismissed with costs.

CORP. JOE MATTHEWS WRITES INTERESTINGLY

A Well Told Story of the Canadian Regiment's Experiences in and About Bloemfontein.

Mr. Herb. Knowlson, of Lindsay, has received this interesting letter from Corp. Joe Matthews with the R.C.R., in Africa:—

Bloemfontein, March 30, 1900.

My Dear Herb.—Well here we are settled down in Bloemfontein, and already getting tired of inaction again. When we first got here everyone made a rush for grub, principally bread, and as high as 2s. a loaf was paid for it. Every thing else was high in proportion, but we were nearly starved and bought everything regardless of cost. Now that the army has begun the movement northward I hope prices will come down somewhat. We have to buy a good deal of stuff as army rations are really not sufficient to satisfy a fellow. On the march we got half rations of groceries and three-quarters of biscuits so it was a good job for us we were marching through an emeny's country. Whenever we stopped near a farm we always managed to get something in the way of vegetables or corn, but of course had to be careful that none of the British officers caught us. Whenever we could we let a sheep "wander into our lines" and prepared a warm reception for it. Were it not for these little "extras" I think more men would have fallen out; as it was I was only skin and bone when I got here. Unfortunately Lord Roberts has a most exaggerated notion of "looting" and one fellow got fifty-six days for stealing a small chicken and the regiment was promised that the next man caught would be hanged.

We usually started about five or six in the morning on a day's march, getting up two hours before. A day's march of about fifteen miles would be ended about two or three p.m. It depended altogether on the rests we had. As the marches there was always a general rush for water as soon as arms were piled and packs thrown off. We carried rifle, belt and side-arm, bandolier and haversack and one hundred rounds of ammunition. The overcoats were carried on transport wagons but on two or three occasions the mules played out and we had to carry the coats ourselves. The worst trouble we had was with the transport column. The mules dropped out by the dozen and it was always a matter of hours before they would catch up after we stopped. That always made our dinner very late and often we got none at all. The actual fighting that our regiment has had was just between 18th and 27th Feb., at Paardeberg, and one day at Willow Grove.

I suppose you know more about the battle now than I do as, of course, I could only see what was going on in my immediate neighborhood. The sensation of being under fire is not as wonderful as I had always been led to expect. In fact there was no "sensation" except that we all dodged bullets when they were hundreds of yards past us and thought it a smart trick. As soon as I saw a few chaps knocked over my only "sensation" was a desire to keep my head as close to mother earth as possible till I reached the firing line. When we reached the firing line there was nothing to see except a thick grove of trees along the river bank. Not a single Boer visible, but the bullets came all the same and we replied sending ours among the trees. A few days later the engineers while dragging the river-bed found nearly one hundred dead Boers, so all our bullets weren't shot in vain. After the first day's fighting we surrounded the main laager to which the Boers retired on the night of the 19th and we had a hard time of it too.

THE WORST DAY

I put in was the 20th, when we made a reconnaissance towards the Boer positions. We had been on outpost the night previous and were told to advance in extended order at six in the morning. We had no breakfast and our water bottles were almost empty. We advanced along with the Gordons to within about eight hundred yards of their trenches, then halted and lay down. The artillery in the meantime kept stirring them up. We lay there till about twelve o'clock when both sides ceased firing. Our company then fell back and had dinner, the cook's wagon having come up in the meantime. We were terribly thirsty so two chaps caught a couple of Boer ponies and slinging the bottles across their backs started off to the river. They had a ride of about four miles to the river on account of having to go around outside the Boer range. While they were away the enemy opened on us with their infernal pom-pom, the Vickers-Maxim one pounder, and for an hour made things exceedingly lively for us. The quartermasters' and cooks' wagons and the ammunition cart were by some blunder in easy range. We all lay down and watched the shells as they burst now in front, now in rear, but they never got our exact range so no one was hit. But they were very close. About five our artillery opened and I never heard sweet-

ARMY SUNDAY SCHOOL

Children of the Salvation Army Sunday School Awarded Prizes.

Last evening about forty of the children of the Salvation Army Sunday School were presented with prizes for attendance and merit in the work. A large number of the friends and relatives were present. The prizes were distributed by the superintendent, Mr. R. C. Braund. Afterwards Mr. Braund was presented with a handsome chair and nicely worded address.

THE EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Rev. Mr. Geil Preached to Many Hearers at St. Paul's Last Evening.

Last night's service at St. Paul's Paul's church drew a large congregation and Rev. Mr. Geil's address was one of the most impressive that he has yet delivered in town. He began his address with a reference to the devil, who, he said, is certainly not confined to hell any more than great criminals are put to rule over gaols. He is the prince of the air.

The main address was on the text "And the Lord said: My spirit shall not always strive with Man." Genesis vi, 3. The address was a very strong one, teeming with illustrations from life. Rev Mr Geil pointed out particularly the many subterfuges to which people will resort in order to avoid meeting God's spirit.

The subject announced for to-night is "Prepare to meet thy God."

DEANERY OF DURHAM

An Interesting Meeting Held at Omemee.

The Deanery of Durham has just concluded its regular session at Omemee. Rural Dean Marsh, of Lindsay, presided, and there were present Ven Archdeacon Allen and Rev W C Allen, of Millbrook; Canon Farncombe, of Newcastle; Rev W Farncombe, of Fenelon Falls; Rev W Creighton, secretary, Bobcaygeon; Rev E A Langfeldt, of Omemee; Rev H Symonds, of Northumberland Deanery, and Rev Ishid Ullah, a native of the Punjab, India, and a clergyman of the Anglican church.

Papers were read and discussed by Rev Canon Farncombe on "Family Religion," and by Rev H Symonds on "Current Church Topics."

In the evening divine service was held in the village church, a large congregation being present. Ven Archdeacon Allen and Rev H Symonds gave addresses, but the feature of the occasion was the address by Rev Mr Ullah, who described his early training as a Mohammedan and his conversion through the instrumentality of Rev Roland Bateman, who, it will be remembered, preached in St Luke's church last year.

The meeting was highly successful and the hospitality of Rev Mr and Mrs Langfeldt was much appreciated.

The King's Cock Crower.

In the good old time there was an English court official known as the king's cock crower. It seems a strange office. Why did the king require a cock crower? And why could not the common barn door variety serve his majesty's purpose? The reason, as you shall see, was that the barn door variety cannot be depended upon for times and hours, and he has never been persuaded to observe Lent.

Now, this was a pious custom and a religious duty. All through Lent the king's cock crower crowed instead of calling the hours of the night in the palace. He began on Ash Wednesday, when he entered the hall in which the king's supper was served, and then crowed the hour in the presence of the royal party.

The meaning of the custom is obvious. It was only one of the many ways in which the history of the Christian religion was brought home to the minds of people before the reading of the gospel in the vernacular. The office was continued down to the year 1822.—London Queen.

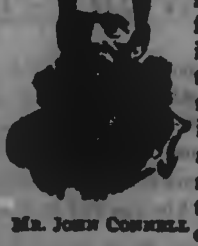
THE TILLER OF THE SOIL.
When afflicted with disease, the farmer, perhaps more than any other artisan, is obliged to suffer acutely, simply from the fact that relief is inconvenient. At the same time a man might live in a block surrounded by medical practitioners, and then obtain little or no relief from rheumatism, once the disease permeates the blood. It is the discovery of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure that then proves a boon to the rheumatic sufferer. Mr. John Connell, Bedford Mills, Ont., had a bad attack of rheumatism from April till June, two years ago. He was so bad that he could not put his foot on the ground. He saw Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure advertised in the papers, bought two bottles and used them both. This so relieved him that he was able to walk around, and after using four bottles he was perfectly cured, and has not been troubled with rheumatism since.


MR. JOHN CONNELL

THE DEACON'S MISTAKE.

His Stolen Maul Staid in the Water With the "Old" Man.

The Annapolis valley, or the famous "Land of Evangeline," gives more opportunity for the study of human nature, perhaps, than any other locality along the entire Atlantic seaboard. The scenery of this region is beautiful beyond description, and tourists soon become well enough acquainted with its people "to go altogether to the kirk and altogether pray."

One Sunday the parson in a village church delivered with special emphasis an able sermon on putting off the "old man" and getting on the "new." This signal feat, he stated, was accomplished by simply going down into the waters of baptism and burying the "old man" and coming out of the waters a new creature.

After the service a wealthy deacon inquired of a certain wayward individual who occasionally presented himself to the gracious influence of the church how the sermon impressed him. He said it was the only sermon that ever touched his heart. The deacon, putting on a smile of gratification, gave him a hearty handshake. For quite awhile he had been trying to persuade him to submit to baptism. In this he had an ax to grind.

Almost a year previous the prospective convert stole a maul out of the deacon's sawmill and more than once flatly refused to return it. The deacon finally decided that an ecclesiastical course of bamboozle would have more influence over him than harsh words. If he could make him a Christian, he felt sure the maul would be forthcoming. So that Sunday morning he solemnly entreated this wayward individual, whose heart was already softened, and won his consent to submit to baptism.

When he arose out of the water, the deacon greeted him as "brother" and cordially congratulated him in that he had buried the "old man" and put on the "new." The deacon, now feeling that the long lost maul was as good as returned, went on his way rejoicing. Next day the "new man" sallied into the deacon's grocery store. As usual the place was crowded with brethren, discussing the merits of Sunday's sermon. When they had all congratulated him upon his baptismal regeneration, the deacon, believing the golden opportunity had come, addressed him with the utmost confidence:

"Well, my brother, now I am sure you will return the maul you took out of the mill last summer."

The reclaimed wanderer hesitated and then meekly replied: "I am sorry, deacon, but you've got the wrong man. The 'old man' who stole the maul went down into the water yesterday and was buried."—Pittsburg Press.

His Idea of Humor.

A janitress living on Washington square had an adventure one day which she will not soon forget. It seems that the building which she has under her care was at one time used by a trust company, and afterward it was turned into an apartment house. When this was done, the vaults were left intact, and they were very seldom opened. The janitress was showing a party of gentlemen through the building and pointed out the desirability of the vaults as refrigerators. When she opened the vault and stepped in, one of the party, who has a rare idea of humor, shut the door suddenly and imprisoned the janitress. That was all right so far as it went, but the lock was a spring affair, and the janitress had the keys on the inside. The room hunters were throroughly frightened, and one of them ran for a locksmith in haste. Luckily a neighbor, who is an expert locksmith, came into the place and in a few minutes succeeded in releasing the woman, who was in anything but a pleasant frame of mind. The room hunters made themselves very scarce before the enraged janitress came forth.—Philadelphia Record.

In the Same Pen.

"One of the boys at the hotel put me on to a little poker game," said the dry goods drummer, "and I went around to see what it was like. There were about 30 respectable looking people in the room, and one of them was trying to teach me the value of the cards, when the police broke in and made a clean sweep of everybody. Next morning, when arraigned at the police court, I wanted a lawyer, and there was a general laugh in court as his honor replied:

"'I don't know where you'll get one. There are nine in town, but all are in the pen with you!'

"It was so," continued the drummer, "and things might have gone hard with us had it not been for the fact that the judge was there, too, but had just stepped out as the raid was made. Nothing was said about it, of course, but he let us off with a fine of $2 each and a lot of fatherly advice."

Heart Humbug
It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

He Was Very Thoughtful.

A north country miller noted for his keenness in financial matters was once in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill.

The stream was flooded, and he was taken past the point at which he wanted to land, while farther on misfortune again overtook him to the extent that the boat was upset.

His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice, when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out:

"If I'm drowned, Molly, dunnot forget that flour's gone up 2 shillin a sack!"—London Telegraph.

Not All Taffy.

"Can you tell me who Ananias was?" asked the old man of the proprietor of the bookstore.

"Of course I can," was the reply. "He was the champion liar of the world at one time. Did any one call you Ananias?"

"Yes, sir. Yes, he called me Ananias, and durn my buttons if I didn't think he was giving me a bushel of praise. Next man calls me Ananias won't know what house fell on him!"—Washington Post.

Bread In Havana.

Havana's bread carts are usually two legged—that is, bread is carried about the streets in large, shallow baskets borne on top of men's heads. It is served in sticks as long as a baseball bat or in loaves or pones, one of which is supposed to serve for the morning meal of an ordinary citizen.

Congratulations.

"I am proud to say that I did not spend a dollar to secure my election."

"I congratulate you," answered Senator Sorghum. "You got off cheap. But you took a terrible risk."—Washington Star.

There Was Sorrow There.

The colonel halted his horse in front of a Dakota dugout and uttered a vigorous "Hello!" and after a minute a towheaded girl of about 16 years of age showed up and looked him over and said:

"Now, then, what ye whoopin fur and who be ye?"

"Can I get anything to eat here?"

"Not a thing."

"Any water for my horse?"

"The spring's gone dry."

"How far is it to the river?"

"Dunno."

"Please ask your father to step out."

"Pop's bin on a drink for a week."

"And your mother?"

"She's got the toothache. That's her cryin."

"Haven't you got a brother?"

"Yep, but he got snake bit yesterday and don't feel well."

"Well, what about you?" persisted the colonel. "You seem to be all right."

"Oh, but I ain't," she replied as she made ready to disappear. "I was to git married yesterday, but my feller got shot by an Injun, and it'll take two weeks to ketch on to another. This ar' a house of sorrow, sir, and ye will please to ride on and not ask any more fool questions!"—New York Sun.

Beecher's Fee.

The power of an orator can be largely measured by the degree of confidence which he inspires, and judged by this standard Henry Ward Beecher must be reckoned among the greatest speakers of modern times. Men who heard him in the pulpit or talked with him out of it could not question the sincerity which showed forth in his face, his manner and his voice.

Mr. Beecher was on a lecturing tour, and Major Pond, his manager, was sitting beside him in the railway car. Suddenly the preacher slapped his hand on the little watch pocket of his trousers and drew forth a small envelope. For a moment he looked at it in surprise, then opened it and smiled. Presently he turned to his companion.

"Major," said he, "I married a great railroad magnate a few months ago, and as I was taking leave of him he handed me an envelope, which I slipped in my pocket unopened. That was the last I thought of it until today. Just now I opened it, and this is what I found."

The major took the envelope. Within it were five $1,000 bills.—Youth's Companion.

A Curious Lake.

A curious phenomenon is that metal never rusts in the waters of Lake Titicaca. You can throw in a chain or an anchor or any article of ordinary iron and let it lie for weeks, and when you haul it up it will be as clean and bright as when it came from the foundry. And, what is stranger still, rust that has been formed upon metallic objects elsewhere will peel off when immersed in its waters. This is frequently noticed by railway and steamship men. Rusty car wheels and rails and even machinery can be brightened by soaking them in the waters of Lake Titicaca.—Chicago Record.

A MAD RIDE FOR LIFE

THE STORY OF AN INTREPID HOOSIER HERO OF 1812.

This Brave Young Teamster Saved a Company of Soldiers by a Forlorn Hope Journey That None of the Regulars Would Attempt.

It was early in the autumn of 1812 that the main body of the army engaged against the British and Indians in the northwest was encamped on the Maumee river not far from the present city of Fort Wayne. The whole country was infested with hostile tribes of the Delaware, Pottawatomies and Miami Indians. They would lie in wait and massacre small detachments of soldiers or a company of emigrants passing through the country.

It was at this time that a small detachment of the army was encamped 25 or 30 miles north of Greenville, O. There were less than 100 officers and men here surrounded by a large force of these hostile tribes acting under orders of the British officers. This detachment of United States soldiers found itself cut off from the main army—in fact, surrounded by Indians. The men knew their capture would result in torture and massacre and that they must suffer this or break up into small bodies and so far as possible escape through the lines of the enemy or get a dispatch to the main army, fully 30 miles away.

The officer in command drew up the little force in line and explained the dangerous situation. He then called for a volunteer to attempt the hazardous task of carrying a dispatch to the headquarters of the army. "If I have a man in my command that is willing to take the risk," he said, "let him step forward." As he stood waiting the silence of death seemed to pervade the camp, but not a soldier responded. The officer saw standing within a few steps of him a young teamster not more than 20 years old, small and delicate. He was clad in the usual homespun and had his wagon whip under his arm. The young man removed his hat, bowed respectfully and said, "Captain, give me a good hoss, and I will make the attempt."

It was William Crist who spoke. There was the glitter of steel in his cold, gray eyes as he stood facing the little band of soldiers. The captain extended his hand to the boy and said, "God bless you, my brave fellow." He at once took young Crist to his tent and carefully talked over the dangerous task he was about to undertake. The young man did not falter. He was the embodiment of courage, bravery, heroism, and on the following morning, "at the peep o' day," as he said, he was ready for the journey.

The captain had a spirited young horse, active and accustomed to traveling through brush and swamps, over logs and creeks, and he placed this horse in charge of the boy. The teamster declined the use of a saddle, but asked for a belt, a brace of pistols, a knife and musket. When he mounted the horse and took leave of the officer, the soldiers stood watching him. They considered that the intrepid young hero was simply riding into the "jaws of death."

There was no passable road, no mark of civilization on the line that he must travel. The country was a strange one to him. With a cloudless sky above him and unbroken forest in front, he fearlessly took the risk. The Indian trails were guarded and the forests beyond these trails impenetrable. There was, possibly, one chance in a dozen for him to reach the main body of troops, and he took that chance.

He moved off in the gray dawn of early morning, hoping to pass the lines of his dangerous foe unnoticed. This he succeeded in doing and took the trail for the Maumee country. The day's journey was uneventful until he came within five miles of the outposts of the army.

It was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon when, riding rapidly along the trail, his eye caught sight of a small band of braves immediately in front of him and effectually blocking his way. Their faces were painted red and yellow, indicating that they were on the warpath. They were all mounted and armed with muskets and, as the young messenger well knew, had in their belts the scalping knife and in their hearts relentless, cruel murder. He knew that to continue along the beaten trail was to court capture, torture and death. Accordingly he guided his horse into the thick woods and as rapidly as possible made his way out from the trail.

The savages soon reached the point where he had turned aside and there discovered the fresh tracks of the young man's horse. An unearthly warwhoop greeted the boy's ears, and he knew what would be the course pursued by the Indians. They would track his horse and follow him. He urged the faithful animal on, but it was not long before he heard his savage foes behind him. He then turned to make his way back, if possible, to the trail, believing that his horse could by its better speed and better power of endurance enable him to escape, but his keen sighted foes had anticipated this movement and had guarded the trail against it. Shots began to sing about him, and he now determined to make his way through the forest. He knew that his horse would jump logs and streams that the ponies would not attempt. He lay first on the horse's back and urged him to his greatest speed. He made him jump great logs that lay in his way, but the foe still kept in sight and from time to time fired on him. In the meantime the savage yell was kept up, and the race became one of life or death.

It was late in the afternoon that the pickets on the outposts of the army saw approaching the utterly exhausted horse and rider. The Indians here abandoned the chase, and young Crist, when he found himself safely within the lines of the United States forces, fell fainting from his horse. Overcome by the loss of blood and exhausted by his long ride, he lay unconscious for hours. This was followed by weeks of suffering from three dreadful wounds he had received in the last half hour of the chase. But he had accomplished his task. In two hours after his arrival 300 brave men started on the trail the young hero had followed and rescued the detachment that so anxiously awaited succor. William Crist, the brave and intrepid teamster, had nerves of steel, the heart of a lion and a godlike soul. For many years he was a familiar figure on the streets of Indianapolis, and many of the older citizens remember him. If the middle west would honor a real hero let it erect a white shaft and inscribe thereon the name of William Crist.

WENT ONCE TOO OFTEN.

Mistake of a Man Who Made His Living by Audacity.

"I have had many queer experiences with transient boarders," said a lady who has kept a first class boarding house in this city for a number of years, "but the queerest case came under my observation only last week. To be brief, an old man, at least he seemed to be about 60 years of age or thereabouts, came to me about five years ago, if I remember aright, and secured a room in my house for a week. He said he was a lecturer and gave the customary rigmarole in such a nice way, however, that I omitted, very foolishly, to ask him for his board in advance. To make a long story short, he walked out at the end of the week to go to some small town near by, where he was to lecture to young folks on the twin subjects of temperance and honesty, and conveniently forgot where he lived temporarily.

"The old man must have been mixed up in his dates or locations, for he applied to me again for board here a few days ago 'for a few days.' Foolishly I let him in and still more foolishly decided not to ask him for the price in advance, for out of curiosity I wanted to see if he was still playing the old game. Sure enough at the end of a few days he knocked at the door of my room and informed me that he would not be back for breakfast in the morning, as he was going to give a lecture to young people in a nearby town on the 'twin subjects of temperance and honesty,' but would be back to luncheon. I knew I had him and proceeded to tell him so, probably astonishing him more at his own lack of memory than my excellent ability to remember deadbeats.

"Unluckily, however, my room was on the second floor and his on the first, and when he assumed a righteous wrath that I well knew was feigned I could not but let him go to his room to get the 'filthy lucre' that would square us. I say unluckily his room was on the floor below mine, because he kept right on walking, and I haven't seen him since. You may exploit the mysteries of boarding house hash, but don't forget that the boarding house mistress has her trials too."—Washington Star.

The Point of the Sword.

In the use of the sword in cavalry fighting the point is considered more deadly, the cut more disabling. The cavalry fight at Lierena, in Estremadura, April 11, 1812, is an example. The fight lasted but a few minutes, for the British, charging, broke the French formation. The latter had 12 men killed and lost 128 prisoners, all suffering from sword cuts, while the English had nine men killed and 47 wounded. All the killed were slain by the "point" and the wounded practically in every case had received their injuries by the "cut." Napoleon was a great believer in the point. At the battle of Wagram he shouted to his cuirassiers as they passed him at the trot, "No sabering; give point! give point!" and kept plunging his sword into the air to emphasize his orders.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Peterborough Markets

Friday, May 18.

There has been a fair amount of produce moving during the past week. The spring work being about over the farmers have started to move in their surplus grain, hay and straw and as a result prices have declined, particularly in hay. There has been a good demand for potatoes at steady prices and outside buyers are expected to be on the market next week.

The following were the prices current for the week:—

Wheat.—About 50 loads were offered and sold readily at last week's quotations, namely, 63 cents.

Oats.—Acting upon the suggestions thrown out by the Market Clerk, about 40 loads of oats were offered and picked up readily at 30 and 31 cents. The market can stand several loads as yet.

Barley.—Very few, if any loads were sold and the prices remain the same as last week.

Peas.—There was a fairly active movement in peas and those of good quality sold readily at 63c. to 64c. While Canadian Beauties sold at 75c. to 78c.

Rye.—None offered but prices remain the same.

Hay.—There was a very large supply of hay marketed this week and as a result prices declined to $7.00 to $7.50, from last week's quotations.

Straw.—Quite a few loads were sold at $2.00 to $3.00. There is a ready market for straw of good quality.

Potatoes.—There were only a fair offering of potatoes this week, with prices steady. It is expected that two outside buyers will be on the market next week for the purpose of buying potatoes in bulk. It is thought that prices will be about 35c. to 40c. per bag.

Butter and Eggs.—There was a good supply of both on the market on Saturday. Butter sold at 15c. to 18c., while eggs brought 9c. to 10c. per dozen.

LIVE STOCK.

The live stock market has been active owing to extensive movements in stockers and hogs. There seems to be a strong demand for good yearling calves at the quotations given last week, namely, $3.35 to $3.40 for good colored steer calves, and $3.25 to $3.50 for heifer calves and off colored steers.

The hog market declined this week. The local quotations being $5.75 for select hogs, 160 to 200 lbs., while light and heavy fats sold at $5.00 to $5.12 1-2. The Toronto quotations this week show that prices there are only down 12 1-2 cents, making it rather hard to account for a drop of a quarter on the local market.

Mr. W. A. Stabler bought about 80 hogs on the market to-day at prices ranging from $5.70 to $5.80. He says that he will be a regular shipper to the Toronto market if he cannot make satisfactory terms for local delivery.

Messrs. W. Stabler, W. Morris and R. Howden are busy buying yearling calves for Mr. McFarland, the American buyer. They expect to ship regularly every Saturday during the next few months.

Any farmer having any kind of stock for sale would do well as was intimated last week to leave their names with the Market Clerk at the first opportunity as it will assist the drovers in getting as well as the farmers in disposing of their stock.

Mania for Operations

Dread of the surgeon's knife causes thousands of people to suffer on year after year with piles, when they could be cured without risk, expense, or danger of an operation by using Dr. Chase's Ointment, the only preparation guaranteed to cure any case of itching, bleeding, or protruding piles.

Rev. J. A. Baldwin, Baptist minister, Athens, Ont., writes:—"For over twenty years I was a great sufferer from itching and protruding piles. I used many remedies and underwent three very painful surgical operations, all without obtaining any permanent benefit. When about to give up in despair I was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and [illegible], finding relief at once. I used [illegible], and am almost entirely [illegible] itching is all gone. I [illegible] others to use it, believing [illegible] them as it has me."

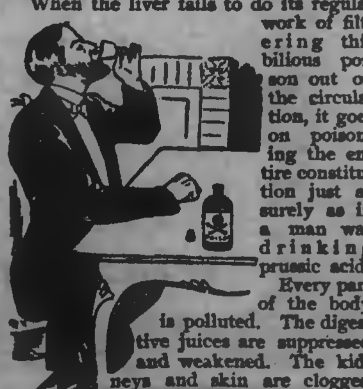
DRINKING POISON.

Many a man who would be startled at the bare thought of sitting down and deliberately drinking a dose of poison, allows himself to be regularly and systematically poisoned day after day by accumulations of bile in the blood.



When the liver fails to do its regular work of filtering this bilious poison out of the circulation, it goes on poisoning the entire constitution just as surely as if a man was drinking prussic acid. Every part of the body is polluted. The digestive juices are suppressed and weakened. The kidneys and skin are clogged with impurities and the lungs and bronchial tubes overloaded with morbid secretions which eat away the delicate tissues, and bring about bronchitis and consumption.

All the diseases caused by this subtle process of bilious poisoning are cured by the marvelous alterative action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It directly increases the liver's natural excretive and purifying powers; gives the digestive and blood-making organs power to manufacture an abundance of red, rich, healthy blood.

It drives out all impurities, and vitalizes the circulation with the life-giving elements which restore perfect nutrition and solid muscular power. It makes fresh, pure, rich blood. It brings back appetite and nerve force and good healthy flesh. No matter how far gone people seem to be, if there is anything left to build on, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will build you up again.

"In August 1895, was taken down in bed with a burning and severe pains in my stomach and under my shoulders, and dizziness in my head," writes Ira D. Herring, Esq., of Needmore, Levy Co., Fla. "My home physician was called and he said my symptoms were more like consumption than anything else. I lingered in this way seven months trying different kinds of medicine. Nothing that I ate would digest, and I had great distress in my stomach. I was persuaded to try some of Dr. Pierce's remedies or to see what he thought of my case. I wrote him and received an answer stating that my suffering was from indigestion and torpid liver, and advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first bottle gave pleasing results. I have taken four bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three small vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am able to do my work and eat what I could not before I took these medicines."

"I was tired all the time," writes J. Edward Davis, Esq. (Care Geo. F. Lasher), 147 North 10th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. "In the morning felt as if I had never slept, was too languid to eat; was troubled with pimples, boils, dizzy head, back ache and hollow cheeks. At one time I had twenty-eight boils on my back. I became very despondent and said to myself there is no use taking medicine, nothing can cure me. One day a friend of mine told me what a cure he had performed on a child who had a bad disorder of the blood or something to that effect. I was skeptical at first and said it would not do me any good. At last one morning I woke up and found a beating pulsation in my neck, front and back. In three days I had four boils, so situated on my neck that I could not turn either way. Then I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine together with Dr. Pierce's Pellets, did wonders for me.

After the first three bottles it was no new thing for folks to say: 'Hello, Ed., I didn't know you;' or, 'Say, Davis, what's become of those pimples you used to have?' I took about ten bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

It would save doctor bills for any family to have a copy of Dr. Pierce's splendid thousand-page free book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," explaining the laws of life and health in clear and interesting language, with many valuable suggestions and receipts for curing common ailments by simple home treatment. It has over three hundred illustrations and colored plates. A strong paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free on receipt of 31 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Ass'n, Buffalo, N. Y. A handsome cloth-bound, beautifully stamped copy will be sent for 50 stamps.

THE DOMINIE.

It is announced in Boston that Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts is to give a new dormitory to Harvard.

Bishop Charles Edward Cheney of Christ Reformed Episcopal church of Chicago recently celebrated the fortieth anniversary of his pastorate.

The Rev. Dr. Edward P. Goodwin, for 33 years pastor of the First Congregational church of Chicago, has resigned on account of advancing age and ill health. Dr. Goodwin is the dean of the clergy of Chicago for continuous service with one church.

The Rev. Henry J. Callis, the pastor of the African Zion church of Syracuse, was born a slave. He is a Hampton graduate, has studied law, once declined a nomination for member of the Virginia legislature and since his entrance to the ministry has stumped the Pacific coast as a McKinley campaign orator.

A black bishop of the Anglican church was recently consecrated at Lambeth. The Right Rev. James Johnson, assistant bishop of western equatorial Africa, is a Sierra Leone negro whose parents were rescued slaves from the Yoruba country. His station will be Benin. BITS OF SCIENCE.

Dr. Mach of Berlin has made a new alloy of magnesium and aluminium, producing a compound like brass, white as silver and can be turned and bored.

The weight of all the air on the globe would be eleven and two-thirds trillion pounds if no deductions had to be made for space filled by mountains and land above sea level.

Blasting with liquid air at Vienna has led to the conclusion that to be effective the liquid should be used within 15 minutes after preparation. As tried after 72 hours, when half of it had been evaporated, it had no destructive effect.

Physicians Prescribe It

It has become quite common for physicians to prescribe Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for patients who are run down by the ravages of chronic disease. They recognise in it a restorative of inestimable worth in which are found the very elements of nature required to build up the system and form new flesh and muscle. Its revitalizing action on nerves and blood places it beyond the reach of rivals as an absolute cure for diseases of the nerves and blood. 50 cents a box.

Bad Enough.

Patient—It is such a terrible thing to die of consumption!

Doctor—Perhaps you would like to have me call in other physicians in consultation?

Patient—No, I don't know that a complication of diseases would be any better to die of.—Detroit Journal.

MILLBROOK

The Late Miss Anna M. Fair.

From Our Own Correspondent.

On Sunday, May 13th, entered into rest at the residence of her brother, Mr. Robt. Fair, Peterborough, Miss Anna M. Fair, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fair, of Millbrook. Her last illness, which continued during a period of about seven weeks, was borne with humble resignation and that Christian courage and faith which ever marked her character. The life of Anna Fair was a most unselfish one. The clergy and church-workers in the parish of Cavan, where her home was, testify to the ready cheerfulness with which every good mark in which she engaged was undertaken. In the work of the Sunday school where she was a most devoted and efficient teacher, as Vice-President of the circle of King's Daughters, and as missionary collector, her loss to the parish of Cavan will be most seriously felt. The universal esteem in which she was held was testified to by the large number of sympathizing friends present at the funeral which took place from the residence of her father, Mr. Wm. Fair, on May 15th. A short service was held at the house previous to departure for St. Thomas' church, where the favorite hymns of the deceased "Oh! What the Joy and the Glory must be," and "The Day Thou gavest Lord is Ended," formed a part of the service. The Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of Peterborough, assisted the clergy of the parish, Ven. Archdeacon Allen and the Rev. Wm. Cartwright Allen in the solemn services of the day. The interment took place at St. Paul's cemetery, Cavan.

The sympathy felt for the bereaved family was expressed in many words and deeds of kindness, which marked its genuineness. The coffin was covered with a profusion of lovely flowers from many sympathizing friends, amongst which were:—Cross and cut flowers from the family, cross from the King's Daughters, anchor from the employees of R. Fair & Co., harp, Mr. and Mrs. Waddell, Peterborough; crescent, the Needler family, wreath, Dr. H. Needler, Toronto; carnations from Shenley House, carnations from the teachers of St. Thomas' Sunday school, lilies and cut flowers from many other kind friends.

There seemed a providential fitness in the hour when the life of Anna Fair ended on the bright May Sunday morning, when the hush of worship was upon the community and nature was in full sympathy, and as the church was engaged in the rest of the Lord's own day. She entered in the "Rest which Remaineth for the People of God."

"Far better they should sleep awhile,
Within the church's shade,
Nor wake until new heaven, new earth,
Meet for their new immortal birth,
For their abiding-place be made.

Then wander back to life, and lean
On our frail love once more,
'Tis sweet, as year by year we lose
Friends out of sight, in faith to muse,
How grows in Paradise our store.

She Was Saved.

Fell Into Scalding Water.

Highgate, Ont., May 14. — At McMahon's stave mill yesterday, a number of the mill hands were engaged in removing staves from the steam chests when a plank on which William Fraser was standing, slipped and the unfortunate man fell into the scalding water below. He was immediately extricated from the vat and removed to his home, where he now lies in a very critical state.

er music than the boom of the big naval gun. After about five shots the pom-pom stopped its clatter and we found out later that one of our shells had put it out of business. Then we retired and got our water bottles, (the men weren't allowed to bring them to us while we were under fire). Our casualties were three slightly wounded, but none of them were in our company, though strange to say we received more than most of the others. Well that was only one day. There were lots of others just as full of excitement and hardships as it was but I haven't time to detail everything that happened to us.

On 26th Feb. we took our turn in the trenches and next morning at two, made an attack on the Boer trenches. We didn't rush their position but just occupied ground and extended ourselves a few hundred yards nearer. We had to do this under a very hot fire at close range but the boys all did well and when day broke we had quite a good trench made. When the Boers saw how close we were their first line surrendered and then the whole outfit came in. Our advance could have been carried out without any loss I think if it had not been muddled in the start by the peacracker company. The orders I heard given to our officer and repeated to us were to conform to all movements of the right flank. Well we got the caution "prepare to advance" from H company on the right. We all got out of the trench and stood up, but had to wait for some time before any other order came. Then suddenly we saw a number of men just ahead of us and to the right. This was H and G companies, but F. company still remained where they were. Mr. Leduc then ran over from F company to us crying out in his Frenchy English "Captain Roger, Captain Roger, the right have advanced! What will I do?" Some of our men offered him advice in low tones from the ranks but luckily he didn't hear. Then we started forward but as the leading companies had moved to the left we got all mixed up and had to take about ten minutes to straighten out. In doing this we made noise enough to waken a dozen Boer laagers and so gave the whole snap away. (This is only my opinion of course.) We then advanced again, the front rank holding their rifles in the right hand and grasping the shoulder straps of his left hand man with his left. The rear rank followed with picks and shovels. We walked forward slowly in the dark and I was just beginning to wonder if we were going to catch them napping when in a second just in front of us. It was so close that it seemed as if we were right in the flame. We stood for a minute to see what was to be done and then lay down to return their fire while the rear rank fell back a little and worked at their trench. The firing of the Boers was so wild that I think they were scared to death nearly and thought that we were going at them with the steel. After a bit we retired to the trench which the rear rank had by this time got fairly under way. Our casualties were about forty all told. Our company had three killed and four wounded. The laager was the funniest place I ever saw. Every conceivable article of clothing seemed to be there along with cooking utensils, arms and ammunition, everything strewn all over the ground. Dead horses and mules were lying all about, many of them in a most rotten state. But the trenches were the worst of all. They were really underground dwellings and the filth in some of them was simply indescribable.

THERE WAS A GREAT FLASH

After Paardeberg we had a week's rest and then started towards Bloemfontein. The Boers evidently had determined to make a stand at Willow Grove Drift. (I don't know what the official name is, that is what we called it.) We moved ahead cautiously till we were opposite their position then on the 7th went at them again. This stand was only a feeble one after all and early in the afternoon they were in full retreat. Our regiment was not actually under fire but we had an excellent chance to watch between three of our guns and one of the Boer big guns mounted on a high kopje. We were lying in extended order not far from this kopje and thought it was unoccupied by the enemy. Three of our guns were shelling the enemy across the river on our right. Our guns changed position to get a better shot and in doing so got within easy range of the big fellow on the hill. The Boers didn't fire till they had a splendid target in the guns and ammunition wagons. Then they opened and the first shell killed a mule. You should have seen the way our guns swung around and the ammunition wagons got out of the way. Then our guns started but to do their best they couldn't get the elevation. So finally they elevated the muzzles all they could and fired by guess work. One gun was just right and the shell exploded just over the Boers but the others went clear over the hill. After a while they managed it and presently the big gun ceased fire. It was taken later by the Shropshires, the Boers having abandoned it. The Boers in this case were bad gunners as not a single casuality occurred except the mule and they had the range down pat. Since that time we kept them fairly on the run till we reached this place where all hands took a rest. Troops are going forward every day now so we expect to hear of some fighting pretty soon.

Yours faithfully,

A. J. MATTHEWS.

Questions That Made the Boy's Father Take a Day Off.

"Going to take the day off, eh?" said the chief of division to the clerk when the latter reported at the office at 9 o'clock and put in a slip for a day's leave. "Nothing the matter, I hope? No sickness at home, is there?"

"No," replied the clerk drearily, leaning heavily on the chief's desk. "No sickness or anything like that. But I've got to put in a day of research. It's this way: That 10-year-old boy of mine sprung a lot of 'em on me when he was going over his lessons after dinner last night that stumped me and put me temporarily out of business. This was one of them:

"'Three-eighths of a pole stands in the mud, one-fifth in the water, and the remainder of the pole, 21 feet, is above the water. What is the total length of the pole?'

"Sounds dead easy, doesn't it?" went on the clerk. "Well, it just stood me on my head, that's what it did. Y'see, I took my civil service examination over ten years ago, and I've tried earnestly and prayerfully to forget all the digging I had to do to squeeze through that. Then he asked me how old George Washington was when he died, how old the Polack Kosciusko was when he offered his sword to the Revolutionary commanders, the date of the battle of Bunker Hill, the nature of the Missouri compromise and 10 or 15 little ones like that. I had to extinguish him by telling him that I was reading my paper, but I promised him that I'd give him all the answers tomorrow, Sunday, in time for him to be right on them at school on Monday. Now, that kid thinks I'm 'It.' He thinks I know it all. He brags to all the other kids in the neighborhood that his dad can give their dads cards and spades and big cassino and beat them to death when it comes to Brains with an upper case B.

"Well, I want to have him go right on thinking that. I wouldn't lose that young one's exalted opinion of me for a house and lot. It 'ud be a solar plexus finish for me to have him direct the blighting gaze of suspicion at me. So I'm going up to the library, yank out a bundle o' books of reference, get the answers to that list of questions, and tonight I'll spring 'em on the kid in an offhand sort of way, as if I knew 'em all the time, but just didn't have time to give 'em to him. I couldn't stand it to have that kid get on to me; not just yet anyhow. He'll have time to do that when he grows up."—Washington Post.

THE HEIGHT OF POLITENESS.

As Exemplified by an Officer on a British Man-of-war.

This is a story of the height of politeness. It is told by Angus Evan Abbott, the author, and it is, I believe, absolutely true. Mr. Abbott is a Canadian by birth and education, and on first coming to England he was, as most Americans and Canadians are, eager to catch a glimpse of the queen. But as her majesty did not live in his suburb, Mr. Abbott's wish remained ungratified for some time. However, one day he found himself in Portsmouth and learned that the royal yacht, with the queen and Princess Beatrice aboard, was to cross from the Isle of Wight to Portsmouth.

Hastening down to the landing place, he discovered that there was not the ghost of a chance of catching sight of her majesty on land, so he went to the waterside, hired a small boat and rowed out into the great harbor. Pushing out from the inner port, wherein rode a mighty fleet of battleships and cruisers all afiutter with bunting in honor of the queen, the writer found himself on the broad outer bay, alone except for a dotted line of men-of-war's boats indicating the route to be taken by the queen's yacht.

Pulling in his oars and allowing the boat to float at will, Mr. Abbott got his glasses focused ready for the queen's yacht and put in his time reading a book. All at once he heard a voice sounding as though it came from the clouds. It was gentle, aristocratic of accent and apologetic in diction. It said, "I beg your pardon, but would you mind letting us pass?"

Glancing quickly up, Mr. Abbott beheld the bow of the mighty battleship Minotaur towering over his little rowboat like a precipice, and peering over the brow of the cliff of iron was the calm face of a naval officer. The ship was swinging slowly into harbor and was but a few yards away, coming directly toward the tiny rowboat.

In the words of the novel, "To seize the oars and pull for his life was the work of an instant." When Mr. Abbott was clear of the battleship, the naval officer, not a ghost of a smile on his face, said, "Thank you very much," and the ship crept past. Mr. Abbott claims that naval officer to be the politest man living.—London Cor. Saturday Evening Post.

Another reason for holding the Democratic national convention in Kansas City was to give the delegates and visitors a chance to see the only town in the universe where the people go down stairs to take the cars on an elevated street railway."

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilities.

THE EMPIRE EN FETE AND WILD WITH JOY!

When the News of the Relief of Mafeking was Received--London Still Celebrates To-day--Hutton Makes Another Capture--The United States' Stand.

THE EMPIRE IS EN FETE

London, May 19—The whole British Empire has been carried off its feet by the news of the relief of Mafeking. Cablegrams from all parts of the world where floats the Union Jack, tell of the joyful demonstrations. Overstrained feelings have found vent in a storm of enthusiasm which has spread throughout the united kingdom and colonies. The empire is en fete, and most of the people in the united kingdom are taking a holiday to-day. Further confirmation of the various reports of the relief was received to-day in a despatch from Lorenzo Marques, under to-day's date, announcing that Mafeking had been relieved.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM IN LONDON

London, May 19—There had been no interruption up to noon to-day of London's celebrations of the British successes in South Africa. In fact the enthusiasm increased as the day proceeded. The omnibusses were crowded with men and women waving flags, and every cab, cart and carriage, and nearly every house is decorated. Everyone, from the newsboys in the streets to the most dignified business man, is wearing a rosette of the British colors; traffic is practically suspended and great crowds surround the Mansion House and all the public buildings, shouting and cheering.

HUTTON MAKES ANOTHER CAPTURE

Kroonstadt, Friday, May 18—Gen. Hutton with his mounted infantry to-day made a dash upon Bothaville and captured three commandants and 19 other prisoners, mostly Zarps. The colt machine gun section, commanded by Atlumney, has arrived here. Owing to the derailing of two trains at the Vet river, progress toward the completion of the railway will be delayed for some days.

THE FOREIGN MERCENARIES

Cape Town, May 19—The Argus says that 80 of Eloffs patrol were killed and that the Irish American Brigade were greatly cut up at Mafeking and Kroonstadt. The Boers are turning against the French and Germans.

, NO INTERVENTION

New York, May 19—The general conclusion was reached at the cabinet meeting yesterday, according to a Washington correspondent, to adhere to the former decision against intervention unless mediation should be requested by both sides.

TWO LADS WHO STARTED EVEN.

Years When One Prospered While the Other Stood Still.

Thirty years ago Mr. H., a nurseryman in New York state, left home for a day or two. It was rainy weather and not a season for sales, but a customer arrived from a distance, tied up his horse and went into the kitchen of a farmhouse where two lads were cracking nuts.

"Is Mr. H. at home?"

"No, sir," said the eldest, Joe, hammering at a nut.

"When will he be back?"

"Dunno, sir. Mebbe not for a week." The other boy, Jim, jumped up and followed the man out. "The men are not here, but I can show you the stock," he said, with such a bright, courteous manner that the stranger, who was a little irritated, stopped and followed him through the nursery, examining the trees, and left his order.

"You have sold the largest bill I have had this season, Jim," his father, greatly pleased, said to him on his return.

A few years later these two boys were left by their father's failure and death with $200 or $300 each. Joe bought an acre or two near home. He has worked hard, but is still a poor, discontented man. Jim bought an emigrant's ticket to Colorado, hired as a cattle driver for a couple of years and with his wages bought land at 40 cents an acre, built himself a house and married. His herds of cattle are numbered by the thousand, his land has been cut up into town lots, and he is ranked as one of the wealthiest men in the state.

"I might have done like Jim," his brother said lately, "if I'd thought in time. There's as good stuff in me as in him."

"There's as good stuff in that loaf of bread as in any I ever made," said his wife, "but nobody can eat it. There's not enough yeast in it." The retort, though disagreeable, was true. The quick, wide awake energy which acts as leaven to character is partly natural, but it can be inculcated by parents.—Industrial Enterprise.

Breaking Even.

"Excuse me, Brother Sogback," said an Arkansas matron who was one of the high pirates at the church festival, addressing a determined looking gentleman who was gastronomizing at one of the tables, "but are you—ah! going to stop eating pretty soon? You have your fifth bowl of oyster stew now, and—ah!"—

"The case," replied Brother Sogback, with his mouth full, "stands like this, Sister Hooks: You made me pay in advance. I forked over a $5 bill, and you sweetly told me that as it was for the benefit of the church it was against the rules to give any change back. So, now, sister, I'm goin to keep right on eatin till one of three things happens—till the rules are amended for my benefit or I get my money's worth or bust. That's the kind of man I am, Sister Hooks."—Life.

BOER REPORT TELLS OF MAFEKING'S RELIEF.

London's Population Went Wild With Joy at Great News.

War Office Has No News as Yet From the Field Marshall, But Mr. Wyndham Believes It—London Crowds Marching Through the Streets at Four o'Clock This Morning—The News in Canada—War News.

MAFEKING RELIEVED

Official News of The Fact From Pretoria.

Pretoria, May 18.—It was officially announced to-day that when the laagers and forts around Mafeking had been severely bombarded, the siege was abandoned, a British force from the south took possession of the place.

LONDON BESIDE ITSELF.

The Millions of the World's Metropolis Spent Half the Night in the Streets Celebrating.

London, May 19.—(4 a.m.)—London's millions spent half the night in the streets, and even at 4 o'clock this morning troops of young men are marching and singing and crowds are in front of the Mansion House, Marlborough House, the clubs in Pall Mall and the War Office and in Parliament square, waving flags and joining in the national airs.

This sustained bellowing and uproar of hundreds of thousands amazes the Englishman, who ceases for a moment to be an actor and becomes merely an observer. Sober, phlegmatic London is beside itself with emotion. Gusts of patriotism have set the town quivering twice or thrice before during the war, but nothing has quite equalled last night's hundred square miles of almost furious demonstrations.

A Curious Sight.

It was a curious thing for the onlooker to see solemn, grey-haired men toss their opera hats into the air and join in the hurricane of cheers, when a wreath-crowned banner with the portrait of Col. Baden-Powell on it was borne along Piccadilly. Smart women in broughams waved Union Jacks out of the windows. Conventional family parties stopped at street corners to take part in singing "God Save the Queen" and "Soldiers of the Queen."

Everywhere was abandon, good feeling and an astonishing roar of human voices. It was all brought about by a 20-word telegram from Pretoria that Mafeking had been relieved. Although the Government has not a word, and although nothing confirmatory has been received from any African source, except Pretoria, nobody apparently questions the news.

What Mr. Balfour Says.

Arthur J. Balfour, speaking from the Government bench late last evening, said: "The only news I have is through the courtesy of the press. We have no information at the War Office, nor would we have it as soon as it would arrive through other channels. Therefore, the fact that we have not received it neither proves nor disproves the accuracy of the information. I need hardly say that we will trust, and we have good reason to think that it is probably true."

Wyndham Believes It, Too.

Mr. George Wyndham, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for War, replying to several members of the House, who had privately interrogated him, said: "Although the Government has nothing, I am disposed to believe the Boer bulletin. It may be to-morrow and perhaps even Monday before the Government would get despatches from our military commanders, even if the siege were raised some days ago, as the news would need to be conveyed over a long distance by a messenger on horseback, whereas, the enemy would probably be able to avail themselves of telegraphic communication.

Baden-Powell's Brother Hears It.

Col. Baden-Powell's brother in London has received a cablegram from a Dutch friend in Pretoria, saying that Mafeking had been relieved.

Theatres Are Demoralized.

The performance in the London music halls and theatres last evening had little use for stage business. The audiences which crowded the Alhambra, Empire and Covent Garden theatres had no desire to attend a stage performance. The first sight

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834 505
Sun Life	1871	3,996 869
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

GEO. COCKRANE

Agent and Assist.-Sec'y.

He Was Very Humble.

The Detroit Free Press tells of a disappointed office seeker who at last obtained a gift through a late won humility. When he arrived at Washington, it was with the idea that he was a distinguished and prominent citizen; but after hanging about and swallowing disappointments, he began to suspect that he was not so very important after all.

Then he thought of home and the means of getting there and sought out Colonel Blank, the passenger agent of a certain railroad.

"I say, colonel," he remarked persuasively, "I want to go home."

"Why don't you go?"

"No money. Can't you give me a pass?"

The colonel stiffened.

"We give passes to nobody," said he.

The countenance of the disappointed candidate brightened with a smile of humility.

"Well, colonel," he pleaded, "then give me one. I'm nobody."

The colonel admitted the force of the argument and gave the pass.

Nervous and Debilitated.

Almost a Victim of Nervous Prostration—Was Restored to Health and Strength by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. D. W. Cronsberry, 169 Richmond street west, Toronto, Ont., states:—"My daughter, who sews in a white goods manufactory, got completely run down by the steady confinement and close attention required at her work. Her nerves were so exhausted, and she was so weak and debilitated, that she had to give up work entirely, and was almost a victim of nervous prostration.

"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, she began to use it, and was benefitted from the very first. It proved an excellent remedy in restoring her to health and strength. After having used four boxes she is now at work again, healthy and happy, and attributes her recovery to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

As a blood builder and nerve restorative, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of inestimable value. It makes the blood red, the nerves strong, and the whole system healthy and vigorous. 50c a box—at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AN ABUSE OF POWER.

Mr. W. H. Bennett, M.P., for East Simcoe, in a recent speech in the House, drew attention and gave information regarding a most extraordinary condition of affairs that has developed under the rule of the Liberals, who were to reduce the expenses of government and institute a rule of economy. Mr. Bennett was discussing the use the Government had made of the patronage power, and the manner in which appointments were made or created in order to satisfy political favorites. In regard to judgeships Mr. Bennett gave some interesting information. He drew attention to the fact that in Lambton the Government has superannuated one county judge at $1,733 per annum, and has appointed another at $2,000—one of its political friends. There are two judges for the county now, and last year the two judges tried three cases. In Cornwall, Stormont, and Dundas the senior judge was superannuated. The junior judge, Judge Carman, a capable man, ought to have been promoted. But instead of promoting him, the Government appointed Mr. O'Reilly, of Prescott, a lawyer who had stumped for the party. Here again there are two judges in one jurisdiction, where last year there were but three cases. Mr. McCallum, a Bruce county lawyer, noted as a politician, has been appointed at $2,300 a year county judge for Manitoulin Island. There was one case there the year before the appointment was made, and that was tried at Sault Ste. Marie. A defeated candidate from North Ontario, Mr. Chapple, has been made judge at Rat Portage, where formerly court was held by the Algoma judges. Finally, Mr. McCrimmon was appointed junior judge of the County of Ontario. He was one of the party orators. Now that he is appointed, there are two judges for the county, and last year there was not a single case to be tried there!

What do the people who expected economical management from a Liberal Government think of these facts? Is it not an extraordinary abuse of power and a wilful waste of the people's money? And remember that these dual judgeships were made possible by co-operation between the Liberal Government at Toronto and that at Ottawa. The number of judges is fixed by the Ontario Legislature. In 1896 when the Conservatives were in office at Ottawa and had the patronage of these judgeships, the Ontario Government abolished the junior judges and gave reasons for doing so. Then the Liberals secured control at Ottawa, and, although the reasons by which it justified the abolition of the office still existed, the Ontario Government re-established the office, and thus furnished its Liberal friends at Ottawa with the patronage which has been abused in such an astounding manner as Mr. Bennett's speech shows.

THE MEMORABLE SEIGE.

ONCE more Britains the world over will rejoice at the relief of an heroic band of fellow-subjects who for seven months have stood to their guns and kept the old flag flying in the face of a crafty and persistent foe who outnumbered them and were able to shut off supplies. Col. Baden-Powell and his brave men have made a name for themselves and by their courageous stand have added to the lustre of the flag they serve and again demonstrated to the world that Britons do not know the word "surrender" so long as there is a shot in the locker or enough in the stores to keep body and soul together. It was a marvellous spectacle of endurance and fighting power that the small band of defenders gave during the months in which they have been besieged. Nothing but the most skilled strategy made a defence against such odds possible, and nothing but bull-dog determination and the most heroic loyalty enabled the seige to be maintained until relief came. Reduced to rations of horse meat dealt out on half rations, the courage of the brave commander and his men never flagged and the cheerful messages "We'll hold out" and "All's well," were frequent, but no complaint was heard. It was an heroic stand, and well might it be celebrated.

The seige of Mafeking will go down to history as one of the most memorable features of the British-Boer war, and will take its place among the great seiges of the world. Britons can well be proud of Col. Baden-Powell and the men who stood with him through all the days of famine and fight, of night attacks and days in the trenches, of self-sacrifice and sad scenes. Honor to them, and to the brave men who brought the relief.

HERE'S to Baden-Powell!

WHO wouldn't be a Briton!

THEY kept the old flag flying.

AND here's to the brave men who stayed with him during the long seige!

LORD ROBERTS said that he could not promise to reach Mafeking before May 18th and his force arrived on time.

BRITONS can again be proud of British pluck and British courage, tested in the severest fires of privation and war.

THE Dominion elections are not far distant. Conservatives will do well to be prepared. The Globe and other journals in close touch with the Government are making strong appeals to the Liberals to organise for the campaign.

A DOMESTIC EPISODE

A Cautious Wife Prevents a Sour Stomach Disturbance.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to the Rescue—They Cure Sour Stomach or Acid Dyspepsia and Thus Prevent Suicide in Many Cases.

"Ugh! I've been tortured by a sour stomach ever since dinner, and it has made me utterly good for nothing," grumbled the head of the family, as he sat down with the evening paper after his day's work.

"Papa, what does 'sour stomach' mean?" questioned his young heir, aged ten.

"Don't bother me!" growled his father irritably.

"Let papa alone," cautioned the wife and mother, who knew what "papa's" disposition was on occasions like this, when he was suffering from "sour stomach."

"Now, if the father had known that the disease which the doctors name Acid Dyspepsia is hidden under the comparatively harmless name "sour stomach," he would have taken means to check and cure it. To do this he would, of course, have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, for nothing else can cure it.

Acid Dyspepsia is a dangerous ailment, for from it springs mental depression, which develops into the state known as "melancholia," and which drives hundreds of persons to suicide every year.

Acid Dyspepsia is caused by food which the stomach cannot digest, remaining in the stomach, fermenting, then rotting, and creating poisonous gas.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure the complaint by digesting the heavy mass of food, and stimulating the bowels to carry off the poisonous matter that has been formed.

Besides doing this, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tone and strengthen the stomach, and enable it to carry on properly the work of digestion. They are the only remedy known that can do this, and they never fail.

NAVAL NOTES.

Half a million dollars will be spent on the Olympia. While there is no work ahead for it, it is felt that it has earned a new dress.—Boston Transcript.

The Kearsarge has gone into commission four years and one month after the contract was signed, and this was comparatively quick work.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The intention of the navy department to employ the Topeka, the Dixie and the Buffalo in the training service and to commission a flotilla of torpedo craft for summer maneuvers is indicative of a wise change in the theories hitherto governing this important duty.—New York Herald.

DISCHARGED TO DIE.

But Mrs. Fitzpatrick Didn't Lose Hope—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Accomplished What the Physicians Couldn't.

If the thousands of people who rush to so worthy a remedy as a last resort would go to it as a first resort, how much misery and suffering would be spared. Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, of Gananoque, after being treated by eminent physicians for heart disease of five years standing, was discharged from the hospital as a hopeless incurable. The lady procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, she declared as a last resort. One dose relieved a very acute spasm in less than half an hour, and three bottles cured her. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

MINTO WILL VISIT IN STATE

His Excellency Will Go to Toronto on the Queen's Birthday.

Dominion Police Will Patrol the Welland Canal From End to End in Future—Ottawa Relief Fund is $855,000—The Body of the Montreal Banker, Mr. Wolferstan Thomas, Will Be Cremated at Boston.

Ottawa relief fund is now $855,000.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock Friday morning the home of Johnston Green at Athens, Ont., was burned. There was an insurance of $400.

The remains of the late Montreal banker, F. Wolferstein Thomas, will be taken to Boston to-day (Saturday), where the body will be cremated.

E. C. Morrison yesterday shot and killed his brother, M. B. Morrison, at their home, two miles east of Edmons, Wash. The quarrel arose out of a game of cards.

Miss Mary Bayes of Bolton, who was so severely burned in the Toronto gas explosion at the residence 365 Euclid avenue, on May 5, has succumbed to her injuries.

The Conference Committee of the National Metal Trades' Association, and the International Association of Machinists reached an agreement satisfactory to all parties at New York.

The Niagara has thrown up the body of Harry Austin Smith, son of Rev. Mr. Smith of Fort Erie, who was drowned in attempting to cross the river in a row boat two months ago.

R. G. Baxter's private bank at Burlington, Ont., was entered by burglars Thursday night. They blew open the vault and safe with nitro-glycerine. Only some coppers were found in the safe.

Lord Minto will visit Toronto on May 24. The Militia Department has ordered that the commandant of No. 2 Military District detail a guard of honor and travelling escort on that occasion.

Phillip W. Shaw, a prominent Mississippi planter, was shot and fatally wounded by William Fisher and his son, negroes, two miles from Minter City, on Thursday night. The negroes have been caught.

Immigration at the Barge Office, New York, has reached the high water mark last week. During that time 15,000 immigrants have arrived at that port. Forty per cent. of the new arrivals were Italians.

The Russian Minister of Finance, M. De Witte, has refused the request of the Volga ship owners and manufacturers to introduce an export duty on petroleum, with the view of reducing the price for home consumption.

The Grand Vizier of Morocco, Ahmed Ben Mussa, died Sunday, May 13. A convulsion in internal affairs is threatened, but it is believed Germany, Italy and Great Britain have agreed to maintain the status quo.

W. H. Reeves, Deputy Auditor of Havana, made a confession at midnight, and gave up $4,500 given him by C. F. W. Neely, the arrested financial agent of Posts at Havana, to perform certain services the day he left.

Frank Duncan and John Manning, alleged safecrackers, charged with the murder of Policeman J. W. Adams, at Birmingham, Ala., on the night of March 27, have been found guilty, the jury fixing Manning's punishment at death, and giving Duncan a life sentence.

Francis C. Marshall, furniture dealer at Kingston, is missing. Thursday night he went in a skiff to Garden Island for a piece of oak. He got it and started for home, but never reached here. There are fears that he was drowned. His empty skiff has been found.

The Dominion Government views the recent outrage at Thorold as a serious matter, and are resolved that it shall not be repeated with impunity. The local militia are to be withdrawn from the Welland Canal, and, in future a squad of Dominion police will patrol it from the one end to the other.

Judge J. E. O'Reilly was on Thursday evening presented by his many friends at Prescott, Ont., with a cabinet of solid silverware and a most flattering address, prior to leaving for Cornwall, where he will in future reside, having been appointed judge of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The largest convention ever held under the auspices of the Cardwell Conservative Association assembled at Mono Mills on Thursday to select the candidate for the party in the approaching Federal campaign. A large number of nominations were handed in, but all retired except Robert Johnston, James Snell and Samuel Egan. A ballot followed and Mr. Johnston was nominated. The decision was made unanimous.

BULLER OCCUPIES NEWCASTLE.

London, May 19. — Gen. Buller, in a despatch to the War Office, dated Newcastle, May 18, says:

"Newcastle was occupied last night and to-day the whole second division and the Third Cavalry Brigade will be concentrated there. I have sent the mounted force through Ngutu to expel a small force of the enemy and to reassure the natives. The enemy have burnt the chapel, broken much glass, plundered many houses and taken cash from the banks, but otherwise they have not done much harm. The railway is badly damaged; the Ingagane and Nkader bridges are destroyed, as are many culverts and the pumping stations and waterworks. Of the 7,000 men flying before us, about 1,000 seem to have gone to Wakerstroom and some by Miller's Pass to the Free State. The remainder, who are described as 'disorganised rabble,' have gone north, and say they intend to make a stand at Laing's Nek."

Buller at Dannhauser.

Dannhauser, Thursday, May 17. — Gen. Buller entered Dannhauser at 10 o'clock this morning. The houses in the town were found to be not much damaged, owing to the sympathies of the Boer inhabitants. A house at Hatting Spruit, however, was destroyed. A number of rebels were found at their homes, and arrested. The railway is little damaged, but several large culverts have been destroyed.

STEYN IS AT PRETORIA.

"Free State" President Conferring Transvaal Government.

Pretoria, May 17. — President Steyn arrived last night, and is now in close conference with the Transvaal Government.

Steyn Leaves Pretoria.

Pretoria, May 18. — President Steyn left here for the Free State last night. Addressing a crowd on the platform, he urged them to be of good cheer.

It is reported that 5,000 British troops have surrounded Christiana and that the Landrost and other officials have been taken prisoners.

Mr. James Milne, the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company, who has been a prisoner here, was liberated and escorted to the border this morning.

THE SEATS COLLAPSED.

Ingersoll School Children Thrown Down When Practising for May 24th.

Ingersoll, Ont., May 19. — A calamity occurred yesterday afternoon in the public park which resulted in several school children being more or less injured. By order of the Managing Committee of the Queen's Birth'day Celebration, a series of seats had been constructed in sections and erected on the lawn in front of the school house for the children who were expected to take part in the demonstration. Principal McDiarmid had been assured that the structure was quite safe, and he began arranging the children on the seats for a practice between 3 and 4 o'clock. Before they had all got fairly seated several sections of the structure collapsed and there was a mass of planks and terrified children mixed up for a few moments and great confusion. Gladys Kennedy received severe injuries to the lower limbs and Gordon Smith, about 12 years old, son of J. S. Smith, chairman of the Board of Education, had his left leg broken above the ankle. A few others were more or less injured. The material was removed from the grounds and it is likely the children's part of the programme on the 24th will be given up.

A British Warship Follows.

Halifax, May 19. — A cablegram to the naval authorities yesterday says that the new British cruiser Charybdis left Bermuda for Halifax to go to the Newfoundland coast. She will follow the French warship Troude, which left port yesterday in the fisheries protection for Newfoundland.

THE FIEND OF NERVOUSNESS.

When a woman's mind is constantly filled with nervous unreasoning dread and apprehension it shows that her entire nervous system is disordered and broken down. Nine times in ten it indicates that there is some special disease or weakness of the important and delicate organs which make her a woman. Nine times in ten it means that some instant and radical measures must be taken to save her from complete mental and physical wreck.

"I was so nervous I couldn't bear to hear the sound of my own voice when alone," says Mrs. Nellie Brittenham, of Davenport, Thayer Co., Nebr. "I felt as though there was some one ready to grab me if the least sound was made. I really cannot describe the feelings I had, but I can say I have no such ugly feelings now and I trust I never may again. I was suffering from female weakness and very much from nervous prostration.

"I was not able to do anything. I could not sit up all day. I had not sat up all day since the birth of my baby, four months before I began to take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took one doctor's medicine for four months but did not get along at all; so, discouraged, I thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took six bottles of the 'Prescription' and nine of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets along with the other medicines, and I can say they have done wonders for me.

"I do all my work now and feel better than for two years. I had not eaten anything for three months except some kind of soup and crackers; now I eat anything I want. I believe I owe my health to Dr. Pierce's medicines."

Discouraged, broken-down women should write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., and learn how carefully he studies into these apparently hopeless cases. He will send without charge, (in a plain sealed envelope) the best advice of a capable, experienced physician.

BOER REPORT TELLS OF MAFEKING'S RELIEF

of a biograph scene in the Transvaal or the first glimpse of a military or naval costume on the stage was sufficient to create an uproar. A leading actor in one of the Strand theatres said: "I did not attempt to read my lines last evening. It was of no use. The public had no interest in me beyond the fact that I wore a military uniform."

Everything Military.

At Her Majesty's Theatre, at the Garrick, where "Zaza" is being played, and at the other houses where legitimate drama holds the boards, the stalls, boxes and galleries sang in chorus, "The Absent-Minded Beggar" and "Soldiers of the Queen" between acts in order to give vent to their enthusiasm, although they settled down to the program afterwards. After, at the music halls, however, no one pretended to take interest in anything but having military color.

Joined in the Applause.

The Princess of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York and the Portuguese Minister, occupied a box at Covent Garden, where "Lohengrin" was being presented, and when the relief of Mafeking was announced, they joined heartily in the applause.

The London fire insurance laws make fire works impossible and the city lacked the blaze of illumination, characteristic of other great cities during similar rejoicings. The Britishers, therefore, relied on lung power and from St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and up through Piccadilly to Hyde Park, there was a Niagara-like roar, incessant, rising and falling, hour after hour, as the surging masses poured through London's thoroughfares.

There was a lack of pyrotechnic glare, but every cabby and every business man in London had a Union Jack fluttering from his whip. Patrons of four wheelers were not content to ride inside the vehicles and the tops were crowded with flag-waving, cheering enthusiasts.

Baden-Powell's Mother and Sister.

Ten thousand people stood in front of Mrs. Baden-Powell's house in St. George's place, cheering and singing, and a score of cabs brought congratulations. Miss Baden-Powell, the colonel's sister, said:

"The same tale has been brought us many times during the last anxious months. The War Office has promised us the earliest information. We only hope it is true."

Later in the evening Col. Baden-Powell's mother sent word that she had retired, and that if any telegrams came she was not to be disturbed till morning.

The boys of the Charter House School, where Baden-Powell was educated, were aroused from sleep by the news, and the institution quickly became a veritable pandemonium of noise and enthusiasm.

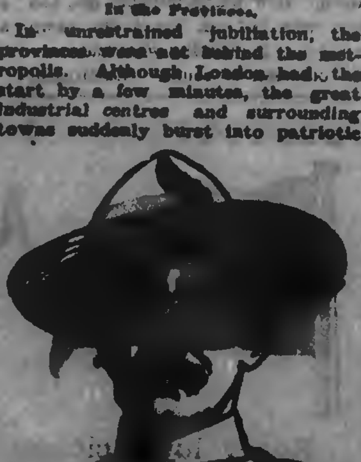
The Lord Mayor's Message.

As quickly as the information of the relief was received, the Lord Mayor sent the following despatch to Col. Baden-Powell:

"The citizens of London relieved. They rejoice in the good news received. Your gallant defence will long live in British annals. Cable what money is needed for the garrison and inhabitants after long privations."

In the Provinces.

In unrestrained jubilation, the provinces were not behind the metropolis. Although London had the start by a few minutes, the great industrial centres and surrounding towns suddenly burst into patriotic demonstrations. Bells clashed in their steeples, village bands turned out and people gathered in the square to chant fervidly, "God Save the Queen."



COL. BADEN-POWELL.

All Parts Are Rejoicing.

From all parts of the Empire come the same story. Bombay, Hong Kong, Colombo and Canadian and Australian cities are rejoicing.

Continental Press Sad Over It.

Continental cities, as the press telegrams abundantly testify, received the news sadly.

Quick Despatch of the News.

Under the head of "How the news was received," The Daily Chronicle says:

The telegram to the Associated Press from Pretoria—the historic despatch announcing the relief of Mafeking—was sent from the capital of the Transvaal at 11.35 a.m., May 18. It reached the London office at 9.16 p.m. and was instantly despatched to every quarter of the globe. By 10.30 p.m. had come a response from far off Toronto of the reception of the news there. It is not surprising, in view of the fact that, four minutes after the receipt of the telegram here, it was in the Associated Press in New York, whence it was forwarded to the furtherest limits of the North American continent.

Everything Else Shut Out.

The relief of Mafeking has had the effect of suspending for a moment interest in the operations elsewhere in the field of war; nevertheless, yesterday brought important official announcements.

New Peace Proposals.

A Lorenzo Marquez correspondent, yesterday said: "New peace proposals will probably be put forward by the Boer Government. The recent reverses are causing despondency. There was a prolonged meeting of the Transvaal Executive at Pretoria Thursday, and the destruction of the mines was again considered. It is understood that the Government does not intend to destroy the mines."

Kruger Will Leave Pretoria.

According to other advices from the same point, President Kruger and the other high officials purpose leaving almost immediately for Lydenburg. The British prisoners will be conveyed there, and the foreign Consuls at Pretoria are leaving for Lydenburg.

Boers Will Surrender

In Kroonstad it is said that President Kruger will surrender when Lord Roberts crosses the Transvaal frontier.

Next Stop at Johannesburg.

Lord Roberts is accumulating immense quantities of supplies, and the preparations for another movement are well advanced. The next stop will be at Johannesburg. Two thousand men are working on the railway deviation at Valsch River. There are 12,000 Boers at Rhenoster Spruit, and reconnoitering parties are sighted daily by the British patrols.

Boers Making Desperate Efforts.

Commandant Nel, with the Johannesberg "Zarps," is actively commandering 15 miles north of Kroonstad. Desperate efforts are being made by the Transvaalers to get every available unit on the fighting line. All exemptions have been cancelled. The civil administration is reduced to the lowest limits.

Dynamited Laing's Nek Tunnel.

The Boers have dynamited Laing's Nek tunnel, and the railway is completely wrecked. The work of repairing will occupy many weeks. The Boers now hold the best positions for defending the pass.

What London Papers Say.

That not only Mafeking, but the whole United Kingdom, is relieved, is demonstrated by the utterances of the morning papers.

The Daily Telegraph says: "Mafeking is a small place. Its fall would have made no difference in the course of the war, but, while the balance of battle was redressed upon the great field of conflict; the unconquerable little town, shut up in the north, saw, the few weeks for which it was expected to hold out pass into months of isolation. Never will England forget the happy, hopeful thrill that came to her when Col. Baden-Powell said: 'Mafeking can't be taken by sitting down and looking at it.'

"There is no advancement which the nation would not hail as a fair reward for the brilliant capacity, cheerfulness and iron courage of the hero of the Empire."

Compared to Lucknow.

The Daily News, which compares Mafeking to Lucknow, says: " 'B.P.' may stand for Baden-Powell, or British Pluck. Splendidly have these resources responded to the need of Mafeking. They have realised the full ideal of a British settlement in a far off land."

It Was a Long Siege.

Mafeking was besieged on Oct. 14, 1899, and from that date to May 18, 1900, the day of the official notice of relief, the length of the siege was 216 days. The siege will go down to history as one of the longest on record, the two exceptions being the siege of Khartoum, which lasted for 341 days, and the siege of Sebastopol, which lasted 327 days. The siege of Paris was of 167 days, and in this present war the siege of Kimberley lasted 123 days. The siege of Plevna was 94 days, and the famous siege of Lucknow 86 days. Saragossa was 62 days, and Cawnpore 21 days.

The Final Blow.

The Standard says as a final blow to the hopes of the enemy, comes the news from Washington that the United States Cabinet met to consider a Pretoria despatch, asking intervention, and that President McKinley and his colleagues decided that they can take no steps whatever. If the Boers want peace, they must sue for it from the Imperial Government.

Delegates Arrive in Washington.

Washington, May 19.—Messrs. Fischer, Wolmarans and Wessels, the Boer peace commissioners, arrived at Washington last night. They were met at the railroad station by members of the Reception Committee, which included some members of Congress, and escorted to the Arlington Hotel. Later they assembled in the banquet hall, where they were given an informal reception. Congressman Sulzer introduced the envoys to those present, and then made an address welcoming the visitors.

IN CANADA.

The Dominion Rejoiced Over the Long-Awaited News That Mafeking Had Been Relieved.

Toronto, May 19. — The news of the relief of Mafeking was received throughout the Dominion with enthusiastic demonstrations of the joy the people felt at the glad news, Telegrams were received here from the cities and towns of the country, from Halifax on the east, to Vancouver on the west, telling in detail the form the local demonstrations took. Some of them were unique, but they all meant one thing—Mafeking is relieved—Canada is glad.

MAY 24 WILL END IT.

This Is From Lorenzo Marques, Giving the Impression of the War Existing There.

London, May 19. — A special despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, dated Thursday, says the last 500 refugees who arrived there, agree in stating that Mafeking has been relieved.

Mafeking Was Relieved Tuesday.

London, May 19. — A special despatch from Amsterdam says a telegram from Boer sources announces that Mafeking was relived Tuesday. The recipient of the telegram is credited with having heard of the relief of Ladysmith before it was announced.

HUTTON'S LATEST CAPTURE.

Secured Commandant Botha and 24 Other Boers.

London, May 19. — Following is the text of Lord Roberts' despatch to the War Office:

"Kroonstad, May 19.—Methuen entered Hoopstad yesterday, unopposed. Gens. Dupreez and Daniels and 40 men have surrendered.

"Broadwood occupied Lindley yesterday, after slight opposition. Only two of our men were wounded. Steyn was not there, and his Government officials had left last Sunday.

Hutton Is Doing Well.

"Hutton's mounted infantry yesterday surprised and captured about 30 miles northwest of this place Commandant Botha, Field Cornet Gassen, five Johannesburg policemen and 17 Boers. There were no casualties on our side.

"Buller reports that several Natal farmers are handing in arms."

HIS FIRST LECTURE.

The Way Artemus Ward Made Is a Brilliant Success.

"I told a story several years ago in my house, when I was living in Philadelphia," said Robert C. Ogden, the famous New York merchant, "about a traveler on a New England railroad. When I ended it, I added, 'So Artemus Ward once said.'

" 'Yes,' spoke up John Sears, a Philadelphia journalist of wide fame and broad attainments. 'Yes,' he repeated, 'that is just what Artemus Ward did say.'

" 'How do you know?' I asked. Now, I had known Mr. Sears for many years, and I had never heard him mention Ward before. 'Tell us all about it.'

" 'I heard him say it. I was there,' said Mr. Sears. 'In 1860 or 1862 Browne, who had made a great reputation by his humorous work in the west and in New York under the name of Artemus Ward, worked for one of the metropolitan papers. I was employed by another one, and we had two friends who were working in other offices. We used to dine together every night. We advised Ward to become a lecturer. We told him that he could make much more money lecturing than writing. But Ward demurred. He was afraid to venture it. One day, however, he went to a lecture bureau and gave his name. He chose for the title of his lecture "The Children In the Wood." That night he told us all about it. Within a few days he received an offer to lecture for the benefit of the Mechanics' library in Brooklyn, and he told us of that too.

" ' "I'm afraid I shall fail utterly," he said. "I know I can't face an audience."

" ' "But you'll have your manuscript," some one said.

" ' "I know it," he replied, "but I'll be too flustered to manage even that."

" ' "In that case," I said, "you can tell stories, just as you tell them to us, and that will carry you through all right."

" 'The night of the lecture we three men went with Ward to Brooklyn, and it was just as he had feared. He forgot his lines, and he was so frightened that he even forgot his manuscript. He faced his audience with a blank look of despair that most of the people took to be assumed. But I knew it was real. Then he started off with a story that had no more to do with "The Children In the Wood" than with the tariff question, and when he ended it he observed, "That is what I should have told you if I were not lecturing upon 'The Children In the Wood.' " From that he went on in his own inimitable fashion, story following story, until he had his audience convulsed with laughter, and the lecture was a brilliant success. That was Artemus Ward's first appearance on the platform. Now, Mr. Ogden, what do you know about it?'

" 'I arranged that lecture,' I replied. 'That is all. I was living in Brooklyn and was interested in the library. We wanted a lecture. I went to the bureau, and, seeing the name of Artemus Ward, I engaged him.' "—Saturday Evening Post.

CELEBRATION ACCIDENTS

Injuries Inflicted by the Explosives That Were Foolishly Thrown on to the Crowded Walks.

The idiotic recklessness with which some few threw the large cannon crackers into the crowds was accountable for several injured people during the celebration last night. These big crackers are dangerous things and no one who is blessed with sense and is sober would endanger the limbs of others by throwing them into a crowd. But it was done, probably in most cases through ignorance of the power of these bombs. This and the fool who pointed fireworks straight into a crowd where many were ladies, was the only feature that marred the celebration. Another time this class will be looked after.

A young lad by the name of Job, son of Mr. Wm. Job, the candy manufacturer, met with a nasty injury about 6:30 o'clock. He was with a crowd of young lads on Hunter-st., when a large fire cracker exploded close to his feet. A piece of the bomb went into the calf of the boy's leg, making an ugly wound, which may possibly prove serious.

About 9:30 Dr. Young when passing up George-st. was struck by one of the large crackers. Fortunately the thing did not strike the calf of the leg or he would have had an ugly wound. As it was it gouged a great bruise up the front of the limb, and dropped the doctor to the sidewalk as if he had been shot. He was taken into Edmison's drug store and, after the wound had been dressed and the shock to the limb had subsided, he was able to walk home.

Seared faces from burns, damaged fingers and burned clothing were quite common.

The power of these large crackers was demonstrated by one that was put on the iron letter box in front of Salisbury's store. The force of the explosion broke the iron box. Knowing this people in future will, if they have any sense, be more careful where they throw these bombs when in a crowd.

Mr. Jas. Russell, janitor of the George-st. school, had his leg badly lacerated by one of the dynamite crackers and had to be conveyed to his home and have the wound attended to.

Mr. W. Savigny also had his leg injured by a bomb.

Mr. R. B. McKee had the sleeve torn out of his coat and his arm injured by another.

The concussion from the big gun when fired on Charlotte-st. broke some of the windows and brought down some of the plaster in the Green terrace on Water-st.

Chief Rennel says he will prosecute parties using these large dynamite crackers on the streets again. Celebrations are all right but the use of such explosives in such a reckless manner is too serious to be tolerated.

"Catch the opportunity." By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now you may build up your health and prevent serious illness.

PETERBOROUGH'S ENTHUSIASTIC AND LOYAL OUTBURST

The News of the Relief of Mafeking was Received with Great Joy---Bells Rang Out, Whistles Blew, Bands Played, Crowds Cheered, Guns Boomed and the Night Was Made Bright with a Thousand Lights of Fireworks.

"It is officially announced that Mafeking is relieved."

This was the electrifying message which was flashed over the wires shortly after five o'clock yesterday evening. The Review lost no time in having the glad tidings bulletined, and the enthusiasm was not long in spreading the good news. Flags were run out or hoisted on the loftiest staffs, and, as one man remarked, everybody seemed to put on a great grin of pleasant satisfaction.

The plucky stand which Col. Baden-Powell and his small garrison had made against great odds, the cheerfulness with which they have endured privation and hardship and ate their half rations of mule steak and horse flesh in order to keep "the old flag flying" had won the admiration of the world, but especially had made them heroes in the eyes of their fellow subjects. The daring which marked the last days of the seige when they fought and repulsed a desperate foe who knew that the half-starved Britishers were likely to be soon relieved if not overpowered at once had heightened the interest taken in the long struggle. Then, when it had been feared that the worst would have to be faced and the plucky Baden-Powell and his men would have at last to give in, when it seemed that relief was going to come too late to find the old flag still floating at Mafeking, then came the good news of its relief. Small wonder that the news sent men wild with enthusiasm. Britons had once more shown their mettle, and their pluck and endurance had not been in vian.

THE DEMONSTRATION BEGINS.

The demonstration which followed the receipt of the news was spontaneous. At 5.50 pandemonium was let loose. The town bell opened the joyful chorus. Then the Lock works whistle struck in, followed by all the whistles and bells in the town. It was a tremendous din, and citizens who had not heard the news were not long in guessing what had caused the outbreak of sound. Excitement ran high. Amid the clanging of the bells and the steady sound of the whistles the fire brigade turned out and made the streets hum with the burst of speeds of the horses. A raid was made on the stores and firecrackers, cannons and explosives of all kinds lent their boom to the demonstration. It was great.

THE EVENING CELEBRATION.

But the enthusiastic outburst of loyalty did not end in this first demonstration. It was but a fore-taste of what was to follow. It was the beginning of one of the greatest and most demonstrative nights ever seen in the old town. Shortly after seven the bands came out. The streets were crowded with cheering, happy Britishers, and it was easily seen that there was to be "a hot time in the old town." And it came.

The Sons of England band paraded the the streets playing patriotic airs while the crowd cheered. The 57th Regiment was much in evidence. Both bands marched to the drill shed where the officers and men of the corps were gathered in large numbers, many of them in uniform. Nowhere was the enthusiasm more intense than among the local "Tommies," and a procession was soon organized by the 57th and the citizens. The procession was headed by two large Union Jacks, and Sergt. Patton, in sailor uniform, carried a large portrait of the Queen. Then came the band and the bugle and drum corps, then the soldiers and the citizens.

SIGHTS ON GEORGE-ST.

In the meantime things had not been asleep on George-st. Cannon crackers filled the air with alarming booms, while fireworks of every description were making tracks of colored flame from all the buildings and the pavements on each side of the street. It did not require a great stretch of imagination to picture a battle scene, with the sharp report of the small firecrackers, the heavy thun-

UNTO LIFE OR UNTO DAMNATION

THE RESURRECTION WHEN ALL IN THE GRAVES SHALL HEAR CHRIST'S VOICE

The Evangelistic Services at St. Paul's—Rev. Mr. Geil Speaks on Being Prepared to Answer the Voice of God.

Despite the excitement outside, the evangelistic service at St. Paul's church last night was attended by a large congregation, the church being filled.

Rev. Mr. Geil spoke on the Resurrection. He first told the story of the blind man by the roadside who called to Jesus to have mercy on him. Christ put clay over his two eyes and told him to go to the pool of Siloam and wash it off. The blind man went and washed off the clay and saw. Now, and I speak very reverently said Mr. Geil, that was a partnership miracle performed by the firm of Jesus Christ and Co.

The speaker next told of the raising of Lazarus from the dead. Christ shouted into the grave "Lazarus come forth." He had been dead four days but the flush of life came into the pale cheeks, strength came into the body and he arose and walked out.

This was not a partnership miracle. It was an assertion of Divine power. The first man elected to wash in Siloam but Lazarus was compelled to come forth. Jesus uses two voices, the still small voice in which he speaks to men of grace and the awful voice that shall be heard on Resurrection Day.

The speaker then quoted his text, John V., 28, "For the hour is coming in which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice and shall come forth, they that have done good unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation." No one can dodge the hour in which all that are in the grave shall hear His voice. There is no voice, said Rev. Mr. Geil, I would rather hear. The hour is coming when all shall hear it. Thank God for that. I am glad that Christ is to attend to this resurrection himself. No one else is to be trusted with it.

"And shall come forth." Adam and Eve and Peter and Paul and all who saw Jesus on earth shall come. They shall come from the plains and from the highlands and out of old ocean they shall arise.

There shall be a resurrection both of the just and the unjust. The grave of the Christian is held by Jesus Christ and his angel guard. Jesus Christ went down into the grave and fought that terrible battle and came forth victorious, but he did not leave the grave without leaving some of his father's troops in charge. The grave to the unjust is that narrow, damp, dark passage that leads down into awful darkness. But to the saved one the grave has no terrors. It is guarded by angels of light.

We are like seeds. One handful of seeds is noxious weeds, the other is bright flowers. We are all seeds now but when the resurrection hour strikes all our deeds shall be made manifest. There shall be a resurrection of life and a resurrection of damnation. They shall all arise to receive the final orders. O God help us to be ready.

Brevities

—Dr. Jennie Birnie will give the last of her series of health talks at the Y. W.C.A., on Tuesday, at 3 o'clock. Subject, Nerves and Nervousness.

—The service in St. Andrew's church to-morrow morning will partake in some measure of a memorial character in memory of the late Mrs. R. H. Green.

—School Section, No. 9, Smith, Mr. P. G. Might, teacher, to-day sent $3.50 to the Ottawa fire fund, the proceeds of a collection in the school.

—The annual meeting of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held in Norwood, on Friday, June 1st at one o'clock, p.m.

—To-morrow afternoon at 4.15, Rev. Mr. Geil, the evangelist, will deliver an address at the Y.M.C.A. hall to men only. Subject, Personal Purity.

—According to the assessment for this year Campbellford's total assessment is $784,026 and the total population 2,460, a slight increase over last year.

—Mr. John Kincaid goes up to Stony Lake next week to erect a large addition to Mr. D. Breese's cottages at "Glenwood."

—To-day's Globe has a capital group picture of four Peterborough boys who are serving in South Africa, Ptes. D. Spence, A. Hall, R. G. Johnston, and A. Trender.

—The steamers Eclipse and Beaver brought up large numbers of passengers from Rice Lake points to-day. The Rainbow brought up a scowload of telegraph poles.

—The directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Co., made their annual spring visit to the cemetery yesterday for the purpose of outlining the work to be done this year. They found everything in the most satisfactory condition.

—Mr. Stone has returned from [illegible] after presenting the [illegible] release of Wm. Mitchell to the Minister of Justice, Hon. David Mills. The Minister will forward the papers to Magistrate Dumble and ask him to report on the case.

—A lady's purse containing two fifty cent pieces and fifteen trading stamps was found on the street this morning and handed to the Chief. The owner applied at the police station at 10.30 and recovered her property, feeling special joy at regaining the trading stamps.

—The well-known self-denial week of the Salvation Army will be observed by that body from May 27th to June 2nd. The balance sheets of the Salvation Army in the various countries in which it operates show that the total saving effected by self-denial last year amounted to the startling sum of $[illegible]. This is all the more astonishing when it is taken into consideration that the great majority of the Army's followers are poor people.

JAPAN'S GOLD.

Japan proposes to operate her new gold mines on the home rule plan.—Ridgewood (N. J.) News.

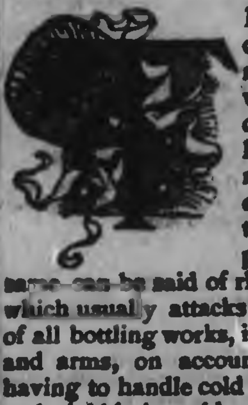
Kingston, May 19. — The five men who left Tete du Pont Barracks without leave and who now occupy the cells at the guard room, blame a non-commissioned officer of French descent for their trouble. He was harsh and, being recruits, and unaccustomed to such a life, they made up their minds not to stand it. Lt.-Col. Stone will investigate the complaint.

THE WATER DID IT.



THERE is an old adage recorded which teaches that lightning never strikes twice in the same place. The same can be said of rheumatism, which usually attacks employees of all bottling works, in the hands and arms, on account of them having to handle cold substances and dabble in cold water all the year round. Mr. Oscar Perry, formerly employed at J. R. Hinds' bottling works, Kingston, Ont., was a sufferer in this respect. Rheumatism affected him in the arms and shoulders, and besides the pain experienced he suffered pecuniary loss. After having tried various treatments without obtaining relief, he was induced to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial. Less than half a bottle gave him relief, and before the entire contents of the first bottle were used he was freed from rheumatism, and it has not since troubled him. He did not look for such rapid results, and would have been satisfied with obtaining relief, whereas the medicine has effected a cure.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

SIR WILFRID'S HANDSPRING

Election Scandals to Be Investigated by a Court of Judges.

Premier's Followers Had Said There Was Nothing to Investigate, But He Turned Them Down and Placed Them in the Position of Prevaricators—But Public Opinion Had Forced Sir Wilfrid's Hand.

Ottawa, May 19. — The House, which met Thursday at 3 o'clock, continued in session until after 6 o'clock a.m. on Friday, meeting again at 3 p.m. yesterday. The all-night session was caused by the debate on the Brockville-West Huron election investigating motion of Mr. Borden.

The Premier's Handspring.

The debate continued with more or less zipp until Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that there should be an exhaustive, thorough and prompt investigation of the election charges made concerning Brockville and West Huron by the highest judges in the land. The evil-doers should be punished even though special legislation should have to be passed to give them their just deserts.

Sir Charles Tupper pressed for particulars as to the reference of election frauds to a judicial committee. He was ready to withdraw Borden's amendment if Sir Wilfrid would supply the details of his position.

Sir Wilfrid would do no such thing, declaring that he had offered no compromise and insisting that a division be taken. The division was accordingly taken, and was as follows:

The amendment was defeated by 86 nays to 48 yeas.

The House rose at 6.20 a.m.

FRIDAY'S SESSION.

Bill to Amend the Criminal Code Advanced a Stage.

Ottawa, May 19. — When the House opened yesterday afternoon, Sir Charles Tupper read a telegram from W. D. McPherson, Toronto, in which he denied the allegations made by Mr. Cowan Thursday night, in his speech commenting upon Parr's affidavit.

Sir Wilfrid wished to allay all fears regarding the rumored epidemic of diphtheria in the garrison of Mounted Police at Regina. He read a letter from the controller of the force, in which it was stated that 10 soldiers were sick in the hospital with colds. Three of these had diph with colds. Three of these had diphtheria, but not in a serious form. These were recruits from the Lower Provinces.

Amending the Criminal Code.

The bill to amend the Criminal Code occupied most of the afternoon. The clause making a person who negligently allows a criminal to escape liable to one year's imprisonment was carried. The old law gave an option of five years' imprisonment or a fine.

Mr. Fraser gave notice that he would ask that the Senate's Money Lenders' bill be incorporated in the amendments.

Mr. A. F. Maclaren's bill making it a criminal offence to jump a board bill, met with opposition. Sir Louis Davies thought it would give boarding-house keepers the right to indict any boarder who for whatever reason could not pay his bill.

Whipping of Boys.

The clause relative to the whipping of boys was discussed. The opinion was general that moral rather than physical suasion should rule.

Mr. Gilmour, M.P., was responsible for the striking out of the clause in the Criminal Code relating to the whipping of the boys. It has long been a hobby of Mr. Gilmour's that a boy can be trained by kindness, where a birch rod would be useless. In speaking against the clause, he pressed this point home in a way that carried conviction.

The suggestion that the amendments would not be effective till Jan. 1, 1901, met with approval.

The committee reported progress, and got leave to sit again.

On motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the House adjourned at 6, to meet again Monday.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

CARTER MEDICINE CO. WINS.

Obtains Injunction in Case Involving Simulation of Labels.

Brent Good, president of the Carter Medicine Company, yesterday received a telegram from his lawyers in Chicago, Messrs. Lowden, Estabrook & Davis, informing him that a final injunction, with costs, had been granted against the Chicago Label and Box Company. This company makes a specialty of manufacturing labels, boxes, etc., for druggists. The Carter Company has been following them through the courts for two years on the complaint that the label company was making simulations of the labels of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They have now obtained a final injunction, with costs, and the costs are very large, as the case has been submitted to a Master in Chancery for a final accounting.

The Carter Medicine Company has been the first and only one to prosecute printers or engravers who have prepared such labels and wrappers. It marks a new departure in infringement cases, and their victory is one of great importance to the whole "proprietary trade," and also of interest to retail druggists.—New York Press, May 3, 1900.

LIFE ON A FARM.

AS TOLD BY ONE WHO HAS UNDERGONE ITS HARDSHIPS.

Hard Work and Exposure to All Kinds of Weather Plays Havoc with the Strongest Constitutions—How Health May be Obtained.

While life as a farmer is one of considerable independence, it is very far from being one of ease. The very nature of the calling is one that exposes its followers to all sorts of weather, and it is perhaps not surprising that so many farmers suffer from chronic ailments. Mr. Thos. McAdam, of Donagh, P.E.I., is a fair example of this class. Mr. McAdam himself says:—"I was always looked upon as one having a rugged constitution; but the hard work, coupled with the exposure incident to life on a farm, ultimately proved too much for me. About eighteen months ago I was attacked with pains in the small of the back and thighs. At first they were of an intermittent nature, and while they were extremely painful, would pass away after a day or two, and might not bother me again for weeks. As the attacks, after each interval, grew more and more severe, I became alarmed and consulted a doctor who said the trouble was lumbago. His treatment would give temporary relief but nothing more, and ultimately I was almost a cripple. To walk, or even to move about in a chair, turn in bed caused intense agony, and in going about I had to depend upon a cane. If I attempted to stoop or pick anything up the pain would be almost unbearable. This condition of affairs had its effect upon my whole system and for a man in the prime of life, my condition was deplorable. I think I had tried at least half a dozen remedies before I found relief and a cure, and this came to me through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which a friend urged me to try. I felt some relief before the first box was all gone and by the time I had taken five boxes, I was as well and smart as ever, and although months have now passed I have not had any return of the trouble. My cure is entirely due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the only regret I have is that I did not try them at the outset. Had I done so I would not only have been saved much suffering, but considerable money as well."

MATRON AND MAID.

Lady Estella and Lady Dorothea Hope make a pastime of the management of their Shetland pony farm.

Lady Henry Somerset said recently that she gained her first impulse toward philanthropic work from reading John Stuart Mill's works during her girlhood.

Lady Roberts and Lady Wantage are the only two English peeresses who have the distinction of possessing the Royal Red Cross for service on the field of battle.

Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff, wife of New York's lieutenant governor, recently presented to Gallagher of the Albany police force $50 as a reward for finding her diamond pendant.

Miss Ethilda B. Meakin, one of the successful candidates for the degree of M. B. at the London university in 1898, is filling the post of medical officer to the Grove hospital, Lower Tooting, England.

It has just been made public that the sum of 50,000 francs, the interest of which is to be used by the University of Paris for the aid of poor students, was the gift of the late Baroness von Hirsch.

Miss Hattie Baumgarten of New Milford, Conn., has a novel plan for reforming saloons. The scheme is to have the best citizens frequent the saloons, not to drink, but to form a social surrounding of a high order.

Miss Edith Rhodes, one of the sisters of Cecil Rhodes, has better and larger diamonds, it is said, than most of the royalty. These were given to her by her brother and taken from the famous Wesselton mine at Kimberley.

The widowed Duchess of Westminster purposes to follow the turf under the name of "Mr. Norman." She will have many fine race horses from her husband's stud and will race under his colors. The last racing woman of so high a degree was the dowager Duchess of Montrose.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt has announced that it is her firm conviction that before the end of the twentieth century the United States will edify the world by electing a woman as president.

Lady Louisa Madeline Tighe died on March 2. She was a daughter of the Duke of Richmond and was born in 1803. She danced at the famous ball at Brussels the night before the battle of Waterloo, and girded on the Duke of Wellington's sword when he started for the field of battle.

When Mrs. Joubert was in Amsterdam a few years ago, a friend took great pleasure in showing her the fine collection of pewter in the big Rijks museum. Her only comment was, "Good to make bullets of." She ought to be a judge, for in the early wars with the natives she often was one of the women who made bullets for the use of the Boer army.

THE BEEHIVE.

Contract the space in the hive to the size of the colony.

A good and fertile queen keeps the hive full of bees during the season.

Do not offer to feed liquid food to bees in winter; it is almost sure death to a colony.

Bees abhor being molested at night, and no work can then be done with them with any satisfaction.

In every case where comb is to be built furnish the bees with foundation, using full sheets in the frames.

Clipping the wings of the queen prevents losing first swarms by absconding, but does not always prevent losing the queen.

Bees seem to seek naturally a span between two combs, and the queen seldom goes to the outside comb of a hive unless she is compelled to for want of room; so that a nucleus of two or three combs is better than one.

Propolis is the gum or varnish that bees collect for varnishing over the inside of their hives, filling cracks and crevices, cementing loose pieces of the hive together and for making things fast and close generally. It collects in time in old hives and combs.

PEN, PENCIL AND BRUSH.

Now that John Ruskin is dead a "Ruskin union" has been formed in London for the purpose of studying his works.

Emperor William has commissioned William Pape, the artist, to paint the scene of Archbishop Simar rendering homage.

The name of Samuel Smiles has been so long forgotten by the reading public that many will probably be surprised to learn that the author of "Self Help" is still alive. He lives in London.

Winston Spencer Churchill, the British war correspondent now in the Transvaal, has published his first novel. It bears the title "Savrola" and depicts the political intrigue and revolution in the imaginary republic of Laurania.

The clay model for the bust of the late Joseph Medill of Chicago has been badly damaged in some way in the studio of the sculptor, Richard H. Park of Chicago, and he will have to reproduce it from memory.

THE CYNIC.

Nearly every "No Credit" sign is a lie.

Sentiment harms more people than it helps.

Men who have had remarkable experiences are usually remarkable liars.

Nine people out of ten who inquire sympathetically "Can I do anything?" do not mean it.

When a man does anything noteworthy, he nearly always makes himself disagreeable in looking for credit.

Let any man get far enough away from the scene of his crime, and he will believe down in his heart that he is innocent.—Atchison Globe.

THREE CITIES.

There are 90,000 trees in the city of Paris, including 15,000 willows, 17,000 chestnuts and 26,000 plane trees.

The city of Akron, O., is entitled to the credit for installing the first automobile police patrol. It is of the largest size, having a seating capacity of 20 persons and was built at a cost of $2,200.

Los Angeles has the reputation of being almost tropical, but it is not a warm city either in summer or winter. The temperature is seldom above 78 at any season, and that is about equal to 68 in New York. May and June seem to be the coldest months in the year.

A Roofed Lake.

A roofed lake is certainly a novelty. We read much of them in fiction. Lakes are made to exist in caverns and subterranean passages, but rarely do we hear of such in fact. However, such a thing as a roofed lake does exist, and this is not subterranean. There is a lake at Obdorsk, in Siberia, nine miles wide and 17 miles long. Time was when the rapid evaporation of the water left great salt crystals floating on the surface which gradually came together and formed into one gigantic cake. The water of the lake still further evaporated, but the cake of salt kept its own level, thus forming a roof to the lake. Another lake on the Mangishlak peninsula, in the Caspian sea, is similarly roofed with salt crystals which are of such consistency as to permit of man and beast crossing over them with safety.

YOU MUST DIE

Said his Physician—South American Kidney Cure Gave the Doctor the Lie—It Cured Bright's Disease.

La Grippe will leave its brand on the weakened spot. A bright young man in a Western Ontario city, son of a well-known lumberman, found that the influenza epidemic had developed in him that most fatal of all kidney troubles—Bright's Disease. Local physicians treated, but to no purpose. He consulted specialists, only to be told that his life hung on a slender thread, and recovery was impossible. But he pinned his faith to the adage, while there's life there's hope. He began using South American Kidney Cure, and in three months from the day he commenced using it, the same physician who said he must die, pronounced him cured. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

He Walked The Floor

In Agony With Pains in the Back—Sleep Impossible—Medicine of no Avail Until He got Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Patrick J. McLaughlan, Beam[illegible], [illegible], states:—"I was troubled with Kidney Disease and Dyspepsia for [illegible] years and have been so bad that I could not sleep at nights on account of pains in the back, but would walk the floor all night and suffered terrible agony.

"I tried all sorts of medicines but got no relief until I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They made a new man [illegible] and the old troubles seem to be driven out of my system."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have an enormous sale and owe their popularity to the fact that they can be absolutely relied upon to cure all ailments of the kidneys, liver and stomach. They are purely vegetable in composition, prompt and effective in action, and cure permanently. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co. Toronto.

Piles for 15 Years.

Mr. Jas. Bowles, Councillor, Embro, writes:—"For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely.

A DANGEROUS ENEMY

That Threatens the Lives of our Fellow-Citizens.

Bladder Troubles Cause Wide-Spread Suffering—Dodd's Kidney Pills are the Only Medicine that Can Cure Them—Mr. John H. Barber's Case.

Montreal, May 18.—There are few people in Montreal who have not known the agony of bladder trouble.

This complaint attacks four out of every five persons, and, unless it be checked in time, it leads to more serious and dangerous conditions, such as inflammation of the bladder, stricture, etc.

Weak or defective kidneys are the cause of bladder troubles.

The one way to get rid of bladder troubles, to cure them for all time, therefore, is to strengthen and heal the kidneys.

This, like everything else, is easy to do, if you take the right way, for there is only one way to do it.

Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only known remedy that can restore the kidneys to complete health.

Thousands have proved this fact by experience.

All who have done so, speak in the same terms as Mr. John H. Barber, of this city, who says:—"I suffered for two years with bladder and kidney troubles, and could get nothing to give me relief.

"I suffered more than I can tell, till I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used only a few boxes, but they made me a strong and healthy man.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are worth their weight in gold."

THE ART OF WAR.

For the first time in the history of the British army there is actually a desire among officers that commissions should be given men who have served in the ranks.

The mounted police of Cape Colony are picked men, used to fighting and proud of the high reputation of their corps. The force consists of 2,000 enlisted men and 68 officers.

Twelve pounds only is the weight of the new automatic machine gun under experiment in the United States army. It fires 450 shots a minute and can be carried by one man.

Russia is probably the only country that could raise a regiment composed entirely of generals, who number 1,248.

Old Materials Profitably Used.

DIAMOND DYES

Are The Favorites of All Mat and Rug Makers.

Mrs. P. L. Stanhope, of Victoria, B.C., writes thus:—

"I recently discovered that I had sufficient old materials such as flannel, cloth, yarns and discarded underwear stored away from which I could make a couple of fair sized rugs for the floor. I sent to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, for two of their handsome rug designs. After they were received, I washed my old materials and colored them with Diamond Dyes to match the shades on the rug patterns. I hooked the two rugs, and they are so handsome that all my friends admire them. The Diamond Dyes are, I think, the best and most reliable for home dyeing. I certainly recommend them to all who make mats and rugs."

BITS FROM SHELDON.

Gifts that involve no sacrifice return neither happiness nor pleasure.

Where the body is wrung with pain, where it is filled with disease, one cannot be happy.

Doctors head the list of suicides, because they see the ill side of life—its physical side.

We here in America seem to have evolved in the course of our fast living a disease that once was not known—nervous prostration.

It is always very hard to tell which of these two is the more miserable man on earth — the discontented rich or the friendless beggar.

The little child who buys tin toys for a cent in the stores gets more pleasure out of giving them to some other little child than the rich man who ostentatiously give presents worth thousands of dollars.—Rev. Charles M. Sheldon.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE.

A Four Years' Cripple From Acute Rheumatism—South American Rheumatic Cure was the True Physician.

Mrs. J. H. Harte, of 23 Charles-st., Toronto, wife of Dr. Harte, suffered severely from rheumatism for [illegible] years. For four years she could not walk without the use of a cane. At times the pains were intense, and she suffered tortures. No remedy or treatment gave any relief. She was induced to try South American Rheumatic Cure. She used four bottles and to-day is free from pain, and she closes her signed testimony by saying:—"I am entirely cured and can move about as blithely as ever in my life." Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

MATRON AND MAID.

Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske has joined the antivivisection society in New York.

The widow of Benjamin Wood and her sister and daughter have assumed entire control of the New York Daily News and will hereafter edit and publish it.

Mrs. Frances M. Wolcott has secured an absolute divorce from Senator Edward O. Wolcott on the ground of desertion. No evidence was introduced for the defense.

Mrs. A. L. Vrooman Wood of Minneapolis has been appointed judge of the decorated china to be exhibited at the Paris exposition by the National League of Mineral Painters. The selection of Mrs. Wood was made by Commissioner General Peck.

Miss Eva Hooper of London is now on her way to Australia, where she is to organize the kindergarten work in the public schools of Victoria and to give kindergarten training. Miss Hooper recently spent about a year in this country studying the schools.

Mrs. Humphry Ward suggests the establishment in every town of Great Britain of an organization to study Christian dogma and Christian history with the aid of such books as Harnack's "History of Dogma" and Schurer's "The Jewish People In the Time of Christ."

Mrs. Alexander Cappertos, who died in Kirkhill, Scotland, the other day, was one of the few links connecting the present with the time of Sir Walter Scott. She entered his service when 16 and was with him when he died and received a lock of his hair from Mrs. Lockhart.

A woman has been appointed assignee of the savings bank at Hinsdale, N. H., by the supreme court. She is Miss Cora A. Wellman, who has occupied the position of treasurer of the institution, having succeeded her father. She was recommended for appointment by the incorporators of the bank.

The Duchesse d'Orleans, who is now making a cruise in the Mediterranean on her fine yacht Maroussia, is a very clever draftswoman, and a daily amusement of hers is the designing and execution of dainty little menu cards for the day's use. She never fails to produce these cards, whether at home or on the sea.

A new aspirant for legal honors is Mrs. Catherine V. Waite, a western woman, 71 years old, who will soon go to Denver and establish a law office there, with her husband as a partner. Mrs. Waite is the owner of large tracts of land, many horses and a block of real estate in Chicago. Her husband was at one time a judge in Idaho.

Lady Dundonald, whose husband, the earl, has been distinguishing himself with Buller in Natal, got into a quarrel with the town authorities of Abergele, Wales, recently over land needed to widen a road passing through the chief attraction of the place, an avenue of old sycamores on her land. On the town council's threatening to acquire the land needed by condemnation the countess had all the old trees cut down.

It looks very much as if influenza was being overworked. All sorts of fatalities are charged to it, just as they were charged to malaria or heart failure, years ago. The doctors like to have a scapegoat handy.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Parisian hotels of the $3 a day class, it is understood, will raise prices to $9 a day after April 1, and even the price of seats at theaters will be tripled at the same time. People who "ran boarding houses" or places of amusement in Chicago during the World's fair will take off their hats in awestricken admiration of the Frenchmen's enterprise.—Chicago News.

Physicians Prescribe It

It has become quite common for physicians to prescribe Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for patients who are run down by the ravages of chronic disease. They recognize in it a restorative of inestimable worth in which are found the very elements of nature required to build up the system and form new flesh and muscle. Its revitalizing action on nerves and blood places it beyond the reach of rivals as an absolute cure for diseases of the nerves and blood. 50 cents a box.

A GRACE CHURCH SUCCESS

Last Night's Tea and Entertainment Was an Enjoyable Event.

The Grace Church Methodist Sunday school held a very successful tea last night in aid of the Library Fund.

Tea was served from 5.30 to 7.30 in the North Ward School gymnasium, and the entertainment was held in the church, commencing at a quarter past eight.

The half hour before the opening of the entertainment was spent in singing patriotic songs. They were sung too with an energy which showed the intensity of feeling which had been stirred up by the announcement of the relief of Mafeking.

Rev. Mr. Shorey officiated as chairman and the musical numbers rendered and the recitations given were excellent and enjoyable in character and appreciatively received. There were two numbers by a male quartette, Messrs. A. L. Davis, W. Squires, F. Skitch and W. W. Daly, two by a quartette composed of Misses Hall and Stevens and Messrs. Squires and Skitch, a solo by Miss Gertie Kendrey, two recitations by Miss White and an amusing and well presented dialogue by Misses McClelland, Detcher and Parnell.

The evening was a most enjoyable one throughout.

60 Specialists on the Case.

In the ordinary run of medical practice a greater number than this have treated cases for chronic dyspepsia and have failed to cure—but Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets (60 in a box at 35 cents cost) —have made the cure and put to rout the mistaken notion that proprietary remedies are trash, and may help but never heal. These little "specialists" have proven their real merit. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

der of the cannon crackers and the flash of the Roman candles, rockets and squibs. It was a sight to behold, and one that was marked by the most good-natured enthusiasm. Even the ladies entered into the spirit of the occasion and were most demonstrative in their joy. A huge bon-fire was started in the centre of the four corners at George and Simcoe-sts and gave an illumination for blocks.

Such was the scene on the main street when the procession from the drill shed turned on to it. But the procession eclipsed all that had gone before. As it moved down it opened a volley of Roman candles, and the spectacle was a glorious one. The band played "The Red, White and Blue" and the people cheered. Down the street to the market and then back again went the procession, with Major Edwards, Major Miller and other officers in uniform with the men.

When the main procession had disbanded, the demonstration did not cease. The bugle and drum corps were good for another hour, and the soldier boys paraded, formed circles around the great bonfire, cheered for the Queen, for Baden-Powell, for Roberts, and sang all the patriotic airs. All the time the streets remained crowded, and the supply of fireworks and explosives seemed inexhaustible. It was a night that will long be remembered, but it was just one of a thousand celebrations that were held throughout the British empire last night.

Peterborough, however, did full honor to the occasion, and even eclipsed the outburst seen when Ladysmith was relieved, although, of course, the latter was handicapped as to some features by the great snow storm that raged on that eventful night.

NOTES OF THE CELEBRATION.

A vigilance committee should look after the fools or worse who in a celebration like last night find pleasure in pointing Roman candles or rockets at a crowd or in a lady's face. These big cannon crackers are also dangerous when thrown into a crowd, and men who should have had better sense seemed to delight in endangering the lives and limbs of others by throwing these missiles into the crowd where it was thickest. The accidents reported are due to this kind of work. No one wants to dampen the enthusiasm on an occasion like last night, but idiotic foolishness that endangers lives should be handled without gloves.

The band was equal to the occasion, and made music unsparingly.

The cannon of the Durham Field Battery from the drill shed was brought out about ten o'clock and taken to the river bank near Charlotte-st. where several rounds were fired. Sergt.-Major Hutchinson was the veteran in command.

It is a wonder more people were not injured.

Damages to hats and clothing by sparks and fire were common, but many of them were not discovered till this morning.

Major Edwards was one of the first to receive the news, and it came to him red hot. The telegraph office below sent the news to his office with a cheer and yell that made the commanding officer of the 57th imagine that he was being visited by a delegation of red skins. But when he heard the good news the Major was out to the street, hat in hand, to give three cheers for the gallant Baden-Powell and his men.

Many citizens made fine displays of fireworks from their residences.

DEMOLISHED THE WAGGON

Horse Attached to Hetherington's Milk Waggon Causes a Spill.

Shortly after noon to-day the horse attached to Hetherington's milk delivery wagon took fright in the lane back of Water-st. and made a grand runaway. One half the wagon was left in front of the police station and the horse carried the other part down as far as Charlotte-st., where it managed to get free of the relics. The vehicle was pretty completely demolished.

QUEER MARRIAGE CUSTOMS.

Young Bulgarian Peasants Arrange Nuptials by Proxy.

There are few places within the limits of semicivilization that boast of more interesting marriage customs than Bulgaria. Every young peasant wishes to marry as early as possible, as he is of little importance in the community until he has a wife. But he is not in danger of forming an alliance in opposition to his parents' wishes, as his earnings belong to them until he is wedded, and his wife must be bought and paid for according to their station in life. The parents usually give him the necessary sum as soon as they can afford it, so that the restriction is less galling than it seems.

A "wife purchase" varies from $200 to $1,500, in proportion to the wealth of the contracting families, for the marriage is strictly a family affair. In addition to this sum a smaller amount is given to the bride's mother for her personal use.

After the pecuniary arrangements have been made by the proxies the betrothal takes place on either a Wednesday or Thursday. It consists of the exchange of written pledges regarding the sum to be paid by the bridegroom on the one hand and the household furnishings to be supplied by the bride on the other.

Rings then are blessed by the priest and exchanged by the couple, the fiancee kisses the hands of the guests assembled and retires with her young friends to a feast prepared in another room. The young people then dance outside the house and sing.

The fiance's presents are then produced and their value estimated by the father of the bride. These consist of shoes, headdress and necklace of coins, silver belt, bracelets and other jewelry. The father usually regards their value as insufficient, probably to enhance his daughter's worth in her suitor's eyes, and the lover adds coin by coin until an agreement is reached. The marriage does not take place until six months after the betrothal.

During the week preceding the day set for the wedding the house for the young couple is furnished by the bride's parents. Then her house is cleaned and whitewashed and every hidden stone brought out for decoration. Cakes are made and sent around as invitation cards, requesting the guests to come to the wedding on Sunday, the invariable wedding day. The articles composing the trousseau are hung up for inspection on cords stretched across the principal room on Friday by the feminine part of the community. On the following day two of the bride's friends come to help her dress her hair, plaiting it in minute braids, not to be undone until after the ceremony. Then the village maids come with gifts of sweets and flowers, and all sit down on the floor to a dinner of vegetables.

On Sunday the bride is seated in state in all her gorgeous apparel, and with a spangled red veil over her face, to be seen of all the village folk. She wears all the ornaments given by her fiance and as many more as she possesses. The religious ceremony is that of the Greek church and may take place in the church or in the home of the bridegroom's father. After its performance the party returns to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding feast is held. Singing and dancing follow until time to escort the bride to her new home.—New York Tribune.

German Searchlight on Hamlet.

This Shakespeare story comes from the Frankfurter Zeitung: The question has often been asked why Shakespeare removed Hamlet, who was born in Jutland, to the castle of Kronberg, near Helsingor, or Elsinore, in Seeland, and how he came to have such a curiously exact knowledge of the local conditions of the little seaport.

These questions are answered by an old document found a short time ago in the archives of Helsingor. The document says that the burgomaster of the town had a wooden fence erected in the year 1585 and that this fence was destroyed by a troupe of English actors. The names of the latter are mentioned, and among them are found some who, it is certain, were members of Shakespeare's company.

From this it is concluded that this troupe or several members thereof had given representations in the year named in Helsingor and that Shakespeare had obtained from them a description of the castle of Kronborg and its neighborhood.

ROBERTS AGAIN MOVES BOERS CONCENTRATING

They Will Only Oppose the Crossing of the Vaal River Long Enough to Allow the Concentrating at Pretoria to be Completed.

Roberts Reports That Supplies are Being Pushed Through to Mafeking and a Hospital Train is Preparing to Bring Down the Sick and Wounded--Col. Baden-Powell to be a Major-General.

KRUGER DID NOT SUE FOR PEACE

London, May 21.—2.28 p.m.—There is no truth in the report that President Kruger has sued for peace and no communication from him on the subject is expected in the immediate future.

MILNER GETS THE NEWS

London, May 21.—The following despatch from Sir Alfred Milner to Hon. Joseph Chamberlain was received at 1.30 p.m. to-day: "Barton telegraphs from Taungs that Mafeking was relieved May 17, Signed Milner."

ROBERTS AGAIN ON THE ADVANCE

Lorenzo Marques, May 21.—Lord Roberts is reported to have continued his advance. The British advanced upon Vereeniging which is where the Vaal river will be crossed and where Roberts is first likely to set foot on Transvaal soil. The Boers, made aware of the proximity of the British, rushed to Vereeniging bridge. The British raced also but the Boers gained the position and had time to blow up the bridge and to decamp before they came under the British fire. The Boers intend holding the passage of the Vaal only to allow the massing of the burghers to defend Pretoria, where every Boer force has been ordered to concentrate. At present all roads lead to Pretoria. The roads to the capital are choked with commandoes and waggons. The British have occupied Klerksdorp.

COL. MAHON WAS IN COMMAND

London, May 21—It is announced that Gen. Baden-Powell will be made a Major-General. Mafeking was relieved by Col. B. T. Mahon, who served in the Dongola and Nile expeditions with Gen. Kitchener.

ROBERTS REPORTS PROGRESS

London, May 21—The War Office has received the following message from Lord Roberts: "Kroonstad, May 21—Buller reports that his advance will be delayed a few days on account of the way in which the railway has been destroyed. Rundle reports that Ladybrand has been occupied. Hunter is pushing up the railway with supplies for the Mafeking garrison, and is arranging a hospital train for the conveyance of the sick and wounded to Kimberley. Methuen has left Hoopstad to co-operate with this force."

A BRITISH CONVOY ATTACKED

London, May 21—A despatch from Kroonstad dated Sunday, May 20, says: "A British convoy on its way to Lindley was attacked by Boers and obliged to halt. The result of the attack is not known."

THE RELIEVING FORCE WAS ATTACKED

London, May 21.—Gen. Robests reports the following regarding Mafeking: "Col. Mahon arrived at Jamias, May 15. He reports: "I was followed by a Boer force from Maritanzas Siding, and turned westward to avoid it. On May 13th I was attacked in the thick bush leaving five dead, twenty-four wounded and two missing, including Mr. Hands, of the London Daily Mail, dangerously, and one captain and one major severely wounded." The Boers lost more heavily than Mahon.

Will There Be Meddling?

Berne, May 19.—The Committee of the International Peace Bureau, in session here, has decided to address to the 25 powers who are signatories to The Hague convention, a last appeal for their assistance to secure peace between Great Britain and the South African republics. The appeal seeks to show that the clauses providing for the settlement of international disputes apply not only to conflicts arising between the signatory powers, but to all international differences. Therefore, it is claimed, the offer of mediation by the powers in the present conflict comes within the category of cases anticipated by the conference, and could not be regarded by Great Britain as an unfriendly act.

FENIANS ON PACIFIC COAST

Schemes to Blow Up Fort MacAulay With Dynamite.

Canadian Volunteers Have Been Put on Sentry Duty to Watch the Pro-Boer Fenians at Fort MacAulay—The Guards Have Been Instructed to Shoot to Kill Strangers Approaching Fort or Dock Yards at Esquimalt.

Vancouver, B.C., May 20.—A major of the Sixth Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles said to-day that a naval officer at Esquimalt had informed him that strict orders had been issued to the men at Great Britain's North Pacific station to shoot any one approaching the fortifications immediately after a second challenge, and to shoot to kill.

Pro-Boer Fenians.

These orders had been issued owing to very reliable information received from San Francisco, Cal., that pro-Boer Fenians had left California for Victoria in considerable numbers for the avowed purpose of blowing up with dynamite the dock yards and fortifications of Esquimalt. Detectives had been engaged by the British authorities, and three well-known Fenians residing in San Francisco had been recognized in the streets of Vancouver. These men were shadowed for some time, but finally disappeared.

The major said the matter was being kept as quiet as possible by the British authorities.

Looking for Dynamiters.

The guard at MacAulay Point, close to the British warship dockyards, was changed on Monday night, the regulars being taken off and 89 Canadian volunteers from Vancouver, under Captain Akroyd, being placed in charge. These men were warned that dynamiters might be expected any night, and more particularly now, as dynamiters did not fear volunteers as they did regulars. The men were told that if any strangers approached the dockyards or fort at that point to challenge once, and if there was no answer to fire high, immediately challenge again, and if there was still no response to shoot to kill and call out the guard.

One of the Canadian sentries was surprised to see three men crawling toward him on their hands and knees, scarcely ten yards away on Wednesday night. He shouted, "Who goes there?" and, getting no response, he fired point blank at the strangers, who turned and fled in the darkness. The entire guard turned out and fired after the strangers as long as they could be seen, firing at them as they ran.

Keeping the Matter Quiet.

As little harm could be done to Fort MacAulay by dynamite, it is thought the supposed Fenians were reconnoitring the fort preparatory to an attempt to dynamite a British warship at that time lying in the dockyard close by.

Since this event the three Fenians have again disappeared, but they will be watched on sight.

Captain Akroyd, in charge of the men at MacAulay Point, was asked to-day if it were true that three supposed Fenians were shot at and chased by the guard on Wednesday night.

"It is true," he replied, "but I cannot discuss the matter further, as the rule of the service is that strict secrecy must be maintained by officers and men regarding such matters."

THE ELECTION FRAUDS.

Rumor Says Judges Wurtele, Lister and Langelier Will Compose the Royal Commission.

Montreal, May 21.—There are already rumors afloat regarding the composition of the Royal Commission promised by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to look into the corrupt practices at elections. A gentleman who arrived from Ottawa last evening states that the bench of enquiry will be composed of Judge Wurtele of Montreal, Judge Lister and Judge F. Langelier.

THEY ARE KNOWN IN DUBLIN.

Revelations Expected When the Dynamiters' Trial Comes On.

London, May 21. — The Daily Express says this morning that startling disclosures may be expected at the trial of Nolin, Walsh and Dullman, the men charged with attempting to destroy the Welland Canal locks. They are well known to the Dublin police, and letters have been found that will compromise several persons in Great Britain and Ireland, as identified with the physical force movement.

London's Municipal Tramways.

London, May 21. — London's municipal expenditure for the current year, $10,000,000, is about $20,000 in excess of the Council's receipts. The net debt of the County Council now stands at $115,000,000. Municipal taxes amount to 14¾ pence in the pound, an increase of 1¼ pence on last year. The municipal working of the tramways is proving most successful, the cars having produced a profit the past year equivalent to a halfpenny in the pound relief of taxes.

A Tilbury Farmer Killed.

Tilbury, Ont., May 21. — Ozias Malott, a Tilbury East farmer, unmarried and aged about 28, who resided one mile from this village, while driving across the M. C. R. tracks here about 7 o'clock Saturday night, was struck by an east-bound express and almost instantly killed. The unfortunate man was dead when taken from the cowcatcher.

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,869
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

The case recorded here is one of the worst ever brought to the attention of Toronto's best physicians, and when doctors gave up all hope of recovery, Dr. Chase's Ointment was successful in producing a perfect cure.

Mr. [illegible], [illegible] Avenue, Toronto, states:—"My little son, aged ten, was for nearly three years afflicted with a bad form of Eczema of the scalp, which was very unsightly and resisted all kinds of remedies and doctor's treatment. His head was in a terrible state. We had to keep him from school, and at times his head would bleed, and the child would scream with agony. For two and a half years we battled with it in vain, but at last found a cure in Dr. Chase's Ointment. About five boxes were used. The original scurs dried up, leaving the skin in its normal condition. To say it is a pleasure to testify to the wonderful merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment is putting it very mildly."

THE LAURIER BACKDOWN.

The Laurier Administration has been forced to come down. The Opposition did not fight in vain in the scathing exposure they made of the Government's attitude towards the election frauds revealed in West Huron and Brockville bye-elections. Sir Louis Davies and other Liberal members had spent hours in explaining why the Government should not and would not allow any further investigation into these election frauds. But the Opposition presented such evidence and made out such a case that to stand by the position taken would have been fatal to any body of men, especially to those who had called themselves "the party of purity." So strong was the light let in upon the frauds which Sir Louis Davies and the others were defending from further investigation, that Liberal members rose and protested against the action of the Government in promising an investigation last session and refusing it now. Then the Government had to weaken, had to make one more right-about-face, and, notwithstanding that the echoes of the Ministerial voices stating that there would be and could be no investigation had hardly died out in the Chamber, Sir Wilfrid announced that a royal commission would be appointed. It was a complete back down that made the Liberal speakers in the debate ridiculous, but it had to be made in order to try and save the Government from the condemnation which is their just due for organizing and using the corrupt "machine." It is a stange position for the "party of purity," but it will be received with satisfaction by all who desire to see these disgraceful election frauds stopped and the guilty ones brought to justice.

A royal commission may be satisfactory. It should be appointed at once and ordered to report as soon as possible. Its powers should be broad, and the fullest enquiry sought for and encouraged. Otherwise it will be such a farce as the West Elgin Commission. But we can only wait and see what course the Government follows in appointing the commission. Any such work as that of the Ross Gvernment will be more fatal to the Liberal cause than the first programme of allowing none at all.

All fair-minded Canadians who are anxious to see a full and searching enquiry will endorse the following from the Hamilton Herald, an independent Liberal journal:—"But a promise is one thing and performance is another. It is to be hoped that the commission will be such a one as will command the respect and confidence of Conservatives as well as Liberals, and that there will be no such restrictions in the procedure as there is in the Ontario Government's election commission."

The Toronto World's Ottawa correspondent thus refers to the sudden change of front made by Sir Wilfrid:—

"Sir Wilfrid is the prince of handsprings. His lightning turnabout at 5 o'clock this morning took the breath away from his own followers. Two days ago the Government's policy was to burk all enquiry into the West Huron and Brockville elections. There was no prima facie case, and therefore nothing to investigate was the ground taken by Sir Louis Davies, Dr. Russell, D. C. Fraser and M. K. Cowan. All these orators did their best to prepare the land for an easy fall for the Government. They, with one accord, denied the charges and declared there was nothing to investigate.

"Now, notice the ridiculous light in which these speakers were placed by their acknowledged leader. Sir Wilfrid recognized the fact that there had been widespread corruption in elections for years past. No one could be blind to the fact. The country demanded that the evil should be wiped out, and the evildoers punished. Therefore he would immediately appoint a tribunal to be composed of the highest judges in the land to thoroughly investigate all election charges and adequately punish the offenders. Every man on the Liberal side that had spoken previous to Sir Wilfrid was told by his leader that he was a prevaricator, and had taken a position that was contrary to fact. When the announcement was made one could see a wave of consternation sweep over the countenances of the Government benches. Each man looked at his neighbor and caught his tired breath. Then, to hide their astonishment, the rank and file hammered the desks and mightily [illegible] the [illegible] a statesman. But there were disgruntled Liberals in the city to-day. One not a Cabinet Minister yet, remarked to a friend: "It's a shame. After getting up to declare there was nothing to investigate, Sir Wilfrid gives up the lie by acknowledging the corruption, and sending it to a court.""

Only four years in office and already on trial for their election corruption and frauds is the record of the Laurier Government, which was to represent the "party of purity."

This somersault of Laurier's on the election frauds investigation was a quick one, but then the silver-tongued Premier is an expert at this somersault business. Practice makes an expert.

Let the people watch the royal commission and the powers given it carefully and note whether there is any attempt to restrict the enquiry into these election frauds or not. The men who argued and talked against investigation, and then came down only when forced to, are not likely to be anxious to make the enquiry too sweeping. But, all can wait and see what develops.

LONDON LADY DIED SUDDENLY

Was Apparently Well on Saturday Night, But Died Early Sunday Morning.

London, Ont., May 20.—Mrs. James Carlisle, a resident of London for many years, and wife of James Carlisle, formerly an officer on one of Her Majesty's yachts, died suddenly at her residence, St. George-street here, about 1 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Carlyle was apparently in good health up to 11 o'clock Saturday night.

A POPULAR MISTAKE

Regarding Remedies for Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The national disease of Americans is indigestion or in its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it is so common many people neglect taking proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many incurable diseases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach will fall a victim to consumption. Many kidney diseases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stomachs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded out women owe their condition to imperfect digestion.

When nearly every person you meet is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when in fact, as Dr. Werthier says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfectly safe and reliable, and moreover, this remedy is not a patent medicine, but it is a scientific combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter), vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth. It is sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No extravagant claims are made for them, but for indigestion or any stomach trouble, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are far ahead of any remedy yet discovered. They act on the food eaten, no dieting is necessary, simply eat all the wholesome food you want and these tablets will digest it. A cure results, because all the stomach needs is a rest, which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give by doing the work of digestion.

The Volunteers Taken Off.

Welland, Ont., May 21.—Yesterday orders were received from the D.O.C., Toronto, to take the volunteer guards off the canal and the force was withdrawn Sunday afternoon. Special Dominion police are taking their places. Inspector McKinnon of the Dominion Police was along the canal on Saturday and appointed special constables to guard all vulnerable points along the waterway. Three guard the aqueduct here, one being on duty during the day and two at night. Their salaries are fixed at $45 per month.

Statue of Gladstone Unveiled.

London, May 21.—In the presence of the principal Liberals, including Lord Kimberley, the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Russell of Killowen, Mr. Henry Asquith and Sir Henry Grey, in the central hall of the House of Commons, on Saturday, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader in the House, unveiled a statue of Mr. Gladstone, whom he entitled the "greatest parliamentary figure of our time." The notable absentees from the ceremony were Lord Rosebery, Sir William Varnon Harcourt and Mr. John Morley.

Toronto's Big Boxing Bout.

Toronto, May 21.—Jack Bennett, who boxes Jim Ferns of Kansas City, the welterweight champion of the world, at the Crescent Club on Queen's Plate night, May 24, arrived yesterday from McKeesport in company with Jack Sullivan of Philadelphia. Sullivan meets Jack Roach in the main preliminary 10 rounds at 135 lbs. All are in splendid condition, and fast contests are assured. Ferns and Bennett are billed for 20 rounds at 142 lbs.

PRESIDENT KRUGER SAID TO HAVE PROPOSED PEACE

Message Was Couched in an Exceedingly Humble Strain.

The Mafeking Relief Rejoicings End in Riot in London and in Aberdeen Where a "Stop the War" Meeting Was Being Held—Queen Expresses Her Thankfulness Over Mafeking's Relief in a Court Circular.

London, May 21.—(3.10 a. m.—Displayed in the most conspicuous style in The Daily Express is the dominant war news of the morning:

"We have the best reason for saying that in the last twenty-four hours a telegram has been received at the Foreign Office, addressed personally to the Prime Minister, from President Kruger, proposing terms of peace.

"The exact terms of the message cannot be stated, but we believe it is couched in an exceedingly humble strain.

"It is inconceivable, of course, that Lord Salisbury can have sent any reply except the one that stands ready on the lips of every Briton: "Unconditional Surrender."

Rejoicing Run Riot.

The boisterous rejoicings over the news from Mafeking have become riots in parts of London, Aberdeen and Belfast, and elsewhere in the United Kingdom. In the Finchley district of suburban London, a mob stoned a station master's house and smashed the windows of a draper's shop, setting the building on fire, although whether by accident or design, it is not yet known. Two clerks were injured.

Numerous Arrests.

The house of a Boer sympathizer at Hartlesden was attacked by a large crowd and the windows were shattered. The police charged the mob, and were greeted with a shower of decayed eggs. Numerous arrests were made and the police reserves were called out.

Rioting in Aberdeen.

Rioting took place in Aberdeen from 7 to 10 o'clock Saturday evening around a hall where a "Stop the War" meeting was being addressed by Mr. Cronweight Schreiner, husband of Olive Schreiner.

A crowd of students and others tried to storm the hall and to break down the doors. The foot police were unable to cope with the disturbers, and sent for the mounted police, who made some headway with the crowd, but free fights occurred between the supporters of the meeting and the crowd, and the Royal Infirmary nearby, was kept busy dressing the wounds of combatants caused by stones, bricks and clubs. A number of arrests were made and finally the chief magistrate ordered the chief constable to call out the militia. The Gordon Highlanders from the Castle Barracks then cleared the streets.

Artillery Called Out.

At Dover the business establishment of Mr. J. Browne, a member of the Local Chamber of Commerce, was wrecked by a mob. The police were unable to cope with the disturbance, and to local artillery and volunteers were called out. As the rioting continued the Royal Artillery was called upon to suppress the mob. The windows of buildings adjoining Mr. Browne's were smashed. Numerous arrests were made.

HOW THE QUEEN SEES IT.

Expresses Her Thankfulness for the News of the Relief of Mafeking—First Official Notice.

London, May 21.—Sunday night's court circular contains the following: "The Queen received on Friday night with the greatest gratification and thankfulness the news of the relief of Mafeking, after a heroic defence of over seven months by Col. Baden-Powell and troops under his command.

The significance of this is that it is the first official intimation of the relief of Mafeking, and it would not have been made had any doubts existed in the official mind as to the correctness of the news.

CAPTURED EVERYTHING.

British Relieving Force Got the Whole Investing Army and Guns at Mafeking.

London, May 21. — A despatch to The Daily Mail from Lorenzo Marques, dated Sunday, says: On Thursday the entire Boer force around Mafeking, including the guns, was captured by the British.

CHEERED THE HERO'S MOTHER.

Mrs. Baden-Powell's Residence the Mecca for Thousands in London.

London, May 20. — Col. Baden-Powell's house, which faces Hyde Park, was all day Saturday the centre of scenes which must have been extremely gratifying to his family, who constantly appeared on the balcony to bow their acknowledgements. In addition, there was a [illegible] stream of carriages [illegible] leaving cards of congratulation.

When the art students' procession, which was of great length, had been joined by many members of the best families, stopped in front of the house the hero's mother and sister came to the window, evidently greatly moved. His sister fetched a large oil portrait of the colonel, wreathed in laurels, and placed it conspicuously on the balcony. When the storm of cheers ceased for a moment, the colonel's mother briefly addressed the crowd, expressing her heartfelt thanks to the demonstrators.

There must have been millions of flags sold during the day. The whole city was covered with them. There was little other attempt at decoration, but the effect is altogether novel to Londoners.

Confirmed From Molopo.

London, May 21.—A special despatch from Molopo, dated May 17, states that a large British force from the south succeeded in entering Mafeking Wednesday and that the siege was raised by the Boers, their commandoes withdrawing eastward.

Boers Were Repulsed.

London, May 21.—A special despatch from Cape Town says that the relief column as it approached Mafeking from the south, was attacked by a strong force of Boers, who were repulsed. The rear guard continued in action for some time. The British casualties were slight.

The Relief Column.

London, May 21. — Another Cape Town account of the composition of the relief column says that it consisted of 2,000 men of the South African Light Horse, the Imperial Yeomanry and the Kimberley Horse. It left Kimberley on May 4 with 35 wagons containing stores and ammunition, with four guns of the Horse Artillery and two Maxims and moved west along the railway without meeting opposition. At Kraalpan the Boers fell back when attacked.

The Queen's Congratulations.

London, May 21.—The Queen has telegraphed her congratulations to Lord Roberts and Col. Baden-Powell, eulogizing the gallantry of the troops and making sympathetic inquiries concerning the women and children of Mafeking.

Cape Town Rejoices.

Cape Town, May 21. — All the British residents here are rejoicing over the relief of Mafeking. A pro-Boer meeting at Craddock, Cape Colony, which had been called by Mr. Hargrove, a member of the Afrikander Bond, was stopped and rioting followed. The parade of troops on the Queen's Birthday will be on an unprecedented scale.

Story of the Siege.

Boer forces isolated the town on Oct. 14. Thus the siege lasted 216 days, if it ended on May 18, as reported.

Baden-Powell's fighters numbered at first about 1,500 men, all irregulars except a few officers. He had eight guns, six of them machine. Seven hundred white women and children and 7,000 blacks were also hemmed in. The besieging force has varied from 2,000 to 5,000.

Cronje first attacked Mafeking on Oct. 15, following up the destruction of an armored train at Kraalpan, below the town. Repulse with heavy loss was the result. Heavy guns were brought up and bombardment began. A fierce assault on Oct. 31 was futile, both sides losing heavily. Weeks of "sniping" and intermittent bombardment culminated Dec. 26 in an unsuccessful British sally against Game Tree Fort. Twenty-one of the garrison were killed, and thereafter Baden-Powell remained on the defensive.

Colonel Plumer, with 2,000 men

She was the fond mother of a fine baby. But it was a crying baby. She unclothed it and looked for pins. Nothing was hurting it. She looked to the baby's food. It was sweet and wholesome. But the baby still cried and wailed. Then she called the doctor. He examined the child and said "starvation."

"The child is crying for food." "But," said the mother, "it has all the food it will take." "The question of starvation" replied the doctor, "is not how much food is taken but how much is assimilated and goes to nourish the body."

Pain in the body is often only the outcry of starvation. You eat enough but the stomach is not doing its work, and the nervous system is starving. Put the stomach right and the pains will vanish, together with the uncomfortable consequences of the condition. There is no medicine made which can equal Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the quickness of its action on the stomach. It cures diseases of the digestive and nutritive system, increases the action of the blood-making glands, and so induces a proper and perfect distribution of the [illegible] nutriment in blood and bone, nerve and muscle throughout the whole body. There is no alcohol [illegible] or other narcotic contained in "Golden Medical Discovery." [illegible]

Do You Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning; months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve force, and building up the system.

PRESIDENT KRUGER SAID TO HAVE PROPOSED PEACE

from Rhodesia, moving south to raise the siege, got within 14 miles of the town on March 16, but was beaten back by the Boers, led by Snyman. Lord Roberts sent word that relief would arrive by May 18, and a column of 3,000 men is believed to have left Kimberley early this month to fulfill the promise.

Ever since January all in Mafeking have been on reduced rations. Life has been supported by means of horse and mule meat, soup made from the animal's skins, and porridge concocted from fodder oats. Six ounces of bread, a quart of soup and two quarts of porridge was the daily ration a month ago.

Casualties in the town's fighting force up to April 28 totalled 240, including 66 killed and 133 wounded. Deaths from disease add fully 60 more, making a 20 per cent. loss during the siege. The deaths among non-combatants probably number 100 more.

To meet the peculiar exigencies of the situation, Baden-Powell issued paper currency and postage stamps. The resourceful commander also built a gun of steel plate to supplement his slender outfit of cannon, which comprised one weapon made in the last century. He had thrown his defence lines far out, thus preventing a concentration of heavy fire on a small space, which would soon have knocked the town to pieces.

ROBERTS HAS NO NEWS.

Nothing Official, but Reuter States Relief of Mafeking Effected.

London, May 21. — The following is the text of Lord Roberts' despatch:

"Kroonstad, May 20. — (3 p.m.) — No official information has yet been received, but Reuter states that the relief of Mafeking has been effected.

"Rundle reports having occupied Bresler's Flat, Trommel and Clocolan, the enemy falling back on Ficksburg and Senokal.

"Fifty rifles and 3,000 rounds were surrendered by the Free Staters to a battalion of Yeomanry working along the telegraph line from Boshof to Bloemfontein.

"A field cornet and 86 burghers surrendered at Boshof yesterday.

"While at Hoopstad, Methuen secured 250 rifles and between 400,000 and 500,000 rounds of ammunition."

Peace at Any Cost.

Antwerp, May 21. — A report has reached here from The Hague that the Boers will now sue for peace at any cost. Even President Kruger and Steyn have become discouraged.

More Prisoners at St. Helena.

London, May 21.—It is announced that 500 Boer prisoners arrived at St. Helena on Saturday.

Annexation of Free State.

New York, May 21. — In his London cable letter to yesterday morning's Tribune, Mr. Isaac N. Ford predicts the annexation of the Free State by proclamation of Lord Roberts, on the Queen's Birthday.

De Wet Wants to Surrender.

London, May 21. — A special despatch from Kroonstad says that Gen. De Wet has sent word that he is prepared to surrender conditionally with his whole commando. It later appeared that the De Wet who offered to surrender with 1,000 men was not the well known Gen. De Wet, but Commandant De Wet. He stipulated that his men should be allowed to return to their farms. Lord Roberts replied that the surrender must be unconditional.

BULLER PRAISES HIS MEN.

They Have Marched 138 Miles in Nine Days.

London, May 21.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller, dated Newcastle, May 19:

"Gen Cleary moved to Ingogo today and Gen. Dundonald to Laing's Nek. We almost caught up with the tail of the enemy's column and have captured a few prisoners and wagons. The men have marched very well indeed. I left Ladysmith May 10, and by the road used, am now 138 miles from there. The telegraph section has been indefatigable and the Service Corps has kept us full of rations all the time. The fifth division also has done great service."

GEN. HUTTON'S BRIGADE.

Canadian Forces That Have Distinguished Themselves—First Corps is Composed Wholly of Canadians.

Ottawa, May 19.—In the light of the recent operations of Hutton's brigade of Colonials, the roster of officers and regiments may be of interest: The staff of Major-Gen. Hutton's brigade in Gen. Ian Hamilton's mounted infantry division is as follows:

Col. Martyr, chief staff officer.

Lord Rosmead, aide-de-camp.

[illegible] Flood, Victoria, assistant adjutant-general.

Major Bridges, New South Wales, deputy assistant adjutant-general.

Major Cartwright, Canada, deputy assistant adjutant-general.

Col. Gordon, Adelaide, officer on the line of communication.

Major Rankin, Queensland, staff officer.

Major [illegible], Royal Canada, advanced base [illegible] officer.

Capt. [illegible], Army Service Corps, supply officer.

The brigade consists of four corps of mounted infantry, under Cols. Alderson, DeLisle, Pilcher and Henry.

The first consists of a first battalion of Canadians, under Col. Lessard; a second battalion, under Col. Herchmer, and Strathcona's Horse, under Col. Steele. The second corps consists of the New South Wales Mounted Infantry, under Col. Knight, and the West Australians, under Capt. Moor. The third corps is formed of the Queenslanders, under Col. Ricardo, and the New Zealanders, under Major Robin. The fourth corps consists of the Victorians, under Col. Price; the South Australians, under Capt. Reade, and the Tasmanians, under Capt. Cameron. Each corps has a battalion of Imperial Mounted Infantry attached to it, except the New South Wales corps.

A battery will join the division, as well as the Canadian battery and a number of Vickers-Maxims. The New South Wales Army Medical Corps, under Col. Williams, are the medical corps for the division.

TO BLOW UP BRITISH WARSHIPS.

Boer Emissaries Were Sent Out for That Devilish Purpose.

Durban, May 20. — The story of the plot to blow up the British warship Forte in Delogoa Bay is confirmed and the conspiracy appears to have been much more extensive than at first believed. An explanation of the proclamation issued a month ago that boats approaching too near warships without permission would be fired on, is that the admiral commanding the South African station thus gave an early intimation to Boer emissaries who had been appointed to visit Durban and Cape Town and attack the warships with infernal machines that a strict surveillance would be maintained on all men-of-war.

CANADIANS DEAD.

Gunner Patrick O'Reilly of "E" Field Battery Dies at De Aar.

London, May 21. — Gunner Patrick O'Reilly of "E" Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, died at De Aar, South Africa, from enteric fever, on Wednesday. Capt. Weeks and Lieut. Layboon of the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry have been discharged from hospital, and returned to duty.

Came From Hamilton.

Hamilton, Ont., May 21. — Major J. E. O'Reilly, Master-in-Chancery, received a private telegram on Saturday from South Africa, condoling with him on the death of his son, Patrick O'Reilly. This was the first intimation received here of the death of Mr. O'Reilly, who was a member of "E" Battery, and was living in Toronto at the time he enlisted. The deceased soldier, who was about 23 years of age, was one of Hamilton's most popular young men, and when living here took an active part in cricket and other sports.

TO DEFEND JOHANNESBURG.

Neutral Consuls Have Been Advised to Look After Their Citizens.

Pretoria, May 20.—It is officially announced that Johannesburg will be defended. The consuls of the neutral powers have been advised to look after their citizens, as the Government will not hold itself responsible to persons or damage to property. Commandant Botha, commander-in-chief of the Boer forces, reports that the Burghers are joining in great numbers. The Government has suggested to the British commander-in-chief an exchange of prisoners on parole. Vrede has been proclaimed the capital of the Free State.

Young chickens will eat wheat when 2 weeks old, and, as it is one of the very best grains that can be given for growth, it is quite an item to feed them liberally with it.

EVANGELIST GEIL SAYS FAREWELL

ST. PAUL'S WAS CROWDED IN EVERY PART AND THE CROWD OVERFLOWED AND MANY WERE TURNED AWAY

Mr. Geil Was a Man of Great Power and Many Desire Him to Make a Return Visit to Peterborough - His Farewell Address.

It is not a common occurrence in Peterborough for churches to be filled to overflowing and crowds turned away, but this was the case at last night's service at St. Paul's Presbyterian church. People sat on the steps of the gallery, of the platform, on extemporized seats in the aisles, crowded the vestibule, and many had to go away disappointed. Of course the service was unique in many particulars. It was the last service at which Mr. Geil would be heard here, and many friends of all denominations wanted to be present to hear him once more and bid him "God-speed." Unquestionably Mr. Geil is a remarkable man. Every one must have been impressed with his rugged power and forceful sincerity, but it takes time to find out the tender heart behind all this. It was evident that many here had discovered this for themselves, as was evidenced by the throngs that crowded round him, not to say "farewell," but to ask for a return visit soon. No one who has heard him could fail to see that he is splendidly equipped for the work in which he is engaged. Physically, mentally and spiritually he is every inch a man, and while there is no parade of learning, one soon finds out that he is a college man of post-graduate attainments, a traveller, a writer and a deep reader and thinker. Often he reminds one in his rugged directness and clearness of expression of the late D. L. Moody, and it would not be at all surprising if he came to be regarded as his successor in evangelistic effort. To his other gifts are added a fine dramatic instinct, while his faculty for organization and easy manipulation of the largest crowds make one think he would have been in the first rank as a military man. Altogether he is a remarkable combination of robust, physical, mental and spiritual attainments, and his power is largely drawn from all three of these sources.

It is understood that nine months of continuous hard work have almost worn him out, and that he proposes to take three days rest before commencing his next campaign in Albion, N. Y. He certainly deserves the rest, but few who heard him yesterday speak with such tremendous energy and enthusiasm would have thought he needed it.

The service was opened with prayer by Rev. J. Bushow, after which in anticipation of the Queen's Birthday, the whole congregation was invited to rise and sing the National Anthem. The effect was very fine and was a fitting prelude to the rest of the service.

After the reading of the third chapter of St. John's Gospel and prayer by Dr. Torrance, the choir sang [illegible] "Rescue the Perishing" very effectively, and then came the evangelist's address.

His text was Luke 14-[illegible], "And yet there is room." Briefly the speaker dealt with the excuses made by those who did not desire to attend the King's great supper, and urged that neither farm, nor oxen, nor wife was a legitimate or honest excuse. "The poor came gladly, the poor accept the Gospel more readily than the rich. Riches are not an evil, but the rich rascal is the greatest curse of any town. Christ's banquetting table is the greatest ever made. It stretches all the way from heaven to earth, and Christ sits at the head. All may find seats there. Why, there is a whole family looking at me now who have joined the feast and found it free and satisfying since I came to Peterborough. And yet there is room."

It is quite impossible to reproduce the address as made. It was full to overflowing of tender appeal, apt illustration and humorous story, and was unquestionably very successful in the attainment of the object sought, i.e., the conversion of souls.

After one verse of "Just as I Am," Mr. Geil thanked those who had entertained him, those who had helped as workers, and specially the pastors of the different churches for their support and assistance. He then gave a short reference to his own life, and the sidelights he threw on this sketch were rich with pathos and tenderness. It was a most effective appeal to all to take the Christ of the Bible as their Saviour.

Then followed a very largely attended after meeting, when many gave in their requests for prayer and still more professed conversion. Altogether the service was a fitting climax to a remarkable series of meetings, and Mr. Geil must have been convinced by the throngs who crowded to thank him and press his hand often in mute farewell that he will leave behind hosts of loving friends in Peterborough.

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

There was a deeply impressive service for men only in the afternoon, and notwithstanding the battalion church parade, the halls were crowded and the corridors thronged by those who wanted to hear, even if they could not see, Mr. Geil. After prayer by the President, Dr. Scott, and a quartette sung by Messrs. Crane, Walden, Scott and Martin, Mr. Geil spoke from 3rd John, his text specially being, "There was a man."

It was a wonderfully strong appeal for a real honest, clear-visioned, manly Christian life, and evidently greatly impressed the crowded audience, many of whom had driven in miles from the country to be present.

"Catch the opportunity." By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now you may build up your health and prevent serious illness.

—The fireworks display on the evening of the 24th will be at Central Park. Victoria park is too shrouded in trees to allow the exhibition to be held there.

—Mr. F. W. Walden has received a letter from Sergt. Dan Spence, dated April 8th, just as they were going to the front. A couple of short letters have also been received from Pte. Chil. Turner. These will be published to-morrow.

—Yesterday afternoon while Mrs. Thos. Hooper was driving in from North Monaghan she had a narrow escape from being killed or injured at the Charlotte-st crossing of the Grand Trunk. She did not notice a freight train coming along and was almost on the track when two men forced the horse back.

57TH REGIMENT AT ST. ANDREW'S

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE AND SERVICE OF MUCH INTEREST

Patriotic and Inspiring Sermon by Rev. Mr. Potter - Church Tastefully Decorated With Flags—Musical Features of the Service.

The church parade of the 57th regiment yesterday proved of great interest to the townspeople for despite the threatening weather a very large crowd lined the streets to witness the march. The battalion marched out in good force about four o'clock from the drill shed to St. Andrew's church and, headed by the pioneers and the two bands, presented a fine appearance as it marched up Brock-st.

Those who gathered for the service in St. Andrew's completely filled the edifice.

The regular service, ordinarily used by the regiment, was conducted by the Regimental Chaplain, Rev. J. C. Davidson, from his place in the body of the church. The forms of service had been distributed through the pews, and the men joined in the prayers and responses most heartily.

Rev. J. G. Potter preached the sermon. A very pleasing feature of the service was a sacred selection played very softly and sweetly by a quartette from the 57th regiment band, Messrs. Voss and Wesley, cornets, and Clarke and Longmore, trombones.

Miss Vina Belleghem, A.T.C.M., sang a solo with much sweetness. The service was closed with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

Rev. Mr. Potter extended a hearty welcome to the regiment. There was a special inspiration in the good news received last week. Our hearts should overflow with gratitude at the relief of Mafeking and the relief of our fellow citizens so long beleaguered in that town.

Rev. Mr. Potter took his text from Joshua V., 13, describing Joshua's conquest of the city of Jericho. Moses was dead, the Israelites had not yet entered the promised land and Joshua was their God-appointed leader. His commission had been given to him with the words, "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life."

Joshua was now before the city of Jericho but the gates were shut and not an Israelite was to be permitted to enter. But behold Joshua saw a stranger who assured him of the presence and power of Jehovah. He was commanded to march around the city seven times and on the seventh day seven times and that the walls should crumble.

Applying this to the present, the world is before us, as the British empire, that we may remove the obstacles that have been in the way of civilization and Christianity. God has richly blessed the empire in many ways. What empire can do more in a nobler spirit or

CELEBRATION COMMITTEE

All Hands are Asked to be at the Final Meeting of the Committee.

A meeting of the General Committee of officers of the 57th and citizens in whose hands are the arrangements for the 24th of May celebration is called for to-night.

Final arrangements for the day must be made at once and a full attendance of all the members of the General Committee is requested.

The Cycle Parade.

It is hoped that the very liberal inducements offered in the shape of prizes of three wheels will induce a very large turn out of contestants in the cycle parade on the 24th. There is a capital field for individual effort in decorating wheels, and a little ingenuity and skill will enable any one to present a very creditable piece of work. Some may find it congenial to decorate using paper, some may use flowers, some dry goods stuffs. There is a wide choice which should be taken advantage of. Designs can be quickly constructed with hoops and sticks, arranged as arches, [illegible] triangles or squares. Colored lanterns [illegible] effective showpieces, a floral [illegible]-piece rising from the handles makes a very attractive display. Flags, banners and bunting all come in as useful. Anything that is light in weight and colored may be utilized. Full details as to the place of meeting and hour at which to assemble will be given in Wednesday evening's papers.

Remember the Date.

Tuesday, May 22nd. Denny Simons' vaudeville entertainment. Fifteen distinct specialties, including Denny's medley of dances introducing all the different dances up-to-date. Also his own original act "Dusty Rhodes." This act consists of a bunch of up time talking, eccentric dancing head spins, forward and backward somersaults, also his own original idea of a "Gentleman Rough Rider," also a neat sketch entitled "Irish Love," by Little Simons and Denny. Tickets for [illegible] book store 25 and 35 cents.

BRILLIANT SCENE AT THE GOLF LINKS

FORMAL OPENING OF THE NEW CLUB HOUSE ON SATURDAY

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Peterborough Golf Club Gather in Force for the Occasion—A Highly Interesting and Pleasant Event.

Saturday the 19th of May, will long be remembered by the local golfers and their friends, who were on the links in large numbers, the occasion being the opening of the Club House, which has just been erected on Auburn hill. A club house had been mooted a year ago, but it was only within the last three months that the matter assumed definite shape. To Mr. R. Max Dennistoun much credit is due for the club's commodious premises. Captain Ritchie's expert knowledge of the working out of details was also of great assistance to the committee. In fact the whole matter has been worked out on sound business principles, just such as one would expect from the gentlemen who compose the club's committee. The club house is a most attractive building, its situation being admirable. The views from the verandah, running on the front and two sides of the building, is most interesting, overlooking on the east that great national waterway the Trent Valley Canal, now nearing completion. On the west, the rapidly moving Otonabee river, with the town of Peterborough in the near distance. On the north and south the eye is directed to the highly cultivated farming country, dotted here and there with the happy homes of the agriculturalist. To look inside the club house, you first see a spacious club room, in itself a place of comfort and ease for the weary golfer after going the rounds of the links. The room is beautifully furnished, and will no doubt be highly appreciated by all the members of the club. The large English brick fire place, which immediately meets the eye, suggests comfort on a chilly autumnal day. On both sides of the club room are dressing rooms, entrances being from the verandah. The dressing room on the north, for the gentlemen, that, on the south, for the ladies. These rooms will shortly be fitted up with lockers for the members. Apartments have also been provided for the caretaker.

The scene of the club house on Saturday was one of great beauty, as the members began to arrive by carriage, horseback and bicycles. Promptly at 4 o'clock, the club's flag was hoisted when some one called out "Mafeking," a remark which brought forth a cheer, silencing for the moment the rolling waters of the Otonabee river. Play commenced at once, and the afternoon was given up to the enjoyment of the royal old game of golf. The lady members are all most enthusiastic golfers, and their presence on Saturday lent a perfect charm to the links. Tea and refreshments were kindly provided for all the members, and their friends, by the President, Mr. Geo. W. Hatton, and the Captain of the club, Mr. Hazen Ritchie, both of whom were here, there, and everywhere looking to the wants of everybody. With such officers as Messrs. Hatton and Ritchie, no club need despair. Their great kindness in doing what they did by way of tea and refreshments is greatly appreciated by every member of the club. Mrs. Geo. W. Hatton and Mrs. R. S. Davidson, with the assistance of some of Peterborough's best, looked after the tea rooms. It is needless to say that the tea room appealed to everybody, and many players left the "teeing" ground to go in and partake of the President's and Captain's feast. After tea the game was resumed, the red and khaki coats being quite numerous. However, every pleasure has an end, and as the ladies left the scene of an enjoyable afternoon, Captain Ritchie pulled down the flag just as daylight was passing out and darkness coming in. The day will live for a considerable time in the memory of every one present. It is hardly necessary to say that Miss Hall, Secretary of the ladies' club, and Mr. Langrey, acting in the same capacity for the gentlemen members, gave most invaluable service toward the successful event.

Mr. Langford, the well-known contractor, erected the club house, and every member is satisfied.

Among those present were:—Mrs. Geo. W. Hatton, the Hon. Mrs. Robt. Hamilton, Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Symonds, Mrs. J. B. Stratton, Mrs. R. S. Davidson, Mrs. Boucher, Miss Boucher, Mrs. F. J. Rogers, Mrs. R. Max Dennistoun, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. J. H. McClellan, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. W. B. Sherwood, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Miss Ward, of Detroit; Mrs. McAllister, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Garvin, Miss Lundy, Miss Hatton, Miss Archer, Miss Halliday, the Misses Fairweather, Miss Warner, Miss Sherwood, Miss Rackham, Miss Moore, Miss Louise Davidson, Miss Clementi, the Misses Burke, Miss Annie Hamilton, Miss K. Worth Seeing.

A Newcastle laborer recently resolved to treat himself to a night at the theater, and, entering the pit by the back of the orchestra, he happened to see the double bass viol set up against a music stand.

Having never seen anything of the kind before, he leaned his arm on the orchestra rail and stood transfixed with amazement. The pit was filling rapidly, and an acquaintance, tapping him on the shoulder, said if he didn't take a seat they would soon be all occupied.

"Wey, wey, hinny," he exclaimed excitedly, "neever heed a seat. Aal I want is a look o' the chap that's gaan to put that fiddle 'conder his chin."—London Fun.

THE WATER DID IT.

THERE is an old adage recorded which teaches that lightning never strikes twice in the same place. The same can be said of rheumatism, which usually attacks employees of all bottling works, in the hands and arms, on account of them having to handle cold substances and dabble in cold water all the year round. Mr. Oscar Perry, formerly employed at J. R. Hinds' bottling works, Kingston, Ont., was a sufferer in this respect. Rheumatism affected him in the arms and shoulders, and besides the pain experienced he suffered pecuniary loss. After having tried various treatments without obtaining relief, he was induced to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial. Less than half a bottle gave him relief, and before the entire contents of the first bottle were used he was freed from rheumatism, and it has not since troubled him. He did not look for such rapid results, and would have been satisfied with obtaining relief, whereas the medicine has effected a cure.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

MY FIRE.

It starts;
A stuporous eyelash from the sun,
A golden, leaf shaped, dancing thing,
Bending fairylike in a magic breeze,

And grows
And saps the virgin forest's strength
With writhing, biting arms,
And with its red jaws through the gloom
Casts elfin shadows round the room,

And, waxing still,
It lashes round the knotted wood
With soft but cruel sting,
Till, gorged with strength, it fades away
Beneath a coverlet of gray,

And now,
Like molten sunset from the west,
Pulsates as with living breath
Till, dying midst the bones its greed has made,
Its heart is still and ashes mark the grave.

INK AS A WITNESS.

Results In One Case Which Amazed the Attorneys.

In a case in the supreme court it was alleged that interlineations had been made in the papers after they were filed, and the papers were submitted to expert chemists to decide whether the interlineations had been made after the papers were filed or at the time the paper was drawn. The process followed by the chemists was simple, though tedious.

Hypochloride of soda was the only chemical used by the expert, but the result was the same as that arrived at by the other experts. Tests were made on each line of the document. The soda bleached the ink, and, as the writing in some parts was done many years ago, the first drop of soda was placed on a line which was not in controversy. The writing slowly faded, and it was 51 seconds before it was bleached.

A drop on another interlineation faded the writing in 49 seconds, on another in 51 seconds, and the interlineations made when the paper was first written faded in about 50 seconds on an average. Suddenly the ink of one of the interlineations faded in 15 seconds, and the conclusion was at once reached that it was fresher ink than the others, as the ink had not had time to thoroughly permeate the fiber of the paper.

Several interlineations were found to fade in from 13 to 16 seconds, and these were marked as having been made at a more recent date.

After all interlineations had been so marked, the next step was to ascertain as nearly as possible at what date the interlineations were made, and for this purpose many manuscripts in which similar ink was used on the same kind of paper were taken. The exact date of the writing of each manuscript was known, and soda was dropped on each, beginning with the date of writing of the manuscript in controversy. The time necessary to fade the ink gradually decreased from 52 and 50 seconds as the soda was dropped on the manuscripts of more recent years.

When the fading took place in 20 seconds, manuscripts but a month apart in writing were used, and the fading in 14 and 15 seconds was thus fixed in a certain month. The examining chemists knew nothing of the points in the controversy, and the report was made that certain interlineations were probably made in the specified month. The attorneys in the case were amazed, as the month named was that in which they believed the more recent writing had been done.—Indianapolis Press.

Uses For Bicycles.

There are many uses to which an old cycle can be put. It is said that a theater manager has made rather an excellent chandelier out of his old wheel. He also uses an old tricycle for producing the effect of wind, hail and railway trains. A navvy is said to have made a clock almost all out of parts of an old machine. The bell strikes the hours, and a length of solid rubber tire holds the pendulum, which is a bicycle fork. At one small place a man has turned a discarded wheel into a kind of pump, and the tires do duty for the pipe hose. Another has made a treadle sewing machine out of his wheel. A grocer has turned part of a cycle into a coffee grinding machine, and a bell ringer, being rather feeble in the arm, has an old cycle which he has raised and fixed in one position, and so by a pulley arrangement he can when gently pedaling ring the bell vigorously. Many folks use their old wheels for flower stands, and there is a man who is making quite a decent living by turning old bicycles into conveyances on which washerwomen can take home the weekly load.—London Globe.

The Crusades and Embroidery.

The crusades had a marked effect on the demand for embroidery, as besides the decoration of their cloaks and pouches the kings and their followers wanted gorgeously worked hangings for their tents and heraldic blazons for their banners. The last were difficult of execution, and new stitches were invented, and applique work was introduced about this time. The Spaniards are said to have learned the use of spangles and other metal and bead ornaments as applied to stuffs from the Saracens. Later precious stones and pearls were used, and in 1414 Charles of Orleans spent about £40 for 960 pearls which were to be used in ornamenting a great coat on the sleeves of which were embroidered the verses of a song beginning with "Madam, I am all joyous." The musical accompaniment of the words was also embroidered.—Spectator.

RECOMPENSE.

I care not for the weary way,
Whatever ills betide me,
If that I know from day to day
Your love beside me!

I do not ask one rainbow ray

If I but feel from day to day
Your love beside me.

Unanswered all the prayers I pray,
A world, dear, to deride me,
Thankful, I walk the thorniest way,
Your love beside me!

HOW M'TAGUE GOT GAFFNEY.

Ruse by Which a Sheriff Secured the Drop on a Bad Man.

Let it be said, in the first place, that there is nothing of the white feather about Tom McTague. He is cool; he is brave; he is intrepid. Many a daring exploit has he had in which he exhibited the highest qualities of courage. Once—it was back in 1883—Jim McMasters was sheriff and Tom was undersheriff. There was a gang of horse thieves operating along Flint creek, in what is now Granite county. They would steal anything from a horse to a telegraph pole. Everybody knew who they were, but was afraid to say a word; everybody realized if he made complaint he would be burned out of house and home, his cattle and property confiscated, all his property either stolen or destroyed and he and his family left hopelessly ruined.

The leaders of this gang of "bad men" were Mark Ryan, Chris Gaffney and Jerry Quinlan. Tom McTague got after them. He landed Quinlan all right at New Chicago; he traced Gaffney and located him and a man named Pat Dooley in a charcoal house at Lion mountain, in Beaverhead county. Tom left his horse a mile below and went into the charcoal house all alone.

"I want you, Gaffney," said McTague.

"I am not Gaffney," said Gaffney, drawing his gun, "and you had better get out of here."

Gaffney had the drop on McTague, and there was no use parleying.

"Oh, well," said McTague, "if you are not Gaffney I don't want you. I have made a mistake and beg your pardon. You looked so much like him you deceived people, and they put me on to you. As a matter of fact, you deceive me also, for I have seen Gaffney myself once or twice. But, come to inspect you more closely, I see well enough that you are not Gaffney, the man I am looking for, and that's all right."

McTague turned to go. At that moment Gaffney dropped his gun. Quick as a flash McTague, who had his own gun in his outside coat pocket, drew it and had the drop on Gaffney.

"Now," said McTague, "no more monkeying, Gaffney, or you are a dead man. You march and do as I tell you."

McTague compelled both Gaffney and Dooley to march outside the house, threw them a pair of handcuffs with his disengaged hand and compelled them to put the handcuffs on themselves. Then he marched them down to his conveyance and took them safely to Deer Lodge. Ryan was caught at Glendale.

Unfortunately, however, the people who had suffered from the depredations of the gang were still too terrified to testify against them, and all were acquitted. A year or two later Gaffney was shot dead in a Deer Lodge saloon in a barroom dispute.—

How the Japanese Look at It.

Perhaps no other country than Japan has received so much unstinted praise in the periodical literature of the last two decades. But this is not enough to satisfy a native of Japan. He knows that the powerful and respected nations of the world are often criticised and even bitterly attacked for certain shortcomings. Nothing has less influence upon a sober and thoughtful Japanese than laudatory descriptions of the country and the people. He suspects that this sort of eulogy is not thoroughly sincere. It is like the applause that is given to a dog standing on his hind legs—nothing remarkable in itself, but remarkable for him.

What the Japanese prizes more than anything else is in essence what all people ask for—namely, recognition based on mutual respect or equality. Failing to receive this, he prefers the severest criticism if not made in a carping spirit. In fact, a Japanese resents the gushing attitude toward the art, the scenery or the [illegible] of his country, because he is aware that these are really not the [illegible] of national [illegible] in occidental [illegible]. ACROBATIC COOKING.

MIRACLES DONE IN THE GALLEY OF AN ATLANTIC LINER.

Concocting Dishes While the Kitchen Is Trying to Turn Somersaults and the Pots and Pans Are Dancing Jigs With the Cooks.

Cooking on the high seas isn't so exciting a profession as it was in the old days, but even now it presents problems and situations that would drive a landsman chef to despair. It is one thing to sit down in dignified calm in a hotel kitchen and compose a symphonic entree, and it's quite another thing to clutch a rope swung across a kitchen that is trying to turn turtle and to master an entree that is attempting to dance a cancan on top of a plunging range. It would be a happy thing for stewards and cooks if every disgruntled passenger on a transatlantic steamer could, in rough weather, be forced to pay a visit to the galley and watch the efforts by which the meals with which he has been finding fault are prepared. The chances are that two minutes amid the fumes and heat of the galley would reduce him to a state of seasickness which would rob him of all interest in meals of any sort, but if he could wait long enough to receive a few mental impressions he would climb the galley stairs a humble and contrite traveler and accept food fit to eat as a miracle wrought in his behalf.

On the modern steamers galley arrangements have been improved to a degree that would make an old time sea cook open his eyes in amazement, but even under such conditions the cooking is difficult work. In the first place, room is necessarily limited, and every inch of space must be made to count, yet a large number of cooks and assistants are employed. One of the large steamers will have 30 men at work in its galley, and 30 men playing leapfrog about a microscopic kitchen and doing juggling feats with pots and pans and knives and rolling pins while the ship stands on its beam ends is a sight to bring tears to the eyes of a lover of a quiet life.

In these narrow quarters cooking is done on a scale larger than the ordinary saloon passenger realizes. The crew must be fed in port and out. So the cooks have from 500 to 600 men on their hands every day of the year. Then during the voyage the steerage, second cabin and first cabin must be provided for. The steerage passengers do not have an elaborate bill of fare, but about 3,000 small loaves of bread are baked for the crew and steerage every day, and that in itself is no small task.

The very sight of the baker's dough trough is enough to discourage a faint hearted cook, for flour is dumped into it by the barrel. One hundred and fifty barrels of flour melt away on a voyage like spring snowflakes, and 20 tons of potatoes dance merrily up the galley stairs to table hand in hand with 20,000 pounds of beef, while 10,000 eggs, more or less seasick, follow wearily. Then 150 gallons of fresh milk scorn the 1,000 gallons of condensed milk stored beside it and advise the 1,000 pounds of coffee to have nothing to do with it. The ghosts of countless chickens, turkeys, ducks and fishes haunt the larder where their slaughtered bodies hang in hundreds at a time. As for the incidentals, no one but the head steward knows the tale of them. Imagine all this food prepared in an apartment house kitchen addicted to handsprings, and you have the steamer galley situation.

Along the end of the room run the ranges. The ovens are divided into compartments which will hold firmly pans of varying sizes. On top of the stoves a steel bar runs along the front and back, and separate crossbars may be clamped to these at convenient intervals. Pots and kettles are hemmed in in this way, and to add to their firmness each is clamped to a crossbar with what looks like a large iron clothespin. All cooking utensils are made much deeper than would be necessary in ordinary cooking in order to avoid spilling of the contents in case of rough weather. The huge copper stock pots in which wholesale boiling is done are heated by steam, and all broiling is done over an immense charcoal fire. The bakers have a separate cubby hole and ovens for themselves, and beyond them is a cold room where confections and pastry are made.

Everything is swept and garnished in a fashion to satisfy the heart of a Dutch housewife. The copper shines resplendent—but the smells! Ye gods, the smells! Let the seasick man who has held his breath and plunged madly up the companion way to escape the deadly whiff of air coming from the galley imagine that gust of odor intensified, concentrated, mixed with steam and smoke and multiplied by four, and he may have some idea of the atmosphere down in the galley.

A steamer kitchen is no place for any one with a tendency toward seasickness, and the first few voyages of a young cook's assistant are tortures. There isn't any fine glow of majesty about his martyrdom, and he doesn't get an atom of sympathy. His galley mates guy him, and his superiors bully him. He sounds a depth of seasickness beside which the state of the groaning passenger on deck in a steamer chair is rose colored and agreeable. Often one voyage is all that he can stand, and he bolts incontinently when the ship reaches port, but if he has the courage to suffer until he is thoroughly seasoned he overcomes his qualms and is ready to laugh at the next green hand.

Few accidents occur in the steamer galleys nowadays, when innumerable patents and safeguards are employed. Once in awhile a stock pot blows up from too much steam pressure, or a careless or unskilled cook is cut or burned or scalded, but such cases are rare. Ropes are stretched across in front of the ranges, and when the ship is plunging badly the cooks hold these ropes while working over the fire. Fortunately for the workers in the galley, when the weather is very rough a large percentage of the passengers lose their interest in food, so the work of the cooks is lessened, and this fact offsets the added difficulty in the preparation of the food. The galley is separated from the rest of the boat by water tight doors and can be shut off so securely that it is practically impossible, except in case of serious accident, for water to reach the fires and put a stop to culinary proceedings.

NOT THE LOGIC OF THE TRADE.

The Jewelry Salesman Whose Arguments Proved Too Much.

"Strange," said a talkative man in the hotel lobby, "but four statements, each perfectly true in detail, made a whopping big lie in the aggregate. It happened like this: I went into a jewelry store and asked to see a cheap watch. The clerk showed me a tinclad affair at $1.50. It came in a small pasteboard box, on the lid of which I noticed the statement that it was the equal of any $5 watch in the world. 'Have you a watch at $5?' I asked. 'Yes, sir,' said the clerk, and he handed me a very neat timepiece cased in oxidized steel. 'You will find that just as good as anything you can get for five times the amount,' he remarked, opening the back and showing me the works.

"'It looks all right,' I said, 'but on second thought I believe I'd like something better.' 'Well, here are some filled case watches,' he replied, 'that we sell with a 30 year guarantee. The case can't be distinguished from solid gold, and the movement is fully standardized and tested for heat and cold. It is a watch we consider very cheap at $25.' I pried open the back case, and out dropped a little disk of paper on which the 30 year guarantee was printed. 'This watch is as well made in every particular,' it said in preamble, 'as the average $100 chronometer.' 'What kind of a chronometer can a man get for $100?' I asked. 'The best in the world,' replied the clerk enthusiastically. 'Here is one now. You observe its thinness and general elegance. As far as the movement is concerned it is simply impossible to produce anything better.'

"'All right,' I said. 'I'll invest on that assurance,' and I picked up the tinclad machine and laid down $1.50. 'I have your word,' I added, 'that this is the best watch on earth.' 'No, you haven't!' he exclaimed. 'I didn't say anything of the kind!' 'Don't you claim that it is as good as any $5 watch going?' I asked, pointing to the statement on the box lid. 'Yes, but'— 'And you just assured me,' I continued, 'that the $5 watch was the equal of anything at five times the price. That gets us to $25, and the filled case guarantee states specifically that the $25 watch is as well made as a $100 chronometer. Here you have it in algebra,' and I pulled out a pencil and made this simple calculation: 'A = B, B = C, C = D, D = X, therefore A = X. See?'

"But he couldn't see it. He stuck out firmly that each of the four assertions was gospel truth, but he wouldn't stand for their logical conclusion. I told him he ought to be arrested for asking $100 for a watch which I could prove by his own admissions was no better than one valued at $1.50. That tangled his brains in a hard knot, and I escaped while he was still dazed."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A SKY FANCY.

Oh, the moon's a mighty golf ball,
By stroke of Titan hurled;
From off the far horizon's "tee"
'Tis driven round the world!
And Venus looks in wonder,
And the war god redly blinks
As the big white ball goes sailing high
Along the starry links.
It soars o'er cloudy bunkers
That seek its flight to stay,
And in its path it crosses swift
The misty milky way.
And when it has completed
Its course across the sky
On yonder hilltop of the west
It finds its distant "lie,"
Where waits a giant pig; or
Who "lofts" with steady aim,
And so without a pause goes on
The everlasting game.

She Was Pale and Languid

Too Nervous to Sleep, and Daily Grew Weaker and Weaker—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Restored Health and Vigour.

Mrs. E. McLaughlin, 96 Parliament street, Toronto, states:—"My daughter was pale, weak, languid, and very nervous. Her appetite was poor and changeable. She could scarcely drag herself about the house, and her nerves were completely unstrung. She could not sleep for more than half an hour at a time without starting up and crying out in excitement.

"As she was growing weaker and weaker I became alarmed, and obtained a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She used this treatment for several weeks, and from the first we noticed a decided improvement. Her appetite became better, she gained in weight, the colour returned to her face, and she gradually became strong and well. I cannot say too much in favour of this wonderful treatment, since it has proven such a blessing to my daughter."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a blood-builder and nerve vitalizer of most unusual merit. In pill form, 50c. a box, at all dealers; or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

PROFITABLE WORK

Is to Profit by Your Neighbor's Experience—Here is a Chance for Peterborough People.

Every man, woman, and child in Peterborough who knows the misery of a bad back, the nervous, restless, sleepless condition brought on by kidney trouble, or the day and night annoyance of urinary and bladder disorders, will profit by this citizen's experience with the great Kidney Remedy:—

Mrs. J. Joyes, Brock-st., Peterborough, says:—"My children having been troubled with backache, kidney and liver trouble, I procured a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from Ormond & Walsh, the druggists, and I must say that they acted splendidly, fixing them up in short order. They are a splendid tablet, and easy to take, which makes it nice for children."

If you have the slightest symptom of Kidney or Bladder trouble, you can test this great medicine free. Arrangements have been made whereby every reader of this paper can obtain a trial package of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets absolutely free, by enclosing two cent stamp for postage to the Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto, Ont. When giving address mention this paper. If you are convinced Pitcher's Tablets are what you want, you can purchase regular size for 50 cents per bottle. If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price.

POULTRY POINTERS.

The overfat hen is often the one that is laying the soft shelled eggs.

Any breed of fowls can be profitably kept on dry, sandy or gravelly soil.

There is nothing so fruitful of disease among chickens as damp or unclean quarters.

Fowls should not be killed when they have a full crop, for as soon as they are dead the flesh turns blue and dark immediately over the crop.

Throwing soft food upon the ground is poor economy. Troughs or smooth boards cost little and are not only much cleaner, but avoid waste of feed.

Prof. Roy Wilson White, a brilliant young instructor in the law department of the University of Pennsylvania, was struck down and brutally murdered Saturday night in Philadelphia. Several arrests have been made.

The Winnipeg elevator belonging to the Northern Elevator Company at Oakville was burned to the ground early Friday morning. There was stored in the building about 9,000 bushels of grain, which was also a total loss.

A fatal accident in Goldthrope's saw mill, Township of Ashfield, happened on Saturday, when Charles Carpenter, a mill hand, was caught by the foot and thrown on the large circular saw and was literally cut to pieces. He leaves a young wife.

The writ of injunction, issued at St. Louis, Mo., on Saturday afternoon by Judge Adams, commands the strikers to refrain from doing anything whatever that will delay or obstruct the operation of street mail cars or the gathering and distribution of the mails.

May Rutter, a handsome woman of 25, was found dead in her room in a Boston residence Sunday morning, with a dagger in her breast. Edwin T. Wright, aged 21, was arrested on suspicion. He says that he befriended the woman and that it is a case of suicide.

The Militia Department intends to issue an order that all the soldiers who go to camp in June shall be vaccinated on the first day of camp. The order is now under consideration but will not be made known for fear its publication would prevent company officers mustering a corporal's guard.

Passengers arriving at Santa Domingo, Santo Domingo, on board the Spanish steamer Maria Herrera, brought news of the grounding of the Cunard Line steamer Carinthia, at Point Gravois, on the south coast of Hayti. The Carinthia may be floated if assistance is sent to her in reasonable time.

Samuel Branch of Preston, builder and contractor, was seriously injured Sunday morning while riding to Galt on a bicycle. A street car going in the same direction collided with him, knocking him senseless. The right leg was broken above and below the knee, the muscles of the right hip torn and the pelvic bone broken. Branch was taken to Galt Hospital.

Cable From Lorne Crosby.

Toronto, May 21. — Mrs. Crosby on Sunday received a message from her son, Lorne, dated Kroonstad, stating that he had the sad intelligence of his father's death. Both he and his brother Norman were well, and they would follow their mother's wishes and remain in South Africa to fight the battles of the Empire.

Morton's Injuries Fatal.

Toronto, May 21.—William Morton, an employe of the City Commissioner's Department, died in St. Michael's Hospital early yesterday morning from injuries received by being struck by an east-bound Queen street car at the corner of Balsam avenue on the morning of May 10 last.

THE LITTLE GIRL WE DIDN'T WANT.

A little girl we didn't want
Came unto us one day;
We'd prayed the Lord that he might send
A little boy our way.
We thought we'd name after me,
Our plans were knocked awry
The day the girl we didn't want
Came floating from the sky.

The little girl we didn't want
Looked gravely up at me
When we had closed her mother's eyes,
And no one staid to see—
Looked at me from upon my breast
And, trusting, nestled there,
Not knowing she had shattered dreams
That we had thought so fair.

The little girl we didn't want
Has often sat with me
Beside a grassy little mound
No others stay to see,
And often in the glad old days,
With peaceful skies above,
We've played along in pleasant ways,
Filled with each other's love.

The little girl we didn't want
Forsook me yesterday;
Another came and won her love
And carried her away!
A little girl we didn't want
Came unto her and me,
And I've a broken heart and weep,
Nor care who stops to see!

—S. E. Kiser in Chicago Times-Herald.

Cooks Facing Fire.

Some amusing stories of our irrepressible Irishmen at the front are related in a letter by Sergt. Mediand Newsham, D.L.L., to his parents at Northampton. He writes: "In the Colenso fight one of the officers of the Dublins went down off the lines and saw the chief cook there fighting and firing away with the best of them. He asked him what he was doing there. He said, 'Foightin,' sorr. Can't help it — couldn't resist the music any longer.' The officer asked him where the other cooks were. 'They're foightin', too, sorr.' The officer told him to get the cook pots and make some coffee for the men. They went back three miles, got the pots, and started boiling them, when a shell blew all their constructions to pieces. The poor 'Dubs' got no coffee that day. They have been cut up badly, but are as full of fight as ever. They were the first in action at Talana, and have been fighting practically ever since."

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Items of Interest Gathered From the Different Congregations.

CHARLOTTE ST.

Rev Mr Fesse, of Warsaw, and Rev O C Elliott, conducted the morning and evening services at Charlotte-st church yesterday, both preaching excellent sermons. The morning anthem was "The Lord is my Light" well sung by the choir. The evening anthem was "The Lord is my Shepherd" with duet by Miss Stephens and Mr Parks and solo by Miss Hall. During the offertory Mr Squires sang a very pleasing solo "In Heavenly Love Abiding."

GEORGE ST.

The morning anthem was entitled "Hark Herald Angels Sing" with soprano obligato by Miss Clara Bellegham, and obligato duet by Misses A. and C. Bellegham. The anthem was splendidly rendered.

The solo "The Better Land," was splendidly sung by Miss Clara Bellegham during the offertory.

The evening anthem was entitled "O Sacred Head now Wounded," with solo by soprano [illegible] from the "Sheppard" series.

A male quartette composed of Messrs. Goldie, Walden, Turner and Alexander sang very acceptably "Rock of Ages."

THE FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

BASEBALL.

On the diamond of the P.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday afternoon a team supposed to be representatives of the Peterboroughs played a picked team from the City league, defeating them by 21 runs to 8. There was a fair crowd present. For the first three innings the match was very close. On the start the City league men jumped into the game with both feet and it looked as if they would give the seniors a close argument. They scored 2 runs in the first innings and the Peterboroughs were blanked. At the end of the third the score was a tie, 2—2, but then the senior players began to smash Meagher's speedy balls all over the field. The game was won by heavier hitting and snappier play on the infield. The play on both sides was very promising. The Peterboroughs wore their now khaki uniforms. They are neat and pretty and the height of fashion. The players and scores were:—

The junior "Electrics" are right in the middle of the ring. On Saturday afternoon they played a scratch team from the C.G.E. works, winning by 23 runs to 16. The juniors are hustlers. The team was composed of C. Henry, E. Dormer, J. Sanderson, J. Squires, C. Westbrook, A. Jamieson, J. Gould, B. Tovey, H. Cleeves. Their opponents were W. Hodgson, J. Clancy, F. Pope, T. Manning, H. Rishea, J. Murray, B. Doris, J. Judge, W. Cawthorne.

They play early. The game which is to be played on the 24th morning in the Central park between the bugle band and No. 2 Co., of the 57th Regiment, promises to be up to the mark. Come. Game at 8 a.m. sharp.

in a grander way than has been done by the British empire?

There is another world, this little world of ours, this soul that God has given into our charge. We should guard carefully all the interests that God has placed in our hearts. The city of each man's heart must be protected. To further good we must further it in the individual life. The strength of the British empire is that it seeks the liberty of each individual subject.

The challenge is given by Joshua to the angel to know whether he is for or against. Joshua will have no hangers on. Lord Roberts will have none but men who are zealous to fight for the liberty of the dark continent. In the great life to which we are called God wants us to have no ambiguous position. We must stand true to our colors.

May we all like Joshua acknowledge God as our personal God and place our hearts and lives under his ruling. Obedience is a first principle. We should feel above all obedience to our Lord's command. How the people of Jericho would ridicule the people marching round the walls. But honest obedience to the command brought [illegible] victory and triumph.

Recognize the great principle of true loyalty. There is a stimulating element to-day when we think of our own Peterborough comrades away out on the veldt, acting as our substitutes. While they stand the shock of battle let us not forget them and their courage and noble spirit in going forward to stand in defence of the British crown.

Let us on this 81st celebration of Her Majesty's birthday pay to her all honor. Never did the empire stand more united than to-day. To-day her glory is being made apparent everywhere and shall be made more apparent when the security of the world's peace is put in her hands I believe in the spirit of militarism in which the nation desires its young men to stand ready for action, to remove the obstacles that stand in the way of the betterment of the condition of men and women the world over.

Has there ever been a sovereign who has shown such a remarkable life as Queen Victoria? She has feared God all the days of her life and has been much blessed. She has been a noble example of true womanhood. She shall have just cause to feel the glory of a grander empire because her soldiers and people have ever been truly filled with the sentiment "God Save the Queen."

In conducting the service yesterday Rev. J. C. Davidson acted with the approval of the Bishop of Toronto.

The orderly conduct of the men during the service, as well as their soldierly demeanor on the march was very striking and was generally commented on. Peterborough has reason to be proud of the 57th, and so may we all.

The boys never flinched when the heavy shower struck them, not a word of grumbling was heard. It was a good test. We don't want "fair weather" soldiers.

It was good to hear the singing and responding by the large body of men, ending with the outburst when "God Save the Queen" was announced.

The four staff-sergeants took up the offertory, and it seemed to be a liberal one.

After return to the drill shed the officers met and on motion of the Chaplain a committee was appointed to convey the gratitude of the Regiment to Rev. J. G. Potter, and choir, and officers, of St. Andrew's. In proposing this Mr. Davidson remarked that it was only through Mr. Potter's thoughtful kindliness that he had been able to carry out the arrangements for the service.

In the evening at St. Andrew's, Rev. J. G. Potter alluded to the great enjoyment which he had derived from the service which he believed was shared by the congregation.

CANADIAN ARTILLERY WITH RELIEF COLUMN

Which Reached Mafeking Early on the 18th--Despatches Coming Through From the Beleagured Town but Details not Very Full Yet

Col. Bethune got Into a Boer Ambush in Natal and Lost 66 Men—Natal Said to be Clear of the Enemy and Laing's Nek Free -— British Capture Twenty-Seven Free State Locomotives.

MAFEKING BEFORE THE RELIEF

London, May 22.—A despatch to the Daily Mail, dated "Mafeking, May 15." says: "Among prisoners captured with Commandant Sarel Eloff are Count DeBremont, a Frenchman, and Count WonWeiss, a German. It is found that the Boers were guided by two deserters named Hay and Bolton. At the enemy's request, we have handed over their dead. To-day one of our men was asked to surrender and replied ": Never." The Boers at once shot him through the head.

CANADIANS WERE WITH THE RELIEF COLUMN

London, May 22.—Lord Roberts reports to War Office in a despatch dated Kroonstadt, May 21, as follows: "Mahon reports that the flying column entered Mafeking at 4 a.m., May 18. He was stubbornly opposed by 15,000 men on May 17, nine miles from Mafeking. The Boers were driven from their strong positions after five hours fighting, thanks, he says, to the magnificent qualities of his troops. A detatchment of Canadian artillery, by a series of forced marches, reached him the morning of the fighting, and rendered very valuable assistance. Mahon's casualties were about 30, the Boer losses were very heavy." Dr. Heymans contradicts the reports circulated regarding the health of President Kruger, which he says is good. Herr Kruger is transacting all the work of the Presidency.

A BOER AMBUSH

London, May 22.—It is officially announced that Col. Bethune has reported that while marching in the direction of Newcastle, Natal, yesterday he was ambushed by a party of Boers six miles west of Vryheid, in the Transvaal, and that very few of his foree escaped. His casualties mumbered 66 men.

A BIG CAPTURE OF LOCOMOTIVES

Cape Town, May 22.—British troops have arrived at Vereeniging in the Transvaal, north of the Vaal river. The bridge across the Vaal was found to be in tact. Twenty-seven Free State Transvaal locomotives were captured.

LAING'S NEK CLEARED

London, May 22.—A despatch from Pietermaritzburg, dated Monday, May 21, says the Boers are reported to have entirely left Natal leaving Laing's Nek free.

ROBERTS HAS NOT MOVED

London, May 22—Lord Roberts is still at Kroonstad, reorganizing his forces. Gen. Rundle's forces are encamped at Trommel recuperating. A patrol four miles from Trommel was attacked by the Boers, One man was wounded and some horses were killed. Further details of the fighting at Mafeking say that Commandant Sarel Eloff's followers deserted him, whereupon Eloff fired on them himself and then surrendered with 80 followers. The despatch also says that one party of Boers was driven out of the staat and allowed to escape as we had sufficient prisoners. Capture of Eloff and his followers cost Baden-Powell three men killed and seven wounded.

Francis Anthony Hangs Himself.

Brampton, Ont., May 22.—Francis Anthony, a respectable farmer, living a short distance outside the town, hanged himself yesterday afternoon in an outhouse at his brother's farm. He was about 70 years old. His rash act was committed during an attack of mental aberration.

To Strengthen Britain's Fleet.

Gibraltar, May 22.—The British torpedo boat destroyers Orwell, Skate, Sunfish and Hardy arrived yesterday from England. They are bound for Malta to strengthen the Mediterranean squadron.

THE WEST ELGIN INNOCENTS

Election Commission Continues Its Innocuous Enquiry.

The Organizers Are All Guiltless—Messrs. Smith, Vance, Bell and Preston Tell Plain Stories of Virtuous Lives—Preston Point Blank Contradicts the Pritchett Affidavit—Other Reform Workers, However, Had Their Suspicions.

Toronto, May 22.—The commission appointed by the Government to enquire into the West Elgin election case resumed their investigation in the legislative building yesterday morning. Alex. Smith, secretary of the Ontario Liberal Association, was the first witness sworn. He denied having had anything to do with the election irregularities. He did not know Pritchett, and said he was not in the riding when he (witness) was there to his knowledge; he had nothing to do directly or indirectly with Pritchett being there, nor did he know who brought him there. Neither had he had anything to do with Con. O'Gorman, Lewis, Cahill, or Duncan Bole. He had not the slightest knowledge of the misappropriation or misapplication of monies in that election, either by himself or by others. He handled no election fund there, except for his personal use.

James Vance was next sworn. He had been assisting Mr. Smith in organizing and getting out literature for the Liberal party since January, 1899. He had been in West Elgin for ten days. He had no knowledge of the improper use of money in this election, and had heard of no election fund for use there.

J. J. Bell, a journalist by occupation, was in West Elgin in January, 1899, at the request of Mr. Smith, and remained from Jan. 2 till the morning after the election. He had been assigned, he thought, by Mr. Preston, to look after three subdivisions in the Township of Southwold. He had no knowledge of and had taken no part in any wrongdoing in West Elgin, nor did he know of any improper use of money in the campaign.

Preston Asks to Be Heard.

W. T. R. Preston desired to be heard regarding some recent statements made by Pritchett. His testimony concerned alleged irregularities in South Ontario, and was outside the scope of this commission, but witness was permitted to make his statement. Pritchett had charged that he had met witness in Whitby on nomination day and also at the Commercial Hotel there. Witness denied these charges, first because he had been in East Wellington on nomination day, and second because there was no Commercial Hotel in Whitby. As to the charge that he had paid Pritchett money in the presence of one Brant he had no hesitation in saying that the statement was utterly without foundation. He had never even met Pritchett in any election, and had never given him a dollar in his life.

Wesley Horton, a farmer and horse breeder of Shedden village, had driven Duncan Bole to Stafford's residence when the former came to take Stafford's place as D. R. O. Bole had produced a letter of authority for his appointment, and had been sworn in by Stafford, who was too ill to act.

William McMaines of St. Thomas, a laborer, was janitor in the club room where Macnish's committee meetings were held. He had received some blank forms for the appointment of scrutineers, with the request that Mr. Macnish sign them. The papers were brought by a woman, whom he did not know. Mr. Macnish had come in and signed, some of them in his presence. He seemed to be in a hurry and signed them hastily. He did not know what had become of these papers after they were signed.

When Bole Was Appointed.

John Orchard, a farmer living in No. 4 sub-division, acted as scrutineer on election day. Stafford, he said, was his uncle, and was too sick to act as D. R. O., when Bole was appointed. He had heard of Bole's appointment the night before the election. James Orchard, his uncle, had marked his ballot for Macnish when he meant to mark for Macdiarmid, and asked for another ballot and declared that it was not spoiled and put it in the box. A considerable argument took place, but Bole did not give Orchard another ballot.

Witness thought Bole's conduct that day had been a little questionable, as he had left his post four or five times. He had not seen him communicating with confederates either inside or outside of the office.

After the poll closed he had said to Melville White, the Reform Secretary, "What do you think of that?" to which White replied: "Isn't it awful!" Witness then said: "There

OUR SPECIAL OTTAWA LETTER

THE GREAT DEBATE ON THE ELECTION FRAUDS AND THE GOVERNMENT'S WONDERFUL RECORD

Four Government Programmes—How the Premier Proposes to Investigate—Four Days on the West Huron and Brockville Cases—All Night Session and the Vote in the Morning.

Special Correspondence of the Review.

Ottawa, May 18.—"The coon came down," said Sir Charles Tupper at five o'clock Friday morning.

The coon was Sir Wilfrid Laurier who had just promised that if the House would assist him in voting down Borden's motion to resume the enquiry into the election frauds the government would appoint a commission of judges to enquire into them. The legend of Davy Crockett and the coon does not say that the coon came down. It only sets forth that the animal, finding his situation desperate, begged the hunter not to shoot and promised to descend. That is exactly the position of the Premier. He has asked the House to let the government off, and has promised to institute a better enquiry. We do not know whether the coon kept his word, nor do we know what will come of Sir Wilfrid's proposition. The one thing settled is that the enquiry began last year by the tribunal which Sir Wilfrid then approved, the investigation which he promised to push to a conclusion, has been broken off in the middle at the request of the Premier and by the vote of the majority.

THE FIRST PROGRAMME.

It was only after four days of warm debate over Mr. Borden's motion that the First Minister proposed his compromise. It was evidently no part of the original ministerial programme. Last year the government welcomed the reference to the committee. Sir Wilfrid appears to have thought then that the committee was a satisfactory court. He was also satisfied with the West Huron charges, and held that the Brockville case should also be referred. Here is his declaration:—

"If wrong has been done in these elections nobody ought to be shielded. If anyone has contravened the law, it is fair and right that this should be investigated, and that we should know now, henceforth and forever, that the will of the people must be expressed as the people must be expressed as the people wish to express it, however severe the consequences may be on one side or the other."

The Premier was not then offering objection. "The purity of election must be guarded at all costs and hazards," he said, "the case must go to the committee."

It was in this connection that Sir Wilfrid spoke of "the sanctity of the ballot, the sanctity of the rights of the people."

THE SECOND PROGRAMME.

The case went to the committee, and certain facts were proved. It has been charged that ministers and their supporters did their best to make the inquiry go slow, and to prevent its completion last session. This would perhaps harmonize with the interests of the party, which at that time expected a general election before another session. However that may be, the committee unanimously agreed to submit to the House the evidence taken, and to report that the enquiry had not yet been completed. There was no hint either in the committee, or in the House, or in the Government press, that this was the end of it. The custom of resuming inquiries left over unfinished from previous sessions is so well established, that it has become a matter of course. The programme of delay offered an intermission of a year, and in the case of an election, the postponement of the conclusion until the danger to the party was over.

THE THIRD PROGRAMME.

Before the present session opened several exposures had taken place in Ontario, and the connection established between the participants in these provincial contests and those who conducted the Brockville and Huron campaigns greatly increased the interest in the parliamentary investigation. This interest was deepened after the "accidental" burning of the Elgin ballots in the Government buildings at Ottawa, and still more by the sworn testimony of Pritchett, who has returned to Canada after sojourning abroad for nearly a year in the pay as he says of the Government organizer. He describes his experience as an instructor of deputy returning officers in the art of substituting ballots. Meanwhile a suspicion grew which afterward deepened into certainty that the Government intended to stop the investigation which has already proved so much, and has cost so much, and has arrived at a point from which it is easy to get at the heart of the matter. Pritchett, who says he taught returning officers the system of stuffing the box with forged ballots, is here. Farr can no longer be kept low. The twenty officers to whom Farr says he gave instructions and with whom he bargained for their pay are avilable for examination. But Mr. Borden could not get ahead. The third programme of the Government was the decisive one of stopping investigation altogether.

THE THIRD ONE DEVELOPED.

At first Mr. Borden was headed off by the point that this motion could not be treated as a matter of privilege, and dealt with off-hand. That was all right last year, but the Laurier programme was then different. Mr. McMullen, once famous as a purist, became suddenly a highly technical obstructor—insisting on formal notice, and interposing all the impediments that his long experience has taught him how to use. At the next stage, when after due notice, the motion once more came forward, opposition was offered, under Sir Wilfrid's auspices, and on his order that the motion should "stand," it went down to the bottom of the list of debateable questions. Mr. Borden was obliged to take the last recourse, and bring the motion up as an amendment to supply when it could not be amended, or evaded, or postponed, or escaped in any other way.

THE POLICY DECLARED.

After Mr. Borden's speech and motion the government took time to consider. No declaration was made from Friday until Tuesday. Then Sir Louis Davies made a two hour speech stating the position of the government. The inquiry must stop where it was. The motion of Mr. Borden that the committee complete its work must be voted down. Such was the programme. Of course the Minister could not reconcile this line of action with the course of the Premier last year. So he condemned the course of the Premier, as ill-considered. "In sending these cases to the committee last year," said the ministerial apologist, "we acted with very great, and I venture to say with undue haste." He was willing to admit that "the House thought for the time being that there was a prima facie case which called for investigation?" But Sir Louis was determined that the House should get rid of the idea, and made a long argument to show that there was not, and never had been anything connected with the election requiring investigation. Even if there had been well grounded suspicion, Sir Louis contended that the committee was not the proper tribunal to hear the charges, which should be left with the election tribunal or criminal courts. The next day, after Mr. Powell had read other evidence, the chief law officer of the government set at naught the whole case against the returning officers and government organizers. The only person whom Mr. Fitzpatrick threatened to punish was the informer, lately a salaried exile. The only other persons whom he condemned were those who demanded a full inquiry.

THE POLICY SUPPORTED.

Russell, of Halifax, Britton, of Kingston, Fraser, of Guysboro, Cowan, of Essex, and Bell, of Prince Edward Island, all members of the Privileges Committee last year, who contributed zealously toward the expenditure of time, with McClure, of Colchester, were among those who joined in the fight against further investigation. Some said that there had never been a case for enquiry, some that the investigation was already complete, and all offered the argument that the Tories were not free from corrupt practices. Until late in the evening of the day on which the vote was to be taken the Government speakers were united against further exposure. They were also united in denouncing Pritchett, whom they compared to Piggott, Titus Oates, and various traitors and informers. The relations between those who profit by the machine and the man who has betrayed the machine are greatly strained.

THIRD PROGRAMME ATTACKED.

The reply to Sir Louis Davies fell to Mr. Powell, of Westmorland, whose speech attracted much attention as an argument from the evidence, and as an appeal to the conscience of the House. He read in full the three affidavits from Pritchett. These sworn statements have a detailed record of Pritchett's connection with two elections, with the names of the organizers, the names of the deputies to whom he taught the art of "slipping," "switching," stealing, spoiling and forging ballots, the number of bogus ballots supplied to each, the terms of the bargain with them, the financial transactions and other details. Whether these statements are true or false, most of the persons implicated have not yet contradicted them. The statements give opportunity to confirm or refute the charges by the direct evidence of the persons who know the facts. On Thursday another affidavit of Pritchett was read by Mr. Davin. It described the manner in which its author figured as an instructor of amateur ballot slippers and spoilers in the election of the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, a piece of lead under the thumb-nail playing a large part in the proceedings.

A CONTRAST.

The excuse that Parliament had no business to interfere with election frauds was met by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper with certain facts from recent history. When the Laurier Government took office its friends in Manitoba were seeking to connect their opponents with election frauds in that province. The Premier gave them $10,000 from the Dominion treasury without the authority of Parliament. The results in the matter of convictions were not large, but the operations were sufficiently expensive to furnish a precedent. Sir Hibbert pointed out that this Huron affair was the third investigation into official wrongdoing which the Laurier Government authorized. It was also the third which the Ministry had broken off abruptly just at the point when discoveries began to be made.

A PROTEST FROM A LIBERAL.

Mr. Richardson, a Liberal member from Manitoba, arose before midnight on Thursday, and made a sensation. He told the Premier that he would "absolutely refuse" to vote as directed by his leader, or to outrage decency, honesty and reason by declaring that no frauds had been proved. He had heard the evidence and examined the ballots, and was perfectly certain that crimes had been committed. Then he called upon his brother Liberals to join him in exposing and punishing this crime in their own ranks. Mr. Richardson admitted that he had himself charged the Tories with fraudulent practises in certain elections, but begged the members not to adopt as their own standard of virtue the conduct which he and they denounced as a crime in their opponents. The committee might not be the best tribunal in the world, but Mr. Richardson agreed with the Premier last year that it was good enough for this business and it was no worse now than it was then. The case was already in that court and unless the Premier offered some other tribunal, such as a judicial commission, Mr. Richardson would vote to keep it there.

THE PREMIER IN TROUBLE.

Mr. Cowan spoke four hours, while the First Minister and his colleagues considered and consulted. Midnight passed and two hours after. A few of the more sensitive supporters of the Government, made known their scruples. The whips and the persuaders had been going about among them. One who refused to "vote it through" was induced to go out of town. Others were troubled with letters and telegrams from their friends and constituents, from clergymen and teachers, hoping that the representative would not lend his aid to burke the inquiry promised by the Premier, and carried just to the point where the truth could be ascertained. Mr. Richardson's speech made it harder for every other Liberal to vote down the inquiry.

Mr. Craig reminded Sir Wilfrid again of his last year's pledge, and the high praise he had obtained for that "hasty" action. Mr. Foster pointed out to the leader of the Government that honest men were looking to him for protection of their rights, while the ballot stealers were looking to him for assistance, safety and encouragement in their villainy. He could not satisfy both, and would be held to account if he abandoned the honest voter to gratify the machine. Before this Mr. Wallace and Mr. Bennett had told the story of the bye-elections, Mr. Ross Robertson, of Toronto, had depicted the situation in a series of biting epigrams, and Mr. E. B. Osler, of Toronto, had appealed in strong and earnest language to the House to spare the Province of Ontario from further disgrace, and to expose and punish the offences which had brought shame to every self-respecting Canadian.

THE FOURTH PROGRAMME.

Friday morning had dawned when the Prime Minister announced his change of policy. He still wished to have Borden's mission voted down, but he now offered a substitute. Mr. Foster had assured him that the Opposition would not resist the reference of the case to a commission of judges, if the inquiry were made complete. The Premier caught at the proposition. He declared that if the motion were rejected the judicial inquiry would be held, and that it would be full and thorough.

The change of programme brought with it a change of view, and whereas the Premier's colleagues and supporters had declared that there was nothing to investigate, Sir Wilfrid admitted even more than Mr. Osler had charged.

"We have had for some years," he said, "and especially during the last year or so a system of ballot manipulation; we have it in the press, in the courts, in the very air of this country, and there has been prevalent in certain sections a system, deep and systematic, carried on for years, of tampering with the ballot, of preventing the will of the people from being expressed at the polls." The evil he said was general requiring investigation. Then Sir Wilfrid promised a tribunal of the best judges, to ferret out the evil, expose and eradicate it.

WHERE IS THE COON?

Thus it was that Sir Charles observed that the coon had come down, while at the same time he congratulated the Premier on his decision, which, though it might better have been reached at the beginning of the session, and though it was forced upon the Government, would, if carried out fully and promptly, give good results. The Opposition leader at first suggested that Mr. Borden's motion might be withdrawn, but when Sir Wilfrid refused to say that the judges would be appointed at once, or that the inquiry would be pressed to a conclusion before the general elections, or that it would take up the West Huron and Brockville inquiries as the first part of the business, it was deemed best to divide the House. Mr. Borden's motion was defeated by a straight party vote, Mr. Richardson declining to give the fourth programme a trial.

Now the House waits for the fifth programme.

is something wrong here. Money or something has done this." Bole had then spoken up and said: "That is the second time I have been accused of bringing money in here," and witness replied: "I didn't accuse you of bringing in money. I said that money or something else has done this."

In reply to further questions, witness said he had been suspicious of Bole all day, and had watched him as closely as possible, but he had seen no other questionable acts by him. According to his estimate the return at this booth should be about a tie, instead of which, it stood 127 for Macnish and 42 for Macdiarmid.

Cahill Under an Alias.

Walter Trump acted as scrutineer for Macdiarmid at No. 11 polling booth, where Cahill was D.R.O. He had watched Cahill and the voters very closely to see that they worked no sleight-of-hand with the ballots. He saw nothing peculiar in Cahill's conduct, except that he acted under the name of A. E. Montgomery, and witness only learned his real name, Martin J. Cahill, some time afterwards.

Donald Macnish recalled, said he had left the application blank for substitute D.R.O after signing it, on the table in the club room. As far as he was personally concerned, he had nothing to conceal, nor had he anything to conceal for others.

This concluded the evidence taken yesterday, no other witnesses being available. It is understood that Mrs. Pritchett, her brother, and Con. O'Gorman, will be called when the commission resumes on Saturday morning next. A private session will be held to-day for revision of evidence.

Mr. Burke Instantly Killed.

Whitby, May 22. — The regular train on the Midland division of the Grand Trunk yesterday morning ran down and killed Thomas Burke, an old man, while rounding the curve just north of Brooklin street station. Engineer Sweet saw the man step on the track about a couple of lengths ahead of his train, and applied the brakes, but it was too late, the engine striking Burke and killing him instantly. Burke was at least 70 years of age. He was an old and respected resident of Brooklin. An inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death was brought in.

Charged With Manslaughter.

Toronto, May 22. — The grand jury brought in an indictment charging Arthur McIntyre, the boy who shot his father, with manslaughter. The prisoner will be arraigned and tried to-day.

The Grandest Treasure.

One of the fondest, happiest anticipations of a mother's heart is that by her husband's earnest toil, and by careful economy on both their parts they shall be able to lay by a little store which the baby when it is grown to manhood or womanhood shall have as its own private possession.

But every wife who expects to become a mother may provide a far more valuable treasure for her little one's future than can ever be contained in any savings bank if she will take the proper care of her own health and physical condition during the time when the baby is expected. And if every husband would feel it his bounden duty to see that all possible means are adopted to carry his wife safely through this critical time, he will help to bequeath to his offspring that health and natural vigor which is the grandest fortune a father can bestow.

"During the past year I found myself pregnant and in rapidly failing health," writes Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm, (Enosburg Center) Enosburg, Vt., in a grateful letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y. "I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. I followed your directions and took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

"Favorite Prescription" is the only proprietary medicine in the world invented by an educated physician and scientific specialist for the one specific purpose of restoring health and strength to the distinctly feminine organism. It is a prompt relief and permanent cure for every form of female complaint or weakness.

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectually as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

RENEWAL OF BANK CHARTERS

Mr. Fielding's Bill Carries Them Forward 10 Years From 1901.

That Is the Date When, Under the Present Act, They Expire—Canadian Bankers Association Will Have Charge of Suspended Banks—New Securities Upon Which Banks Will Be Permitted To Lend Money.

Ottawa, May 22. — An important Government measure was introduced yesterday, when W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister, presented "An Act to Amend the Bank Act."

In explanation of his bill, Mr. Fielding said the time had arrived to make advanced legislation for banks. The present act was excellent, but it should be extended.

Renewal of Bank Charters.

The first important charge was to give banks power to carry their charters forward 10 years from 1901, when, according to the present act, they expire. Provisions were made so as to have fuller information given by banks, without disturbing the continuity of returns. The clause relating to this provided that directors should give the shareholders information whenever the shareholders determined by bylaw to have such information brought down but no information should be given regarding the accounts of customers.

Mr. Fielding declared that the recent Ville Marie Bank failure had pointed out to the Government the need to prevent the issue of bank notes after the bank has suspended. A clause of the bill provided that directors should not issue their own notes to depositors, thus creating a specially privileged class of creditors with prior liens on the assets of the bank. The present act permitted this.

Widens Business Powers.

The bill widened the business powers of banks. Besides the present securities upon which the banks can lend money, and included now: (1) Standing timber, (2) liabilities to be incurred, such as letters of credit, (3) products of the quarry. The term "wholesaler" is to be added to the term "purchaser" in this connection.

In regard to the holding of land, the present act stated that a bank should not hold land longer than seven years, but made no provision for what might occur after that period. Mr. Fielding's bill gives to banks the same powers given to loan companies last year, namely, extends the period from seven years to 12 years, provided that a forced sale at the seven years would be at a loss. As to what would then be done, the clause states that "After a lapse of time, by order of the Treasury Board proceedings may be taken to forfeit bank lands to the Crown."

What About Bank Lands?

"What about lands now held over the seven-year period?" asked Mr. Borden (Halifax).

Mr. Fielding replied that no forfeit would take place without six months' notice. Banks would be given a chance to get rid of such lands. The effect of the clause would be to keep land with landed title in the hands of the banks till sold.

Another clause provided that unpaid drafts, issued after a lapse of five years, should form a return to Parliament, like unpaid balances now form.

A few verbal changes added made up the round of chief amendments. But there were several important proposals embodied in the bill. In the light of past and recent experience, Mr. Fielding had found it desirable that where a bank had suspended, a better supervision should take place than is at present in vogue. The new bill proposed to use the Canadian Bankers' Association for this purpose. In fact the association had been incorporated principally to act as an instrument to carry out this idea. The reason of this was that as now all banks, more or less partners regarding note circulation, seeing that the bank circulating fund was responsible for all the notes of all the banks, therefore, there was a special reason for the association to see that the affairs of a suspended bank were properly conducted.

What the New Bill Provides.

Hence the new bill provided that: As soon as a bank suspended, the Bankers' Association shall appoint a curator to take possession of the bank. If the affairs are found not to need a curator, then he shall be withdrawn. If otherwise, then the curator still remains in charge till he is removed by the Bankers' Association. The bill provides that the curator shall take charge of the assets of the bank, collect debts, arrange to pay notes and have full powers conferred upon him by the Bankers' Association. He shall remain in charge till removed or the bank resumes business, or a liquidator is appointed.

Sir Charles Tupper thought the curator should be made personally responsible. Mr. Fielding replied that, though no security was demanded of him, still the matter was worthy of consideration.

Control of Circulation.

The new bill provides for the more complete control of a bank's circulation. To-day a bank could issue up to the amount of the paid-up capital, and the only guard was the return made to the Government. Something more was needed. Hence the new bill proposed to have the circulation controlled by rules and bylaws made by the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Powers of Bankers' Association.

Clause 80 of the bill states that the Bankers' Association may make bylaws (a) concerning the curator, (b) the making of bank notes, (c) the disposition thereof, (d) their destruction, (e) the imposition of penalties for the breach of non-observance of any bylaw, rule or regulation so made.

Such bylaws must be approved by two-thirds in number of the banks represented at a meeting, the banks so approving having at least two-thirds in par value of the paid-up capital of the banks so represented.

Government Has Control.

No such bylaw shall be of any force until approved by the Treasury Board of the Governor-in-Council.

Another clause provides for the purchase of the assets of a bank going out of business. A bank may, by a vote of two-thirds in value of all the shareholders, sell its assets to another bank. But if the purchasing bank needs to enlarge its capital in order to purchase the assets, then its shareholders must also, by vote, consent to the purchase. This would protect shareholders. The agreement would have to be approved by the Governor-in-Council.

Mr. Fielding said he desired to send his bill to the Committee on Banks and Commerce, in order to get a full discussion.

The bill was read a first time.

Supervision of Depositors.

Mr. Foster asked if Mr. Fielding had made any attempt to increase the Government supervision of depositors in banks.

Mr. Fielding replied that no provisions had been made, but he hoped that the powers given by the present bill to the Bankers' Association would operate for the benefit of depositors and shareholders alike.

Mr. McInnes' Resignation.

Speaker Bain informed the House that he had received the resignation of Mr. McInnes, M.P., and had directed the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery to issue a writ for a new election.

Election Debate Again.

REMOVING TO PETERBOROUGH

Mr. Tilly, of the Bell Telephone Co., Esteemed by the People of Port Hope.

Port Hope Guide:—The following is a testimonial presented to Mr. T. J. Tilly last Friday evening, May 18th, by his many friends in Port Hope, and subscribers to the Bell Telephone Company, on the eve of his departure for Peterborough. Both he and his estimable wife will be missed from church, temperance and social circles. They were always ready to lend a helping hand in any good work, and highly respected by all who knew them:—

We, the undersigned, subscribers to the Bell Telephone Company, Port Hope exchange, having heard of the removal of Mr. T. J. Tilly to Peterborough, desire to express our sincere regret at his departure from amongst us. For over ten years he has been in our town in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company, and during all that period we have always found him courteous, obliging and prompt in the discharge of his duties, and he carries with him to our sister town our best wishes for his welfare and deserved advancement.

The testimonial is signed by Judge Benson, T. D. Craig, M. P., Mayor Quinlan and all the leading citizens of the town.

QUEEN VS ARMOUR

This Action of Local Interest Again Before the Supreme Court.

An Ottawa despatch dated the 19th, says:—"The first proceeding in the Supreme Court this morning was the hearing of a motion to vary the judgment entered by the registrar in the Queen vs. Armour. The judgment as pronounced simply dismissed the appeal with costs, but the registrar on settling the minutes of judgment, and after consultation with the Chief Justice, allowed interest from the date of judgment of the Exchequer Court. That is objected to by the Crown on the ground that the court not having granted it, the registrar could not."

THE PROGRAMME FOR THE HOLIDAY

AGREAT DAY ON THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY AND ALL ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE

The Military Parade—The Cycle Parade—Sports in the Afternoon—The Cooks Parade and Fireworks and Band Concert.

The celebration on Thursday next, Queen's Birthday, will be one of the best the town has seen in years. There is a programme for the morning, for the afternoon and for the evening, so that it will be a full day of sight-seeing and events. The General Committee in charge of the celebration met at the officers' quarters at the drill shed last night, and completed all arrangements and organized the programme.

The day is free of charge to all citizens. The parades, the sports and the fireworks will be open to all who are in town that day without gate admission or charge. Peterborough has decided to celebrate the eighty-first anniversary of the birth of Her Majesty in proper style, and no one should leave town. Stay at home, lend your patriotism to the proceedings and enjoy the day.

But, a word just here to all citizens. Get out the flags and the red, white and blue, and decorate. Let the streets put on a holiday appearance. It is the people's holiday and the town should be in gala attire. Let all citizens decorate, so that visitors will see the parades under proper surroundings.

THE PROGRAMME.

The programme for the day will interest all. It will be as follows:—

MILITARY PARADE.

The military parade will take place in the morning. The parade is called for ten o'clock, and the 57th Regiment and the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons will leave the drill shed and proceed down George-st. to Charlotte, along Charlotte to Stewart, thence to Hunter, along Hunter to Water and then to Victoria Park, where the feu de joie will be fired at noon.

THE CHILDREN'S SINGING.

The children of the town will assemble about the band stand in Victoria Park at 11.30 a.m., sharp, and after the feu de joie will engage in singing patriotic songs. The singing will be led by instruments of the 57th band. This will be a pleasing feature of the day.

BICYCLE PARADE.

The bicycle parade will start at 1.30 p. m. Cyclists taking part in the parade will assemble at the drill shed not later than 1 o'clock p.m. The shed will be open to cyclists at 12.30 for preparatory work.

The prizes offered in this competition comprise three bicycles, offered by Messrs. Thos. Barrie, F. McPherson and F. Davidson, cycle dealers, respectively. The conditions are set forth on the large posters. Those taking part in the parade will be required to wear a number, which must be displayed on the wearer's left side. Numbers may be had at the cycle stores of the dealers mentioned above. The judging will be made by number, hence the necessity for its appearance in proper place.

The route of this parade will be from the Central Park down to Charlotte-st., along Charlotte to Water, along Water to Brock, along Brock to George and along George and Smith-sts. to the Nicholls Park. Riders will dismount at the park gates and walk up the hill, when the parade will circle the track twice.

SPORTS AND GAMES.

The sports and games will be held in the Nicholls Park, commencing at 2.30 p. m. The 57th Regimental band will be in attendance. The programme will be as follows and will afford a fine afternoon's sport, for the prizes are excellent and the competitions should be keen:—

1.—Bicycle Pursuit Race (limit 15 min.). 1st prize, Gold Medal, value $6.00.

2.—220 yd. Flat Race (Garrison). 1st prize, Sheath Knife, $3.00; 2nd, Valise, $2.50.

3.—Tug of War (Trial Pull).

4.—I Mile Bicycle Race (Boys, 15 years and under). 1st prize, Double Cyclometer, $2.00; 2nd, Bicycle Automatic Whistle, $1.50; 3rd, Bicycle Socks, $1.00.

5.—Bayonet vs. Bayonet Contest (Trial Bout).

6.—100 yds. Flat Race (Open). 1st prize, Opera Glass, $4.00; 2nd, Gold Pin, $2.50.

7.—Sword Exercise Exhibition. 3rd Dragoons.

8.—1 Mile Bicycle Race (Open). 1st Gold Ring, $6.00; 2nd, 1 Doz. Roy's Cabinets, $3.50.

9.—Bayonet vs. Bayonet (Trial Bout).

10.—1-3 Mile Flat Race (Open). 1st, Medal, $5.00; 2nd, Medal, $3.25.

11.—Tug of War (Finals). Prize, 5 Souvenir Spoons, $6.25.

12.—Menagerie Race. Officers of 57th Regiment.

13.—Section Drill (Garrison). Each team 10 men and Section Commander. 1st, $11.00; 2nd $5.50 cash.

14.—Bayonet vs. Bayonet (Finals). 1st, prize, Medal, $4.00.

15.—Pick-a-Back Race (Open). 1st, $2.50, 2 Pipes.

16.—Obstacle Race (Open). 1st, Fountain Pen, $2.00; 2nd, Pipe, $1.50.

17.—Relay Race (Flat), (Garrison). 1st, 3 Sets Razors and Straps, $6.00.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Bicycle events and flat races under standard amateur athletic contest rules.

Tug of War.—Limit 4 teams, on cleats, 3 minute pulls, 5 men a team.

Bayonet vs. Bayonet, Three 3 minute bouts.

Relay Flat Race.—Teams of 3 men each man once around track.

The prizes will be presented at the conclusion of the games and sports, and the names of the successful contestants in the bicycle parade will be announced.

The officials for the afternoon are as follows:—

Judges.—Col. H. C. Rogers, Major E. B. Edwards, Major J. W. Miller, Sgt.-Major A. E. Brittain, Mr. T. A. S. Hay and Mr. Geo. Tovey.

Starter.—Mr. E. E. Lord.

Timers.—Mr. A. H. Stratton and Mr. F. D. Mackay.

Scorers.—Mr. F. A. S. Lannon and Mr. Robt. Hay.

HABEAS CORPUS DEMANDED

Case of William Mitchell Comes Before Justice Rose at Toronto.

Toronto World:—In Chambers, before Mr. Justice Rose, an application was made for the release from custody, on a habeas corpus, and for a writ of certiorari, to bring up the conviction of William Mitchell, Peterborough, a junk dealer, who is serving a three-months sentence for receiving stolen goods. The commitment, which was made by Police Magistrate Dumble, is, it is alleged, faulty, and the proceedings are said to have been irregular. The matter was enlarged until Friday.

Brevities

The prizes for the sports on May 24th are on exhibition in the window of Clegg's furniture store, George-st.

—St. John's choir will practice this week at eight o'clock on Friday night, on account of the holiday on Thuraday.

—The wire fencing has been removed from Victoria park and the seats put in their places. A large number of people visited the park on Sunday.

—The steam road roller was at work last night till midnight rolling the stone on George-st between Brock and Hunter. It was not to make up for lost time nor because it works better by starlight but in order that the business traffic during the day might not be interfered with.

—Subscriptions have been received for a county hospital for Victoria county amounting to $7000. Mr. J. D. Flavelle heads the list with $1000, Mr. Geo. Matthews gives $200, J. Sutcliffe & Sons $100, and Mrs. M. G. Wood, Peterborough, $100.

—Lindsay Post:—Mr. Geo. Harvey, of Neill's shoe store staff, wheeled 90 miles yesterday. Leaving town at 7.30, he made Peterborough at 10.10, and after a brief rest he pushed on to Millbrook, 17 miles farther, returning at 4 o'clock. He left Peterborough on his return trip at 7 o'clock and arrived here at 10.30, the darkness and bad roads having made wheeling awkward and dangerous from Omemee in.

—There will be no meeting of the Good Templars' Lodge to-night, owing to another meeting previously arranged by the Foresters, but in future, the meetings will be held regularly every Tuesday at 8 p.m., in the Foresters' hall, (Court Langton), George-st. The next meeting, therefore, will be held on Tuesday, the 29th inst., when a full attendance of the members is requested, as some important matters will be discussed.

—The town has a new watering cart on the central district now, and it is a dandy. It is the most improved make and can reach the whole roadway or any part therefore at the discretion of the driver. It is provided with 4 1-2 inch tires, a width which makes the watering cart an effective road roller. With all heavy wagons equipped with these wide tires the good effect on the roads would soon be seen.

PICNIC AT LAKEFIELD

One of the most enjoyable ways of spending the Queen's birthday holiday is by attending the picnic at Lakefield in aid of the Roman Catholic church of the village. A pleasant day is assured to all. Besides the delightful outing there is a multiplicity of attractions to add to the interest. In the morning there will be a baseball match between Peterborborough and Lakefield teams for a silver cup, value $10. A varied programme of athletic sports will be run off at 2 p.m. sharp. The speaking will commence at 3, the chief addresses being given by Hon. Messrs. Stratton and Latchford. Dancing free, Peterborough orchestra furnishing music. The Hastings band will play on the grounds during the day. Dinner will be served from 12 to 2 and tea from 5 to 6, and it is superfluous to add that these will be of the very best. Trains will leave the G.T.R. depot at 8.15 a.m. and 1.30 p.m., returning at 4.05 p.m. and 8 p.m. Return fare 30 cents; children 15c.

The Steamer Sunbeam will run an Excursion, on Thursday, May 24th, to Stony Lake, leaving Lakefield, on arrival of the Morning Train, returning will connect with the Special Evening Train for Peterborough.

Rev. Mr. Bushell's Successor.

Rev. J. McKee McLennan is to succeed Rev. J. Bushell as the incumbent of the Church of England in Norwood, and is expected to arrive in time to conduct the services on the first Sabbath in June. Rev. Mr. McLennan is a young married man about four years out of college, and is highly spoken of by his fellow clergymen.

LETTERS FROM THE BOYS IN AFRICA

SERGT. DAN SPENCE SENDS HIS REGARDS TO PETERBOROUGH FRIENDS.

He Writes From Near Bloemfontein—A Couple of Letters From Pte. Chill Turner, who is with Capt. Greenwood.

Mr. F. W. Walden has received a letter from Sergt. Dan. M. Spence, one of the Peterborough boys with the Canadian Mounted Rifles in South Africa. The letter was dated April 3, near Bloemfontein. Sergt. Spence related various experiences in the passage from Halifax to Cape Town, some of them very thrilling to the boys who had never taken an ocean trip before. During the last two weeks of the voyage it fell to his lot to wash the dishes, an art in which the young ladies of the George-st. church knew of his skill. After arrival the soldiers were drilled daily, preparing for active warfare. The soldiers were laboring under great hardship in that they were each provided with a knife, spoon and fork, and food consisting of hard tack, a square inch of loaf sugar and other hard food. He was rather unfortunate that he had broken his fork and his kit now consisted of a knife and spoon. In starting for the front they rise before daylight and completed a seven miles march before breakfast. After the meal they marched 20 to 30 miles, halting for lunch, and after completing the day's march, arrange their tents for the night, or sometimes, in less fortunate conditions, sleep in a fence corner, taking turns on guard. He referred to the Christian work among the soldiers by the Y.M.C.A. staff and others, and stated that they missed the many opportunities possessed by the young people of Peterborough. He wished to be remembered to all his young friends in town and to the members of the George-st. choir and Epworth League.

FROM A. W. TURNER.

The following letters were received yesterday from Pte. Chil Turner, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles:

On the train 325 miles from Blomfontein,
April 10th, 1900.

Dear Parents,—We are off for the front, as Mr. Conway said, for Blomfontein. The sights are very fine all along the line. Ostrich farms and Kaffir villages are very plentiful. The majority of the Kaffirs go about naked and are a very poor class of people. We left Cape Town on April 4th marching to Stellenbosch camp, a distance of 32 miles, where we camped for 2 days. There are only 140 men and 140 horses on this train. The rest of the Mounted Rifles and the Canadian Artillery we left at Stellenbosch. They leave to join us to-day. As we were marching to Stellenbosch we stopped by the roadside for dinner where they distributed the mail and I was very pleased to have no less than 8 letters and 7 papers. One was from Mrs. Ward and I can tell you I enjoyed my meal immensely with tin of coffee in one hand and letters in the other. I posted a letter to Mr. Conway and Mr. Denne. I have not received the watch or cap yet, but I expect to get them. I will write a long letter from the front. I close with love to mother and all.

A. W. TURNER.

Springfontein, April 14th.

Dear Brothers,—We are now in the Free State. I arrived here last night with Capt. Greenwood and expect to march to Bloemfontein in the morning. We are now camped in a valley with many thousand other troops. It is surrounded by mountains on which we have our sentries mounted. Some go to the Free State farmers and ransack the houses and bring in the prisoners. Yesterday we captured our first prize, two Boers, and to-day they bring in their stock. I am getting along in fine shape and am very pleased to have so many letters and papers from home. I received all your letters. You should see the way the Boers have destroyed the railway bridges, which are being rebuilt as soon as possible. At the Orange River bridge they are working night and day to reconstructed it. It was a very massive structure but the Boers made short work of it. I was at the Imperial Yeomanry hospital, where I met several Canadians of the first contingent. Their wounds were mostly shot in thighs and arms. They are going home by way of England. I am sending Webber some stamps which I got this morning. They are very scarce here and I expect they will be valuable over there. Well, I have told you all for the present. Trusting this will find you in the best of health. I will close with love to all.

A NOTEWORTHY INCIDENT

An incident that attracted more than passing interest was the remarkable cure of Mr. William Boyd, a most honored resident of Wolfe Island, Ont. Mr. Boyd's health had suffered from frailty, which led to an acute attack of rheumatism.

Throughout the autumn and winter of 1897 he suffered most distressingly from rheumatic pains. His constitution became so weakened and the affected parts so painful that he was rendered perfectly helpless. His appetite became impaired and sleep forsook him. To move unaided was an impossibility and the help of an attendant was constantly necessary. A friend whom the treatment had benefited advised Mr. Boyd to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial and the advice was acted upon, and to Mr. Boyd's great surprise and joy, a cure was effected after all other treatments had failed. "I used the contents of five bottles," he writes, "and the pains left me entirely. I am now enjoying the very best of health."

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

GOT HIS DISCHARGE.

A MARINE CORPS RECRUIT WHO HAD NERVE AND USED IT.

As a Result, He Went to the Mediterranean Station as an Officer Instead of Serving as a Private For the Term of His Enlistment.

The extreme difficulty encountered by an enlisted man in the marine corps who wants to get out of the service without deserting before his enlistment is up is well known. An enlisted man in the sea soldiers must have pretty influential friends with Washington connections in order to do this, but there are exceptions. Here is the story of one of the exceptions:

He was an accomplished young chap from New Orleans. He came to Washington a number of years ago to take an examination for surgeon in the regular army, but he got on a spree shortly after his arrival here, and when he came to the examinations they were all concluded, and he was in that condition of financial collapse known as flat broke. So he enlisted in the marine corps at the Washington barracks of the sea soldiers' outfit. He enlisted under the name of Dunbar, a name which he subsequently changed to his right one. He belonged to a prominent New Orleans family. The young man had graduated with high honors in medicine after taking his A. B. at the University of Virginia, and he was an all around finished proposition. His idea in enlisting in the marine corps was that he might have a chance to get an apothecary's billet in the navy. Now, a naval apothecary was at that time a chief petty officer in the navy proper, and naval apothecaries are not created out of sea soldiers. They are shipped as apothecaries, and they have no connection whatsoever with the marine corps. The young Louisianian didn't know this, however, and so he "took on" as a buck private in the marines. He had hardly drawn his first government straight uniform as a sea soldier before he found out that as a marine he had no show in life ever to become an apothecary—that he was dished to do marine's guard duty for the balance of his enlistment.

The outlook seemed pretty gloomy to the young man from New Orleans, but he didn't lose his nerve. He calmly decided in his own mind that he'd become a naval apothecary anyhow without deserting, marine or no marine. He did some corresponding with some friends in New York, and he found out that a ship at that yard about to start on a Mediterranean cruise, needed an apothecary. So he sat down and wrote to the surgeon of that ship, applying for the billet, inclosing credentials as to his ability, but without stating that he was already enlisted in the marine corps. If he had done that, the surgeon, appreciating the difficulty of getting an enlisted man out of the marine corps, wouldn't have paid any attention to his application. As it was, however, the surgeon answered the young Louisianian's application promptly, informing him that he'd probably do if he could pass the physical examination and suggesting that he run over to the Brooklyn navy yard to be looked at and sized up. Running over to the Brooklyn navy yard sounded all right, but marines can't run anywhere without orders.

"Well, I guess I'll just nail that apothecaryship anyhow," said the young man to himself, and, rigging himself up in his best uniform, he called upon a marine officer who had taken a sort of interest in him and told him the case—how he had a chance to slip into the chief petty officer's uniform of an apothecary; how, of course, he'd have to have his discharge as a marine in order to try for the billet, and so on.

"Out of the question," said the marine officer. "You can't get your discharge."

The young man took the matter higher in the marine corps, but it wouldn't do. He was sat down upon and regarded as a pretty nervy chap to ask for his discharge from an outfit in which he had only served for a few weeks.

"All right," mused the young man. "Now I'll go to the boss of the whole works and see what he says."

So he got himself up spick and span again, asked for an afternoon's leave and walked down to the navy department. He had to walk because he hadn't drawn any pay yet. He was a pretty fine looking marine, but fine looking marines don't cut much of a figure in the corridors of the navy department. Even the colored messengers at the doors grinned at him, and when he calmly announced that he wanted to have a little heart to heart talk with Mr. Whitney, who happened then to be the secretary of the navy, he came near being shunted out of the building. The messengers figured that he was drunk and dangerous. However, he finally ran the gantlet of all the messengers and all the private secretaries, stenographers and door blockers who barred his way and found himself in the presence of Secretary of the Navy Whitney. The latter looked up at him curiously. It is not often that a secretary of the navy is addressed by a buck private in the marine corps.

The young man in the marine's uniform saluted the secretary and sat down when he was courteously invited to do so. Then he up and told Mr. Whitney his little story. He had sort of bunkoed himself into the marine corps, he said, and he had a chance to do better for himself. He was tied, however, by the fact that he was already an enlisted man. Could the secretary see his way clear to letting him have his discharge from the marines?

"Give this man his discharge at once," the secretary wrote on a piece of paper, and the young Louisianian took it to the commandant of marines. It wasn't liked a little bit, that method of the young man from New Orleans, because it looked like deliberately jumping over too many high heads, but it went. It had to go.

With his discharge in his pocket the young man walked into the barracks and packed up his things. He dug up the price of the ride to Brooklyn that same afternoon, and the next morning he appeared before the surgeon whose ship needed an apothecary. In just 24 hours from the time he had talked with Mr. Whitney he was walking the deck, a chief petty officer, with the silver eagle of his rate on his arm, of a ship that was already coaling up for a charming voyage on the Mediterranean station. It was a case of cold nerve on the young man's part, and the cold nerve won him out.—Washington Star.

A TALK ON AMBITION.

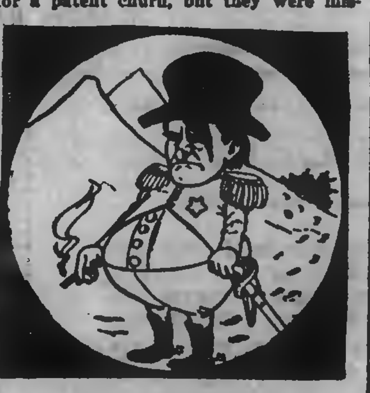
Q. HOPE JONES DELIVERS AN ALL WOOL LECTURE.

Cites the Cases of Napoleon, Christopher Columbus and Julius Cæsar to Show What a Young Man Can Achieve With Ambition and Perseverance.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

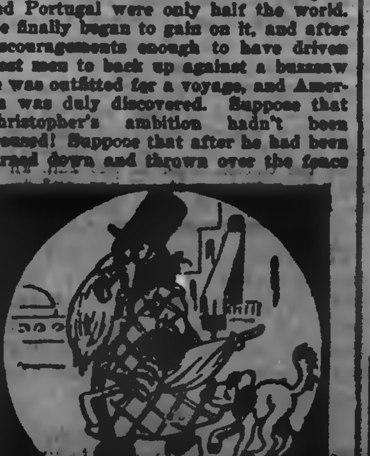
Esteemed Fellow Men and Women—While I cannot say that this is the proudest moment of my life and worth 30 years of toil and poverty, I can conscientiously declare that I am pleased beyond expression to note the cultivated and corpulent audience in this hall tonight. The pink handbills scattered around town with lavish hand have given you the subject of my lecture, and it only remains for me to take up a collection for the benefit of the unbelieving heathen of China and proceed with the business in hand. I was asked this evening if this would be a spiritualistic seance; also if anything would be said in favor of a presidential candidate. Make your minds easy on that score. My lectures are all straight goods and all wool, and I never wander from the subjects given.

There are tens of thousands of men in this world who are waiting for money to help them begin a career. They are sitting around on the fences, loafing around the groceries and walking up and down the streets looking for some one to hand them a stake of $10,000. It never occurs to them that they have the capital wanted right at hand if they would only make use of it—ambition and perseverance. Our first picture this evening may not be recognized at first glance, but after a steady squint you will be able to identify it as the man who upset Europe for years—the Emperor Napoleon. For years and years as a young man he hadn't a quarter left on Saturday night after paying his board bill. He had to wear old clothes, smoke cheap cigars and lodge in a garret. Even the cross eyed daughter of his landlady and the bowlegged butcher on the corner looked down on him. Nobody believed that young man had it in him to sell county rights for a patent churn, but they were mistaken. He had ambition and perseverance. All he was waiting for was to get a hold with his toes, and when he finally got it he went sailing for the top like a rocket. He jumped from a garret to the head of an army, from red herrings and dry bread to the fare of an emperor. He said to himself, "I will conquer," and conquer he did. You who are wearing out the heads of the cracker barrels in Skinner's grocery night after night as you wait for some one to come along and give you an upward boost can do as Napoleon did. You may have to saw wood and shovel snow for a year or two, but ambition can't be kept down, and perseverance is never knocked out for over a day.



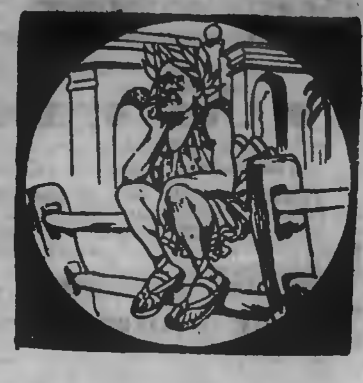
THE EMPEROR NAPOLEON.

Some of you in this representative audience have probably heard of Christopher Columbus. He was a man who hung around a corner grocery for years and years, waiting for his career to come along. He was always behind in his house rent, always in debt for his provisions, and there were people who didn't hesitate to tell him that he didn't amount to shucks. Our artist has caught him as he loafed around town with his dog at his heels, and the observer can scarcely believe that fame lurked under that old hat. It did, however. One morning Christopher woke up loaded with ambition. He had made up his mind to discover something. I don't suppose he was at all particular what it was at first, but after a little he decided on discovering America. That was ambition. Perseverance didn't come in till after he had been turned down. No one believed in his theories. No one would lend him a dollar to forward his plans. For several years about all his time was spent between sneaking free lunches and trying to make folks believe that Spain and Portugal were only half the world. He finally began to gain on it, and after discouragements enough to have driven most men to back up against a buzzsaw he was outfitted for a voyage, and America was duly discovered. Suppose that Christopher's ambition hadn't been aroused! Suppose that after he had been turned down and thrown over the fence a few times he had lost his perseverance. I tell you, my friends—and Q. Hope Jones is a man who always knows what he is talking about—this country had the closest kind of a shave from being left out of the swim, and gratitude should force us to name 10,000 alleys, summer gardens and ice cream parlors after the man who discovered us and gave us a show in the world.



CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.

Take the case of Cæsar. When his father died, there wasn't $7 in cash in the house, and so many creditors filled the front yard that the funeral had to be put off for two days. Coal was up, house rent advancing, and a man might hunt the town from end to end and not strike a job. Young Cæsar had to confront a situation which might well have appalled a stouter heart. He had neither trade nor capital, and about 40 different creditors were piling on to him for the old man's debts. He went out and sat down on the fence to think things over. Our artist caught him as he sat. Should he throw his hands up in despair and go out of the game, or should he call ambition and perseverance to his aid and conquer fate? He decided on the latter course, and within an hour he was making things hum. The world is always with an ambitious man. When it was seen that young Cæsar was sweating the blue out of his suspenders, people stopped to encourage him, and it wasn't a year before he was away up the ladder. You know what Cæsar did. Ambition and perseverance carried him to the top, and he remained there to the day of his death. I could go on and give you the history of Socrates, Pliny, Plato, Washington, Franklin and Fulton. You would find in each and every case that ambition and perseverance made them what they were. Take my own case, for instance. Modesty forbids me to make any extended reference, but in a spirit of confidence I wish to observe that but for ambition I should today be selling a patent washing machine to the farmers of Chemung county, and but for perseverance the name of Q. Hope Jones would never have stood out in letters a foot high in the Cohoes Exhorter, as was the case only yesterday. My liabilities are $73 and my capital 47 cents, but I cannot be kept on the grass. Like the phenix bird, I shall rise from the ashes, and, like Columbus, Napoleon and Cæsar, I shall climb to the top and stick there like a bur to a boy's heel. M. QUAD.



CÆSAR.

The Signs and Symptoms of Dyspepsia Pure and Simple.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Knock Them All out--The First Dose Relieves--More Relief Follows Other Doses--Then Comes the Complete Cure.

IS THIS YOUR STORY?

I have pains in the chest, after eating. I have burning pains in the pit of the stomach after every meal.

I am tortured by neuralgia in head and face. Nausea, or sickness follows every meal. My tongue is coated and furry, there is a bad taste in my mouth, and I am tormented by thirst.

Acids fluids come up into my mouth, leaving a burning sensation; I can't concentrate my thoughts; I am pale and am losing flesh daily; have "lost heart" in my work, can't sleep, my hands and feet sweat, my bowels seem full of gas.

I dread being left alone; if I walk any distance, a lump forms in my throat, a fulness grows in my chest, and my pulse gets weak and rapid. I feel as if I would fall, my knees become shaky, I tremble all over, and I have to sit down. There is a terrible pain near my heart.

IS THIS YOUR EXPERIEENCE?

I have been doctored for heart trouble and other diseases. But all such treatment utterly failed.

I grew worse daily. Finally I was attacked by dizzy spells. Everything would grow black, as if I were blind. I was afraid I would die.

HERE IS YOUR CURE.

I read of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and tried them. The first dose relieved me. The second relieved me much more. Two boxes cured me completely.

To-day I am sound and well, strong and healthy, thanks to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

ROBERTS ANNOUNCES RELIEF OF MAFEKING.

Transvaal Boers Will Stand a Siege at Johannesburg.

They Have Mounted Guns and Dug Trenches Against the British--Six Siege Trains Have Been Ordered to Be Prepared at Aldershot--British Horsemen Within Forty Miles of Johannesburg--Migration From Pretoria Begins

London, May 22. — (3.15 a.m.)— British horsemen, according to a despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, are now close to the Vaal River, within 40 miles of Johannesburg.

The migration from Pretoria has begun. Women and children are being sent in trains to Machadadorp on the way to Lyndeburg. Trains are arriving at Lorenzo Marquez filled with passengers, among whom are many Germans, who are bound for Europe.

Some details of Col. Mahon's Mafeking relief expedition are now coming through from wayside points. It was one long rush to Mafeking.

Last Message From Hands.

Mr. C. E. Hands, The Daily Mail's correspondent, mentioned in Lord Roberts' despatch to the War Office, as dangerously wounded in the fight in the bush on May 13, sent his last message from Vryburg, May 9, by runner to Kimberley May 21 He says:

"The flying mounted column secretly and swiftly organized by Gen. Hunter started from Barkly and arrived here to-night, covering 130 miles in five days. It is a grand force of mounted men, Imperial Light Horse from Ladysmith, the Kimberley Mounted Corps, with Royal Horse Artillery and pompoms, and a selected body of infantry from the Fusilier Brigade. A special equipment of lighted springed mule transport completes this splendid force.

"The force so equipped was enabled to move with such rapidity that, although this is a difficult country, requiring vigilant scouting, the Boers were surprised. The column moved parallel with the enemy's positions on the Vaal at Roidam and Fourteen Streams, actually getting behind them without firing a shot. So close were we Sunday and Monday that Gen. Hunter's balloon was visible and his bombardment heard."

It Was a Race.

A correspondent with Gen. Hunter telegraphed as follows from Fourteen Streams:

"Col. Mahon's relieving column left Barkly West, under secret orders, May 4, and reached Vryburg May 10. The Boers marched on the right flank of the British, and a strange race followed, Mahon pressing towards Mafeking with the utmost speed consistent with keeping the force in condition, and the Boers hurrying parallel in an effort to pass him and to throw themselves across his path.

"The Boers succeeded. Mahon then turned west during the night. The Boers followed, overtook and attacked him in the bush, but were beaten off."

Then, as Lord Roberts wired, Col. Mahon and Col. Plumer united forces at Jammasibi, May 15, and Mafeking was relieved three days later under conditions not yet known here.

Hunter Devised It.

A correspondent of The Daily Express says: "Gen. Hunter devised and guided the relief, which was daringly executed by Col. Mahon."

The Last Message.

The last message from Col. Mahon's column, before the relief was dated at Majanamabili, May 11. It says: "The column left Vryburg yesterday, did 19 miles and out-spanned at 2 a.m. No fires were allowed. We started at dawn to-day and trekked here."

Lady Wilson's Description.

Lady Sarah Wilson, in a despatch from Mafeking, dated May 11, gives the following description of the final days of the siege:

"As we near the end of the siege, conditions in this little town are perhaps becoming more cheerful. The rainy season is apparently over. The weather is splendid, and consequently the fever epidemic is diminishing. Rations are still small, but it is wonderful how little one needs for existence, and the new food, brawn from horse and ox hides, is a great success. This food and porridge, the inventor of which has received a five-pound bonus from the Government, is equivalent to six weeks' additional provisions. The natives prefer it to any other, so that the siege has taught them a new food."

Roberts' Operations.

The railway head is expected to be at Kroonstad to-day (Tuesday). The congestion of traffic at Smaldeel delays Lord Roberts' advance, but the cavalry continue active service through a wide rading east and southeast of Kroonstad.

MAHON RELIEVED MAFEKING.

Lord Roberts Official Message as Given Out by the War Office.

London, May 22. — The following despatch has been received from Lord Roberts at the War Office:

"Kroonstad, May 21. — The following is from Hunter:

"Mafeking is relieved. Mahon entered it May 18."

Queen Inspects the Guards.

London, May 22. — The Queen, at Windsor yesterday, reviewed a detachment of the Guards, which is proceeding to South Africa.

Boers Intend to Fight.

Lorenzo Marquez, May 22. — The defence works of Johannesburg are progressing rapidly. Six guns brought from the front have been placed in a fort, while Schanzes and trenches intersect Katzrand, near Klip Riversberg, behind the race course.

Six Siege Trains Ordered.

London, May 22. — Six siege trains have been ordered to be prepared at Aldershot for transportation to South Africa.

SUPPLIES FOR MAFEKING.

The Sick and the Wounded Will Be Conveyed to Kimberley.

London, May 22. — The War Office has received the following message from Lord Roberts:

"Kroonstad, May 21. — Buller reports that his advance will be delayed for a few days on account of the way in which the railway has been destroyed. Rundle reports that Ladybrand has been occupied. Hunter is pushing up the railway, with supplies for the Mafeking garrison, and is arranging a hospital train for the conveyance of the sick and wounded to Kimberley. Methuen has left Hoopstad to co-operate with this force."

No Truth in the Report.

London, May 22. — There is no truth in the report that President Kruger has sued for peace, and no communication from him on the subject is expected in the immediate future.

THE OFFICIAL STORY COMES.

Telling of Relief of Mafeking May 17—Mahon in Command.

London, May 22. — The following despatch from Sir Alfred Milner, the British High Commissioner in South Africa, to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, was received at 1.30 p.m. yesterday:

"Barton telegraphs from Taungs that Mafeking was relieved May 17.

"The relieving column was a composite force, under Colonel Mahon, of about 2,300 men.

(Signed) Milner."

MAHON JOINS PLUMER.

Attacked on the Way by Boers and Five of His Force Killed—Eloff Cut Off.

London, May 22.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Kroonstad, May 21.—Col. Mahon (Col. B. T. Mahon) reports having joined Plumer at Jamaisda, May 15. He was followed by a Boer commando from Maritanzi Siding, and turned westward to avoid it. May 13 he was attacked in the thick bush, losing five men killed, two missing and 24 wounded, including a Daily Mail correspondent, Hands, dangerously. The Boers lost more than Mahon in killed and wounded.

How Eloff Was Cut Off.

"Another report has been received from Baden-Powell, dated May 18, giving important news. Before dawn, May 18, a storming party of 250 strong, personally led by Eloff, rushed the pickets and reached the Staat, and protectorate camp from westward, along the Molopo Valley, a strong musketry demonstartion being made at the same time along the eastern front of our position. Our western posts closed in and stopped the Boer supports following, thus cutting off Eloff's retreat, while the town defences stopped his further advance. His force got divided in the darkness, and a strong party was placed between them, completely surrounding them. Fighting continued all day long.

Ten Boers Were Killed.

"Soon after nightfall the two parties surrendered, and the other was driven out of the Staat under a heavy fire. Ten dead and 19 wounded of the enemy were left behind and 108 prisoners were taken, including Eloff and nine officers. Seventeen Frenchmen and many Germans were among the prisoners.

"Our losses were six men killed and two officers and nine men wounded."

Cold Comfort for Envoys.

Washington, May 22. — Secretary of State Hay yesterday afternoon informed the Boer delegates that the President feels, in the present circumstances, no course is open to him except to persist in the policy of impartial neutrality between England and the South African republics.

Promotion for Baden-Powell.

London, May 22. — It is announced that Col. Baden-Powell will be made a major-general.

Two Canadians Missing.

London, May 22. — It has been reported to the War Office, under date of May 15, that two members of the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry, Pte. D. H. Atkinson of the 26th Middlesex Light Infantry, and Pte. W. West of the 7th Fusiliers, London, are missing from Kroonstad. Both belong to B Company.

Pte. J. Rasberry of the 77th, Wentworth Battalion, C Company, is dangerously ill at West Bloemfontein Hospital.

The Daily Sad Story.

Ottawa, May 22.—Col. Pinault has received word that 321, Pte. Wood, "D" squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, has died in South Africa. No particulars are given.

TO MAKE SICK PEOPLE WELL

Paine's Celery Compound

Is A Great Physician's Prescription.

It Possesses Life-Giving Virtues Unknown to Other Medicines.

All Classes of Our People Speak of Its Marvellous Cures.

The best blessing of life—good health, depends upon the perfect action of the nervous currents and the vigor of the circulation and the quality of the blood.

If you are rundown, feel without energy, lifeless, useless, fretful and despondent, one or two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound will effect a wonderful change. Constipation will no longer give you disquieting thoughts; your appetite will come back; the blood will be made pure; sleeplessness, nervousness and headaches will be things of the past. This is the happy experience of tens of thousands of men and women in Canada.

The great and ever increasing demand for Paine's Celery Compound as a health builder tells the story of the continued confidence and faith placed in it by our people.

Paine's Celery Compound must not for an instant be classed with the ordinary patents of the day; it is an eminent physician's prescription that gives new life, vigor and strength when all other remedies fail. The use of one bottle is sufficient to convince the most hardened and skeptical.

Do You Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning; months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve force, and building up the system.

Half Crazy With Piles.

Mr. Isaac Foster, Erie View, Norfolk Co., Ontario, writes:—"I was troubled with itching piles for about two years and could not sleep at nights. In fact I was half crazy from the terrible itching. Reading about Dr. Chase's Ointment I purchased a box. After the second application I experienced relief and one box cured me thoroughly and permanently and that was two years ago." A Sensitive Ear.

"And now," said the long haired man, "the medium will entertain us with a little inspired music on the cabinet organ."

A tall brother arose in the audience.

"Say," he asked in pleading tones, "can't she do this manifestation just as well without the cabinet?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Much.

Papa (reaching for the rod)—Now, young man, I'll attend to you. What have you to say for yourself?

Tommy—Let it come, pop, but say, as a special favor while you're doing it, please don't spring that old chestnut about it's hurting you more'n me.—Philadelphia Press.

That Meek Feeling.

"Gottleft seems to be awfully cut up over not being elected grand high umtararum of his lodge," said the pallid man.

"Cut up?" reiterated the rubicund man. "He says he feels just like he did the first time his wife called him an idiot."—Indianapolis Press.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Young Man Living Near Havelock Cut With an Axe From Ear to Ear.

What is a most peculiar and serious accident occurred on Friday last about 6 miles northwest of Havelock, at the home of a Mr. Hilton. It appears that Fred. Hilton, a young man about 23 years of age, was out in the woods chopping a tree. When nearly completed he left the axe sticking in the trunk, while he procured a stout pole for a binder, and while using it as a lever it fell on the handle of the axe, sending that implement flying through the air, striking the young man in the neck and cutting a gash from ear to ear, and also part of his windpipe. The unfortunate youth made his way to the house, though very weak from loss of blood, when a physician was hurriedly summoned and his fearful injuries attended to. At last accounts it is thought that he will recover.

CHESTNUTTY BUT GOOD

A Joke That Appeared in a Bloemfontein Exchange.

Lieut. McPherson has received from his brother a copy of "The Friend," the newspaper published at Bloemfontein. In this issue, dated April 13, 1900, there is the following among the funny things noticed:—

To the Editors of the Friend.

Sirs,—Is this a chestnut? Johannes Paulus Kruger sent a commissioner home to England to find out if there were any more men left there. The commissioner wired from London to say that there were 4,000,000 men and women "knocking about the town," that there was no excitement, and that men were begging to be sent to fight the Boers. Kruger wired back "go North." The commissioner found himself in Newcastle eventually and wired to Kruger, "For God's sake stop the war! England is bringing up men from hell eight at a time in cages!"

He had seen a coal mine.

COOKS' PARADE.

The Cooks' parade which will be a feature of the day, will be given by the non coms. of the 57th Regiment. This parade will begin at 7.30 p.m., and will start anywhere and end about the same place.

OPEN AIR CONCERT AND FIREWORKS.

After the Cooks' parade the fireworks and band concert will be the attraction. The concert will be given by the 57th Regimental band, under Bandmaster Gliddon in Central park, where the fireworks display will also take place. The display of fireworks includes 35 pieces of striking brilliancy, and will be put off by members of the Fire Brigade. An effort will be made to supply seats for ladies.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

No admission charged to see the games and sports in the Nicholls park. Everything free. All welcome.

The cycle parade will dismount on arrival at the park gates and march up the hill and on to the track, then circle twice round the track.

Merchants are requested by the committee to have their stores lighted during the evening of the 24th. Brilliantly lighted places of business add much to the brightness of the evening.

Entries for the bicycle parade can be made at the cycle stores of Thos. Barrie, F. McPherson and F. Davidson, where each contestant will be supplied with a number, which must be worn conspicuously, pinned on the wearer's left side, during the parade. The judges will allot the prizes by their numbers, hence riders must be careful to have themselves so identified.

Enquiries for programmes of sports and games are coming in fast from Toronto, Orillia, Port Hope, and other points. There should be some good metal on the grounds when time is called.

The judges of the cycle parade are Messrs. R. M. Roy, A. H. Stratton and R. Neill.

Cyclists will assemble at the drill shed not later than 1 o'clock, and be ready to start in the parade at 1.30 sharp.

The prizes in the sports and games are on exhibition in the window of E. B. Clegg's furniture store.

Prizes will be presented to winners in the sports and games immediately on conclusion of the programme of such events. The winners in the cycle parade will be also announced at the same time.

The children will assemble at Victoria park, and take their places around the band stand at 11.30 o'clock, not at 12 o'clock as previously announced. The change has been made in order to allow of this part of the day's programme being finished in good time for dinner and an early resumption of the events of the afternoon. The selections to be sung have been in rehersal and the children will do the day credit.

Without a Doctor's Examination

You can find out if the kidneys are clogged, deranged and diseased. Have you backache or a weak, lame back? Do you have pain or difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate? Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for 24 hours? If you have any of these symptoms not a moment should be lost in obtaining Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the world's greatest kidney cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce directs the attention of tourists to the value of the Travellers' Letters of Credit as a means of placing themselves in funds when travelling.

The amount of these credits may be drawn in such sums as required, without delay and without trouble of identification, in any of four hundred important places throughout the world.

Special arrangements are being made for the convenience of visitors to the Paris Exposition. The Bank's correspondent in Paris has arranged to open an office in the Exposition Grounds, and to keep a staff of officers at their main office to give useful information about the City and the Exposition.

Drafts may be cashed at any of the larger towns in South Africa.

Further particulars may be ascertained on application at any branch of the bank.

Commodore.—Mr. Wm. Johnston.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. G. H. Dawson.
Bard.—Mr. G. W. Mulligan.
Inspector of Weights and Measures.—Mr. McMasters.
Scullion.—Mr. Hill.
Cook.—Mr. H. Smith.
Executive Committee. — Messrs. A. Sharpe, N. Munro, H. Smith, together with the officers of the club.
Official Guide.—Mr. J. O'Brien.

The office of official liar has been left open, as it is expected that each member will endeavor to fill the office to the best of his ability.

As the commodore took his place he was handed a battle axe with which to keep order on this and all future occasions, also the cook was handed his badge of office in the shape of a large wooden knife and fork.

It is the intention of the club to hold fishing tours every Saturday afternoon.

The fishing will be for points, and a scale was drawn up as appended:—

	Points.
Lunge......	50
Bass, over 3 lbs......	20
Bass, ordinary......	10
Cat fish......	3
Perch or sunfish......	1

No points will be allowed for sawlogs, etc.

During the evening refreshments were served by Mr. H. Smith. Mr. D. Lewis gave several selections on the hand organ to the accompaniment of Mr. Johnston on the Jew's harp.

FURY OF A REJECTED LOVER.

A Young Quebec Man Attempts Murder and Suicide.

Danville, Que., May 22.—At about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon an attempt to murder and then commit suicide was made by a young man named Edouard Lambert, who having been refused the love of Melissa Moffat, the day before—both parties being servants at the same house—purchased a revolver and entered her room with the revolver in his hand. As soon as the girl saw the revolver she began to scream and started to run out of the room, when he fired, the bullet passing through her hand. He then turned the revolver on himself and fired, but as she was passing him she caught his arm, the bullet going into the ceiling. She then ran out of the room into a passage, where he followed and fired again at her, but missed. He was arrested and sent to Sherbrooke jail to await bis trial before the Queen's Bench.

GOD SAVE OUR QUEEN.

To-morrow will be the Queen's Birthday, the eighty-first anniversary of the birth of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, and never was a national holiday more loyally celebrated than this will be. All over the British Empire, encircling, as it does the globe, patriotism is aroused at the present time as it never was before. For the first in the history of the great Empire the sons of the Mother Country and the colonies, the lions and the cubs, are standing side by side fighting the battles of the Queen and country which they honor and love. Englishmen, Irishmen and Scotchmen, Canadians, New Zealanders and the men from New South Wales, colonials from Cape Colony and Natal, are at the front battling in the Empire's cause. And it has been a stubborn, hard fight against a foeman, armed with modern weapons and equipped for a desperate struggle in country easy of defence, but it has been a fight that has demonstrated, not once, but a thousand times that the courage and pluck, the daring and the dash, the love of country and the love of Queen, that has made Britain's greatness is not dead, but lives in all its old-time splendor in the sons of the Empire. Then with all the colonies directly and deeply interested in the war in South Africa, with patriotism and loyalty roused to fever heat, the Queen's Birthday, the last to be celebrated in this century, will be commemorated in right royal style wherever the old flag flies.

And when Briton's honor their Queen by celebrating her birthday, they honor the grandest woman who ever held a sceptre, whose long years have been marked by a kindliness of heart, a purity of life, and conduct, and a deep interest in the welfare of her advanced age has evinced a nobility of mind and a thoughtfulness and tenderness under the most trying conditions made present by the war which is now being raged and which has cost her so many of her brave sons. All honor to her, and fervently will the prayer go up on the eighty-first anniversary of her birth.

"GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!"
"LONG MAY SHE REIGN!"

Canadians will not be behind in the enthusiasm and the spontaneity of the observation of the day. Canadians are loyal. None more loyal, and the ready response that was made by thousands of her sons who were willing to go to the front to defend the flag gave a practical demonstration of the Canadian feeling towards the Empire and the Empire's Queen. And coming nearer home it is a matter of satisfaction to know that our own good town will not be behind—not in loyalty, that was never in patriotic demonstration. The officers of Peterborough's crack regiment, associating with them citizens generally, have arranged a programme that will make the holiday a gala day for the people, for all classes, as the day's programme is open to all, with no charge at any time or at any place. This is as it should be, and the Mayor and Aldermen are to be commended in financially aiding the enterprise and making the celebration on such a scale possible. Peterborough will be to the front, and all our citizens will do well to remain in town and witness the day's proceedings.

And, in conclusion, it may be remarked that it is safe to say that Her Majesty's Birthday will be celebrated in South Africa as it never was before. With tens of thousands of loyal sons scattered throughout the African States "doing their country's work," there will be a jubilation that will make the dark continent ring, and reaching Kruger will give him some true idea of the kind of enthusiastic loyalists he has approaching him at his capital. The men who have faced death and danger in her cause will celebrate the day, and as we celebrate at home let us remember the boys on the distant veldt, and while we sing "God Save the Queen" and "Rule Britannia," we can not do anything better than add a verse or two of "The Soldiers of the Queen."

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilities.

GENERAL FRENCH'S MOVEMENTS

Honing Spruit, Orange Free State. Tuesday Evening, May 22.—Gen. French has crossed the Rhenoster river, north-west of here. This movement combined with Gen. Ian Hamilton's occupation of Heildbron renders the Boer position 20 miles in our front untenable but the latest reports received say the burghers are prepared to make a strong resistance and possess 15 guns. Fifteen prisoners were taken to-day.

A MESSAGE FROM MAFEKING

London, May 23.—The War Office issues a despatch from Lord Roberts under date of Honing Spruit, May 22, announcing the receipt by him of the following message from Maj-Gen. Baden-Powell. Mafeking, May 17.—I am happy to inform you that Mafeking was successfully relieved. The Northern and Southern columns joined hands on May 15 and attacked the enemy yesterday and after a small engagement entirely defeated them with loss. The British casualties were killed and 22 wounded. The relieving force marched into Mafeking at 9 o'clock this morning and the relief and defence forces combined and moved and attacked the enemy's head laager. We shelled them out and nearly captured Synman and took one gun, a flag and a large amount of ammunition, stores, etc., 5 dead and 15 wounded Boers were found. The enemy appeared to be retreating in all directions except one commando, which is lying low, possibly to cover the retreat of the remainder. Capt. MacLaren and Corporal Murray were found in the Boer hospital. They are doing well. The townspeople and the garrison of Mafeking are heartily grateful for their relief. Lord Roberts despatce further says: Ian Hamilton reached Heildbron this morning after a series of engagements with a Boer force under Dewet, who is retiring before him. Broadwood has captured 15 Boer waggons, there have been 75 casualties in Hamilton's force to yesterday evening. We marched here this morning.

THE COUNTRY SETTLING DOWN

Kimberley, May 22—About 800 rebels have surrendered at Vryburg north of Kimberley and a little more than half way between that place and Mafeking. The road is all clear from Mafeking and all opposition in this district is practically ended.

BOERS RETREATING

Cape Town, May 22—General Warren has occupied Douglas after heavy fighting and without sustaining any loss. The Boers have retreated to the north.

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,869
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Weak, Sickly Children
Are Restored to Health and Vigor by Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
Many children are pale, weak, and bloodless from their birth. Many others have their blood and nerves exhausted, and their systems broken down by the ravages of disease, or as the result of over-study at school.
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the ideal treatment for children. It supplies the very elements which are lacking in the pale, weak, and nervous. It restores the colour and richness to the blood, invigorates the nerves, and builds up the system. As a restorative after the exhausting and debilitating effects of measles, scarlet fever, and such ailments, it is of incalculable worth.
Mrs. Stephen Dempsey, Albury, P. E. county, Ont., writes:—"My little granddaughter, nine years old, was very pale and weak, and had no appetite. She had a tired, wornout appearance, and was delicate and sickly. I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for her, and it has helped her very much. She is gaining considerably in weight and looks real healthy."

SOME PHASES OF LIFE IN CHINA

fast, and suddenly to our great consternation the foremost tub, which contained the heaviest boxes

BEGAN TO GO TO PIECES.

and soon the bottom came out. Can you imagine the situation? Not a house near to be seen, our earthly goods all sinking in the water, night fast coming on, and still several li from the boat. It would have been funny only it was so perplexing, and a strong biting wind made it bitterly cold. I never felt more pity for any one than I did for the brave men, asthey waded through the cold water, and rescued the sinking boxes, which were quite heavy. The bank was steep and very slippery, so that it was with the greatest difficulty they they kept them from sliding into the water. What were we to do? Fortunately there was a little village nearer than I at first thought, and the men quickly went for help. After a good deal of time wasted trying to make a bargain, for of course they demanded a big price, they agreed to come and help us out, which they did. This time we had three tubs, but it took the men a long time to transfer the baggage, the bank was so slippery they had to dig steps in order to carry the boxes. After all the things were moved they drew the tub I was in pretty close to the other and placing a board between I was able to change. It was now quite dark, nine o'clock, and the men informed me that it was impossible for us to proceed further, and asked me to go to one of their homes for the night. My woman, who by the way is with me still, objected, because the one who invited me was a widower! and the Chinese though often very immoral, have a great outward semblance of propriety. However, after a time another home was offered, and I was glad to accept it; we were all very hungry and nearly perished from cold. My good hostess was so kind, and quickly got me hot water to bathe my feet; a hot drink, and a hot foot-stove, soon made me more comfortable, and I praised my God that He was again proving Himself to be a "God of deliverances." Next morning I had a fine chance of witnessing for Jesus to the kindly woman who gathered in, and they seemed very interested both in me and my message. As it was getting late I again urged my men onward. I thought if I could only get on the boat I would feel safer and more comfortable, and would also be ready to start without delay when the weather did clear up. But just as we got started such a snow, wind and rain came on. Everything was wet, the men cross, and when at last we reached the boat I had to give them more money before they would transfer the baggage. To my great disappointment the boat was wet and leaking, and the master of it was not there, nor did he come for two days, when the weather was entirely cleared. The only thing I could do was to keep myself covered up in my bedding, which was damp and dripping! The last morning I was there I opened my Bible to read, at the 2nd Chapter of Jonah, and as I read it I was reminded of the quaint exposition, our dear Scotch sister, Mrs. McBeth, once made on it, referring to Jonah with the weeds wrapped round his head in the whale's belly, she said "Jonah was in a tight place!" I thought it was a damp place too! And yet the Lord delivered him, so I just prayed He would soon send the Laopan, (master) along, for by this time I was quite ill. Well, He did, and my good man came along smiling and pleasant as if he had not done anything out of the way, excusing himself because it was so cold, etc. He felt a good deal worse when we reached Wuhu, which we did in very quick time after we got started, and he was docked a few hundred cash for his dilatoriness. Nothing makes a Chinaman feel so badly as the loss of cash, but I quite liked my pleasant old "Laopan."

After remaining in Wuhu a few days to rest, I came on to this place, where I have much enjoyed the fellowship of my dear sisters, and the meeting with the native Christians. Some of them are quite bright and it is a real pleasure to know them. I expect soon to leave, and pay a few days' visit to Nanking, and then go to Han Chi, about 70 li from Wuhu, for the summer. I will likely have more to say about this again when I write.

I did a little

before I left Han Shan, and since coming here, which may be interesting to hear about, but which needs to be experienced to be properly appreciated. A young woman, about 40 li from Han Shan was very anxious we should visit her, and as Miss Ross was away, I decided I should return with her to her home. I had a little secret desire to try riding on a donkey, which I may say is perfectly satisfied! However, it really was the most feasible plan as the only other way to go was to have a wheel-barrow, or walk, so I hired a donkey. And such a creature! I am sure if I had been in Canada I would have been in danger of being arrested for cruelty to animals! It would not go. At first I felt badly for I thought it could not, but found out it was just bad tempered. The boy pulled, my woman prodded behind, and I urged with all my might, but it would hardly move! When it wanted to stop at a village it coolly lay down, but it did so gently and after the first time, I lost all fear. Between walking and riding we reached our destination late in the afternoon, very hungry too. However, we had a real good time preaching there. I think I never met people so interested and it was the

FIRST TIME THEY HAD EVER HEARD THE GOSPEL,

or seen a foreigner. The house was crowded all evening. I tried to dismiss the meeting several times but they stayed on and begged me to tell them some more. I was specially interested in one poor young man, who was a complete wreck from opium eating, and I have had much prayer for him since that God would save him. His wife was a very sweet little woman with such a sad face. She was very interested. After we got our friends away, we retired, and I found there was only one bed for myself, woman, and hostess, which we shared. I must admit I did not sleep much, the room was full of smoke, and there was no fresh air, and in the next there was an old woman, with the most sepulchral cough I ever heard, I think. I thought every time she coughed she would surely expire. Then the bed was so hard that my woman could not sleep on it! (We hadn't brought any bedding with us.) However, it was a very interesting trip, and on the way home I had several opportunities of preaching and met real kindness from the people who called me in off the road in different places and gave me tea, etc. I was glad to say good-bye to my donkey. The last thing it did while with me was to sulk and lie down when passing its own home, so I dismissed it and walked the rest of the way. Since coming to Nan Ling I had another donkey trip. Accompanied by Miss McCully, the native preacher, and two or three natives, we went out about 20 li for a day's preaching and book-selling. The morning was fine but shortly after dinner it came on rain. It had been raining the previous days so that the roads were already very bad, but after the fresh rain fell, they were at times well nigh impassable. I have always had the impression that donkeys were very surefooted, but I do not believe it now! Although we only had two tumbles apiece from the donkeys, yet we might have had a few more had we not taken the precaution to dismount when coming to a "bad place." A trembling donkey and a slippery road and down-pouring rain fall does not inspire one with confidence, and glad we were to reach home with no bones broken even if our clothes were covered with mud and we were wet to the skin! But I must tell you about my young friends will surely want to make his acquaintance. He is a hero! A little chap of eleven or twelve whose father is dead, and who feels the full responsibility of life. He talked of buying and selling "my donkeys" etc. as if he was a grown man, and his gallant care of the foreign ladies could not be outdone by the most courteous gentleman. But his cheerfulness was what endeared him to our hearts, for we all love him, who could help it? How he laughed when we tried to imitate his talk to the donkeys, real rollicking jolly laughter, as hearty as any boy you ever saw! But it was when it rained so hard and the roads were simply fearful that his brightness shown out to most advantage. Running along by my side, watching every step that the donkey took, calling out "Kioh" which means "foot," and this is supposed to make the animal step carefully, lest there should be a mishap, every little while encouraging me with the remark, "Lady, this is just splendid, isn't it?" or words that meant that. But when the rain came in almost a torrent it almost overcame our brave lad, and he called out we must halt at the next village he was so hungry. Poor little man! we found out then he hadn't eaten his dinner, saving the money to take home to his mother, and we were glad we had left some of our own lunch, which we gave him. He had then walked about fifteen miles through such bad roads. God bless him! I want you to pray for little boy, in whom we are all so interested. He came to service the following Sunday night. He has picked up a good deal from the foreigners of the Gospel, and helped us out sometimes when we were trying to get the people to understand.

Now I want to thank the kind friends who have been so thoughtfully remembering me with gifts and letters during the past few months. To some of you I have not been able to write a personal acknowledgement, but rest assured nothing has been overlooked and

EVERYTHING FULLY APPRECIATED

You cannot realize what it means not to be forgotten by the dear home friends, especially to those of us who have the privilege of living quite away by ourselves amongst the heathen. It has been such a trying, dismal winter, and the coming of our mail has been the brightest event of our uneventful life, and I cannot tell how I have praised God again and again for the loving messages, so many assuring me of continued and earnest prayers on behalf of myself and work. I believe God is answering, and deepening my love for His service. Keep on trusting. I especially desire the prayers of my friends at this time, that my future place of service may be clearly defined. I want His place and His will. And He is, I believe, giving me a strong desire to go further inland where there are fewer workers and even more need.

Perhaps you will be wondering about us in this time of

in China. As far as we realize in inland stations we see nothing to disturb, but there is great unrest amongst the people. We are told that if the foreign powers interfere as they threaten to do that our Consuls will call us all into the ports, for which some of us will be sorry. We feel we need to pray for this land much, and trust whatever comes it may mean the salvation of its wonderful people. I am sorry that was published at home that disturbed some of my friends, of a riot in Han Shan, and of our hiding in a cellar, etc. It is entirely without foundation, as nothing of the kind was ever even threatened, and if it had, we had no cellar to hide in. The country has been full of robbers, but we were not likely to be molested. The mandarins are trying hard to dispose of the robbers, but do n't succeed very well. There were four to be executed any day when we left Han Shan, the only thing that made me thankful to leave, as my teacher told me the instrument was sharpened for the cruel work, and no one knew just when it would take place; their legs had already been broken when captured.

Now I fear, as usual, my letter has grown long. I haven't appealed to you for China as I wanted to. Our beloved Canadians have responded so nobly to the call for reinforcements for Africa, and we Canadian missionaries are very proud of the record they have been making. There is a war going on here also, "not against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in heavenly places." We are not fighting for territory but for never-dying souls. The call is urgent, the battle eventually must prove victorious, for Jesus is the leader. Will you not come or send to the help of the Lord against the mighty? What can a few do amongst so many?

With kindest regards, I am yours very sincerely.

ENDED LUMBAGO

Dodd's Kidney Pills Creating Happiness in London.

Mr. Buffy Tells Gleefully How They Ended His Lumbago—They Positively Cure All Kidney Diseases—A Trial is Proof.

London, May 22.—M. L. Buffy, of 236 Talbot-st., is one of the few thoroughly happy men in this city. He literally fulfils the injunction to "Laugh and grow fat," and he says he doesn't know what care, worry or pain means. There is a reason for this, and it is revealed in the following letter:—

"Dodds Medicine Co.,—Gentlemen,—For five years I endured the agonies of Lumbago, and often during that period, have I wondered whether life were really worth living. My urinary system was much deranged, and occasioned me intense suffering. My pain was indescribable. It was continual.

"I tried every remedy recommended to me, in my endeavors to get well, and though my money kept flowing out no relief came.

"One day I heard a neighbor speak very warmly in praise of oDdd's Kidney Pills. I enquired regarding them and ended by buying a box. I say 'ended' advisedly, for that box of Dodd's Kidney Pills ended Lumbago for me.

"M. L. BUFFY."

This, then, is why Mr. Buffy is happy. Because he was sick and is now well, because he was weak and is now strong, because while he once was diseased he is now healthy.

There are thousands to-day like Mr. Buffy was some time ago. Dodd's Dyspepsia Pills will cure them. They can be strong, healthy, happy if they choose.

TRICK OF A SHREWD CASHIER.

How He Saved $50,000 For His Bank by Prompt Action.

A cashier employed in a large western city recently went over the collateral held by his loan clerk simply by way of precaution. He noticed that one of the bank's best customers had over $50,000 out on bills of lading of cattle on the way north. As the house in question had an abattoir this was not surprising. The firm was rated at over $500,000, and its transactions were on a large scale. Suddenly it occurred to him that the way bills looked very much alike. Comparison showed that they were written by the same hand. He took one to the railroad which was supposed to have issued it and found that it was a forgery. The handwriting on the bills was that of a member of the firm which was borrowing the money. This could mean but one thing—the firm was in desperate financial difficulties and about to go under.

It was now too late to do anything in the matter that day. The cashier did not say anything to anybody, but went home. He did not sleep that night, but planned out his campaign for the next morning. The loans were all subject to call at any time. He waited until after the clearing house returns were in for the day to excite no suspicion. Then he had the guilty partner in the cattle firm rung up on the telephone.

"Very sorry," he said to the cattle man nonchalantly, "but we are debtors in the clearing house today. Money is a little scarce. Guess we'll have to ask you to repay that $50,000 worth of loans today. Sorry to inconvenience you, and if you want the money a little later will be glad to have you call around."

"Very well," came the reply. "Will you have a check on our account in your bank or on our other bank?"

"Better draw on the other bank, as that is customary," replied the cashier.

In a few minutes the check, duly certified by the cashier of the rival institution, was sent in. The cashier took the precaution to send around to the other bank to make sure that the certificate was no forgery. Then he sent for the forger.

"Now," said he, "I have my money, and I can speak plainly. I want you to take your account out of this bank."

"What do you mean?" demanded the cattle dealer.

"You know perfectly well what I mean," was the reply. "You may take your account out of this bank and keep it out. We have no use for it."

The account was withdrawn. Within less than 30 days the failure of the cattle firm was announced.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

IRVING AND MONTAGUE.

One of Their Practical Jokes That Scared Their Friends.

In Scott's "The Drama of Yesterday and Today" the author tells of a practical joke played by Irving and Harry Montague upon a number of their friends, and "in its execution was seen the first dawning glimmer of that tragic force that was ultimately to find expression in Hood's 'Dream of Eugene Aram' and 'The Bells.'" Irving and Montague, hitherto the best allies, began to quarrel on their way to a picnic, and their friends feared some tragic consequences. After luncheon both of the men disappeared.

Smale's face turned deadly pale. He felt that his worst fears were being realized. With one wild cry: "They're gone! What on earth has become of them?" he made a dash down the Dargle over the rocks and bowlders, with the remainder of the picnic party at his heels.

At the bottom of a "dreadful hollow behind the little wood" a fearful sight presented itself to the astonished friends. There on a stone sat Henry Irving in his shirt sleeves, his long hair matted over his eyes, his thin hands and white face all smeared with blood and dangling an open clasp knife.

He was muttering to himself in a savage tone: "I've done it! I've done it! I said I would! I said I would!"

Tom Smale, in an agony of fear, rushed up to Irving, who waved him on one side with threatening gestures. "For God's sake, man," screamed the distracted Smale, "tell us where he is!"

Irving, scarcely moving a muscle, pointed to a heap of dead leaves and in sepulchral tones cried: "He's there, there! I've done for him! I've murdered him!"

Smale literally bounded to the heap and began flinging aside the leaves in every direction. Presently he found the body of Harry Montague lying face downward. Almost paralyzed with terror, Smale just managed to turn the head round and found Montague convulsed with laughter, with a pocket handkerchief in his mouth to prevent an explosion. Never was better acting seen on any stage.

Sacred Ground.

The ground on which a foreign legation stands is considered as belonging to the country whose flag floats from the legation roof. Supposing a member of a foreign legation in London committed a murder, all we could do would be to "suggest" (a favorite diplomatic word, always used, except in relation to China) that the offender should be sent back to his native country and punished there. Some time ago when a certain gentleman, whose name was well known at the time, was kidnaped into the Chinese legation an inspector from Scotland Yard immediately proceeded thither and released the prisoner. This was a most serious breach of international law and was intently discussed "in diplomatic circles." Since the Chinese legation is part and parcel of China, an invasion of the Celestial empire was thus made by a Scotland Yard official.—Chambers' Journal.

Easy Death.

"That's dead easy," said the raw sportsman as the possum keeled over at a touch and lay with closed eyes and opened mouth.

"That's dead easy," echoed the possum, slipping away a few minutes later when the sportsman's back was turned.—Chi[illegible]

Backache for 18 Years.

Suffered Much—Was Unable to Work or Sleep—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Made Him Well.

Too many endure the misery of backache without knowing that it is the unmistakable symptom of kidney disease. As you value your life do not neglect a backache. It tells of the beginning of the most fatal of diseases—Bright's Disease of the kidneys.

Mr. D. C. Simmons, Mabee, Ont., writes:—"My kidneys and back were so bad that I was unable to sleep or work. My urine had sediment like brickdust, and I had to get up three or four times every night.

"I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised, and decided to give them a trial. I have only used one box, and am a well man again. I can saw wood or do any kind of work, and am not bothered with backache or kidney troubles. I also enjoy good rest and sleep, which is a great relief after suffering for eighteen years."

REV. DR. BURNS IS DEAD.

Ex-President of the Hamilton Ladies' College Has Passed Away.

Toronto, May 23. — Rev. Alexander Burns, D.D., LL.D., ex-President of the Hamilton Ladies' College, and one of the most widely known Methodist ministers in Canada, died last night at his residence here, 128 Pembroke street. The death of Rev. Mr. Burns was not altogether unexpected, he having been very low for the past three days and ill for the last ten days.

The Late Doctor's Career.

The late Rev. Dr. Burns was born in County Down, Ireland, Aug. 12, 1834, and was, therefore, in his 66th year. He came to Canada in 1847 with his parents, and during the succeeding three years resided in Quebec. On coming to Toronto in 1856 he learned the trade of a woodturner, which he followed for a number of years. It was about this time that he joined the Methodist Church. He continued working at his trade until he had earned sufficient money to enable him to enter upon a university course at Victoria College, Cobourg. There he remained for six years, where he was a tutor in the preparatory department. In 1861 he graduated as valedictorian in his class, and also a Prince of Wales' gold medallist. On leaving the institution he removed to Stratford, and a year later was sent to Drayton circuit, where he remained for two years. In 1865 he accepted the professorship of mathematics in the Iowa Wesleyan University at Mount Pleasant, Ia., having previously declined the vice-presidency of Mount Allison University, New Brunswick. Three years later he was appointed president of Simpson College, Indianola, Ia., a position which he held for ten years. During his stay in the United States he developed a great fondness for the study of international questions, and he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court.

Went to Hamilton.

On the resignation of the late Rev. Dr. Rice, Dr. Burns was appointed president of the Hamilton Ladies' College, over which he presided up till three years ago, when he resigned. Deceased had been a delegate to the General Conference ever since his return to Canada. He was honored in 1870 with the degree of S.T.D., which was conferred upon him by the State University of Indiana in 1878; he received his LL.D. from Victoria University. At the time federation was being discussed he wrote a series of able articles, in which he maintained that Victoria should retain her independence. Since he was elected by the Alumni Association of the University as their representative in the Senate and recently was on the Board of Regents of Victoria. His able sermons were widely read, and many of them have been published.

In Business Circles.

In business circles he was vice-president of the Federal Life Assurance Co. and president of the Dominion Building and Loan Society of Toronto. He was at one time chaplain of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society at Hamilton. He was also a well-known member of the Masonic order.

He married Sarah Andrews, a native of Devonshire, Eng., June 15, 1863, and leaves, besides the window, two daughters, Misses Aleda and Marion Burns, and two sons, Charles E. and Ralph A. Burns.

Parkdale (Toronto) Policeman Ward was bound by four thugs on the street on Tuesday morning early. They then tried to rob the Standard Bank, but only succeeded in injuring the lock.

Forty-five heaters in the rolling mills at Belleville, Ont., went on strike on Tuesday. The cause of the trouble is not mentioned.

Miss Hilda Smith was killed on Monday evening near Odessa, Ont., by being thrown from a buggy and striking her head on a stone. The horse ran away.

DATE OF GENERAL ELECTIONS

Government May Postpone the Evil Day Until December.

Supporters Are Kicking—And Some of Them Say They Cannot Stand an Election Campaign Through October and November—Some of Those in Canada Who May Be Honored With Titles on Queen's Birthday.

Ottawa, May 23. — It is said on trustworthy authority that the Government desires to postpone the evil day of elections till December. But there is a strenuous kick among the faithful. Liberal Whip Gibson broached the matter to one member, and soon found how the date was viewed: "Why," said the Liberal, "I have very little margin left of my indemnity and mileage after a session. There is no doubt about it, I cannot stand a campaign through October and November."

Possibly a Liberal loan from the campaign fund may satisfy this member, but in the lack of this, his objection is backed by two-thirds of the Government supporters. October will be the general election month.

Birthday Honors.

There is considerable talk here about birthday honors. While it is generally recognized that the Minister of Militia will be the recipient of a title on account of the part he has taken in sending the contingents to South Africa, it may not be given until the war is over. The name of the Minister of Justice has been mentioned in connection with knighthood. It is also rumored that Louis Frechette will be raised from a C.M.G. to K.C.M.G.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, the father of one-sided preferential trade, would not be offended should Her Majesty honor him. Although many are desirous but few will be chosen.

Sir Charles Tupper's Programme.

Sir Charles Tupper left last night for Toronto, where he will take part in the Empire Day proceedings. On Thursday he goes to Parkhill, where he will address 10,000 persons. On June 2 he will address a convention of Conservative electors in Picton. On June 16 he goes to Odessa. This is all preliminary to the elections.

TRIAL OF THE DYNAMITERS.

Welland Spring Assizes Opened Before Chancellor Boyd.

Welland, Ont., May 23. — The Spring Assize Court opened before Chancellor Boyd yesterday at 1 o'clock. The Grand Jury was sworn in, and Matthew Battle of Thorold was selected as foreman. The judge then gave the three criminal cases into their hands. He placed the charge of murder against Frank Werke, the Niagara Falls Italian, who murdered his wife, as the case of first importance, and this will probably be heard first.

The Dynamiter's Case.

The Grand Jury retired and heard witnesses on the dynamiters' case up to 6 o'clock, when an adjournment was made until this morning. They have returned no bills as yet.

Barrister F. McBurney, who represented Nolin and Walsh during the preliminary examination, has withdrawn from the case, and the two dynamiters are now without counsel and without money. Unless their friends come to the rescue before this morning, they will have to get counsel appointed for them by the Crown.

McKinnon Swears the Police.

Inspector McKinnon of the Dominion Police was in town yesterday, and swore in the special Dominion Police for the Canal. Their duties are that they shall prevent anyone from crossing the aqueduct or passing up and down the canal.

TWO HUNDRED HOMELESS.

Village of Point Claire Nearly Wiped Out.

Montreal, May 23. — At three o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in an empty house in the village of Point Claire, on the St. Lawrence, and resulted in the destruction of twenty-seven buildings, including the principal hotel. Two hundred people are homeless and camping out. The loss is $150,000, on which there is only $20,000 insurance. The Montreal fire brigade assisted in getting the fire under control. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

MILITARY CAMPS IN JUNE.

Ottawa, May 23. — Yesterday the Militia Department issued the official dates of camps of instruction for 1900. Those relating to Ontario are as follows:

Field Artillery Division, Deseronto—Second Brigade Division, June 5 to 16; 5th, 4th, 7th and 9th Field Batteries.

Third Brigade Division, June 19 to 30; 2nd, 8th and 14th Field Batteries.

First Infantry Division, London, June 5 to 16; 1st Brigade, 1st Hussars, 21st, 26th, 27th, 32nd and 33rd Regiments; Second Brigade, 22nd, 28th, 29th and [illegible]

Second Infantry Division, Niagara, June 12 to 23; Third Brigade, 2nd Dragoons, 12th, 31st, 34th, 35th and 36th Regiments.

Fourth Brigade, 20th, 37th, 39th, 44th and 77th.

No. 4 Field Hospital Company, No. 4 Bearer Company, for three days.

Third Infantry Division, Kingston, June 19 to 30; Fifth Brigade, 3rd Dragoons and 4th Hussars, 16th, 40th, 45th and 46th Regiments.

Sixth Brigade, 42nd, 47th, 49th, 56th and 59th Regiments.

No. 2 Field Hospital Company, No. 2 Bearer Company, for three days.

The detail of corps to drill in regimental camps and at local headquarters will be announced later.

YOUNG M'INTYRE CONVICTED.

Jury Against the Boy Who Ended His Father's Life.

Toronto, May 23.—Arthur McIntyre, the 13-year-old lad, who shot and killed his father, Peter McIntyre, one of Toronto's best-known citizens, on the 10th day of this month, was last eveing found guilty of the charge of manslaughter by a jury in the Criminal Assize Court, presided over by Mr. Justice Street. The jury was only out about half an hour and returned to court shortly after 6 o'clock. When the finding was announced, Mr. T. C. Robinette, for the prisoner, asked that the jury be polled, and each of the 12 men replied as above.

Does Not Realize It at All.

The boy during the trial and even when he was found guilty, showed no signs of fear and little appreciation of the seriousness of his position. All day he looked about the crowded courtroom with a smile that broadened when his eye fell upon acquaintances and still lingered on his face when Mr. T. C. Robinette was addressing the jury on his behalf. Before adjourning the court, His Lordship announced that he would pass sentence on the youthful prisoner at 11 o'clock this morning.

James Cowan Is Dead.

Galt, Ont., May 23. — James Cowan, ex-Dominion Arbitrator, died at his residence, "Craigie Lea," at 2.30 p.m. yesterday, in the 98th year of his age. He was a member of the old Parliament of Canada before Confederation, but was defeated by Hon. James Young in the Confederation election of 1867. Deceased was born near the vale of Yarrow in 1803, and has been a resident of Galt and vicinity since 1834. The late Thos. Cowan, postmaster at Galt, was a son of deceased. The surviving members of the family are J. Lang Cowan, residing at "Clochmor," the farm homestead near Galt; William Cowan and A. B. Cowan of the firm of Cowan & Co., and Miss Cowan at "Craigie Lea."

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of Philadelphia, Pa., when Dr. King's New Discovery cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. She says:—"After all other remedies and doctors failed, it soon removed the pain in my chest, and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the universe." Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed to cure all troubles of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. DECORATE FOR THE DAY.

Business men and citiens generally are urged to decorate their places to-morrow. Hoist the flags and get out the bunting and give the old town a bright and holiday appearance in keeping with the patriotic holiday. In the evening illuminate, light is not expensive. Marchants on George-st. are especially requested to light up the show windows to-morrow night. It will give the leading thoroughfare a bright appearance, and add to the occasion.

Brevities

—There will be no issue of the Review to-morrow.

—Charlotte-st. choir practice will be held on Friday evening at 7.45.

—This is Empire day, and is being observed in the schools by special patriotic programmes this afternoon.

—There will be a Gun Club shoot tomorrow morning at 9.30 at the Riverside Park. All hands are invited.

—A couple of cases regarding dog tags were settled at the police court this morning.

—A newsboy was to-day fined $2 for throwing the wrapper in which he received his bundle of papers on the street.

—To-morrow being Ascension Day as well as the Queen's Birthday, there will be a service in St. John's church at 9.30 a.m.

—To-day a warning about the careless or mischievious use of fire crackers is quite in order. The cannon firecrackers are dangerous, and people should find some other method of venting their loyalty, otherwise prosecutions may follow.

—Isaac Covert, an old man from the eastern part of the country, was liberated from gaol yesterday after a term of six months but was again sent up to that refuge for the unfortunate this morning. He is a most pitiable looking specimen of humanity.

—The closing exercises of the Junior Girls' Guild of All Saints' church were held last night and formed a very pleasant occasion. An "At Home" was held in the church basement. At the close refreshments were served. The prize winners for the year were Misses Aggie Sahin, Edith Johnston, Annie Hillier and Pearl Dunsford, who received their tributes of merit last evening.

—Yesterday afternoon while the Women's Missionary Society Meeting was in progress in the George-st Methodist church, Mrs. Fusee, wife of the Rev. C. H. Fusee, of Warsaw, was stricken in church with heart trouble. She was carried into the parsonage and medical aid summoned. She gradually recovered, and was able to leave for home after tea.

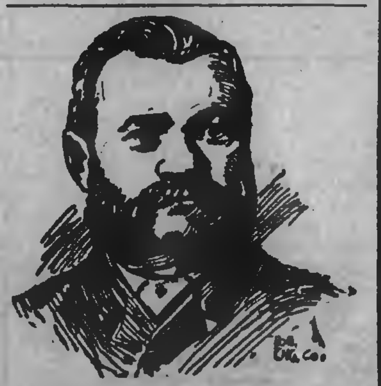
THE LATE THOMAS CAHILL.

After a short illness of pneumonia, with which he was stricken down on Saturday night last, Mr. Thos. Cahill, one of the best known citizens of Peterborough, passed away last evening about 8 o'clock. During the few days that elapsed since he was seized with the illness he sank gradually but steadily and it was realized by both himself and friends that he was very near the end of his earthly career.

Mr. Cahill was a man whose demise will be sincerely regretted by a very large circle of friends and in the streets and business places to-day many kindly and sympathetic expressions regarding the late citizen were to be heard. He was a man whose active life, breadth of views and long experience in municipal politics brought him much in contact with almost all classes of the people and on all whom he met he left a favorable impression. It was especially those with whom he came in closer relationship, whether political, business or social, who appreciated the many good qualities with which he was endowed. He was a man of much force of character, a man of keen intelligence, one who combined genuine originality with practical common sense. One of his most charming qualities was his wit, the freshness and fertility of which were striking. It was never wanting and on innumerable occasions was a treat to many. Mr. Cahill had the Irish gift of speech and none knew better how to make a compliment or pass a cheery joke while at the same time he had the faculty in a degree that comes to few men of saying just what he had to say in the happiest and most suitable manner.



THE LATE THOS. CAHILL.

Mr. Cahill was born in County Kerry, Ireland, 63 years ago. He came to Canada with his parents about 40 years ago, settling in Peterborough, where he resided until his death. About 30 years ago he married Miss Ellen Sheehan, who, with a family of one son and six daughters, survives him.

It was in his municipal career that Mr. Cahill came most prominently before the citizens of Peterborough. He was a member of the Town Council for the long term of twenty-two years, being first elected in 1874 and sitting continuously for No. 1 Ward till the end of 1896. His associates from the south ward the first year were Messrs. P. Hamilton and Wm. Helm. Mr. (now Hon.) Geo .A. Cox was Mayor. During the time he served the people in the Council Mr. Cahill acted as chairman of all the important, if not all, the committees, Finance, Street and Bridge, Market, etc., and in these positions his conduction of affairs was marked by clear insight, good judgment and executive force. He was acting Mayor on several occasions during the absence of the Mayor.

In 1896, in recognition of his many years of faithful service at the Council Board, a number of Mr. Cahill's friends induced him to enter the field for the Mayoralty, but he was defeated and for the last three years, while retaining an interest in municipal affairs that arose from long and intimate association, he did not take as active a part in public affairs as formerly. He was nominated for the Council the last couple of years, but declined to enter the contest.

Mr. Cahill was a member of the Separate School Board from 1878 to 1883 inclusive, holding the position of chairman for a couple of years. His administrative abilities were much appreciated in this body. He was the first President of the Peterborough Workmen's Building and Loan Association, being chosen for that position on its organization in 1889, and being re-elected a number of times. He also served on the Board of Directors of the Association. Another organization with which he was actively identified and in which he took a deep interest was the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association. He was President of the local branch of the society in 1898-99.

Mr. Cahill held the position of Deputy Collector of Inland Revenue. He was also inspector of gas, gas metres, etc. He was formerly Inspector of Weights and Measures and was altogether connected with the department of Inland Revenue for about twenty years.

Interment takes place on Friday.

THE PROGRAMME FOR TO-MORROW

A BRIEF AND CONCISE OUTLINE OF THE PROCEEDINGS ARRANGED FOR THE DAY

A Programme That Ensures a Grand Celebration for the Queen's Birthday —Let All Citizens be in it and Enjoy it.

To-morrow will be the Queen's Birthday, and labor will be cast to the winds for the day and all patriotic citiens will give up the day to rejoicing and celebrating. As already outlined in detail a grand day's programme has been prepared by the officers of the 57th and a committee of citiens, and with fine weather there will be a most successful celebration. All citiens are requested to decorate their places and give the town a gala appearance. Here is the programme in brief for the day, and all can be witnessed without fee or charge:—

10 a.m.—Military parade from drill shed, 57th Regiment, Veterans of '66, and the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons. The line of march will be down George-st. to Charlotte, along Charlotte to Stewart, thence to Hunter, along Hunter to Water and then to Victoria Park.

11.30 a.m.—Firing of feu de joie and children's chorus of patriotic songs at Victoria Park.

1.30 p.m.—Bicycle parade from Central Park. The route of this parade will be from the Central Park down to Charlotte-st., along Charlotte to Water, along Water to Brock, along Brock to George and along George and Smith-sts. to the Nicholls Park. Riders will dismount at the park gates and walk up the hill, when the parade will circle the track twice.

2.30 p.m.—Sports and games at Nicholls park, with the 57th Regimental band in attendance.

7.30 p.m.—Cook's parade in central part of town.

8.30—Band concert by 57th Regimental band in Central Park, and grand pyrotechnic display managed by the fire brigade.

OUT OF TOWN.

The railroads are giving cheap fares out of town.

The annual picnic of St. Mary's church, Lakefield, will be held as usual, with Hon. Mr. Stratton and Hon. Mr. Latchford as speakers.

There is also an excursion up the lakes from Lakefield.

Don't forget the lacrosse game to-morrow afternoon on the P. A. A. A. grounds. Peterborough vs Young Torontos.

SOME PHASES OF LIFE IN CHINA

MISS QUINN WRITES A LETTER OF MUCH INTEREST

A Change of Residence — Something About Their Circumstances—Travel as it is Done in the Orient—Some of the Characters Met With.

The following letter received yesterday from Miss Quinn will be found of much interest by her many friends here. It deals with a variety of engaging topics:—

P. O. Address, Wuhu, China,
Nan Ling Hsien, Apr. 17, 1900

My Dear Friends,—It is quite a long time now since I wrote to you, so I must see if I can manage to get a letter off this next mail. One reason I did not write sooner was because all winter it rained or snowed almost incessantly, and there was very little of interest to write about, and then when things did begin to happen, my time and strength were fully used. However, I do not want you to forget me, and I must try and share with you some of the events that have taken place these last few weeks, and which have meant so much in my life. God is good, and I am trusting Him to make "all things work together for good" both for me and for the people to whom He has sent me.

The first thing I must tell you is that

WE HAVE LEFT HAN SHAN.

I hope you will feel sorry, and that you are interested in that city, and surrounding country. There seemed to the committee, who manage the affairs of our mission here, no other course. Miss Ross, I regret deeply to tell you, has not been well, and the water did not agree with her, neither could the house be made very comfortable, so that the committee felt she must live in a port for a time where she would have less hardship and more nourishing food. Then there was no other worker free who could be placed with me, and they did not think it wise for me to stay alone, although I would gladly have done so, rather than leave the women without a "witness." Miss Ross left for Wuhu on the 1st of March to attend the committee meeting, and returned on the 13th, bringing me the decision they had arrived at, and instructions for me to return with her if possible, so there seemed nothing to do but obey orders. She had brought a chair (for travelling) and coolies, of course, and was anxious to go back at once, so we were soon busy packing, selling our furniture, which the natives were eager to buy—it was almost all made in Han Shan—and on the 15th we left Han Shan, which had been our home for eighteen months. I do not think I will try to tell you how much it meant to us, and only say that I think we entered a little deeper into the fellowship of His sufferings, "The Man of Sorrows and acquainted with grief." We know he wept over Jerusalem, and I have not the least doubt but that He left many a city with a breaking heart. It seemed as though we had done so much weeping in our seed sowing there and endured so much, that there must be a harvest. The women, too, in the country seemed to be getting more and more friendly. However, the Lord can, and I have no doubt will, give the increase, according to His promise. "His Word shall not return to Him void." And they have heard the Word which was faithfully preached. Although our mission is not carrying on the work, Mr. Beals is placing a young native Christian there, but as yet there is no one to preach to the women. Dear friends, keep on praying and believing for Han Shan, especially for the country women, and more especially the old ones. So many of their dear old faces come before me as I write, some of them seeming anxious to learn the truth, and many of them too old and feeble to walk to the city. Some of them just able to remember God's name, and some not that. Think of them, dear friends, and pray for them as you would for your own mothers if you thought they were going out into eternal darkness.

And now, I must tell you of my trip from Han Shan to Wuhu. As Miss Ross had her chair, and it was the most convenient way for her to return, we decided it would be best for me and bring our boxes, so this made it necessary for us to travel by different routes, although we left the house together. In order to reach the boat I had to go about 40 li (a li is about one-third of a mile) overland, I travelling in chair, and my baggage on a native wheel barrow, which is pushed by men. When about 15 li from the boat it began to snow heavily; when we got to the village still 10 li away, the carters struck. They said they could not go further. The chair bearers also wanted to strike; the inn keeper did not want to keep so many boxes over night for fear of thieves, and demanded an exorbitant price. What was to be done? At last a man appeared about four o'clock who offered to take us and all our belongings, down the stream to the boat in big tubs, for one dollar. As he guaranteed to get us to the boat before dark, we decided to try it, as if the storm continued we might eventually have to go that way, so we started and I had my first voyage in a tub. I must explain that tubs are used a good deal in shallow water for fishing, transportation, etc. They vary in size; some are round, others oval shaped, but they are perfectly flat-bottomed, and about as deep as an ordinary wash-tub. The two I engaged, were quite large, I suppose five feet in diameter. The boxes, etc., were placed in, and then our bedding on top, and other things we were particularly anxious to keep as dry as possible. Then we got in ourselves, making a seat of a box and bundle. It was a unique sight. The water was shallow, but by dint of pulling and pushing the two men managed to get the tubs started, and all went well for about four li, when we came to a narrow place in the stream where the water was very swift. The men tugged and pulled, but we were stuck

TO TAKE A HOUSE-BOAT

The Slater Bull-Dog Shape

Another member of the 12 shapes in the Slater Shoe family.

The "Bull-dog" is an English shape, and designed to bring ease to tender toes which owe their tenderness to having been crowded into wrong shaped shoes.

One of the most comfortable of "Slater Shoe" shapes, the rounding curve on the outer edge of the sole and the peculiarly raised toe cap are special features in this shape, ensuring comfort and retaining stylishness.

Button, laced, elastic sides, leathers that are guaranteed and colors that are correct.

Every pair Goodyear welted, name and price branded on the sole in a slate frame—the trade mark of the makers—$3.50 and $5.00.

A NOTEWORTHY INCIDENT

An incident that attracted more than passing interest was the remarkable cure of Mr. William Boyd, a most honored resident of Wolfe Island, Ont. Mr. Boyd's health had suffered from frailty, which led to an acute attack of rheumatism.

Throughout the autumn and winter of 1897 he suffered most distressingly from rheumatic pains. His constitution became so weakened and the affected parts so painful that he was rendered perfectly helpless. His appetite became impaired and sleep forsook him. To move unaided was an impossibility and the help of an attendant was constantly necessary. A friend whom the treatment had benefited advised Mr. Boyd to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial and the advice was acted upon, and to Mr. Boyd's great surprise and joy, a cure was effected after all other treatments had failed. "I used the contents of five bottles," he writes, "and the pains left me entirely. I am now enjoying the very best of health."

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

SIR CHAS. TUPPER HONORED

House Remembers the 45th Anniversary of His Public Life.

Members of the Opposition Decorated His Desk With a Bouquet of Roses and Sir Wilfrid Laurier Made a Nice Little Speech in His Honor—Ottawa Fire Was Discussed—Several Measures Advanced.

Ottawa, May 23.—Forty-five years ago yesterday Sir Charles Tupper, leader of Her Majesty's loyal Opposition, entered public life as M.P.P., for Cumberland in the Nova Scotia Legislature. In the general election of 1855 he defeated the Hon. Joseph Howe, who afterwards became Lieut-Governor of Nova Scotia. Members of the Opposition remembered the day, and wore a red rose in his button-hole. Sir Charles' desk held a mammoth bouquet of roses, red, yellow and white, that filled the House with their perfume. A white silk ribbon tied the stems together, and a note told the aged and honored leader that his friends had not forgotten the dawn of his political career.

When the House opened and Sir Charles was about to take his seat he was given an enthusiastic ovation by the members on both sides of the House. The Conservative members stood while he took his seat. Sir Charles bowed his acknowledgements of the reception given him, and asked the indulgence of the House while he replied to the kindly manner in which he had been received by both sides of the House. He thanked his friends on the Opposition side for their remembrance of the anniversary of his entrance to public life 45 years ago, and he was grateful for the generous manner evinced by the honorable gentlemen opposed to him politically.

Sir Charles' vitality was never more in evidence than yesterday. Eighty-one years of age, and having spent nearly half a century as an active public man, he still appears as the most vigorous and magnetic man on the Opposition benches. Yesterday he was embodied of good nature, and the honored head of his party.

Sir Wilfrid Was Generous.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier paid him a generous tribute. He was sure that he voiced the sentiments of the whole Canadian people, when he said he was glad that he was able to see this day and to congratulate Sir Charles upon his career. It was one of the blessings of political life in Canada that it was possible for politicians to forget that they were divided in opinion — it was a blessing that though the strife of parties was often keen and bitter, yet times come when members of Parliament cared to show that nobler sentiments actuated them.

Then Business Came on.

The business of the House was then begun.

The City Council of Ottawa on Monday night, by a vote of 12 to 11, and with the approval of Mayor Payment, decided to hold by the old modes of constructing buildings and piling lumber.

Mr. Foster brought the matter to the attention of Sir Wilfrid, and suggested that some condition should be attached to the gift of the Government to the Relief Committee.

Sir Wilfrid declared that, personally, as a citizen of Ottawa, he regretted the action of the City Council, for he thought the time had come to Ottawa to compel all buildings to be fire-proof. It was a mistaken kindness, even to the poorer classes. The Government, however, had no power to accomplish what they would be glad to see.

Sir Henri Joly thought that the members of the Relief Committee could remedy the action of the City Council. He felt sure that the $900,000 subscribed could not be all consumed in feeding and clothing the destitute. There would be a large surplus, and the committee should impose certain conditions upon those persons who get money relief.

Col. Prior was told that Mr. Clute's report into labor difficulties in British Columbia would be brought down to-day.

House in Committee.

The House then went into committee on Sir Henri Joly's bill relating to the inspection of the Manitoba grain trade.

By 5.30 the bill had passed the committee, and its third reading will be given later.

Mr. Fisher's bill relating to cold storage accommodations on steamships, was taken up in committee, reported and given a third reading.

The bill respecting the marking and inspection of packages containing apples and pears for export came next. Dr. Sproule gave the House the benefit of correspondence he had received regarding the bill, and suggested that every shipper should brand his apples over his own name.

Mr. Fisher Is Frank.

After recess, Mr. Fisher said, owing to his communication with apple producers and shippers, he could not say that on the whole they were favorable to the bill. There was no difference of opinion that something should be done for the apple trade. It was urged that the bill should deal with the import as well as the export trade. But this would bear heavily upon the stall dealer. It was the intention of the bill to make the branding of a size relate to the smallest apple in the barrel.

Mr. John McMillan said the bill should enforce a uniform size of apples in the barrel. The grade could be branded on the barrel, but the variety would be impossible to arrive at to the satisfaction of everybody.

The general criticism of the bill was that it would be unworkable. Nearly every member of the Opposition side spoke against the bill. The fact that the inspector would place no mark upon the barrel after inspection was severely commented upon.

Mr. Fisher's reply was that the inspection was not compulsory.

"Then it should be," was the Opposition retort.

The committee rose and reported progress at 12.15 o'clock, and the House adjourned.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Boer Peace Delegates Were Received by President McKinley in the Blue Parlor—No Outsiders Present.

Washington, May 23. — Messrs. Fischer, Wessels and Wolmarans, the three Boer envoys, who are now in this country, visited the White House at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, according to previous arrangements, to pay their respects to the President. No official status was given the visitors and they presented no credentials. The envoys were received in the blue parlor, no one being present but themselves, the President and Secretary Cortelyou.

The Conversation.

At first the conversation touched upon a variety of subjects. The Boers talked about Washington, told how they admired the city, and the President escorted them to the porch at the rear of the executive mansion, where a splendid view is obtainable of the Washington monument and the Potomac River.

President Kruger's name finally was mentioned and the visitors then stated their purpose in coming to this country. They said they understood that what Secretary Hay told them the day before was final, and that the position of the United States was that this country could not interfere in the present struggle in South Africa.

President Confirmed It.

The President confirmed this view. He said that the action he took some time ago (when, at the request of the Government of the Transvaal, that his Government should intervene, he offered his good offices to England to bring about peace), he did so with great pleasure in the hope that it might possibly bring the conflict to an end. This offer had been declined by Great Britain, and, he says, there was nothing further that the United States could do in the premises.

The envoys intimated that they were glad to feel they had friends in this country and then bade the President good-bye.

Children Burned to Death.

Nashville, Tenn., May 23. — Four children of Thomas Brady were burned to death last night in their house, 10 miles from this city, the house having caught fire during the absence of their parents at church. The children, two boys and two girls, ranged in years from 5 to 13.

Molsons Bank Manager Promoted.

Montreal, May 23. — The local manager of the Molsons' Bank has been promoted to the general managership, succeeding the late Mr. Wolferstan Thomas. Mr. James Elliott, the new manager, will be succeeded by Mr. E. C. Pratt.

But Unfortunately For Abner the Crowd Voted That Lish Had Made the Stronger Point and Deserved to Be Made Jericho's Constable.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

When the postoffice crowd went home t'other night, Abner Jones staid behind, and as soon as we war alone and the door locked he says to me:

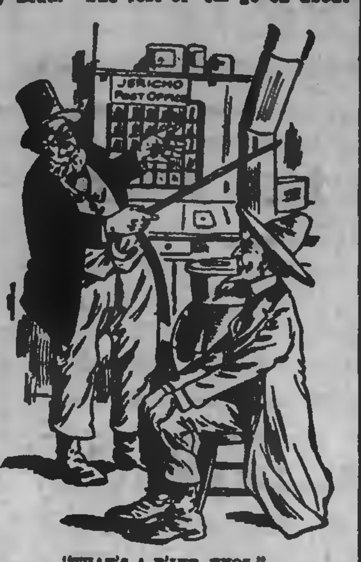
"Look here, pap. I've got sunthin on my mind, and I want to talk with you."

"Measles or mumps among the children?" I asks.

"No; nuthin of that sort. It's about politics. I'm thinkin about runnin fur constable or sunthin or other next 'lection, but I don't see my way clear."

"What 'pears to be the trouble?"

"Argyment, pap—argyment. I've bin buyin and shippin hogs fur the last 20 years and hevn't paid no tenshun to politics. Mebbe you hev noticed that I sit here every night and don't skasely open my head. The rest of 'em go on about the Monroe doctrine, the gold standard, free silver, free trade and all that, but I can't mix in. I've got to mix in to git office. I want to give up hogs and go into politics. Pap, you must help me out."



"THAT'S A P'INT, ENOS."

"But I'm postmaster of Jericho," says I, "and it's furbidden fur postmasters to talk politics. If I'd lose this job of mine at $26.50 a year, I don't know what would become of me."

"But I'm askin it as a personal favor, pap," he goes on. "I'll swear on the Bible never to tell. I've bin a friend of your'n, and now you've got to help me. What's the Monroe doctrine?"

"I wouldn't dast start in to tell you, as I never studied up on it. What don't concern the postoffice don't concern me, you know."

"I see; but I thought you might at least know who Monroe was. When I hear Lish Billings, Zach Scott, Enos Johnson and the rest of 'em talkin about Monroe and his durned old doctrine as glib as you please, it makes me b'ilin mad. D'you know anything about free trade, pap?"

"Skassly. Bein busy in the grocery and postoffice, I don't go into outside things very much."

"And what about protection?"

"Same thing. I reckon we are protected, but jist how I can't say."

"But I've got to find out all about these things, and how am I goin to do it?" asks Abner, feelin sort of desperate.

"Why don't you go to Lish Billings?" says I. "Lish is purty well posted and will help you out."

"But how kin I? Lish wants to run fur constable hisself, and he'd throw me down in a minit."

Abner seemed so concerned and anxious that I felt sorry fur him, and after thinkin it over I says to him:

"Look here, Abner. You had a great-grandfather?"

"I must hev had."

"And he fit and died at Bunker Hill, didn't he?"

"He must hev. As nigh as I kin learn, he was an old critter who was allus around whar a row was goin on, and I'll bet my boots he was at Bunker Hill. As to his dyin thar I can't say."

"But you must say. You've got to put it that he poured out his blood thar. That's your holt. Let free trade, protection and all the rest of it alone and stand on your great-grandfather and his dyin at Bunker Hill. That'll hit the crowd."

"Say, pap," says Abner as he rises up with a new cider smile on his face, "you've struck it. I see my way clear, and the minit I'm 'lected constable I'll bring my influence to bear with the guvernment to boost your salary. Keep mum, pap. I'll be around tomorrer night to surprise the crowd."

The next day it got around town that Abner Jones was goin out of hogs and goin into politics, and thar was a good deal of talk. Some folks argyed that because he'd done fairly well in hogs he'd git along all right as a politician, but Deacon Spooner was one of the doubtful ones.

"It don't foller," says he, "and you can't make it foller, and unless Abner has got a platform above hogs he'll never arouse the enthusiasm of Jericho."

The next evenin brung its crowd to the postoffice, and I was glad to see that Abner's face wore a smile of confidence. It was ginerally understood that he and Lish Billings wanted the same office, and it was felt that this evenin would decide things. Thar was some scatterin talk about Mark Hanna, the Boer war and the price of calfskins, and then Enos Johnson speaks up and says:

"I think I'm right in sayin that the patriots assembled here this evenin hev the best interests of these United States at heart. I think I am, but I'm willin to stand corrected."

"Enos, you're dead right and hev made a strong p'int," says Deacon Spooner as he whacks his cane ag'in a cracker bar'l.

"And, bevin the best interests of the United States at heart," continues Enos, "it behooves us to go a leetle slow about our next constable and see that he is a fittin representative of the great and glorious principles which hev made America a shinin example before the world. On behalf of my fellow patriots of Jericho I asks Abner Jones whar he stands on the question of free trade. He needn't fall over hisself in his hurry to answer, but when it comes we want it plain."

"I ain't standin on that question 'tall," answers Abner after a minit.

"We'd ruther you'd be on one side or t'other," continues Enos, "but mebbe that won't make so much difference. I've understood that Thomas Jefferson never could make up his mind as between pumpkin pies and strawberry shortcake, and so we won't press you. How about trusts, Abner? That's one of the issues of the campaign, and we want to know how you stand."

"Same as on free trade," replies Abner—"neither fur nor ag'in 'em."

"But you've got to be one way or t'other, same as a man who sees a dog-fight."

"That's a p'int, Enos—a strong p'int," says the deacon as he hits the stovepipe with his cane. "Nobody ever sees a dog-fight without takin sides."

"But I ain't standin," protests Abner, not a bit put out at the looks of surprise around him.

"Mebbe we might dodge around that, too," says Enos, "but we've sartainly got to know whar you stand on the silver question. It's what they terms of vital interest—that is the vitals of the United States are at stake—and you can't do no foolin when that's the case. Jericho rises up on her hind legs, Abner, and asks whar you stand. It may be that the fate of a nation depends upon your answer."

"I ain't standin," replies Abner as cool as can be.

"But hain't you got no guidin principles, no party platform? Hain't you fur sunthin or ag'in sunthin?"

"Yes, I'm fur sunthin. I'm standin pat on my great-grandfather."

"But that's no p'int!" shouts the deacon. "Why, by jingo, if George Washington had stood pat on his great-grandfather he'd never hev bin heard of!"

"And what about your great-grandfather?" asks Enos in a keerful way.

"He died at Bunker Hill," says Abner. "Yes, sir, he poured out his blood right then and thar that we might be free and America might be what she is, and I'm standin pat on his record."

"Then it's a p'int!" yells the deacon as he tunks on the floor with his cane. "It surely is a p'int! By jingo, Abner, you kin go before the patriots of Jericho on that record and win every time!"

Thar was a good deal of enthusiasm around, and it looked as if the case was settled fur good and all when Enos motions fur silence and says:

"We've got to hear from Lish Billings yet. He's bin chawin dried apples and sayin nuthin, but we'd like to hear from him. Will he tell this assemblage whar he stands?"

"I'm also standin pat," says Lish after awhile.

"Standin pat on what?"

"On my great-grandfather."

"And what did he do?"

"Fit and poured out his lifeblood same as Abner's."

"Was it at Bunker Hill?"

"Noap; it was at Lexington, and, as Lexington was fit on the 18th of April and Bunker Hill on the 17th of June, I am jist two months ahead on the lifeblood bizness and asks this crowd of patriots to stand by me."

"It's a p'int!" yells the deacon as he waves his cane around and knocks off three or four hats. "It's a p'int and a strong p'int, and, by jingo, if Lish Billings ain't our next constable!"

I felt sorry fur Abner—I know he lays it up ag'in me. But how could I tell that Lish Billings would also stand pat and beat him by two months?

PROFITABLE WORK

Is to Profit by Your Neighbor's Experience—Here is a Chance for Peterborough People.

Every man, woman, and child in Peterborough who knows the misery of a bad back, the nervous, restless, sleepless condition brought on by kidney trouble, or the day and night annoyance of urinary and bladder disorders, will profit by this citizen's experience with the great Kidney Remedy:—

Mrs. J. Joyes, Brock-st., Peterborough, says:—"My children having been troubled with backache, kidney and liver trouble, I procured a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from Ormond & Walsh, the druggists, and I must say that they acted splendidly, fixing them up in short order. They are a splendid tablet, and easy to take, which makes it nice for children."

If you have the slightest symptom of Kidney or Bladder trouble, you can test this great medicine free. Arrangements have been made whereby every reader of this paper can obtain a trial package of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets absolutely free, by enclosing two cent stamp for postage to the Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto, Ont. When giving address mention this paper. If you are convinced Pitcher's Tablets are what you want, you can purchase regular size for 50 cents per bottle. If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price.

A Squadron of Bethune's Mounted Force, 66 in All, Were Ambushed by the Enemy—Canadian Artillery Aided at Mafeking's Relief—Gen. Botha Credited With Having With Stood Kruger in Defence of the Johannesburg Mines.

London, May 23. — (3.30 a.m.)—The Transvaal Government has informed the correspondents at Pretoria that it has not considered and does not intend to consider unconditional surrender, but will fight to a finish. The foreign consuls have been informed that Johannesburg will be defended and the Goverment announces that it will not hold itself responsible for injury to persons or property resulting from the defence measures. Pretoria despatches affirm that President Kruger, President Steyn and all the most prominent leaders of both republics, after a prolonged interchange of views, are determined to continue the war and that only a minority of the leaders advocate surrender without terms.

Boer Spirit Rising.

Mrs. Reitz, wife of the Transvaal State Secretary, and her family, with the families of other officials, have gone to Lorenzo Marquez. Johannesburg and Pretoria are being cleared of non-combatants. The Boer chiefs, who now recognize the possibility that they have to defend these cities, are preparing with the utmost haste. The Boer spirit has been rising from a low ebb and is now ready for a steadfast resistance.

Nevertheless, according to The Daily Chronicle, long messages in Dutch have been received by the British Government by way of Amsterdam, in which President Kruger seeks peace. According to one account President Kruger surrenders unconditionally; according to another he asked for terms. There seems to be good reason for believing that he is earnestly endeavoring to secure terms but cabled inquiries fail to confirm the assertion that correspondence has recently passed between Great Britain and the Transvaal respecting terms.

Roberts Again Moving.

Lord Roberts is again moving. The British infantry left Kroonstad Monday, and headquarters was expected to leave yesterday. The railway has been restored and the first train is due to arrive to-day.

The Boers are busy blasting for gun emplacements along the Rhenoster River. General De Wet commands as General Botha is ill.

Boers Must Fight.

A despatch from Pretoria says that in accordance with an understanding with Gen. Botha and President Steyn the Federal Government has issued a circular stating that should the enemy succeed in gaining a position in the Transvaal, and take possession of one or the other districts, the inhabitants woul be free to decide whether or not to leave their families on the farms; but the men must remain with the commandoes.

Roberts' Advance Will Be Swift.

The advance of Gen. Roberts will probably be swift. It is the expectation of well-informed observers that the Vaal River, 55 miles beyond Kroonstad, will be crossed by the end of the week.

Gen. Clery, with a cavalry brigade, engaged the rear guard of the Boers at Laing's Nek Sunday, captured a number of wagons and took some prisoners. His artillery shelled the Nek. The Boers, in their retreat, laid waste the territory, blew up bridges and burned several houses, as many as six in Newcastle. The machinery of the Navigation collieries was ruined.

Nothing About Mafeking.

Nothing new concerning the relief of Mafeking has come through. All the accounts of the engagement on May 16 extol the bravery of the Canadians. Col. Mahon's column arrived at the rendezvous one hour after Col. Plumer, showing with what accuracy the movements were timed.

Milner Defends Boers.

Sir Alfred Milner, speaking at Cape Town Monday before an enormous assemblage celebrating the relief of Mafeking, referred to the remark of a previous speaker who had condemned the Boers as "Cowardly scoundrels." He said: "There are many among our enemies who deserve to be honored for their heroism. Although cases of treachery and barbarity have occurred they have been exceptional. The conduct of the enemy is that of brave men, fighting for a bad cause. Yet they are entitled to respect."

CANADIANS AT MAFEKING.

By Forced Marches They Got There in Time to Help in the Relief of the Garrison.

London, May 23. — Lord Roberts reports to the War Office in a despatch dated Kroonstad, May 21, as follows:

"Mahon reports that the flying column entered Mafeking at 4 a.m., May 18. He was stubbornly opposed by 1,500 men on May 17 nine miles from Mafeking, but the Boers were driven from their strong positions after five hours' fighting, thanks, he says, to the magnificent qualities of his troops. A detachment of Canadian artillery, by a series of forced marches, reached him the morning of the fighting and rendered very valuable assistance. Mahon's casualties were about 30. The Boer losses were heavy."

Sir Alfred Milner's Cable.

Ottawa, May 23. — The following cable message was received yesterday morning by His Excellency the Governor-General from Sir Alfred Milner:

"Cape Town, May 22. — The officer commanding the flying column which entered Mafeking on May 18th reports that he met with ten hours' stubborn resistance from 1,500 Boers on May 17th. A detachment of the Royal Canadian Artillery by a series of forced marches reached him on the morning of the fighting and rendered very valuable assistance."

Chamberlain Congratulates.

Ottawa, May 23. — A cable has been received by the Governor-General from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, congratulating Canada on the great services rendered by the Canadian Artillery in relieving Mafeking.

Across the Vaal.

Cape Town, May 21.—British troops have arrived at Vereeniging, in the Transvaal, north of the Vaal River. The bridge across the Vaal was found to be intact. Twenty-seven Free State and Transvaal locomotives were captured.

GEN. BULLER'S REPORT.

Squadron of Bethune's Horse Caught in an Ambush and Wiped Out—Casualties 66.

London, May 23.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller:

"Newcastle, May 22. — I have received the following from Bethune: "May 21, while marching in the direction of Newcastle, one of my squadrons of Bethune's Mounted Infantry, was ambushed by Boers six miles west of Vryheid, and very few escaped. Lieutenants Lausum and Capell are among the missing. Captain the Earl De la Warr is slightly wounded in the leg. The total casualties are about 66. I have returned to Nqutu for supplies. Will march to-morrow for supplies via Dundee.' "

Gen. Buller then proceeds: "I detached Col. Bethune and about five hundred men from Dundee, May 17, with instructions to march by Vaut's Drift and show his force at Nqutu, which was reported to have been evacuated by the enemy, preparatory to the return of the Magistrates, and the civil establishment, to the district. He was to rejoin me at Newcastle afterwards."

Boers Guided by Deserters.

London, May 23. — A despatch to The Daily Mail, dated Mafeking, May 13, says: "Among the prisoners captured with Commandant Sarel Eloff are Count de Bremont, a Frenchman, and Count Von Weiss, a German. It is found that the Boers were guided by two deserters named Hay and Bolton. At the enemy's request we have handed over their dead. Today one of our men was asked to surrender and replied, 'Never.' The Boers at once shot him through the head."

Meeting of the Columns.

London, May 23. — Details of the meeting of the columns commanded by Col. Plumer and Col. Mahon show that as the former rode into Masibistad at sunrise, May 15, the Hon. Maurice Gifford, Col. Rhodes, Prince Adolphus of Teck, Sir John Willoughby and others rode in from the south with the information that Col. Mahon's column was within two miles of the place.

BOTHA SAVED THE MINES.

Kruger Had Ordered Their Destruction, But the General Declared He Would Defend Them.

London, May 23. — The Durban correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Tuesday, says:

"Rev. Adrian Hofmeyer tells me he was informed by a high Boer official that when President Kruger notified the Raad of the Government's arrangements to blow up the mines and to destroy Johannesburg, Gen. Louis Botha hurried to Pretoria, and had a stormy interview with President Kruger, to whom he said that if the plan were not cancelled, he would himself defend Johannesburg, adding that the Boers were not barbarians.

"At this," according to Mr. Hofmeyer, "the plan was abandoned."

NEWS TOPICS.

A POPULAR MISTAKE

Regarding Remedies for Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The national disease of Americans is indigestion or in its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it is so common many people neglect taking proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many incurable diseases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach will fall a victim to consumption. Many kidney diseases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stomachs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded out women owe their condition to imperfect digestion.

When nearly every person you meet is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when in fact, as Dr. Werthier says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfectly safe and reliable, and moreover, this remedy is not a patent medicine, but it is a scientific combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter), vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth. It is sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No extravagant claims are made for them, but for indigestion or any stomach trouble, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are far ahead of any remedy yet discovered. They act on the food eaten, no dieting is necessary, simply eat all the wholesome food you want and these tablets will digest it. A cure results, because all the stomach needs is a rest, which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give by doing the work of digestion.

Lord Strathcona's Title Perpetuated.

London, May 23. — The Queen has granted Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner, a patent of his title to his daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Robert Jared Bliss Howard, his only child. Apart from the honor conferred on the Canadian High Commissioner, the Queen's Birthday honors, of which it formed a part, were not interesting.

Boxers to Be Suppressed.

Pekin, May 23. — The authorities apparently have begun to realize that the "Boxer" movement is too serious to remain longer undealt with. Troops are being sent to the disturbed districts, with instructions to rigidly suppress the outrages. Six leaders of the movement in Pekin have been arrested.

Half Crazy With Piles.

Mr. Isaac Foster, Erie View, Norfolk Co., Ontario, writes:—"I was troubled with itching piles for about two years and could not sleep at nights. In fact I was half crazy from the terrible itching. Reading about Dr. Chase's Ointment I purchased a box. After the second application I experienced relief and one box cured me thoroughly and permanently and that was two years ago." Do You Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning; months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve force, and building up the system.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Mr. Dan Simons Entertainment Attracts a Good Sized Crowd.

Mr. Dan Simons was greeted by a large gathering at the opera house last night, when, assisted by amateur talent, he gave an entertainment to his Peterborough friends. He was welcomed with considerable show of appreciation and both his own turns and those of the friends assisting him were well applauded.

Mr. Harry Neill acted as stage manager during the evening.

The first number was a topical recitation, "Johnny Canuck," very cleverly given by little Miss Carrie White. In response to the encore she recited "My Dad's a Policeman." Mr. Joe Guerin gave a song and dance. Mr. Fred Andrews gave his clever exhibition of baton twirling. Miss Lille Simons in appropriate costume gave a humorous recitation, "Miss Splicer and the Toboggan." Mr. Jas. Browne and Miss Carrie White contributed a part song "The Burglar and the Child." Mr. Dan Simons then took the boards and gave a capital monologue, interspersing many local hits, and followed it with his medley dance, a very clever exhibition. The applause continuing he favored the audience with a couple of pleasing specialties. A song and dance, "The Shy Maidens," by six girls was the next number on the programme. Miss Nellie Graham sang a song "My Lady Lou" and was compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Carrie White gave a highly pleasing recitation, "The Dancing Girl," with dancing variations and gave a song for encore. Mr. Jas. Browne sang a couple of Irish songs in good style. Miss May Clancy contributed a pleasing solo, "Life's See-Saw." Mr. Dan Simons then presented his great specialty "Dusty Rhoades," which was received with much appreciation. He was assisted by Mr. Dick Simons. The entertainment was closed with a charming sketch, "Irish Love" by Miss Lillie Simons and Messrs. Dan and Dick Simons. The audience appeared well satisfied with their evening's entertainment.

After the reports were all received several points of interest from some of them were briefly discussed after which the district organizers report was given and the convention adjourned.

Afternoon session opened at 2.30 with devotional exercises, conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) Moore, and Mrs. Hart.

Roll call followed.

The following subjects were then briefly discussed:—Missionary Sunday, Mite Boxes, Thank Offering, Programme Committee.

The following papers were then read:—

The use of the Prayer Card—Mrs. Carlisle.

Quarterly Prayer Meeting—Mrs. (Rev.) Moore.

The Private Members—Miss Udy.

Our Work in China—Miss McCamus.

Our Work in Japan—Mrs. Kilgour.

Our French Work—Mrs. Kidd.

After the reading of these very interesting and instructive papers, a consecration service was held, conducted by Mrs. Morrow, which was followed by the election of officers with the following result:—

District Organizer.—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.

District Secretary.—Mrs. M. A. Turner.

The meeting then adjourned. A social time was spent and tea was served in the lecture room by the ladies of George-st Auxiliary, to the delegates and their hostesses, also to the ministers attending the district meeting.

The evening session opened at eight o'clock. Rev. Mr. Shorey acted as chairman. Music was furnished by the choir assisted by Miss Vina Belleghem and Miss Cooper from Ashburnham.

Very interesting addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Cade, of Millbrook, and Rev. C. L. Coon, of Cavanville, and the convention closed, there being only one regret that there had not been larger attendance at such interesting and instructive meetings.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilitites.

BRITISH FORCES ARE NEAR VAAL RIVER.

Only Two Marches and they will be at the Vaal and then they will be in Paul Kruger's Own Transvaal.

APPROACHING THE VAAL RIVER

Vredefort, Thursday, May 24.—The British columns after an unopposed march reached the Vredefort Road at noon to-day, and are now only two marches from the Vaal River.

OPERATIONS AT VRYBURG

Warrenton, Thursday, May 24.—Operations have been pushed forward 80 miles, one of Gen. Hunter's brigades having occupied Vryburg last night. Considering the difficulties of the road, this is a remarkable achievement for a mixed force, some portions of the brigade covered 18 miles without a break. Gen. Hunter personally goes to Vryburg to-day by train.

CONFIRMATION AT KEENE

Bishop O'Connor Confirms a Class of Fourteen at Keene on Ascension Thursday.

Yesterday, the feast of the Ascension, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor visited Keene, the parish of Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan, where he administered the sacrament of Confirmation to fourteen candidates. Mass was celebrated at 9.30 o'clock by Rev. Father O'Sullivan and the ceremony of the administration of the sacrament took place immediately after. There was a very large congregation present. The altar was beautifully decorated. The music of the choir, under the leadership of Miss Clara Bell, was highly appreciated.

His Lordship preached an eloquent sermon on the text "Seek Ye first the Kingdom of God in its Justice and all there things shall be added unto you." He congratulated the children on the thorough and excellent manner in which they answered the catechism and exhorted them to still further efforts in the study of their religion.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I beg to call the attention of the Council to the breach of contract in not having the streets watered on the Queen's Birthday. The contractors are paid for doing the work on that day as well as on others, and there is no reason why people should be required to swallow dust on holidays more than on any other. Many were the remarks made by strangers and others, who pleasures were marred by the nuisance, some of them remarking that our town was a dusty hole. Complaints of this character have been frequently made before through the press, but it appears to no purpose. Let not this dereliction of duty be repeated on Dominion Day, twelfth of July, civic holiday, Thanksgiving day or any other holiday when owing to the increased traffict here is far more necessity for the water than on ordinary days.

Yours, etc.,

How Peasants Harvest Inaccessible Meadows in Western Norway.

Far above the narrow, sea filled valleys which stretch their arms 100 miles into the country, high above the farms that stud the banks of the western fiords of Norway, among the rocky slopes of the mountains, up under the very edge of the glittering glaciers and the eternal snow that covers the great plateaus of Folgefonden, Hardangervidda and the Jostedalsbrae, there are patches of verdure almost invisible from the decks of the passing tourist steamers or only appearing like specks on the rugged slopes of the mountains which tower thousands of feet above them.

On the most accessible of these mountain pastures the peasants have erected small huts as places of refuge for the women that herd the cattle in the mountains during the summer months. In these huts, which are called "saeters" in Norwegian, the milk is made into cheese and butter.

Some of these grassy patches among the bowlders are, however, inaccessible to the cattle, but it would never do to let that excellent mountain grass, which produces such rich milk and gives such delicious flavor to the butter and the cheese, go to waste. The sturdy peasant lads and lassies climb into the most inaccessible places and cut the grass, thus increasing their winter stores by many tons of excellent hay.

A very ingenious means of transport has been devised for getting the grass from these meadows among the clouds down into the valleys below, consisting of a wire rope along which the bundles of grass are sent sliding down to the farms of the fiord. The "lanparstreng," as this contrivance is called, very often crosses a fiord, and, besides bundles of grass, it may carry the produce of the "saeters," consisting of big bundles of white and brown cheese, tubs of butter and barrels of buttermilk.

Condensing a Document.

The young man took a piece of paper and a pencil from his pocket and laid the paper on his knee.

"I will have something important to say to you in a minute, Miss Jones," he said.

Then he read over carefully what was written on the paper and crossed out a word.

"Superfluous," he said, half to himself.

He went over it again and crossed out another word.

"It's just as strong without that," he muttered. "We are all too prone to use adjectives and adverbs anyway."

He picked up the paper and seemed about to begin to read from it, but suddenly stopped.

"That whole sentence might as well come out," he said. "The meaning is perfectly clear without it. Conciseness is really the crying need of the hour." Then, turning to the girl, he said, "Be mine."

Thus we see the power of habit. For years his duty had been to edit the "copy" of prolific correspondents.—Chicago Post.

DULLMAN, NOLIN AND WALSH

Alleged Canal Dynamiterds' Trial Going on at Welland.

The Evidence Elicted Before the Court on Queen's Birthday—The Stories of the Various Witnesses Were Not Shaken on Cross-Examination, and Interesting Facts Were Brought Out by the Crown—The Proceedings.

Welland, Ont., May 25. — The trial of the alleged dynamiters Dullman, Nolin and Walsh, opened here yesterday morning. The court opened at 9.30 and the prisoners were brought in with the handicuffs as before. These, however, were taken off as they entered the box. Over an hour was spent in selecting jurors, and 60 had to be called before 12 satisfactory to all could be secured. There were 47 in all challenged, and of these the Crown objected to 12.

Mr. Johnston Opens the Case.

E. F. B. Johnston in opening the case spoke of the crime as an unordinary one, and said that it was a blow at the state. He went rapidly over the evidence he would produce and dwelt particularly on such points as connected Dullman with Nolin and Walsh.

Tracing the Prisoners.

The witnesses called in the morning went in the details of the actions of Nolin and Walsh from the time they boarded the Niagara Central train at Niagara Falls for Thorold until they were arrested on their return to the Falls. The story was practically the same as told by the witnesses at the preliminary examination. The two prisoners were seen on the train, were seen to get off with their telescope grips containing the explosive and go towards the lock from Thorold station. Other witnesses saw them at the lock, and one, Miss Constable, saw them lower the grips into the locks and run out the stone road towards the Falls. They were followed by other witnesses and were really never lost sight of until put in the cells at Niagara Falls.

The Case Against Dullman.

In the afternoon the Crown took up the case against Dullman. Two clerks of the Stafford House, Buffalo, were called, and these swore that Dullman had registered there three times and Walsh and Nolin as "John Smith" and "Thomas Moore" once. All three were in the house on April 14, and they occupied rooms opposite, Nolin and Walsh ,were in ane room and Dullman in the other. Dullman had enquired three times at the office if a friend had asked for him, that was prior to the arrival of Nolin and Walsh. While there on two occasions three drinks were taken to the room held by the two.

Latta's Evidence Against Dullman.

These witnesses were followed by Fred Latta. Fred Latta is a brother of William F. Latta, a customs officer. On the morning of April 20, Officer Latta asked his brother Fred to watch two men whom he suspected of being smugglers. The brothers were in a drug store on the corner of Ontario avenue and Main street, Suspension Bridge, when the request was made. At the same time W. F. Latta pointed out the men he had reference to, they were then passing, going south, and the witness identified them as Dullman and Walsh. Fred Latta followed the two men for two blocks where they stopped for a few minutes and then returned, passing Latta, who followed about four feet behind. He heard Dullman say to Walsh, "Do you know where Jack is?"

Jack Must Keep Sober.

"Is suppose he is getting drunk," answered Walsh. "If we don't keep him sober we will never be able to pull off the job."

"How are we going to keep him sober?"

"If we can't do it any other way we must lock him in a room," replied Dullman, and the two men passed out of hearing.

Examined the Fuse.

Farther down the street they met Nolin carrying a parcel. He stopped and handed the parcel to Dullman, who examined it and then returned it to Nolin. The parcel was similar to a roll of fuse, which was exhibited to the court, but it was larger. The three then went to a saloon and afterwards disappeared.

Officer Latta corroborated a portion of his brother's evidence, and repeated his own statements as taken at the hearing.

Both these witnesses were severely cross-questioned by Mr. German, but their story was not upset in any particular.

They Were Suspected.

Charles Lewis and Thomas O'Meara, U.S. officers, also gave evidence of Dullman, Nolin and Walsh being in one another's company and being suspected of smuggling.

George Dolphin, the proprietor of the Dolphin House, where Nolin and

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,869
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

METHODISM IN NORWOOD.

Reports of the Norwood Circuit Presented at the District Meeting.

The annual district meeting of the Campbellford district of the Methodist Church, Bay of Quinte Conference, is being held at Campbellford on Wednesday and Thursday. It includes ministers and lay delegates from South Dummer, Blairton, Warkworth, Hastings, Stirling, Norham, Havelock, Keene, Rawdon, Norwood, and other places, besides those of Campbellford. At this meeting reports were read of the progress of the work among all the congregations represented, and these will be presented at Conference which meets at Port Hope the first week in June. The report from the Norwood circuit presented at this meeting was a very favorable one. It shows that the present total membership of the church is 335, an increase during the year of 14. The connexional funds have been well sustained, the amounts contributed being as follows:—Missionary $156.63, Superannuation $51, Educational $16.45, Contingent $9, General Conference $8.54, Union Church Relief $3, Sunday School Aid and Extension $3, Sustentation $3, Woman's Missionary Society $61.13, total $321.75. Contributed to circuit funds:—Trustee's fund $368.37, pastors' salary $800, incidental expenses $10.00, removal expenses $43.50, Sunday School $155.99, other purposes $23.17, making a grand total of $2,222.78. Eight marriages and nine burials were recorded during the year.

A POPULAR MISTAKE

Regarding Remedies for Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The national disease of Americans is indigestion or in its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it is so common many people neglect taking proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many incurable diseases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach will fall a victim to consumption. Many kidney diseases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stomachs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded out women owe their condition to imperfect digestion.

When nearly every person you meet is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when in fact, as Dr. Werthier says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfectly safe and reliable, and moreover, this remedy is not a patent medicine, but it is a scientific combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter), vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth. It is sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No extravagant claims are made for them, but for indigestion or any stomach trouble, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are far ahead of any remedy yet discovered. They act on the food eaten, no dieting is necessary, simply eat all the wholesome food you want and these tablets will digest it. A cure results, because all the stomach needs is a rest, which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give by doing the work of digestion.

Coldsprings Anniversary.

The twelfth annual anniversary of the Coldsprings Sunday school, will be held on Sunday and Monday, May 27th and 28th. On Monday evening, there will be a tea, followed by an interesting programme. Admission 25 cents.

SELWYN SIFTINGS

Death of Mr. Robert Nugent, a Much Respected Resident of North Smith—School Children Contribute.

On Tuesday evening, May 15th, occurred the death of Mr. Robert Nugent, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of this district. The deceased gentleman had been ill for several months and hope of his recovery had been given up some time previous to his death. He had lived in Smith for many years, his home being on the 14th concession, near the river. He leaves behind him a sorrowing wife, one son, Walter, and two daughters, both residing at home. The funeral took place on Thursday at 1.30 to the Lakefield cemetery and was very largely attended.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Jos. Tremaum, well known in this neighborhood. He had been ill all winter, and passed peacefully away on Friday night, May 18th. Interment took place on Sunday in Lakefield burying ground.

A grand celebration is to be held on the 24th of May.

THE QUEEN'S 81ST BIRTHDAY

Was Celebrated Joyously in Every Part of the Empire.

Relief of Mafeking and Bobs' Advance Conspired to Make the Honoring of the Day More Unanimously and Enthusiastically Than for Many Years Past—London's Swell Quarter Ablaze With Illuminations.

London, May 25.—The Queen's 81st birthday was celebrated more generally and enthusiastically in every part of the Empire than any anniversary of the kind heretofore. Old London marked the day with a warmth and unanimity quite unique, doubtless spurred on by the relief of Mafeking, and the advance of the British armies. The west end of London was brilliantly illuminated last night.

The despatches tell of the observance of the day, not only in British countries, but in other lands, where the aged soveriegn is honored. President McKinley sent a congratulatory message, to which Her Majesty replied. The Canadian Society of New York had a banquet, at which Hon. G. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, made one of the principal speeches. A cablegram of congratulation was sent to the Queen. The English colony in Santiago, Cuba, had an elaborate banquet in honor of the day, and in Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, every town and village had some sort of display.

OPENING OF DUNDURN.

Hamilton's Pent-Up Mafeking Enthusiasm Finds Ample Vent on Queen's Birthday—The Programme.

Hamilton, May 25. — Yesterday, the general jubilation was added to here by the pent-up feeling which, through belated war office reports, did not find a vent at the relief of Mafeking. The city was crowded with strangers, who were mightily pleased over the decorations. Chapin Post, G.A.R., of Buffalo, accompanied by a host of Americans, was given a very cordial and enthusiastic welcome. At 9.30 o'clock a.m. yesterday, Mayor Teetzel, on behalf of the city accepted the flagstaff and Canadian flag, presented to the city by the Canadian Club. Great cheering ensued when Mrs. Teetzel unfolded the ensign. A great parade, including military battalions, society and labor organizations, came next at 11 o'clock, winding up at Dundurn, the new city park, after parading the principal streets. The military evolutions took place in a roped enclosure, and were witnessed by fully 15,000 people. The feu de joie and royal salute were fired at 12 o'clock, after which the colors were trooped.

Opening of Dundurn.

The afternoon was given up to Dundurn Park and the celebration of its opening and dedication to the city was participated in by thousands of people. All Hamilton and most of the residents of the vicinity seemed to be congregated in the park, so vast was the assemblage, and yet the park being so large there was no unnecessary crowding. The proceedings began with choir music by 1,600 children, then exhibition drills by the Cadets, and these were followed by the oratory, the speakers being Mayor Teetzel, Sir John Bourinot, of Ottawa; Hon. Joseph E. Ewell, of Buffalo; Hon. Thomas Bain, Speaker of the House of Commons, Hon. Dr. Montague, and Postmaster Adam Brown.

The Dundurn Park demonstration was brought to a close by a firework show by Hand & Co., and a concert by the Sons of England Band. Fully 15,000 persons were present at night. Down town the crowd was enormous and there was all kinds of expressions of loyalty. The electric display was magnificent.

THE QUEEN'S PLATE.

There Were Fifteen Starters and Seagram's Dalmoor Won It.

Toronto, May 25. — Yesterday, the Woodbine meeting was a bigger event than ever. As to persons, it had Lord and Lady Minto as spectators, and it had Mr. Joseph Seagram win the Queen's Plate once again. The track was in good condition, but not fast. As a consequence no records were beaten, although both in the mile and sixteenth and in the Queen's Plate, 1¼ miles, the track record was very nearly equalled. If then there was any deficiency in the times it must have been in the quality of the performers. The records:

First Race—¾ mile; purse $400; 3-year-olds and upward. Winner, Mr. J. E. Seagram's ch.c Mr. Jersey, 3, by Hanover—Jersey Girl. Time, 1.17½.

Second Race—½ mile; purse $500; 2-year-olds. Messrs. Vince & Weir's ch.f. Ethel Wheat, by Pursebearer—Martha Burch. Time, 50½.

Third Race—1 1-16 miles; purse $600; Minto Handicap; 3-year-olds and up. Mrs. L. D. Gray's ch. m. Alice Farley, 5, by Spendthrift—Margery. Time, 1.51¼.

Fourth Race—1¼ miles; $700 added; The Queen's Plate. Mr. J. E. Seagram's b.h. Dalmoor, 6, by Louis XIII.—imp. Lady Dalmeny, by Town Moor. Time, 2.14.

Fifth Race—About 2 miles; purse $400; Royal Canadian Steeplechase. Mr. R. J. Laughlin's ch.g. Passe Partout, 4, by St. Florian—Everywhere. Time, 5.02.

Sixth Race—¾ mile; purse $400; 3-year-olds and up, selling. Messrs. Hogan & Muldoon's ch. g. San Durango, 5, by Amega—Cuban Queen. Time, 1.17.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY NOTES.

Clarksburg had sports.

Horse racing was the big attraction at Picton.

The British Charitable Society of Boston celebrated Her Majesty's 81st birthday by a banquet and a congratulatory letter to the Queen.

Bowmanville ball team beat Lindsay's 17 to 12.

Sports of various kinds attracted many thousands to Berlin, Ont.

Thirty thousand people witnessed a fine programme of sports at Belleville.

The military and civilians joined hands in making a great day at Peterboro.

Horse races and a patriotic procession drew a great crowd to Georgetown, Ont.

Baseball and lacrosse matches enthused a big vrowd at Newmarket, Ont. Hon. J. E. Davis faced the ball.

Woodstock defeated two Toronto baseball teams and witnessed the evolutions of the 25th Batt., St. Thomas, 200 strong, and the Brantford Cavalry.

At Galt there was a fireman's exhibition and street parade, a bicycle road race, and two baseball matches with Guelph in which the home team won by 14 to 7 and 12 to 4.

From Halifax to Vancouver the day was celebrated more generally than for many years past. Games, races and sports of all sorts took place in every village and town, and the whole population was astir.

His Excellency Lord Minto reviewed the Toronto regiments and the Montreal Hussars in Toronto on Queen's Birthday. He also witnessed the trooping of the colors by the 48th Highlanders.

A dinner at the Wellington hotel was the form the celebration of the Queen's 81st birthday at Chicago. The programme contained such men as John M. Thoburn, Bishop of India, and Jos. Hartzel, Bishop of Africa, as speakers.

Parkhill listened to patriotic addresses, including one by Sir Charles Tupper in an entirely non-political strain. A message of thanks from the Queen was read in reply to the morning's cablegram congratulating Her Majesty on her birthday.

Kingston had bicycle races and a military parade, in which some Yankee soldiers from Watertown, N. Y., took part. There were 1,500 United Statesers in the town. Horse races and baseball also added to the entertainment of the citizens and their friends.

Guelph beat Hamilton in two ball games on the day, and that was enough to put the Royal City in good humor with everybody and everything. A grand display of fireworks and Capt. Clark's cadets made up a portion of the brilliant general programme.

At Niagara Falls, Ont., the celebration was taken part in by a large crowd from across the river and sentiments of good will were interchanged by speakers of the two nationalities. The Union Jack and "Old Glory" were twined together and the utmost good feeling prevailed.

The Queen's Birthday was celebrated throughout the west in magnificent style. A large sum was raised for the patriotic fund by the lacrosse match in Winnipeg; 1,500 school children sang at a patriotic concert and the 90th Batt. gave a grand concert at night. Big crowds attended the races at Brandon and Portage la Prairie.

The Queen's Birthday was celebrated as usual at Montreal, a great many people going out of town and a number going to Logan's Park to witness the review. The muster consisted of the 6th Fusiliers, the Royal Scots, the Montreal Field Battery, the Artillery and the 65th. The only mishap was that Lieut.-Col. Burke was thrown from his horse. He escaped serious injuries.

His Dread.

"Do you mean to say you don't care what posterity thinks of you?"

"No, sir," answered Senator Sorghum. "I never said any such thing. I'm scared half to death for fear my great-grandchildren will look up pityingly at my portrait and say, 'Yes, old Simeon Sorghum was one of these intellectual, conscientious fellers, but he didn't have any head for business.'"—Washington Star.

Very Spicy.

Ida—When the hero saw her plight, he climbed to the edge of the rock and clove the air.

May—My fellow has a less risky way of doing it.

Ida—Doing what, dear?

May—Why, when he wants to clove the air he goes out between the acts.—Chicago News.

Two of a Kind.

That's Johnnie straddle o' the fence ag'in, mammy!"

"Takes atter his daddy," was her comment. "The ole man's been in the same fix ever since election broke out!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The Natural Orator.

"Why are the people leaving the hall so rapidly?"

"The programme committee has just sprung one of those 'natural orators' on them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DULLMAN, NOLIN AND WALSH

Walsh stayed, produced his register, and stated that Nolin and Walsh had occupied room 3 from Mondgy night to Saturday, when Nolin paid the bill for both and left. Walsh had left a day or two before. They had canvas telescope valises in their possession when they arrived, but Nolin took none when he left. On the Saturday night he had shown the officers to Room "3," where a roll of fuse and a rubber bag were found. On the Tuesday or Wednesday night Dullman has asked him if "Doyle" or "Moore" was registered at his house, Nolin and Walsh had registered under those names.

How Explosives Were Brought In.

W. F. Latta had replied to a question later, that he had seen Walsh carrying a valise over the bridge and take it to the Roslie Hotel. The Crown produced the customs officer who examined this and the other valise when it was taken off, and he claims they were empty.

The last witness heard last evening showed when Dullman and Walsh had registered at the Roslie House.

The adjournment took place at 7 o'clock last night and will be continued to-day at 9.30 a.m.

Jury at Dexter House.

Last night the jury remained in the Dexter House under guard, and precautions were taken to allow no one the opportunity of tampering with them.

ROBBERIES AT AURORA.

The Postoffice and L. Ross & Co.'s Private Bank the Sufferers.

Aurora, May 25.—The postoffice and the private bank of Messrs. J. L. Ross & Co. were robbed about 2 o'clock on Wednesday morning. At the former $60 in cash was secured, with mining shares, composed of Golden Star, Monte Cristo, etc., of the value of $950 and the following quantity of stamps; 1,200 old purple issue, 2c, 650 last issue of 3c, 3,500 1c, 2,900 current 2c, 80 surcharged 3c, 100 ½c and a few 5c and special delivery. The safe in this case had been drilled and half the door blown off, pieces being distributed throughout the office.

Ross' Safe Also Blown Open.

At Ross' establishment the vault had first to be opened before the safe was reached, but both apparently presented but little resistance. Here bills of between $500 and $600 were secured. The two places are only six doors apart, and are in the very centre of the town. The operations were witnessed by two persons, A. Andrews, who lives over the bank, and Fung Toy, an Oriental laundryman. Neither of them interfered with the three men they saw committing the burglaries. The police are after the midnight mechanics.

THE MOVING WORLD.

India rubber nails are being used in Germany in places where metal nails would corrode.

A new mowing machine has been invented which cuts grass into windrows by a series of flat fingers, extending horizontally, with a pivoted bow resting on these fingers, to be lifted at intervals, releasing the accumulated grass.

Mining operations can be carried on in frozen ground by a new apparatus, which is provided with a steam generator, to deliver steam to a hose having a nozzle at the outer end to direct a jet against the earth, thawing it and washing the dirt and minerals apart.

The greatest danger to life in the city is not the car with its clanging gong, but those silent invisible foes, the germs of disease. The prevalence of consumption in cities is stated to be largely due to the frequent expectoration of diseased persons, whose dried sputa mixed with the dust and blown into the air, is inhaled by some luckless man or woman. Sanitation may minimize these perils but can never obliterate them. The essential thing is to educate every person to the knowledge that the germ can find no permanent lodgment in a healthy body. Keep the blood pure, the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition in sound health and you are practically germ proof.

This disease resisting condition is obtained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, and heals the lungs. Even when there is obstinate cough, bronchitis, spitting of blood and other conditions, which, if neglected, lead to consumption, the faithful use of Golden Medical Discovery will, in almost every instance, effect a cure.

"I was taken sick in July last year, and was not able to do any kind of work until November," writes Mr. Noel W. Orvis, of Langley, Aiken Co., S.C. "Had been coughing up small, hard lumps of phlegm for about a year before I was taken down. I then called on a doctor, who said that one-half of my left lung was gone, and advised me to leave my home and go to the country. I wrote to you for advice. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which I sincerely believe has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken."

Bleeding Piles

A Prominent Business Man Testifies to His Cure by Using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Not a day passes but many people volunteer recommendations of Dr. Chase's Ointment as an absolute cure for every form of piles.

Mr. Jas. Jackson, of the Laurie Spool Company, St. Alexis des Monts, Que., writes: "You may put my name to any praise you can give to Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it has done me more good than any medicine I ever used.

"I was troubled for two years with that cruel disease, bleeding piles, and after using Dr. Chase's Ointment, I can say I am entirely rid of it. It is a treasure to all suffering from piles."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to positively cure any case of itching, bleeding, or protruding piles. It has never yet been known to fail, and certainly will not fail in your case.

For many years Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood alone as the only absolute and guaranteed cure for piles and itching skin diseases; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has by far the largest sale of any remedy for throat and lung troubles. 25 cents a bottle.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, May 25. — Cattle — About steady yesterday. The meat trade is a little dull; partly due to the labor disturbance. Calves — in light supply; good demand and a quarter stronger than yesterday. Choice to extra, $6 to $6.85; good to choice, $5.75 to $6. Sheep and Lambs—Fair demand at a further decline of 25c to 75c from Monday's prices; lambs, choice to extra, $5.75 to $6; good to choice, $5.50 to $5.75; sheep, mixed, $4.50 to $4.85; wethers, $4.90 to $5.25; export sheep quoted at about $5.25.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Joseph Perrin of Little Britain Fatally Tortured by Fire.

Little Britain, Ont., May 25. — A horrible accident occurred on Tuesday afternoon a few miles south of here. While Mrs. Jos. Perrin was burning worms from apple trees with a coal oil torch her clothes caught fire. There was a high wind. The entire body was enveloped in flames, and in a few seconds all her clothes were burnt, leaving the body in a charred condition. Her hands were so burned trying to put out the fire that she was unable to take off the burning clothes. She ran to her neighbors, carrying a 14-months-old child, before she received any assistance. Dr. Hall was called and did all in his power to save her, but she passed away after several hours' intense suffering.

FRANK WERKE GETS TEN YEARS.

Killed His Wife at Niagara Falls South Under Provocation.

Welland, Ont., May 25. — Frank Werke, an Italian, was on Wednesday sentenced to ten years in the Penitentiary on a charge of manslaughter. Werke killed his wife at their home in the village of Niagara Falls South, on the night of Nov. 29, with a butcher knife, having stabbed her several times. The two had been quarreling over some money. The evidence put before the grand jury went to show some provocation on the part of the wife, and on that evidence a true bill for manslaughter was agreed upon. This was presented to the court at 5.30 o'clock, and Werke, through an interpreter, pleaded guilty to the charge. Chancellor Boyd gave the prisoner a term of 10 years.

Young Dalley Badly Burnt.

Holland Landing, Ont., May 24.—Arthur Dalley, aged 10 years, son of William Dalley of this place, while lighting a can in which he had powder and small stones, was unfortunate in getting the contents of the can in his face yesterday morning, when it exploded, cutting several gashes, and the probabilities are that he will lose the sight of one of his eyes.

A MAINE VERSION.

Maud Muller pumped on her timeworn bike
For an evening hit at the dusty pike.

An old drop frame of a way down gear,
With a rattle the sleeping dead could hear.

The judge came pounding along behind,
Out airing his great judicial mind.

He noted the figure neat and trim
And the graceful motion of hidden limb,

And he said to himself in his grave delight:
"What's the matter with Maudie? She's all right!"

He drew beside her and asked her flat
Why she rode such an old ice cart as that,

And she said saleslady could ill support
Such a wheel as the judge of the district court

He told her she could on a chainless ride,
With a diamond frame, if she'd be his bride,

Or if she would bust up his sole life
They would tandem together as man and wife.

Maud bit at the bait like a hungry trout,
And the old man smiled as he yanked her out.

They ride on a tandem now, of course,
But Maud has to work like a treadmill horse,

For the judge has learned how to sit and shirk
And let his darling do all the work.

He weighs two hundred and fifty-one,
But the poor girl thinks it an even ton,

And she often says, with a pain rent heart,
"I wish I was back on my old ice cart!

"Of all true words that I ever spake
The truest are these, he's a bloomin fake."
—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

An Observing Saint.

Smirking up to his mother one day, Tommy said:

"Ma, haven't I been a good boy since I began going to Sunday school?"

"Yes, my lamb," answered the mother fondly.

"And you trust me now, don't you, ma?"

"Yes, darling."

"Then what makes you keep the mince pies locked up in the pantry the same as ever?"—Collier's Weekly.

Unjust Discrimination.

"It's unfair, that's what it is!" exclaimed the manager of the company that was doing one night stands. "It's unjust discrimination and nothing else."

"What's the matter now?" they asked.

"Why, here I am with a play that's just as bad as Nethersole ever thought of doing, and I can't get anybody to advertise me by beginning legal proceedings."—Washington Star.

It Caught Him.

"I want to show you some of our new renovator," said the insinuating stranger. "It's the best thing for the hair"—

"I don't want it," snapped the bald-headed grocer.

"And it will make last year's maple sugar cakes look just like new."

"Put me down for a dozen boxes," said the grocer.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Implied Doubt.

MEN OF MARK.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts is already planning a long fishing trip in Maine for next autumn.

Thomas E. Vale, chief burgess of the old town of Carlisle, Pa., is the youngest burgess in the state. He is 30 years old.

Since spring really began Congressman Littlefield of Maine has shown a fondness for violets and nearly always wears a bunch of those flowers in his coat.

When George Wyndham entered the British war office, a little more than a year ago, he did not have a gray hair, and now his hair is silvery white.

Samuel G. Brosius, an assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, with headquarters at Punxatawney, Pa., has had an offer of the position of assistant engineer of Havana.

Colonel Schwartzkoppen, the German military attache at Paris whose name figured in the Dreyfus trial, has been made major general and put in command of the brigade of foot guards at Berlin.

Vienna's new executioner, Joseph Lang, is the strong man of an athletic club and one of the best known athletes in the city. He is a nephew of the late executioner and obtained the place against 19 competitors.

Senator Davis of Minnesota is an inveterate smoker, and as the rules permit smoking only during executive sessions he often takes refuge in an open doorway for an occasional indulgence in the delights of nicotine.

General French is known as "Silent French." The now famous cavalry leader started his career on the deck of a British man-of-war, abandoned it for the infantry, and on leaving this entered the cavalry branch of the service.

Otto Doerderlein of Chicago has been selected to take charge of the German-American bureau of the national Democratic committee. Mr. Doerderlein was United States consul to Leipsic in President Cleveland's first administration.

Rear Admiral Silas Wright Terry, who has just become junior flag officer of the service by promotion to the highest grade, is a Kentuckian. He is 56 years old, entered the Naval academy at 16 and was praised in Porter's Red river dispatches.

Professor Rucker, F. R. S., has been selected to preside over next year's meeting of the British association. Dr. Rucker, who is the greatest living authority on terrestrial magnetism and other recondite topics, is a fellow of Brasenose college, Oxford.

A story in Paris, just come out, is that Deibler, who was France's public executioner for 35 years and who resigned not long since in favor of his son, attempted suicide about two weeks ago. Deibler declares he is not insane, but says he is haunted by the ghosts of the people he has guillotined.

Sir Robert Peel, known as the author of "A Bit of a Fool" and less favorably as a spendthrift and rather fast man about town, has decided to go on the stage. He has an enormous income, but was so financially embarrassed last year that he tried to sell some valuable heirlooms, but was stopped by the court.

People Said We Couldn't

Our friends told us we couldn't—that this was a credit town and that it was impossible to conduct a "CASH" business here. These repeated "Couldn'ts" might have been very dampening to anyone who had not realized or experienced the power of the Cash System of merchandising.

Why Shouldn't This "Cash" Business Succeed?

Think how much better prices it lets us make for you. It brings us goods at the best possible cost. It wipes out everything in the way of bad debts. It saves almost all the expense of book keeping. It simplifies the store management.

Every penny that is saved from any one of these sources is a penny saved for you—if you trade here. All these things in a credit business help to make up "expenses." They are always added to the cost of goods. You'd save money by buying of a cash store.

This "Cash" Business Is Growing Larger Every Day

The citizens of Peterborough and roundabout are realizing what big advantages there are in buying of a cash store. Our customers are our best advertisers.

If you are not a regular customer here suppose you try our methods. Money back if you are not satisfied.

LAID TO REST

Last Tributes Paid to the Late Mr. Thomas Cahill.

The funeral of the late Mr. Thos. Cahill took place this morning at nine o'clock from the family residence, Reid-st, to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery, where interment was made. It was largely attended and many tributes of respect were paid the deceased citizen. The members of the local branch of the C.M.B.A. walked in the funeral procession, also a number of the members of the Catholic Order of Foresters and the E.B.A. The Town Council attended in a body and a deputation from the Orange lodges showed the respect and confidence in which Mr. Cahill was held by all classes. The bearers were Messrs. Adam Dawson, H. Rush, B. Morrow, H. LeBrun, Jas. Daly and L. M. Hayes.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY LOYALLY CELEBRATED

Citizens of Peterborough Devote a Day to Festivities in Honor of the Eighty-first Anniversary of Her Majesty's Birthday.

The Holiday made one of Special Display and Rejoicing- -The Amusements Participated in by Immense Crowds---Features of the Morning, Afternoon and Evening---Prize Winners in the Various Contests.

The loyal citizens of Peterborough celebrated the 81st anniversary of Her Majesty's birthday with true holiday spirit yesterday and entered into the demonstration with a zeal and heartiness which made the day both successful and enjoyable. Everybody turned out to enjoy to the full everything that was going. It was determined that it should be memorable, and, attended and assisted by every favorable element, such it proved to be.

The morning was warm but later in the day a breeze sprang up and the weather during the day was perfect, ideal Queen's weather. The decorations of the stores and public buildings gave the town a gala appearance, while the movements of the crowds of gaily dressed pleasure seekers imparted to the streets an air of holiday animation intensified frequently by the extra stir induced by the explosions of fire crackers and bombs. Morning, afternoon and evening there was some form of entertainment going on and the houses were locked up while men, women and children participated in the enjoyment and when the last rocket was fired and "God Save the Queen" played for the last time and the town had settled down to a quiet review of the holiday the general opinion was that it was one of the greatest days that have been.

THE MORNING FESTIVITIES

Military Parade—Immense Gathering at Victoria Park at Noon.

The chief event of the morning and one of the most interesting parts of the day's demonstration was the military parade. The stirring call of the bugles summoned volunteers and citizens alike, and when the red coats began to gather and the cavalry rode over from Ashburnham the town had a decidedly military appearance and was quite as stirring as a South African port. The parade was formed up at the drill shed shortly after ten a.m. and in size, in the good order in which it was conducted and in the enthusiasm which it evoked, was one of the best that has been seen in town for years. First came about 25 members of "C" squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, under Lieut. W. H. Bradburn. A number of the staff officers of the 3rd dragoons were also in the parade. The men rode splendidly and looked very fine in their handsome uniforms. Next came the fine band of the 57th Regiment in full strength and the bugle and drum band of the regiment. Then the gallant gentlemen of the Veterans of 1866 Association stepped bravely out to the martial airs and evoked many a cheer as they passed the crowded corners. Then the 57th Regiment, about 220 strong, every company marching in good style. The rear was brought up by the Collegiate Institute Cadet Corps in scarlet tunics and black helmets. The students delighted everyone with the precision and confidence with which they marched, and they also were well cheered along the route.

The route of march was from the drill shed down George-st. to Charlotte, along Charlotte to Stewart, thence to Hunter, on Hunter to Water and thence to the Victoria Park. All along the route the streets were lined with admirers, and a mighty troop of small boys and bicyclists followed in the rear.

At Victoria Park and all around it an immense throng of people had gathered. There must have been two or three thousand people on the grounds. They overran everything and took up all available positions. The regiment marched up the hill and took up a position in front of the Court House, extending in a long line from Brock-st to Murray. A feu de joie was fired in good style. The fire was carried along the line in excellent order. Then the regiment presented arms and gave three hearty cheers for the Queen, after which the band played patriotic airs.

The band then took up its position on the stand in the park and played "The Maple Leaf Forever," "Soldiers of the Queen" and other patriotic songs, while the school children sang. The singing was rather weak, but the crowd seemed satisfied with being there and with being such a big crowd, and listened while the band played the airs over and over again. The soldiers marched off and the crowd dispersed shortly after 12 o'clock.

THE BICYCLE PARADE

The First Attraction of the Afternoon—Few Competitors.

Considering that the three prizes offered for the bicycle parade, the first attraction of the afternoon, were three high grade wheels donated by Messrs. Thos. Barrie & Co., F. McPherson and Fred Davidson, it was astonishing that there were so few competitors. With prizes of such value it might have been expected that there would be about a hundred competitors. Instead of this there were about a dozen. The parade was small but what there was was good. It came down Goerge-st from the drill shed about 2 o'clock as far as Charlotte-st and then up Water-st to the Nicholls park. Some of the floats were very fine. The number of boats of various kinds represented was large. It seemed to be the favorite idea and the parade was something like a naval one. Macpherson yacht made a fine appearance and Barrie & Co's advertising van was the biggest thing in the parade. The three prizes, bicycles, were for best decorated lady's and gent's wheels and best comic float. Mr. J. S. Knapman won the prize for gents wheel. His mount was an exquisite floral design of a yacht, the pattern being perfect. Miss Lola Ostrom won the prize for best decorated lady's wheel. She represented "The May Queen," very prettily. Master Kingscote as "John Bull" carried off the third prize. The judges were Messrs. R. Neill, A. H. Stratton and R. M. Roy.

AT NICHOLLS PARK

Sports and Games of the Afternoon Attended by a Multitude.

As the cycle parade rolled up George-st on its way to the Nicholls park, the crowd followed. Seen from the east side of the river George and Water-sts were a mass of moving parasols and sun hats. A large crowd had collected at the park and on arrival of the parade it circled the track and gained unstinted applause. Then the tired riders took a rest, and the sports and games were called on. The refreshment stand, handled by Thos. Hooper, did a thriving trade, for the people were thirsty.

The series of sports had begun and run off very successfully. The admirable programme of music furnished by the 57th Rrgiment Band added greatly to the enjoyment of the afternoon. There was some delay in running off the events consequent on the crowding of the people on the track, a matter which always has been and will be a detriment. Still the committee did the best they could and there was plenty going forward to interest all who wanted to be interested. In the competition with the military squads the cadet corps ran the 57th men hard for first place, and gained the encouraging approval of the crowd. The cycle races brought out local riders who put in their best work. Other games were well contested and the list following shows the winners:—

EMPIRE DAY IN ASHBURNHAM

Holiday Celebrated at the School—An At Home in the Evening.

The pupils of the Kindergarten and Public school in Ashburnham celebrated Empire Day in right loyal style on Wednesday. All assembled in the afternoon with several of the parents and friends, and after singing "When Johnny Canuck comes Home," Mr. Matchett referred to the generosity of Mr. R. B. Rogers in presenting a flag to the school, and called upon Miss Edna Rogers to raise it for the first time. As she did so, all sang "God Save the Queen." Mr. Symonds gave an excellent patriotic address, and after singing some more patriotic songs, all marched around the street singing, and waving flags. On returning to the school, Mr. Rogers made a few remarks, all again sang the "National Anthem," and gave three cheers for the Queen, Mr. Rogers, the teachers, and Col. Baden-Powell.

In the evening an "At Home" was held in the town hall. Some time was spent at games and singing patriotic songs. Rev. Moore gave a congratulatory address, Miss Macdonald sang a pleasing song, and Mr. Rogers presented and explained some South African views with others of local interest. Refreshments were served, and a pleasant evening closed by three cheers for the Queen and the national anthem.

Mr. Miller accompanied the afternoon's singing on the cornet. The piano was also used, and altogether the effect was quite pleasing.

The school is very grateful to Mr. Rogers for his thoughtfulness in presenting the flag. An excellent pole has also been erected with the proceeds of the concert, and now Ashburnham school has a flag and flag-staff of which they have no need to be ashamed.

WRITES ANOTHER BREEZY LETTER

CORP. JOE MATTHEWS TELLS OF EVENTS IN SOUTH AFRICA IN INTERESTING STYLE

A Long and Futile March on Receipt of News of Col. Broadwood's Surprise—Endurance of the Wounded Men—Tents, Blankets and New Suits.

We take pleasure in placing before our readers another interesting letter from Corp. Joe Matthews, with the 1st contingent in South Africa:—

Bloemfontein, April 8th, 1900.

Dear Mother,—I could not get a letter away last week, as we have been on the march nearly every day since a week ago yesterday. Our division was ordered out in a hurry at five o'clock Saturday morning to reinforce a mounted force and a couple of batteries that had got into a fix about twenty miles away. Our battalion formed the rear guard, and "A" and "D" Co's were left behind when about eight miles out of town as guard to convoy. We lay around under the waggons until about three p. m., then started ahead with the convoy.

We then learned about the terrible disaster that our troops had met with. First a couple of officers came along, who just stopped long enough to speak to our officers; then a long line of stragglers and horses, wounded men and niggers. One man was the bullet going right through, but he could still speak. His comrade was hit in the back; the bullet lodged in his stomach, but he was going to ride to Bloemfontein for an operation. It seems that a convoy got itself tangled up, and before the waggons got clear the Boers surprised them, cut up the escort, and captured ten guns and the convoy.

This was to us bad news, and our division was pushed ahead all day, but came up too late to catch the Boers or retake the guns. We walked ahead of our convoy (they were ox waggons, so, of course, moved slowly), and about 6.30, or sunset, came on four companies of ours in camp. We were delighted at the idea of halting so soon, but to our dismay we found that we had to go eight miles farther north

TO THE MODDER RIVER.

This took us four hours, and when we got there we had no blankets or coats, but when one is attached to the Army Service Corps one never wants for good shelter, so we all got under the waggons and did not do so badly after all.

Next day we rested all morning and moved back six miles in the afternoon to join the remainder of our battalion. The next two days we moved back to Bloemfontein. We were glad enough to get back, but were not to stay long, as next day we were ordered out again at an hour's notice. This time we took a slightly different direction, but had no better luck; we marched till 9.30 at night and went to sleep without any supper.

Next morning we went forward in high hopes, because it was believed that we were just to advance a few miles and take up a position, and that another division was driving the Boers towards us. We went forward cautiously about four miles, and waited for a couple of hours; then we saw a staff galloper bring an order to our Brigadier. He was just beside us and read it aloud,

"RETIRE TO YOUR OWN BIVOUAC."

You never saw a more disgusted lot of fellows than ours were then, but of course there was nothing to do but to go back. That afternoon it rained heavily, and as we were camped in a mud hole it was anything but pleasant. Next day we came back here, and are living in expectation of being ordered out at any time.

This morning we had a very fine church service; the brass band of the Gordons having received their instruments, helped to make it very pleasant. We have our tents now, so are comfortable. There are new suits and blankets for us, so we will hardly know ourselves presently when we get these rags off and our new suits on.

I got a lot of papers to-day the first I have received during the war except that Frank sent me. They were from Bessie, Albert and Dr. Burrows, as far as I could discover; please thank them for me and tell the doctor not to address me as "Corporal," as I have no stripe out here (I seem to be working downwards—Lieut. in the 40th Batt., Corporal in the 43rd, and full private in the R.C.R). I hear there are some letters for me somewhere addressed "Corporal," and I couldn't get them because our Orderly Sergeant told the P. O. Sergeant that he had no Corp. Matthews in his company. I will get them in time, but it is annoying not to be able to get your letters when you are so hungry for them.

Now, be good to yourself, dear mother, and don't worry about me, as I can worry along all right. Love to all. Your affectionate son,

JOE.

N. B.—Have just read of Ottawa fire, hope it wasn't too serious.—JOE.

A MAY WEDDING

Nuptials of Mr. Fred Roberts, of Toronto and Miss Mary Hetherington.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at 628 George-st. on Wednesday afternoon, May 23rd, when Miss Mary Hetherington, daughter of Mr. John Hetherington, was united to Mr. Fred. G. Roberts, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr Shorey in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

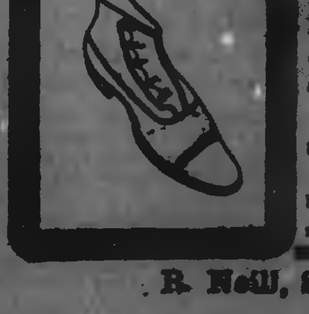
The bride was charmingly attired in white organdie, trimmed with insertion and lace and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Hetherington, sister oft he bride. She was nicely dressed in white organdie trimmed with lace and insertion and blue silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Chas .H. Mann attended the groom.

The presents received were numerous and beautiful. After a tasty wedding dinner the young couple left on the 4.45 express for Toronto, where they will reside. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome gold bracelet.

The Slater Bull-Dog Shape

Another member of the 12 shapes in the Slater Shoe family.

The "Bull-dog" is an English shape, and designed to bring ease to tender toes which owe their tenderness to having been crowded into wrong shaped shoes.



One of the most comfortable of "Slater Shoe" shapes, the rounding curve on the outer edge of the sole and the peculiarly raised toe cap are special features in this shape, ensuring comfort and retaining stylishness.

Button, laced, elastic sides, leathers that are guaranteed and colors that are correct.

Every pair Goodyear welted, name and price branded on the sole in a slate frame—the trade mark of the makers—$3.50 and $5.00.

A NOTEWORTHY INCIDENT

An incident that attracted more than passing interest was the remarkable cure of Mr. William Boyd, a most honored resident of Wolfe Island, Ont. Mr. Boyd's health had suffered from frailty, which led to an acute attack of rheumatism.

Throughout the autumn and winter of 1897 he suffered most distressingly from rheumatic pains. His constitution became so weakened and the affected parts so painful that he was rendered perfectly helpless. His appetite became impaired and sleep forsook him. To move unaided was an impossibility and the help of an attendant was constantly necessary. A friend whom the treatment had benefited advised Mr. Boyd to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial and the advice was acted upon, and to Mr. Boyd's great surprise and joy, a cure was effected after all other treatments had failed. "I used the contents of five bottles," he writes, "and the pains left me entirely. I am now enjoying the very best of health."

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

CLEVER HARVEY.

Hard Work Is Not the Only Way of Holding a Situation.

These are the things that happened over the telephone for three successive days, and the druggist felt his hair turning gray.

"Hello! Is Harvey there?"

"No. Harvey's not with me any more. What can I do for you?"

"Nothing. I always get my cigars of him, and I don't know the brand." And the "customer" would ring off.

"Please call Harvey to the phone," a little later. "Not there? He's the only pharmacist I know of who can put up a tonic that really does me good. I'll call him up later."

"Say," before the druggist could get through saying things, "will you kindly tell Harvey to put me up a quart of those spring bitters he always makes for Jackson? Send it C. O. D. I'm awful busy."

"Harvey's gone. What were the bitters?"

"How do I know? Harvey knows. Have him call me when he comes in."

After ten minutes: "Is this Harvey? Oh, I want Harvey. Have him prepare a gallon of that horse liniment. I'm just beginning to work out my trotters. Get it up here this afternoon. Not there? Where can I reach him? He makes the stuff from a recipe of his own. Gone? Too bad! Guess I'll advertise for him. Can't do business without that liniment."

When it came to where the druggist couldn't sleep and he thought he was losing about $100 a day in trade, he sent for Harvey, apologized for having dispensed with his services, took him back and increased his wages 50 per cent. Then Harvey went the rounds and set up the cigars to the true friends who had "plugged" for him over the telephone. The druggist sleeps well, and Harvey's champions send in an occasional order just to allay suspicion.—Detroit Free Press.

EXPLAINING IT TO HER.

Made Him Very Uncomfortable and Also Caused Him to Work.

"Yes, my dear, a man out in Oklahoma says he has talked over a wireless telegraph line a distance of 1,000 miles."

"He must have a loud voice."

"You don't understand, my dear. He doesn't use his voice."

"What does he use? A phonograph?"

"No, no. He makes signals."

"Signals that can be seen 1,000 miles? Pooh!"

"Just let me explain, my dear. He starts sound waves, you know. He starts them at intervals, and they know what word it is by the number of sound waves between the intervals. Simple, isn't it?"

"Do you understand it?"

"Of course I do."

"Then it's simple. By the way, what is a sound wave?"

"A sound wave, my dear is a—a fluctuation produced in the air by an agitation."

"Any air? 'Home, Sweet Home?'"

"No, no. Atmospheric air. The stronger the agitation the stronger the sound waves. To converse over an imaginary line 1,000 miles in length would require—ah—very strong talk."

"I suppose he eats lots of onions."

"Who eats onions?"

"The man who creates the agitation with his strong talk."

"Nonsense, my dear. You don't seem to comprehend the intricacies of science or rather you are not up in its technical terms. Besides, there is the electricity. You mustn't forget the electricity."

"Well, I have forgotten it. You didn't say anything about my bringing it. Anyway, how could I carry it?"

"My dear, you are quite too literal. I merely wanted you to understand that the sound waves are invigorated and extended and vitalized by electricity."

"That sounds like a patent medicine advertisement."

"My dear, my dear! I fear it is quite useless to make any further endeavor to instill scientific principles into your unsympathetic brain."

"Let my brain alone, William Mudlark. Break off that wretched habit of coveting everything you haven't got yourself. Do you seem to catch the sound waves I'm agitating toward you at this blessed moment?"

"Yes, Maria."

A TASTE FOR POETS.

In a distant land, mid landscapes grand,
In the realm of Woor-a-Whoo,
Dark the mental state—I must relate
Of the man and maids there too.
A good young man in his travels ran
On the beach of Woor-a-Whoo,
And he met a maid in a pretty glade.
Surprised, then, were these two!

He would fain express his happiness,
But the tongue of Woor-a-Whoo
He could not speak, so he stroked her cheek,
As if that were enough to do.
Now a preacher good (once used for food)
Had tarried in Woor-a-Whoo,
And the maid indeed had been taught to read;
She doted on poetry too.

So she said to the youth: "Now say in truth
Why came you to Woor-a-Whoo?
A vision of me must have come to thee
While I was but dreaming of you.
Of poets rare, with dangling hair,
Who would come to a Woor-a-Whoo
Much have I read, but I want instead
To eat up a poet or two!"

Ere the youth made tracks, with her little ax
The maiden of Woor-a-Whoo
(As she sang for him a requiem)
Did cleave him quite in two.
Then she softly cried as his brains she fried
(Of his heart she prepared a stew),
"I can now relate this poet's fate
In the legends of Woor-a-Whoo!"

I was told this tale by some tars who whale
Near the coast of Woor-a-Whoo,
And while thus stirred to me it occurred
What a host of poets I knew.
If I ran an express, I'd supply the mess
Of the critics of Woor-a-Whoo
With poets rank for their boiling tank,
And throw in an author or two!
—San Francisco Evening Post.

His Presence of Mind.

"A woman can't sharpen a lead pencil or throw a stone," read Mr. Meekton aloud.

"What's that?" asked his wife, rather sharply.

"Don't mistake me, Henrietta," was the quick rejoinder. "I am not gloating. I was just reflecting on the wisdom of nature. There is no reason why a woman should sharpen pencils or throw stones when there are plenty of men hanging round whose time doesn't amount to much anyhow and who might as well be doing that as nothing."—Washington Star.

Why He Objected.

"So you didn't enjoy the authors' reading," they said.

"No," replied Penn Scribbler, "I did not."

"But you were asked to read from your own works, were you not?"

"Oh, yes; that was all right, but, hang it all, I had to listen to a lot of other fellows read from their works too!"—Chicago Post.

Plum Pudding.

"How full of misnomers our language is," said the first patron of the quick lunch counter. "For instance, that which is called plum pudding never has a plum in it."

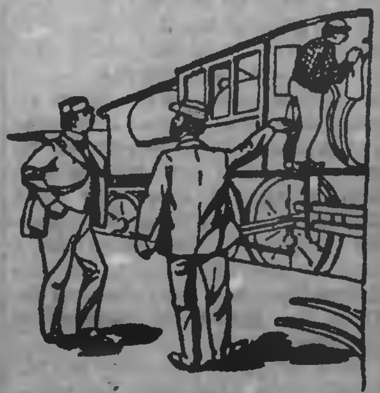
"Ah!" replied the other. "If you will consult the dictionary, you will find Webster defines a plumb as 'a little mass or weight of lead.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Some Other Kind Preferred.

"Your system is generally run down," said Dr. Kanard, the eminent specialist, "but I think I can promise a cure in a short time if you follow directions. Would you prefer a home treatment?"

"I think not," responded Mr. Meeker, involuntarily lowering his voice. "It's—it's my home treatment, I am afraid, that really ails me."—Chicago Tribune.

Force of Habit.



Yardmaster—What's the matter with that new engineer? Is he crazy?

Assistant—Why?

Yardmaster—I've noticed that if a man ever gets in his way he keeps right on and never rings his bell, while a chicken or a dog makes him stop every time.

Assistant—Yes; you see, he used to be an enthusiastic wheelman.—Philadelphia Press.

A Good Beginning.

Mrs. Newbride—You know, John, you promised to let me have all the pin money I needed.

Mr. Newbride—Yes, dear, and you shall have it.

Mrs. Newbride—Oh, you sweet thing! Well, I saw a pin today with diamonds and pearls in it, and I do want it so.—Philadelphia Press.

Well Guarded.

Utilizing the Waste.

"I never have to buy any kindling wood."

"Why not?"

"Because my wife and our two daughters insist upon sharpening their own lead pencils."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Truly Surprising.

"Look," said little Bessie, who had never before seen a mule used for anything but hauling.

"What is it, dear?"

"A man riding horseback on a mule."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

THE WRITERS.

William Dean Howells has contributed $100 to a fund for the relief of widows of American soldiers killed in the Philippines.

The accomplished scholar Joseph Jacobs is coming to this country to assist in the editing of the proposed Jewish encyclopedia.

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, the author, has taken up her permanent residence in England. She dislikes London, however, and has a little cottage called Merryhill at Bushey, outside the metropolis.

Henry James, the novelist, is in poor health and has postponed his proposed trip to this country until later in the year. At present he is the guest of Thomas Hardy at the latter's country place in Kent, England.

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

Serpents are so tenacious of life that they will live six months or longer without food.

Toads become torpid in winter and hide themselves, taking no food for five or six months.

Turtles dig holes on the seashore and bury their eggs, covering them to be hatched by the sun.

A Victim of the Elements.

Seeing a young negro limping along, supported by a crutch, a traveler at a railroad station said to the aged hotel porter:

"That fellow seems to be in a bad way. Rheumatism, I presume?"

"No, suh," was the reply. "Hit wus lightnin, suh—he wus struck by lightnin, en his lef' leg wus unj'inted fum de knee down!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Made No Distinction.

Stranger—He was a teacher of the violin? And you hung him for stealing a horse?

Leader of Regulators—That's right, boss.

Wouldn't Affect Him.

"I see that a collar and cuff trust has been formed," remarked the officeholder who was noted for doing the "boss'" bidding.

"But that won't affect you," returned his constituent promptly.

"How so?"

"It doesn't include political party collars."—Chicago Post.

PROFITABLE WORK

Is to Profit by Your Neighbor's Experience—Here is a Chance for Peterborough People.

Every man, woman, and child in Peterborough who knows the misery of a bad back, the nervous, restless, sleepless condition brought on by kidney trouble, or the day and night annoyance of urinary and bladder disorders, will profit by this citizen's experience with the great Kidney Remedy:—

Mrs. J. Joyes, Brock-st., Peterborough, says:—"My children having been troubled with backache, kidney and liver trouble, I procured a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets from Ormond & Walsh, the druggists, and I must say that they acted splendidly, fixing them up in short order. They are a splendid tablet, and easy to take, which makes it nice for children."

If you have the slightest symptom of Kidney or Bladder trouble, you can test this great medicine free. Arrangements have been made whereby every reader of this paper can obtain a trial package of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets absolutely free, by enclosing two cent stamp for postage to the Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto, Ont. When giving address mention this paper. If you are convinced Pitcher's Tablets are what you want, you can purchase regular size for 50 cents per bottle. If not obtainable at druggists, mailed free of postage on receipt of price.

ROBERTS' DELAY FOR A DAY

Rhenoster River Is Too Deep for His Infantry to Cross.

A Temporary Bridge Is, However, Now Under Way—British Troops Are in the Form of a Crescent With Horns Thirty Miles Apart, and the Centre Is Now Forty From the Vaal—Lord Methuen Advancing.

London, May 25.—3.35 a.m.—Lord Roberts' infantry advance is delayed at the Rhenoster River for a day or two by the depth of the stream, which is not fordable. The banks, which are precipitous, are forty feet high. A pontoon and temporary bridge constructions are under way. The railway has not been damaged to any great extent between Kroonstad and Rhenoster. The Transvaalers have offended the Free Staters by destroying their splendid bridges when retreating to Kroonstad. They refrained from doing this on their retreat to the Rhenoster, but now they are destroying the railroad and bridges almost completely north of the Rhenoster.

Troops in Crescent Form.

The British troops are in the form of a crescent with horns thirty miles apart, with Gen. French's cavalry on the left, within 28 miles of the Vaal, and Gen. Ian Hamilton's men on the right, within 30 miles of the Vaal. The centre of the crescent is about 40 miles from the Vaal.

Methuen Is Advancing.

Seventy or eighty miles to the left, Lord Methuen is advancing up the Vaal. Boer telegrams say that 3,000 British with ten guns, are near Vredfort, which is close to the Vaal and close to Parys.

A War Referendum.

What the Boers are doing is an absolute mystery. The embargo upon news out of Pretoria for the last 24 hours has been complete. Such information as the correspondents at Lorenzo Marquez have picked up do not illustrate the Boer designs and dispositions further than that the movement towards Lydenburg continues, and that a referendum on the question of continuing the war is going on among the Boers.

Earl de La Warr Escapes.

Earl De La Warr, who was supposed to have been captured at the time of the disaster to the squadron of Bethune's Horse, contrived to escape. He lay all night with a wounded leg, behind an ant-heap, reaching the camp next day.

THE RELIEF OF MAFEKING.

Baden-Powell Gave His Garrison a Chance to Avenge Themselves.

Mafeking, May 17, via Kimberley, —The British relieving force occupied this town at 9 o'clock. The garrison immediately moved out with 12-pounders and pom-poms and attacked McMullin's laager. The Boers resisted weakly for half an hour, and then fled in disorder, leaving their tents, wagons and impediments. The British then occupied all the Boer positions.

Col. Baden-Powell gave the garrison an opportunity of revenging themselves, using the relief force as a reserve and as supports. Men and women swarmed to the housetops and Lady Sarah Wilson, on a bicycle, accompanied the troops as far as the Boer lines.

The town guard formed up in the market square for the march-past of the relief force.

There was immense enthusiasm over the fact that the relief of the place was accomplished by colonials.

Kruger Calls on His Fighters.

Cape Town, May 24. — President Kruger, it is announced here, has issued a proclamation saying that he will defend Johannesburg, and calling upon all the Boers to fight to the bitter end.

Bubonic Plague at Durban.

Durban, May 24.—An extraordinary issue of The Gazette announces the existence of a fatal case of the bubonic plague in Durban. The victim is an East Indian. The local authorities are strictly enforcing precautions.

Reitz Is Providing for Himself.

Cape Town, May 24.—Bar gold to the value of $705,000 has been sent by rail from Pretoria to Lorenzo Marquez, State Secretary Reitz travelled on the same train.

ROBERTS AT PROSPECT STATION.

Five Miles North of Rhenoster River—Boers Are Retreating.

London, May 25. — General French has reached Prospect Station, about five miles north of Rhenoster River. The Boers are retreating straight on the Vaal. A despatch from Rhenoster, dated Wednesday, May 23, 7.45 p.m., says: "The general opinion is that we will arrive at Pretoria as fast as we can march, though the Boers announced to all the countryside that they intended to fight to the death."

Will Soon Reach the Vaal.

Gen. Ian Hamilton is co-operating in the advance on the right. Thus Lord Roberts, who, presumably, is a few miles behind Gen. French, will reach the Vaal before the end of the week. Natives report that the Boers have buried two guns in the Rhenoster River.

In Natal Gen. Buller's forces have crossed into the Transvaal near Ingogo, but are still held at bay at Laing's Nek, where the Boers are entrenching themselves. With the exception of this pass, Natal is clear of Boers. They have a big gun posted, but it is doubtful if they will be able to hold the position when threatened by a flanking movement from the force that crossed the Ingogo River.

Train Enters Mafeking.

A despatch from Pretoria announces that the first train north entered Mafeking May 22 and that the first train south is expected next week. It is said that the relief of Mafeking was due to a blunder of one of the federal officers, by which General Delarey was foiled in his plan to cut off the relief force, after driving them away from the Molopo River.

It is added that the federals have resolved to make a determined defence of the city of Johannesburg. Klimke, the state mining engineer, has been given six months leave of absence, presumably for protesting against the proposition to blow up the mines.

A special despatch from Newcastle, Natal, says the Russian ambulance corps with the Boers is disgusted with their conduct and has requested the Czar to recall it.

BOER TALE OF BETHUNE'S MISHAP.

British Killed Were 27, Wounded 25 and 11 Were Taken Prisoners.

Pretoria, Wednesday, May 23.—An official bulletin issued here says:—"Sixty British cavalry came into collision on May 20, with 80 of the Swaziland commando at Sheeper's Nek. The fighting lasted an hour. The British lost 27 killed, 25 wounded and 11 were taken prisoners. Twenty-five horses, two Maxims and a quantity of ammunition were also captured. The federals lost one killed and one wounded. They assisted to remove the wounded and bury the dead. The advance guard at Heilbron retired on the main body at the northern border. According to Free State advices, the British yesterday were at Greyling's Drift, on the Vaal River, 25 miles from Wolmaranstad, with a large force. On Sunday Kalbe engaged the British between Heilbron and Lindley. The federals had to retire before an overwhelming force, losing one killed and seven wounded."

More Information From Boers.

Boer Camp, Volksrust, Tuesday, May 22.—The British crossed the Buffalo River, and were within eight miles of our position yesterday. They are busy emplacing heavy cannon at Schuinshorgte, near the scene of the battle on the Ingogo River in 1881. It is reported that fighting occurred at Botha's Nek yesterday. Chris Botha, brother of the commander-in-chief, has been appointed assistant to the commander-in-chief, and has given great satisfaction. He has revived the fighting spirit in many of the federals. In an ambush between Nquatu and Mount Prospect eight British were killed and 83 wounded.

Royal Canadians the First.

Heilbron, May 22. — (Montreal Star Special)—This place was occupied by Gen. Hamilton this morning. The Royal Canadian Regiment was the first to enter the town. The Boers, who occupied a strong position west of the town, attacked a cavalry convoy and shelled the wagons carrying the British sick. The action continued all day Sunday.

Invalided Canadians.

Ottawa, May 25.—Lord Strathcona has notified the Department of Militia that the following are invalided at Herbert Hospital, Woolwich: Pte. E. D. Craig, 21st Essex Fusiliers; Corp. A. H. Lohman, 5th R.C.A.; Pte. A. C. Baugh, 5th C. A.; Lance-Corp. F. A. Rae, 3rd Ontario Regiment; Color-Sergt. C. Thompson, R.C.R.I., "D" Co.; Pte. J. Johnson, 62nd St. John Fusiliers; Pte. R. B. McFarlane, 71st York Batt.; Pte. Carter, 5th R. C. A.; Pte. N. Durant, 74th Batt.; Pte. McConnell, G. G. F. G.; Pte. L. F. Finch, 5th C. A.; Pte. Bradshaw, R. C. R. I.

The Boer Delegates' Program.

Washington, D. C., May 25. — The plan of campaign of the Boer peace commissioners has not yet been fully outlined. They probably will remain in Washington until next Tuesday, after which they will begin a tour of the West, as has been previously intimated. Mr. Fischer of the delegation is now busy outlining this itinerary, but he said yesterday that it was too early to give any definite details of that plan. The delegates have not yet decided whether or not they will issue an official statement before leaving Washington.

FOUR YEARS AT MIMICO.

Sentence on Arthur McIntyre, Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

Toronto, May 25.—Four years in the Mimico Industrial School was the sentence imposed on Wednesday morning by Judge Street on Arthur McIntyre, the boy who was on Tuesday found guilty of killing his father. Before pronouncing sentence, the judge addressed the boy briefly. He told him he had done a very wicked thing in stealing his father's revolver, and an even more wicked thing in trying to scare his father. For what he had done he would be placed under restraint and supervision, where he would not associate with criminals, and would not be allowed to read dime novels.

NO DODGING HIS ARROW.

No matter how much of a business woman a woman may be, when the little love-god makes up his mind to shoot, there is no protection against his arrow. Yet many a young woman whose affections are already engaged, hesitates to assume the obligations of wifehood and motherhood, because she feels unfitted for them by some physical weakness or disease.

The special ailments to which the feminine organism is liable, not only unfit a woman for happy wifehood and motherhood, but incapacitate her for any sphere of action. No woman can discharge the daily duties of any position with comfort or satisfaction who is constantly weighed down by headaches, backaches and dragging, weakening drains.

Troubles of this nature are not by any means a necessity of womanhood. They are positively and completely cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It imparts genuine health and strength to the womanly organs. It was devised for this one purpose by an eminent specialist in this particular field of practice.

Over 30 years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., saw the need of some simple, effective, and certain cure for so called "female complaint." He was then, as now, a specialist in the diseases of women, and the result of his study and experiments was the marvelously effective remedy known all over the civilized world as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures where doctors have failed. It cures where medicines have been useless. It cures in a perfectly natural way by purifying and strengthening the organs involved. Its cure is permanent. It leaves the whole body in better condition than it ever was. It cures without the local examinations and treatment so abhorrent to every modest woman.

"I suffered for two years with female weakness," writes Mrs. Effie Gillmore, of 1036 So. 18th St., Omaha, Neb. "I had bearing down sensations, headaches, severe pains and general weakness. My friends advised me to take Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have taken nine bottles of his 'Favorite Prescription' and four vials of 'Pellets.' I could notice a change after I had taken the first bottle and now am well and never see a sick day. I had eight doctors and they all said I would have to have an operation performed, but, thank God I did not, and Dr. Pierce's medicines have restored me to perfect health."

"I was run-down with nervous prostration and female weakness, and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Maranda Ramsey, of Smartt, Warren Co., Tenn. "Bowels constipated. My whole system was wrecked. My friends thought I would die. I had read of your medicines so I sent and got the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets.' In one week's time I could begin to sit up. In two weeks I could sit up all day, after being so bad that I had to be helped in and out of bed. I have taken four bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took the medicine last winter and have been in better health than I have been for years."

"I wish to express my thanks to you for the good I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. E. Scovill, of Bolton, Stephenson Co., Ills. "I have used it at different times for the last eight years, but the greatest good received by it was last winter. I think it is the best medicine in the world for expectant mothers. I never tried it for that until with my last baby. I had seen what it had done for other women. I have been so very bad, almost helpless, could not get out of bed alone, or even turn over. Last December I commenced taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' and could get in and out of bed as well as at any time, and on March 29th I gave birth to an eleven pound boy without pain, and have since been as well and healthy as I ever was. I wish every mother could try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at such times. I think it is a splendid medicine for female complaints. I feel that I can not praise Dr. Pierce and his medicine enough."

Half Crazy With Piles.

Mr. Isaac Foster, Erie View, Norfolk Co., Ontario, writes:—"I was troubled with itching piles for about two years and could not sleep at nights. In fact I was half crazy from the terrible itching. Reading about Dr. Chase's Ointment I purchased a box. After the second application I experienced relief and one box cured me thoroughly and permanently and that was two years ago." Do You Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning; months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve force, and building up the system.

The result of the voting was as follows: Captain Seely, Unionist, 6,432; Mr. Baring, Liberal, 5,370. Unionist majority, 1,062.

Mrs. Gladstone Is Very Weak.

London, May 25.—Mrs. Catharine Gladstone, widow of the late William E. Gladstone, has been sick for a month past. Owing to her advanced age, her sickness naturally caused anxiety, but the attending physician said yesterday, although the patient was in a weak condition, for the moment she was not in a dangerous state.

A young man named Brazer, while walking along the Carleton Place station platform about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, fell on his face on the track, and before any person noticed him the shunter passed over his body, cutting it in two. The young man was subject to fits.

Who Left the Horse?

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, High County Constable was up to the back lakes on business Monday. He says that on the west end of Horse Shoe Island, Stony Lake, known as the channel going to Clark's marsh, a dead horse is lying on the island, supposed to be the one that was drowned quite close to that place last winter. If the parties who own this animal do not remove it or have it buried they may expect trouble, as Mr. Cochrane says that the stench therefrom is unbearable. He will at once take action in the matter if the owners of the horse do not do so.—Lakefield News.

THE LACROSSE MATCH

Lacrosse Lovers Witness an Interesting Match on the Holiday.

One of the attractions of the holiday was the lacrosse match at the P.A.A.A. grounds between the Peterboroughs and the Young Torontos. It was attended by a fair sized crowd and, as the home team was at all stages until the final minute a little behind with chances to tie the score, the spectators had before them a situation productive of considerable excitement and calling for some show of encouragement. Therefore, while the game was a rather slow exhibition of lacrosse, especially on the part of the home team, there were circumstances which made it as interesting as if the play were worthy of more praise.

The match started at 3.30 o'clock and, according to 1900 rules, was divided into four periods of 15 minutes each with with rests between but with no stops when goals were scored longer than were necessary for the facing of the ball. The change worked satisfactorily and the match was much livelier than had there been a stop after each goal.

If a lacrosse team is like a rope, whose strength is the strength of its weakest part, the Peterborough team as represented yesterday is something pretty frail. Some of the players furnished A. 1. lacrosse but there were others who were not fit for a junior team. Of course this was the first match and there has been but little practice owing to the coldness of the weather and a few weeks work on the grass may develop the junior and invigorate the older men somewhat. It is needed. Glover won much applause by his play yesterday. Fred Dobbin was down from Toronto and played goal for the team.

The Young Torontos put up a superior game because they were in better condition and were well practised together. Their combination in the field was splendid but in their shooting they showed somewhat erratic ideas of locality. They are a heavy team and all are workers, which is a great thing in a lacrosse organization. All the Peterborough men were not inclined to work as hard as their opponents and were not as eager to take all chances. In getting away with a tie game they were lucky.

The teams were:—

Young Torontos.—Jeffries, Lowe, Burgess, Wenbourne, Nasmith, Cooper, Mara, Dickson, Henderson, Bowers, Mathers. Captain, Brent.

Peterborough.—Dobbin, Jim McCabe, Dillon, Glover, Morgan, McDonough, McGrath, King, Galley, Jack McCabe, Lipsett, O'Brien. Captain, McDonough.

Mr. C. LeBrun acted as referee.

In the first period of 15 min. only one goal was scored, Toronto taking it in 7 minutes after play was commenced. They showed an excellent combination. Glover did some good defence work.

In the second spasm Jack McCabe and Galley did some good combination work but Toronto again had the call and their inside home man scooped the ball through in 1 minute. Then Jack McCabe got one for Peterborough on a neat shot, receiving the pass from McGrath. Score 2—1. Toronto defence showed up well in the next five minutes but their home was off on shooting. However, they took the next for Peterborough in good stylem making the standing 2—2. Toronto put the ball into the net for another, leaving the score at half time 4—2.

In the third round Jim McCabe scored first, then Toronto took one and next Lipsett shot the rubber through. Score 5—4 for Toronto.

In the last quarter the Torontos took the first, the ball rolling between the flags. They were then two goals ahead but all hands were ordered to the front and by a series of determined attacks the Peterboroughs scored 2 goals, leaving the game 6—6 in favor of both or neither.

The match was very free from roughness. Not a player was ruled off. The small boys should not make themselves obnoxious by abusing visiting players.

THE EVENING DEMONSTRATION

The Cooks Parade More Select Than Large—The Fireworks and Band Concert.

The delightful evening that brought the hoholiday to a close was such as to tempt out everybody able to walk. The first sport of the evening was the cook's parade. The crowd kept promenading up and down the streets and held all positions of vantage at doors and windows to see the procession, but the attraction was gone and over before they realized it. What there was was first class, but O, my! it was small. It consisted of three specialisties. The first was Coxey's army gotten up and presented by the noncoms. of the 57th Regiment. Their make-up was as picturesque as it was varied. Every star was an artist and every artist a willing performer. Sousa's band furnished rag time music, which, like the costumes, was very much of the crazy patchwork kind. They pursued their onward course victoriously and waved their historic banner triumphantly. The 57th bugle and drum band took a prominent and successful part in the fun.

The other main feature was the parade of the "Hot Scotch" Highlanders, who marched down the street amidst the admiring glances of throngs of wonder-stricken people about 7.30 o'clock. From the ground up they were gotten up in magnificent style, their costume was the ideal thing for a hot day. In their excellent marching as well as their handsome uniforms they did themselves and the town proud. Their band, of which the bugle soloist formed a large majority, played the "British Grenadiers" and "Marching Through Georgia," in capital marching style. They have a couple of soloists for whom nothing is too good. The Highlanders should come out on parade oftener.

The big attraction of the night was the fireworks display and band concert in Central Park. An immense throng gathered to enjoy the music and the lights. They swarmed all over the park and took up strong positions on all the district around. Sidewalks, verandahs, fences, woodpiles and every other possible place on the three streets around Central Park were occupied. The number of carriages and buggies that lined the streets was remarkable. The night was a very pleasant one for such an entertainment. The pyrotechnic display was a very satisfactory one and was excellently managed. An exhibition of fireworks would be followed by some music by the band, and with this alternate form of entertainment the evening was most heartily enjoyed by all until about 10.30, when the strains of the National Anthem and the brilliantly burning colored letters of the final figure "God Save the Queen" and "The Maple Leaf Forever" dismissed the people to their homes with a warm and happy Good Night. The music of the band during the evening was much enjoyed. The fireworks were managed by the members of the Fire Brigade, who are entitled to great credit for the excellent manner in which they did their work.

NOTES.

The Salvation Army ran an excursion down the river yesterday to the Highland Park. They had a pleasant trip.

One of the members of the bugle and drum band was overcome by the heat in Victoria park about noon and prostrated for a while.

The Chief of Police reports a very quiet day in his line. Not an arrest was made. There was no trouble arising from the use of cannon crackers.

A large number of citizens celebrated the holiday with private displays of fireworks last evening. Some had their grounds nicely illuminated with Chinese lanterns.

A large number of citizens visited Toronto, the majority for the purpose of witnessing the races of the Ontario Jockey Club.

The merchants on George-st., especially on the west side, made a fine display of flags yesterday.

The smoker of the lacrosse club in the opera house in the evening attracted a fair sized crowd. A good programme of vocal and instrumental music and athletic events was given. The boxing contests aroused the greatest interest.

A large number of visitors were in town from the neighboring towns and villages.

The thanks of the public are due the members of the committee for the deep interest they took in the demonstration and the amount of labor they expended in making it a success. Few have any idea of how hard some of the active members of the committees have worked during the past three weeks to make the day a pleasant one.

Without a Doctor's Examination

You can find out if the kidneys are clogged, deranged and diseased. Have you backache or a weak, lame back? Do you have pain or difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate? Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for 24 hours? If you have any of these symptoms not a moment should be lost in obtaining Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the world's greatest kidney cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

PICNIC AT LAKEFIELD

Large Numbers of Peterborough People Spend the Day in the Village.

The annual picnic in aid of the Roman Catholic church at Lakefield was held yesterday, May 24th. Owing largely to the personal popularity of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick many Peterborough people make it a point to spend the holiday always at his picnic. Yesterday a large number went up, trains running to the village at 8 o'clock and 1.30. At 1.30 there was a train of five coaches. The picnic was a most successful and pleasant one. There was a big variety of amusement, a programme of athletic sports was run off and there was speechmaking by Hon. Messrs. Stratton and Latchford, and others. The people returning in the evening expressed themselves well pleased with the day's enjoyment.

BASEBALL AT COBOURG

The Peterborough Team Wins it First Game in the Midland League.

The Peterborough Basball team visited Cobourg yesterday and played a scheduled match with the team of that town, winning by 15 runs to 14. There was a large crowd present and the game afforded lots of interest. The batting of both teams was above the average. The fielding was a little slack owing to want of practice. The Peterborough team was composed of Mulhall 3b, Sheridan 2b, Earle r.f, Graham c, Grady c.f, Connors 1b, Parnell s.s, Thompson l.f, McCabe p.

Earle made a home run in the first innings and in the ninth a two bagger that scored the winning run. Peterborough was one run ahead in the last innings and quit with one man out, satisfied with having won the game. B. Kennealy was umpire. The score by innings was:—

Peterborough ...	200120712	— 15
Cobourg...	201056000	— 14

Other games in the Midland league were:—

At Port Hope.—Port Hope 18, Oshawa 13.

At Lindsay.—Bowmanville 17, Lindsay 10.

REVIEWS.

The June number of the Delineator, beside showing one hundred and fifty illustrations of present fashions, contains several articles of general interest to women. "American Women at the Paris Exposition" is illustrated with seventeen portraits. "Founders of Women's Colleges" contain ten portraits and valuable biographical matter. Clinton Ross, the well-known litterateur, contributes a clever revolutionary story, "The Perfidy of Bess Doane." Among the practical household articles is one on Housekeeping in the Apartments and Flats. The regular departments of Social Observances, Practical Gardening, Girl's Interests, Club Women and Club Life, and House Furnishing are interesting and valuable for practical women.

Summer Shoes....

The facilities of the factories for turning out shoes is so large that an immense quantity is made and must be made to keep the wheels moving.

This is what necessitates changes in style, but changes are pleasing and the public like it.

Your shoes must now be in fashion if you are to be correctly dressed. We must sell the newest goods if we are to keep up with the wants of customers. We do. The newest of the new. The nicest of the nice.

And our facilities for buying and handling are so good, and the maker's facilities for making so large that together we can give you excellent, neat, stylish shoes for little money. Try us.

CROSSED THE VAAL ON THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

Lord Roberts' Forces Successfully Enter the Territory of the South African Republic.

HAVE CROSSED THE VAAL

London, May 26.—2.55 p.m.—It is officially announced that the British have crossed the Vaal River.

THE ADVANCE CONTINUES

Pretoria, Friday, May 25.—An official bulletin issued here says it is reported that the British have occupied Vredefort and are advancing on Shoeman's Drift. Gen. Dewet announced that the Federals have occupied Heildbrom and Potchefstrom. He reports that the call to arms is meeting with a noble response.

ON THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

London, May 26.—3 p.m.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts: (Wolve Hoek, Orange Free State, May 29.—An advanced portion of this force crossed the Vaal river on the Queen's Birthday near Parys. Hamilton's column is at Bosche Bank. Our scouts are now at Viljoen's Drift (on the frontier north of Wolve Hoek). The local mines are uninjured and work is going on as usual. There is no enemy this side of the river. Hunter reached Vrooburg May 24th.

BURGHERS SURRENDERING

Newcastle, Friday, May 25.—Louis Koch, a magistrate of the Free State, has surrendered. He says that all the Burghers in the Harrismith-Vrede district have returned to their farms and refuse to continue fighting.

BRITISH JUSTICE.

Sure and Swift for the Fenian Dynamiters, Dullman, Nolin and Walsh—To Be Imprisoned for Life.

Welland, Ont., May 27. — Karl Dullman, John Nolin, and John Walsh last night lay in Welland jail with a life sentence as a penalty of their crime. The verdict was given by Chancellor Boyd at 6.45 last night, and there is no appeal except to their God.

A Terrible Crime It Was.

On the night of April 21, just as the sun was reddening the western sky, John Nolin and John Walsh dropped two packets of dynamite into lock 24 of the Welland Canal, and, while the lighted fuse burned down to the deadly explosive, they sought safety in flight. Dullman awaited the arrival of his confederates at the Hotel Roslie and the news of the disaster they had caused.

A Verdict in 35 Minutes.

It was just 6 o'clock when the Chancellor finished his charge to the jury, a charge in which he was both fair and stern, and the jury went out of the court room amid excitement from the crowded halls and corridors. In 35 minutes they had arrived at their verdict, and at 6.45 the court, the jury and the prisoners awaited with breathless silence the verdict which would send these three men to the penitentiary or set them at freedom forever on the charge.

The crowd still held its breath as the foreman told the clerk they had arrived at a verdict, and slowly rising, hardly leaving his chair, he pronounced the word, "Guilty," in a trembling and almost indistinct voice.

"All three of them?" asked Chancellor Boyd, leaning over to catch the answer.

"Yes."

Everyone looked at the prisoners, but they seemed unmoved, and looked as if they almost expected it. Dullman was nervous, but he had been so throughout the proceedings of the whole day.

The Jury Said "Guilty."

The Chancellor, with a grave but clear voice addressed himself to the prisoners. He said they they, Karl Dullman, John Nolin and John Walsh, had been found guilty after a careful investigation. They had been found guilty of a novel experiment in using dynamite for the purpose of destroying a public work of Canada. They were foreigners, who had attempted to destroy a public work, which was a highway of the whole continent, and it was a crime of a [illegible] and suggestive character. There was no evidence to show their motive, and it was probably one of hire on the part of Nolin and Walsh for the purpose of gain, and it was probably one of hatred on the part of Dullman, which hatred led to a blow against the state and civilization. Dullman really deserved more punishment than Nolin and Walsh. There were no mitigating circumstances to consider, and he saw no reason for altering the penalty fixed by law as in the indictment.

"Life" for All of Them.

The chancellor then paused and the spectators and the jury leaned forward.

"I sentence you all to imprisonment for life," were the firm words which escaped his lips as he rose and quickly left the court room.

How the Prisoners Took it.

A gasp, which was almost a cry of pain, escaped from everyone's throat, and in an instant the crowd sprang to their feet. The ladies, who were present in scores, seemed parlayzed for a moment, and then seemed to grasp the awfulness of the situation with the rest. The prisoners rose from their seats and then sank back together, and Dullman, who was more visably affected than the others, looked almost ready to collapse, the tears came to his eyes and the public gaze turned from him in pity.

Three minutes later the court room was cleared and the prisoners were in their cells.

Another Boxer Outrage.

London, May 26. — A special despatch from Shanghai says advices from Sauchuen, province of Hu Peh, report that "Boxers" have destroyed two villages and massacred many converts of the French missionary stations. The general commanding at Shi Nan Fu sent a regiment to the scene of the disturbances. The soldiers were ambushed by the malcontents and lost 26 men killed. Reinforcements have been dispatched from Iobang.

On Friday Mr. O'Meara's argument on behalf of the Attorney-General in the Lord's Day Act matter was concluded. He had spoken for three days when he closed.

LEADER VERSUS ORGANIZER.

Sir Charles Tupper's Answer to Mr. Birmingham's Letter.

Mr. Birmingham Wanted Money for Work Done as Conservative Organizer, and Gave His Ultimatum—Sir Charles Tupper, the Conservative Leader, Replied Promptly: "You Will Never Receive Another Dollar of Any Fund I Can Control"—The Documents.

Ottawa, May 26. — The announcement that Mr. Robert Birmingham, late Conservative organizer, had sent a message to Sir Charles Tupper, demanding a certain sum of money from the leader of the Opposition, failing to obtain which he would expose certain documents then in his possession, was whispered round the corridors of the House on Wednesday night, but Sir Charles had gone to Toronto and no one else would say anything.

Sir Charles Interviewed.

When it became public property yesterday, Sir Charles had his attention drawn to the statements wired from Toronto.

"I know nothing," said Sir Charles, "of any correspondence. I have received none and do not know what Mr. Birmingham means when he makes that reference. Amongst the congratulations received during the celebration of May 22 (Tuesday) was the following from Mr. Birmingham:

"Unless payment of my account, submitted to you yesterday, and the terms of future engagements, as handed to Dr. Montague last night, are accepted by you I shall wire the Premier to-night to extend investigations to include from 1882 to 1896."

"I was going off in a hurry to keep engagements in Toronto and Parkhill," said Sir Charles, "which I was very anxious to fill, and did not reply.

Sir Charles' Reply.

"On my return to town to-day, however, I sent Mr. Birmingham the following answer:

"Your message of May 23 received. You will never receive another dollar from any fund which I can control."

(Signed) Charles Tupper.

Nothing to Conceal.

"I have nothing to conceal in this matter. This message was sent to Mr. Birmingham last week, the night Mr. Cowan made his speech. The all-night session, May 17-18."

> Did you give any memorandum or circular of instructions to one Freeborn for use in Manitoba, as to destruction of ballots or any other practices of any kind in polling booths for elections in any way? (Signed) Charles Tupper.

"No answer was received to this until late in the afternoon of the following day, when a reply was received, reading:

> Just returned from Cardwell Convention. See my letter in Toronto Mail of March 5 and 6, this year. (Signed) R. Birmingham.

"Some reference had been made in the Ontario House to this matter and it was in reference to that Mr. Birmingham wrote The Mail. On Monday, the 21st, I received a letter from Mr. Birmingham, written the same day as that on which this despatch was sent and which contained the following reference to this matter:

> I got your telegram this afternoon on my return from the Cardwell nomination meeting and wired you that my reply to the statements made in the Ontario House, and evidently repeated in your House, would be found in The Toronto Mail of March 5, 1900, so that you may be able to make an explicit denial for Monday in Parliament, and now that the people of Canada are realizing to what an extent the rascality and corruption of the Liberal party has been carried on, all right-thinking Liberals are hanging their heads in shame and disgusted at the performances of their trusted agents and organizers.

"That is all there is on this matter. The rest of the letter refers to other matters entirely. No correspondence whatever has reached me. I heard nothing more till Mr. Birmingham's telegram reached me amongst my congratulations."

Has Nothing to Add.

Later in the evening the correspondent again waited on Sir Charles and showed him the interview with Mr. Birmingham, published in a Toronto evening paper and in which Mr. Birmingham says he has not yet decided on his future course.

"Ah, yes," said Sir Charles. "I have nothing to add to the statement I made this afternoon."

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator :

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,869
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,505
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Itching Piles

A Fearfully Bad Case—Much Pain and Acute Misery From the Terrible Itching—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It is doubtful if any remedy ever received so much grateful, unsolicited testimony as Dr. Chase's Ointment. The reason is not far to seek, for it is the only preparation known to man which never fails to cure piles.

Mr. F. G. Harding, a retired farmer, living at Nilestown, Middlesex county, Ont., writes as follows:—"I have been troubled with bleeding and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered intense agony at times. I had tried almost everything, but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I procured a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was."

Such incontrovertible evidence from responsible persons cannot, for a moment, be doubted. A few applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will convince the most skeptical of its wonderful healing and soothing influence. A box or two will positively cure the most severe case of piles; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

"Necessity Knows No Law."

Erysipelas—"Had a severe attack of erysipelas, suffering from dizziness and nervousness so that I could not rest at night. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results, and now recommend it to others." M. CHALMERS, Toronto, Ont.

Tired Feeling—"Was all run down and had no appetite. Was tired all the time. Hood's Sarsaparilla was suggested, and a trial benefited me so much that now I would not be without the medicine." MRS. G. D. BURNETT, Central Norton, N. B.

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1900.

A DOOMED GOVERNMENT.

It will be under a heavy handicap that the Liberal party will enter the coming parliamentary contest. Its leading members are its load. Their broken promises are its drawback, their accomplished acts acts its condemnation. There have been weak premiers and bad ministers in Canada before. There has, however, never been a weaker premier with so many bad ministers to carry as are combined in the Laurier Government. The course pursued in the election scandals debate is, perhaps, the most striking, but it is only one evidence, of the lack of capacity on the ministers' part to put themselves right with public opinion. When everyone could see that corruption had been practiced on an unusually scandalous scale in West Huron and Brockville, when the force of public opinion had compelled the Ontario Government to at least make a pretence of dealing with the corruptionists who had figured in provincial contests—the same corruptionists who are implicated in the parliamentary election scandals—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues had no idea but to publicly make themselves partiseps criminis with the offenders by doing all they could to shield them. The promise of a judicial commission was wrung from them only when Mr. Richardson's speech warned them that they could not hold their party with them in resisting an enquiry. They surrendered only at 3 o'clock in the morning, when the members were awaiting the ringing of the bell that summons them to the division. There has been no greater act of moral and political stupidity recorded in the annals of Parliament. The men who are guilty of it can have no knowledge of public sentiment, no respect for public decency, and no idea in politics but that anything is good if it helps to win seats. The discredited corruptionist who evolved, and acted on, the idea that there was more to be made by manipulating ballots than by buying votes was their peer in moral sensibility, and is their superior in honesty. With their pal a fugitive from justice, do they expect to hold the people's confidence.

That the Laurier Government should look with any but lenient eyes on a corruptionist would, however, be both unexpected and illogical. An organization whose most influential members are Messrs. Tarte and Blair and Sifton is not in a position to deal harshly with political crooks. What Mr. Sifton in the Yukon deal and the Department of the Interior scandals proclaimed to all who had not become acquainted with him in Manitoba politics. So bad was the big deal that, after the Senate had rejected it, no one, even of those who expected to benefit most from it, ventured to suggest that it should be revived. Not only did the public revolt against it, but Liberal members of Parliament openly objected to it from their places in the House of Commons. Bad as it was, however, the Yukon railway deal was not that which gave the Laurier Government its worst reputation in connection with the gold territory. The London Times, the most influential and most widely read newspaper in the world, a newspaper inclined to look favorably upon everything Canadian, sent a representative to Dawson, who declared that "It is deplorable to have to admit, but it is idle to "ignore the fact, that the administration "of the Klondike district, and the relations which exist between the representatives of the Government and the "public leave almost everything to be "desired." The political dregs of Manitoba were gathered together and sent up to Dawson to administer the law. Men unqualified for their positions united with men on the make, and the natural result followed. It was openly charged in Parliament that immoral women influenced the official acts of immoral men chosen to represent the Government of Canada, that the law was broken for their personal advantage by the officials, that black-mail was extorted and bribes taken from those having public business with the officials, that whiskey was illegally admitted into the territory by officials, that officials used the knowledge coming to them in their public capacity to make money for themselves and other partners—and the Government's reply was to vote down the demand for an investigation. Ministers, who were in a position to know, preferred to have some of their ordinary supporters vote against them rather than allow an investigation into charges, the establishment of which by an impartial, open enquiry would have driven Mr. Sifton out of public life.

Mr. Blair, the second of the triumvirate which dominates the Laurier Government, made his reputation in New Brunswick as the shrewdest and most reckless political manipulator in Canada. His career taught the doctrine that principles were something to fool the electors with, and that they were to be thrown away as soon as they stood in the path of personal advantage. Sir Wilfrid Laurier took to him like a very brother, and his capture of poor Mr. Costigan indicates that he still has the cunning that so often defeated the popular will and degraded public life in the province where he won his fame. But the bringing over of Mr. Costigan is a poor offsett for the many that have been driven into lukewarmness and hostility by the other achievements of the Blair regime. These included the Crow's Nest deal, the payment of some two millions more for the construction of a line of railway than the Conservative Government had arranged to give, and the transfer to a coterie of distinguished Liberals of a tract of B. C. coal lands, of which it can only be said that there are millions in it. The Drummond County Railway deal is the other great achievement of Mr. Blair's regime. Like Mr. Sifton, Mr. Blair has the distinction of having compelled Liberals in Parliament to speak and vote against the Government; but the Government was incapable of seeing that what hurt it in Parliament was hurting it more in the country. And what Mr. Blair has done in large things has been repeated in small things in his department. His curious purchases of rolling stock in a foreign country, his dealing with officials of the railways he controls, have made political enemies for the Government from one end of the Intercolonial to the other, and will be among the things that will weaken its support everywhere.

Mr. Tarte, as Minister of Public Works, has been another Jonah of the Government ship. He went into the Cabinet with the reputation of having figured in some of the most discreditable deals in Quebec's dirty political record. He has been at Ottawa just what was expected. He has administered his department on the worst lines of its not very good history. His personal friends and his subservient followers have been awarded contracts which they did not execute, their interest being in the amount paid them by the men who actually did carry out the works. He has defied the sense of public decency almost every day of his official rule, now in his acts of administration, now in his speeches, now in connection with what is legitimately within the control of his department, now in such extra-departmental matters as the Montreal harbor improvements. His name has become synonymous with that which is improper, sometimes in morals, sometimes in administration, sometimes in appreciating the political course of the country.

These three men, Messrs. Tarte, Blair and Sifton, represent the departments most in touch with the people, whose work is most in evidence. When their work is bad, there is not much opportunity for others to offset it. In Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet there have been none to offset it. If people turn from what his chief colleagues have done to the Premier himself, they turn from regarding sins of commission to contemplating sins of omission. He was to get reciprocity with the United States; our produce is now met at the U.S. border by a worse than the McKinley tariff. He was to extend other markets for Canadian merchandise; he shut grain out of Germany. He was to work for Imperial mutually preferential trade—he said so in his speech at London; he stopped in England even the discussion of the idea. He was to give the country lowered taxation, an economical administration and a reduced debt; he has raised and spent more taxation than any Government in Canada, and he has added to a debt that Sir Richard Cartwright used to curse at as threatening the ruin of the Dominion. He was to avoid the sins the Conservative Government was punished for; he and his colleagues make these sins the precedent and excuse for their regular course of conduct. Neither for what they have done nor for what they have refrained from doing can the Ministers look for the support of clean independent men; both for what they have done and for what they have neglected to do, they must expect and will receive condemnation.—Montreal Gazette.

"HIS MONEY IN THE STREET."

Catarrh Remedies Cost Him Hundreds and no Cure—Two Bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Cured Him.

Fred. H. Heib, jr., distiller, Railroad, York Co., Pa., on January 31st last, wrote of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder like this:—"I had catarrh of the head and stomach for two years, and had it in the worst form. I spent several hundred dollars in remedies and might as well have thrown my money in the street. I was recommended to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and two bottles of it have already cured me. I am a well man, and wish its makers the greatest of success." Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

REVIEWS

The June number of McClure's Magazine will contain a story of the Chinese-Japanese war, written in English by a Japanese, Adachi Kinnosuke, author of "Iroka, Tales of Japan". It will be very fully illustrated. In the same number, the Rev. C. T. Brady will tell the story of the greatest fight in the history of American privateers—Captain Samuel Chester Reid's historic fight in the "General Armstrong" against a whole fleet of British.

One Minute Cure for Toothache.

Toothache, the most common and one of the most painful affections, is instantly cured by the application of Polson's Nerviline. Polson's Nerviline is a combination of powerful anodynes, and it strikes at once to the nerves, soothing them and affording in one minute total relief from pain. Mothers, try it for your children's toothache. Nerviline is sold in 10 and 25 cent bottles by all druggists.

AFTER DECAPITATION.

How Long Can a Beheaded Man Live and Move.

Recently there has been much argument abroad aiming to prove that the decapitation of criminals is the most cruel form possible of inflicting the death sentence. Some of the pronounced opponents of this form of capital punishment declared that the circulation of blood in the severed head did not cease for three hours and that during that period the head could see, hear and smell. Dr. Wurm, a German expert, has felt moved to reply to these statements. He says that he handled many heads of decapitated criminals and that there is not the least doubt possible as to the fact of absolute death.

"Immediately after the execution," he says, "the heads were pale, entirely bloodless and absolutely without life. Not even reflex actions could be produced, and only for a short period could the galvanic current produce them. But a most interesting inquiry would be that of remaining spinal energy in the decapitated body. Beheaded frogs, chickens, ducks and even rabbits have been known to carry out independent movements, such as scratching of an irritated spot, jerking away an extremity when it was pinched and going through the motions of running, swimming and jumping."

Apropos of this Dr. Wurm quotes this queer tale told in a book published in 1686 in Hamburg entitled "Greatest Things In the World; or, So Called Relations Curiose.

"Emperor Ludwig of Bavaria in 1337 sentenced Sir Dietz of Schauenburg with four squires to death for freebooting. At the place of execution Sir Dietz begged the judges to put him and his squires into a row, each man one foot from the next. Then he was to be executed first, and his body would arise and run as far along the row of prisoners as he could. Each man whom he succeeded in passing was to be let free. The judges laughed and granted the request, saying that never before had they seen a beheaded man run. Thereupon Dietz put his men in a row, placing the one whom he liked the best nearest to him. Then he kneeled, the sword fell and took his head off clean, and in the next instant the body had risen and was driving by the four men. It ran past them all and fell prone a few feet beyond the farthest one. Then the emperor pardoned the men as his judges had promised."

THE OLD FAMILY UMBRELLA.

Those who know the family umbrella of tradition will be interested in reading what Walter Besant remembers about the institution that has disappeared from view:

"The real old family umbrella has gone out. Call that slim, stuck up, affected, attentuated thing a family umbrella. Go away. I remember the genuine family umbrella. It was kept in readiness behind every front door; it was a large, portly, heavy instrument; as an emblem of respectability it was highly esteemed in middle class society; it was serviceable as a tent in rainy weather; it could be used as a weapon of offense and defense on occasion. I have seen a picture of an elderly gentleman keeping off a footpad by means of this lethal umbrella. He made as if he would spear or prod the villain. Why, one prod would alone make a hole of six inches diameter in that murderous carcass. The nurse used to carry it, with difficulty managing the baby and the umbrella; it went out to tea with the young ladies; the maid who fetched them home took the umbrella with her. It succeeded the lantern and the club formerly carried by the 'prentice when he escorted his mistress to the card party after dark.

"I remember it, I say. There were three brothers who came to the same school where I was but a tiny little boy. They lived at some distance and had to pass on their way to school through a stratum of inferior respectability. Every morning brought to these three brothers the delight and the excitement of battle with the boys belonging to that inferior respectability. To the eldest brother, who carried the really important weapon, the umbrella was exactly what his battleax was to the Lion Heart; so he raised it; so he wielded it; so he swung it; so he laid his enemies low to right and to left of him, before him and behind him, while the other two, relying on the books tightly strapped, brought them to bear, with shrewd knocks and thwacks and poundings, on heads and shoulders and ribs. 'Twas a famous family umbrella—green, too, if I remember aright."

Stage Snowstorms.

"You might not think it," said Alexander Semple, a glove manufacturer of Paris, to a representative of the New York Commercial, "but the theaters have to come to our back door to get material to help them out in their beautiful stage effects. Waste glove clippings are now almost universally used for making 'snow' in winter scenes. Every wanderer and outcast you see shivering through these fierce Siberian snowstorms is perishing in a shower of clippings of white kid glove material.

"Theatrical people tell me these clippings of kid gloves are much better than the 'paper snow' formerly used. I think the superiority of kid glove clippings over paper is that they cling better to the clothing of the perishing outcasts.

"The knowledge of this bit of stage illusion rather destroys the effect of a stage snowstorm for me, and I find myself involuntarily selecting plays that have nothing but warm weather in them."

Care of the Feet.

When cared for properly, the feet are washed night and morning, and the nails trimmed and attended to carefully at least once a week. If there are callous spots, once a week wash the feet in strong borax water as warm as you can stand it. Dry and rub with alcohol to harden the skin.—New York Press.

A Basis of Agreement.

"If I had my time to go over again," she snapped, "I wouldn't marry the best man living."

"I know you wouldn't," he answered with a smile, "because I wouldn't ask you."—Philadelphia North American.

THE TYRANT CUPID.

Say what you will, Cupid is somewhat of a tyrant after all. He waves his lash of government over the head of every woman who elects him to rule her life. No woman can choose the happiness and honor of wifehood and motherhood without being subject also to its pains and penalties.

But no woman ought to suffer as most do from those ailments and weaknesses which are due to her peculiarly delicate and susceptible organism. Every woman ought to know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure these unnatural and debilitating troubles. It cures them absolutely, completely, permanently. It contains no alcohol to create a craving for stimulants.

"It is with heart-felt gratitude that I must tell you what your medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. A. F. Crenshaw, of Panasoffkee, Sumter Co., Fla., in a letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. "After consulting you about my case I took your medicine and it cured me of female weakness. I was all run down; I suffered with sick headaches, pains in the back and bearing down pains. I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and was then able to take care of my home. My health is better than it has been for three years. I do not know how to thank you for the kind advice you gave so cheerfully."

This grand "Prescription" has accomplished the same beneficent purpose for thousands of women in every corner of this broad land. It imparts health, strength and endurance to the special organism of womanhood and gives tonic vitality to the entire nervous system. Its marvelous properties are more fully described in one chapter of the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., a splendid thousand-page illustrated volume which will be sent free paper-bound for 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only; or cloth-bound for 50 stamps.

What You Pay For Medicine

Is no Test of its Curative Value—Prescriptions Versus Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are just as much a doctor's prescription as any formula your family physician can give you. The difference is that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were perfected after the formula had proven itself of inestimable value in scores of hundreds of cases.

Dr. Chase won almost as much popularity from his ability to cure kidney disease, liver complaint, and backache, with this formula, as he did from the publication of his great recipe book.

The idea of one treatment reaching the kidneys and liver at the same time was original with Dr. Chase. It accounts for the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in curing the most complicated ailments of the filtering organs, and every form of backache.

As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are unapproached. They keep the kidneys, liver, and bowels healthy, active, and regular, and so prevent and cure nine-tenths of the ills to which humanity is subject. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dreaded Meal Time.

THE STORY OF A DYSPEPTIC WHO HAS FOUND A CURE.

There is an Intimate Connection Between Good Health, Happiness and Good Indigestion—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Bring About These Conditions.

From the Tribune, Deseronto.

Without good digestion there can be neither good health nor happiness. More depends upon the perfect working of the digestive organs than most people imagine, and even slight functional disturbances of the stomach leaves the victim irritable, melancholy and apathetic. In such cases most people resort to laxative medicines, but these only further aggravate the trouble. What is needed is a tonic; something that will build up the system, instead of weakening it as purgative medicines do. For this purpose there is no medicine equal to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They enrich the blood and strengthen and stimulate the digestive tract from first dose to last. In proof of this assertion the case of Mr. Thomas A. Stewart, the well-and genial proprietor of the Oriental Hotel, Deseronto, may be quoted. To a reporter of the Tribune who mentioned the fact that he was suffering from dyspepsia, Mr. Stewart said:—"Why don't you take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" Asked why he gave this advice Mr. Stewart continued:—"Simply because they are the best medicine for that complaint. I know of. For years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, and during that time I think I tried a score of medicines. In some cases I got temporary relief, but not a cure. I fairly dreaded meal times and the food that I ate gave me but little nourishment. On the recommendation of a friend I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a little over a year ago. I soon experienced relief and no longer dreaded meal time, but as I was determined that the cure should be permanent if possible, I continued taking the pills in light doses for several months. The result is every vestige of the trouble left me and I have as good an appetite now as any boarder in the house, and my digestive organs work like a charm. I may also add that my general health was greatly improved as a result of using the pills."

"Do you object to my publishing this in the Tribune?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I have no desire for publicity," said Mr. Stewart, "but if you think it will help anyone who suffers as I did, you may publish the facts."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. If your dealer does not keep them, they will be sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Age of a Horse.

"The popular idea that the age of a horse can always be told by looking at his teeth," says a veterinary surgeon, "is not entirely correct. After the eighth year a horse has no more new teeth, so that the tooth method is useless for telling the age of a horse which is more than eight years old. As soon as the set of teeth is complete, however, a wrinkle begins to appear on the upper edge of the lower eyelid, and a new wrinkle is added each year, so that to get at the age of a horse over eight years old you must figure the teeth plus the wrinkles."

Invited to the Wedding.

Two dearest friends were chatting away merrily in the boudoir of one of their dearest friends. When the latest gossip had been exchanged, Mabel said to Amy:

"My dear, what do you think? I received an invitation to Mr. Baskerville's wedding yesterday."

"Did you?" replied Amy in evident surprise. "I wonder why he didn't send me one, and I wonder who has taken enough pity on the freak to consent to be his wife. Do tell me that."

"Well, it was me that he invited to his wedding. I am sure that we both shall be delighted to see you, although it is to be a very quiet affair. I'll send you an invitation."—Detroit Free Press.

"Have I the honor of speaking to Mr. Sherlock Holmes?" inquired Mr. Poply ironically.

"Not exactly, but"—

"I presume you arrived at that astonishingly correct conclusion by a process of scientific deduction," continued Mr. Poply in the same sarcastic tone. "Let me see if I can follow your line of reasoning. No doubt you noticed Towser, who has just flitted from the back door with a milk can attached to his caudal appendage. That round hole in the stained glass of this door would at once convey the word 'bowgun' to your acute mind. That dull sound which we now hear can only be produced by hammering a high chair with a hand mirror or a cream pitcher. Am I right?"

"Probably," answered the peddler, "but I drew my inferences from the fact that you came to the front door with and are still inadvertently holding a rattle in your hand. And unless my eyes deceive me there is a jumping jack attached by means of a bent pin and a string to the rear of your smoking jacket. However, all this is immaterial. I called to show you the greatest invention of the age, 'the patent noiseless baby jumper and child amuser.' By its use a child may be left alone for hours and need no attention. Place the infant in this swinging seat here, and"—

"Pardon me," interrupted Poply. "Does that invention have an attachment for picking up playthings which have been violently thrown on the floor?"

"No, but"—

"Does it have hair to be pulled?"

"No"—

"Does it have an arrangement which when the child cries tells whether the screams express cholera morbus, hunger, a pin, temper or general depravity?"

"Certainly not."

"Then I'm afraid I can't buy it. Between ourselves, I don't think I need a 'patent noiseless baby jumper,' but I should like a patent noiseless baby."—Harper's Bazar.

The Color of a Star.

The novel assertion is made by Professor See that the color of a star varies according to its age, being yellowish in its youth and in its old age blue, the tint being a matter of temperature, the bluer it becomes according as it becomes hotter, because great heat means an activity that engenders blue light waves. Thus Sirius is a very blue star as seen through the telescope simply because it is hot and giving out probably one hundred times as much light as our sun, though it is but three or perhaps four times as big. Vega, too, in the constellation of Lyra, and a hundred times as large as our sun, is blue, the inference being that the heat it emits is enormous. The appearance of these stars is, of course, as viewed through the medium of the earth's atmosphere, and their colors are in some cases so vivid as to exhibit marked differences, the fact being that if the air envelope of the earth were taken away their varying tints would be much more noticeable.

People Said We Couldn't

Our friends told us we couldn't—that this was a credit town and that it was impossible to conduct a "CASH" business here. These repeated "Couldn'ts" might have been very dampening to anyone who had not realized or experienced the power of the Cash System of merchandizing.

Why Shouldn't This "Cash" Busicess Succeed?

Think how much better prices it lets us make for you. It brings us goods at the best possible cost. It wipes out everything in the way of bad debts. It saves almost all the expense of book keeping. It simplifies the store management.

Every penny that is saved from any one of these sources is a penny saved for you—if you trade here. All these things in a credit business help to make up "expenses." They are always added to the cost of goods. You'd save money by buying of a cash store.

This "Cash" Business Is Growing Larger Every Day

The citizens of Peterborough and roundabout are realizing what big advantages there are in buying of a cash store. Our customers are our best advertisers.

If you are not a regular customer here suppose you try our methods. Money back if you are not satisfied.

MARK-ST. LADIES' AID.

A Pleasant Evening Spent—Presentation to Mrs. Moore.

A pleasant gathering took place at Mark-st. Methodist church last evening, May 25, when the members of the Ladies' Aid and their friends, together with the church and parsonage trustees, met to spend a social evening. Mr. W. J. Johnston occupied the chair. Miss Minnie Hamilton gave a reading and Miss A. M. Smith sang. The trustees present also made brief addresses, expressing appreciation of the excellent work done by the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. J. H. Smith presented the treasurer's report, showing that since organization two years ago last January, the society has paid out $340 over and above expenses, and has paid off $315, being Mark Street's share of the parsonage debt. The ladies deserve great credit for their work.

The beautiful silk autograph quilt, recently finished, was, during the evening, presented to Mrs. (Rev.) Moore, who replied briefly and suitably, thanking the ladies for their kind wishes. The presentation was accompanied by the following address:—

Ashburnham, May 25, 1900.

Dear Mrs. Moore:—We, the members of Mark st. Ladies' Aid, take advantage of this opportunity to cheerfully bear testimony to the warm regard we entertain for you, and the active interest you have always evinced for our welfare and advancement.

Not only in the Ladies' Aid, but in the various organizations in connection with our church, have you been a faithful worker and by your kindly disposition have endeared yourself to all, and in many ways have rendered valuable assistance to us and the cause of Christ, which we are quite sure will be remembered not only by us, but by the Master Himself. to whom that service has been so ably and willingly rendered.

As a slight token of our respect and esteem, we ask you to kindly accept this autograph quilt, which we hope may frequently recall to your mind many pleasant remembrances of the time you have been our president, and also serve as a reminder of the many friends you have in Ashburnham.

In conclusion, we wish you throughout the coming years a life of unalloyed happiness and prosperity wherever your lot may be cast, and if, in the changing scenes of life you should be removed from us, we trust we may be re-united in the better home above.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid,

MRS. JOY,
MRS. R. HAMILTON, Vice-Pres.
MRS. M. W. MATCHETT, Sec'y.

During the evening light refreshments were served and all separated, feeling that the Ladies' Aid of Mark-st. church is a society for which the congregation has great reason to be grateful.

A New Sacred Song.

One of the prettiest sacred songs that has been heard for some time is the "Vesper Prayer," words by C. H. Cook, and music by F. H. Brackett. The song may be procured from the B. F. IMPORTANT RALLY.

Sunday School Workers to Meet in Convention on Tuesday.

The attention of all interested in Sunday school work is directed to the important rally on Tuesday next, May 29. The afternoon meeting beginning at 2.30 will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall, and the evening meeting in St. Andrew's Sunday school hall.

The Rev. J. C. Tibb and Mrs. Duncan and other prominent workers will address the afternoon meeting. In the evening in addition to an interesting and practical address from Rev. J. C. Tibb, the Rev. Jonathan Bastow, of Murray-st Baptist church will give "Echoes from the Ecumenical Council on Foreign Missions." Collection at each meeting for defraying expenses.

OBITUARY.

Death of Henry E Sherwood on Monday Last.

Henry E. Sherwood, of No. 394 Sherbrooke-st., town, died at the Nicholls Hospital on Monday, 21st inst., aged 23, of cancer of the liver, and was buried Thursday, Rev. R. MacKnight, B.A., officiating.

The service was conducted at his brother's house and a goodly number of Woodmen, of which Order the deceased was a member, he having joined in February last, were at the grave. Sovereign Rev. J. E. Moore, offered prayer and Sovereign W. Graves, of Toronto, performed the very tender and impressive service of the Woodmen.

All join in sympathy with the bereft sisters and brother.

The Order will erect a fine monument to his memory in Little Lake cemetery.

Closing Meeting.

The Ministerial Association will meet on Monday next, 28th inst., at 10 a.m. It is the closing meeting of the season. The Rev. H. Symonds will propose for discussion the interesting question "Shall we hold our Thanksgiving Services on Sunday following Thanksgiving Day?" The change of hour for Sunday schools from afternoon to morning will also be discussed.

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.

The Sons of England will march to St. Luke's church to-morrow evening at 7.00 p.m., when Rev. H. Symonds will preach a special sermon on "The Spiritual Foundations of Empire." The following music will be rendered, "Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis," Turner, in E flat, anthem "The Radiant Morn," Woodward. Two special hymns for the soldiers in Africa will also be sung, and the service will conclude with the National Anthem.

Brevities

—There was a large market this morning.

—The Charity Board will meet on Monday night.

—Mr. Walden wishes to meet his Harmony Class, Monday, at 4.15.

—Rev. S. J. Shorey preaches in Lindsay to-morrow morning and evening.

—All the steamers were up from Rice lake this morning. The Eclipse will be engaged all next week from Harwood and Gore's Landing. The City of Peterborough will be put on the river about June 1st.

—At the police court this morning Jos. Mansfield was sent up to gaol for two months as a vagrant. Sam Oliver came down from the hill to have his term renewed, which was done for six months. Oliver will be 92 years old next October.

—Miss M. Gibson, an employee of the Canadian General Electric works, was presented with a beautiful gold ring on the eve of her departure from town, by the employees of the lamp department.

—An excursion will be run to Peterborough on next Saturday, June 2nd, from Port Hope, under the auspices of the File Works Protective Association. The Port Hope baseball club plays a league match with Peterborough on that day.

—The brigade was called out about 1.15 o'clock this morning to quell a blaze which had been discovered in some rubbish in the front part of Paterson's tannery, Aylmer-st, which was destroyed by fire some months ago. It had evidently been set on fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

—On Saturday morning last Mr. W. J. McCarrell, of the 3rd line of Emily, had his barn and stable destroyed by fire. His four year old boy put on his father's vest, in the pockets of which were some matches, and the innocent child, not knowing the danger, began playing with them, causing them to ignite, the result being as above stated. A calf and a number of implements were burned, also a quantity of wheat and oats. The loss was heavy. No insurance.

THE FINAL SESSION.

Methodists Close Their District Conference on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday afternoon and evening when the closing sessions of the Methodist District Conference were held, a large amount of business was transacted. A review of the year's work showed substantial progress along spiritual, numerical and financial lines.

Rev. Dr. Cade presented a resolution re the Twentieth Century Fund, commending it to the church, and expressing thankfulness that God had inspired the hearts of the Methodist people of this land, who have subscribed thus far three-quarters of a million dollars, praying that a mighty tidal wave of spiritual life may pass this way, and that the new century at the dawn may see a widespread revival of religion.

Rev. J. A. McCamus offered a resolution of sympathy with Rev. D. O. Crossley in his continued affliction, which voiced the feelings of both the ministerial and lay member of the district.

The election of representatives to the various Conference Committees resulted as follows:

Stationing Committee—Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B.

Sabbath School Committee—Rev C H Coons and Dr Couch.

Epworth League Committee—Rev T P Steel and T. R. Graham.

Sustentation Committee—Rev C H Fasee and R. W. Clarke.

Conference Missionary Committee—Mr. John Hull.

The laymen were also elected to attend conference, which begins in Port Hope June 6th, at 10 a.m.

Mr. H. E. Larkin, of St. Catharines, Director of the Central Ontario Power Co., along with Mr. Culverwell, Managing Director, were out to Burleigh Falls this morning to look over the hydraulic work which is about to be commenced. Mr. Larkin is a member of the firm of Larkin & Sangster, contractors of the enlargement of the St. Lawrence Canal amounting to some one and a half million dollars.

A PLEASANT DAY AT LAKEFIELD

THE PICNIC ON THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY A GREAT SUCCESS

Special Credit is Due to the Ladies for their Energy and Thoughtfulness—The Sports and Games Well Patronized—The Speech-making—Over 600 Admission Tickets Sold.

The picnic at Lakefield, on May 24th, proved to be a huge success. In point of numbers it surpassed all former years, as the increased gate receipts showed. Everything went off in first-class order, not a hitch in any particular. From 9 o'clock in the morning until after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, there was a constant procession to and from the grounds. The day was fine, the grounds and spacious rink in grand condition, the sports long and well contested, and a happier or more sociable gathering could scarcely be found. Over six hundred people purchased admission tickets at the gate, while about one hundred others, were either admitted free, or gained admission by stealth. Taken on the whole the picnic of this year is the best ever held in Lakefield. The refreshment tables were considered by critics the best ever seen at a picnic, and reflect much credit on the women of Lakefield and Young's Point. The large booth in charge of Misses Scollard and Jennie Kearney, and Mr. McFarlane, was well patronized, and contributes largely to the financial success of the picnic.

The dancing platform was as usual, always occupied, and Mr. P. Doris and Miss Addie Doris, of Peterborough, supplied music of the highest standard. They were assisted at times by local talent, and some of Ennismore's best musicians. Peterborough baseball team gave an exhibition game, and won the silver trophy by default, as the Lakefield team failed to put in an appearance. Mr. Geo. Giroux won the quoit match, though closely pressed by some of Hastings expert quoit pitchers.

The athletic sports were closely and hotly contested, and Messrs. Giroux and White often found difficulty in awarding the prizes. A fuller account of the sports will appear later on.

Probably the greatest attraction of the day was the Hasting's band. They arrived on the morning train, accompanied by a large and representative number of Hastings' best citizens. They marched to the ground in true military style and to the air of a lively tune. At intervals throughout the day, the band discoursed sweet music, to the great pleasure of the large assembly. Hastings has reason to be proud of its band, which under the able leadership of Mr. Shunk, is rapidly rising to a foremost place. They are not only musicians but thorough gentlemen, and would do honor to any town in the land.

At 5 o'clock p.m., the speaking began, Rev. Father McColl, of Ennismore, occupied the chair, and introduced the speakers of the day. The first intro-

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.

A meeting of the Town Council was held yesterday morning, at which there were present His Worship, Mayor Kendrey, and Aldermen Corkery, Denne, Robertson, Clinkscale, Sawers and Roger.

The following resolution, moved by Ald. Denne and seconded by Ald. Sawers, was unanimously carried:—

That we, the municipal Council was the Town of Peterborough, desire to place on record our profound sense of the loss which the community has sustained in the death on the 22nd inst., of Thomas Cahill, Esq., J.P., who for twenty-two consecutive years occupied a place at this Council board, and our appreciation of the able and loyal service which during that long period he rendered to the town. His clear judgment, his cautious yet progressive spirit, wide, experience, liberal views and native ability, combined with a rare ability to express his views in a clear and convincing manner, gave him a natural prominence and influence in municipal affairs and unquestionably contributed very largely to the satisfactory position to which the town has attained. By his death the community has lost a valuable member and his genial personality will be greatly missed by the members of this Council and a wide circle of friends. To his bereaved family we tender our deepest sympathy for, while the loss of the community is great, that of his family is much greater, for Mr. Cahill was a most devoted husband and father, who gave his best thoughts to the interests of those thus related to him. So far as general sympathy can mitigate the poignancy of their sorrow theirs will be relieved, for we express the feelings of the whole community when we assure Mrs. Cahill and her family that they have the deepest sympathy of the citizens of Peterborough in their bereavement.

"Whither," will be the subject of Rev. Mr. Hustow's sermon to-morrowe evening at Murray-st. "Light," will be his theme in the morning. All who have no established religious home are cordially invited to worship with us.

MOVING OUT FROM BLOEMFONTEIN

CORP. JOE MATTHEWS TELLS OF PREPARATIONS FOR THE ADVANCE NOW GOING ON.

The Need of a Draft to Make Good the Canadian Casualties—The Number of Men Should be Four Hundred.

The following short and interesting letter from Joe Matthews of the R.C.R., has been received. It was written about two weeks after the one we published yesterday:—

Bloemfontein, April 21, 1900.

Dear Mother,—We are under orders to move out a few miles so I may not get a chance to write for this mail. Last night orders came to move out at seven this a.m., but when we fell in we got orders to wait until this afternoon, and perhaps to-morrow. When we received orders to move there was great consternation among the boys as most of them had more stuff than they could carry. We had been given pipes, tins of tobacco, beef tablets and lots of things of that kind and as each little tin takes up more room and makes more weight, no one wanted to take more than he could help. However, we are to leave the tents behind and as there are a number in each Company who are sick and can't march it is quite safe to leave a few things. I have to part with pipe, two tins tobacco, two tins condensed milk, a towel, an undershirt, and a pair sox. It is quite a lot to leave but when it comes down to hard pan marching one likes to march as light as possible. I think it is only a little trip for a few days like we had before but one can never tell.

I got the box all right last week, I can tell you the two fruit cakes were most acceptable, I had forgotten what cake tasted like. There is a regular famine in Bloemfontein, no supplies have come up for the merchants since we came, but I see by the paper that a train load per week is to be sent up.

There is a lot of talk about a general advance up the line but nothing definite is known, I suppose when it does come we will have about two hours notice, we would like it to be soon so as to have the war over, but our regiment cannot muster over 600 men fit for duty. We need the draft which is coming out badly to make good our casualties, but it should be 400 men instead of one hundred.

I was ill for a few days last week, but am over it now all right. I am taking as good care of myself as possible so that when we get out on the march and have to bivouac I will be all right. I received a box of chewing gum from Ella the other day, I intended writing her but as we are moving out to-day I don't think I can manage it for this mail which closes to-morrow. If you are writing her please thank her for me, as chewing gum seems to be a necessity with me out here now, although I did not use it at home. I also had a letter from Fanny (Ottawa), enclosing a list of things she was sending in a box and now I am anxiously waiting for the box. Love to all,

Your affectionate son,
JOE.

TROOPER WHITE WRITES.

One of the Peterborough County Boys in South Africa Writes in Good Style.

Trooper J. W. White, who is with the Canadian Mounted Rifles in South Africa, in a letter to his parents at Norwood, says:—

Well, here I am within some 30 miles of Bloemfontein at present, and by night if all is well we expect to arrive there.

Only B squadron is here, as we left the rest at our last camp before entraining.

After leaving Cape Town we only marched two days when we got word to rush part of us up here at once, so B. squadron was sent, and as none of the medical staff was sent, I came on with my own troop.

This is a pretty desolate looking country we are passing through, nothing but hills, stones and sand. Large flocks of goats and sheep all along, besides several ostrich farms. There are camps of troops all along the line to protect the bridges, etc.

We passed through De Aar where the first contingent stopped so long, early this morning.

We expect to have lots of fighting before very long. In fact we might have to fight at any moment and we are travelling with our guns all ready.

I feel fine. Our grub is pretty tough.

One hard biscuit for each meal with some corned beef and tea, but still we can buy extras all along the line.

Well, before you can get this letter I think there will be some big battles out here, and if I am alive by that time I will stand a very good chance of getting back to Canada.

It is too rough to write any more, so good bye, with love to all.

JIM.

P.S.—Hampton and Wasson are left behind in A. squadron. They are both in excellent health. I don't know when they will come up here.

PEN, PENCIL AND BRUSH.

General Lew Wallace has just received a copy of his "Ben-Hur" translated into Persian and published in Egypt.

"I regard Miss Helen Hay," said William Dean Howells recently, "as one of the most promising women now writing verse."

Frederic E. Church, the landscape painter, who died in New York recently, was 75 years old and had been in feeble health for a number of years. One of his oldest and best known paintings is "The Niagara," now in the Corcoran Art gallery in Washington.

The artist Willette, whose caricatures of Queen Victoria have won him notoriety, is a grandson of Fragonard, the last of the eighteenth century school of decorative artists. His father was an aid-de-camp of Bazaine. Willette himself belongs to the Chat Noir group.

ANOTHER VICTIM REJOICES.

Dr. Hall's Pamphlet on Rheumatism free Send for it.

IT is not an uncommon thing by any means for a sufferer from Sciatic Rheumatism to become completely helpless from the disease, in fact more helpless than a child. And what havoc such pain creates in the entire system! The effects of a long siege of rheumatism is apt to be very severe on the constitution, so that the patient should be prompt in obtaining relief the moment the opportunity presents itself. The restoration to health of a rheumatic sufferer is like unto the freedom from a prison cell of an innocent man. In either case the bondage is unnatural and uncalled for. Mr. John Hunter, 321 Brock Street, Kingston, Ont., was laid up for six weeks with rheumatism. He was so helpless he could not leave his room or dress himself. A friend advised him to try Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. After taking the contents of the first bottle he was able to move around the house. The second bottle cured him completely, and he was able to return to his work. Mr. Hunter says he would strongly recommend Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure to all who suffer with rheumatism.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

MAY CROSS THE VAAL TO-DAY

The British Are Making Remarkable Rapid Progress.

French's Cavalry Believed to Be Now Reconnoitering for Fording Places—Buller Will Have Fighting to do—British Sweeping All Before Them—The Latest From Mafeking—Baden-Powell Will Stay and Fight It Out.

London, May 26. — (3.30 a.m.)—The latest intelligence from Lord Roberts' headquarters at Vredfort Station, filed at 5.35 Thursday afternoon, was that the British were advancing rapidly. Gen. Hamilton had effected a junction with Lord Roberts. The country in front of them was clear of Boers to Viljoens Drift. The Boers were evacuating all their position south of the Vaal River, and 5,000 had already crossed to the north bank. Probably Gen. French's cavalry is already reconnoitering the fords of the Vaal.

War Office observers expect that the next despatch from the field marshal will be dated in sight of the Transvaal frontier. Mr. Bennett Burleigh, wiring to The Daily Telegraph from Vredfort Thursday evening, said Lord Roberts would doubtless cross the Vaal Saturday or Sunday. The British outposts were than at Erstegeluk, nine miles north of Vredfort, and 26 miles south of the Vaal River. The railway is much damaged.

While the British in overwhelming force are thus approaching the Transvaal, the movements of the Boers are enveloped in mystery. The last Pretoria newspaper to reach Lorenzo Marquez was a week old. Everyone seeking to cross the Portuguese border from the Transvaal is searched for newspapers and letters. Despatches and mail letters containing even harmless references to the war are suppressed, and the only news that has emerged from the Transvaal during the last ten days has come by word of mouth.

According to these oral reports, yesterday the Boers were quarreling among themselves. Transvaal paper money was circulating at 80 per cent. discount. Becket's firm was giving £1 in gold for £5 in paper.

Engineers Dismissed.

Krouse & Klinkle, the engineers who opposed the blowing up of the mines, have been dismissed. Commandant Schutte has been appointed to defend Johannesburg; and all the British subjects have been turned out. The Transvaalers fear that the British will blow up the bridge at Komatipoort, thus cutting off their supplies from Delagoa Bay, and a commando of 500 is guarding the bridge against any such attempt by British raiders.

Baden-Powell Stays to Fight.

Major-Gen. Baden-Powell declines to act on the suggestion of his friends, that he return to England for rest. He is determined to retain his active command at the front.

Boers Entrenching.

Advices from Mafeking, dated May 20, says: "The Boers are entrenching at Potfontein, 10 miles east of Mafeking. The Northern Railway is now repaired to a point within four miles of the town. Ample supplies of plain food are coming in.

"Col. Baden-Powell voluntarily gave up 53 Boers and 12 wounded to the Boer commandant, who thanked him."

British Sweeping Everything.

The British are sweeping the country far and wide, seizing horses, cattle and grain.

Yesterday President Steyn was reported to be at Bethlehem with a small field force, appealing to the Free Staters to defend their freedom and independence.

On Tuesday there was heavy cannonading at Mochenze, near Bethlehem. The firing began at dusk. Why and with what results is not known at Maseru, Basutoland, where the news arrived yesterday.

Buller Has Work Ahead.

The Times has the following from Newcastle, dated Thursday: "The Boers are fortifying a very large semi-circular position, extending from Majuba to Pongwana. Large numbers are busy entrenching, and six guns are visible."

HUNTER OCCUPIES VRYBURG.

Remarkable Achievement for Mixed Force, Considering the Road.

Warrenton, Thursday, May 24. — Operations have been pushed forward eighty miles, one of Gen Hunter's brigades having occupied Vryburg last night. Considering the difficulties of the road, this is a remarkable achievement for a mixed force, short of rations, making forced marches. Water is scarce. Some portions of the brigade covered 18 miles without a break. Gen. Hunter personally goes to Vryburg to-day by train.

Two Marches From the Vaal.

Vredefort, Thursday, May 24.—The British columns, after an unopposed march, reached the Vredefort road at noon to-day, and are now only two marches from the Vaal River.

More Troops to Be Sent.

London, May 26. — The Secretary of State for War, the Marquis of Lansdowne, discussing military matters in the House of Lords yesterday, announced that 11,000 additional troops would be sent to South Africa next month.

British and French Fight.

London, May 26. — Serious trouble is threatening between the British and French residents of St. Heliers, Island of Jersey, owing to the pro-Boer attitude of the French. There have been several collisions, and yesterday morning the troops were forced to charge with fixed bayonets to prevent the demonstrators from invading the French quarter. Thirty arrests were made. The French Consul has represented the situation to the British Foreign Office, with the result that the latter has wired to the Governor, Lieut.-Gen. Edward Hopton, holding him personally responsible for the maintenance of order.

THE WAR PARTY ASCENDANT.

South Manchester Goes Unionist by an Increased Majority.

London, May 26. — The election for a member of the House of Commons to represent South Manchester, in place of the Marquis of Lorne, who resigned on the death of his father, when he assumed the title of Duke of Argylle, has resulted in a very large increase of the Unionist vote, the Hon. William Peel, the Unionist candidate, being returned. The result of the voting was as follows: Hon. William Peel, Unionist, 5,457; Mr. Lief Jones, Radical and pro-Boer, 3,458; Unionist majority, 2,039.

At the previous election the vote stood Marquis of Lorne, Liberal-Unionist, 4,457; Sir Henry Roscoe, Home Ruler, 3,379. Liberal-Unionist majority, 1,078.

Colonel Otter Has Recovered.

Ottawa, May 26. — The Militia Department received a cablegram from Col. Otter yesterday, announcing that he had recovered and was rejoining the battalion. Col. Otter was wounded in the neck at the battle of Thabanchu.

The Trick That Didn't Fail.

Now they paused before a shop.

"What a lovely hat!" exclaimed the woman in rapture.

"Yes; it would look well on anybody," ventured the man, her husband.

"Not on your life!" protested she.

"My life!" he whispered and gazed fondly into her great gray eyes.

Then they passed on, he triumphantly, she as one in a dream.—Detroit Journal.

LIFE RETURNED.

To a Suffering Dyspeptic, When He Used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Always Have this Result—They Positively Cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness and all Kindred Stomach Complaints.

Without exception, the dyspeptic is the most miserable being in existence.

He can't enjoy his meals. There are no dainty, enjoyable lunches, after the theatre for him. No outings, no pleasant excursions with jolly friends.

He must mope at home, nursing his misery, while his friends are enjoying themselves, making the most of life.

Recently there was a young man in this position. He suffered greatly from Dyspepsia. He was virtually a close prisoner. He got no joy out of life.

One day he read about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He bought a box—cost fifty cents.

He used the Tablets as directed, one after each meal.

Result—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets made a new man of him.

He appeared among his friends again, took part in their pleasures, and overflowed with life and good spirits.

His friends could not understand the change. They questioned him.

He answered: "Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did it all.

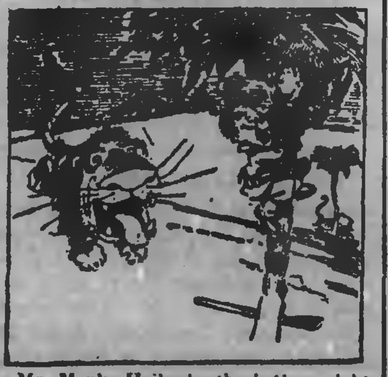
"I simply took one Tablet after each meal I ate, and my food was a pleasure and nourishment to me. It was promptly digested, whereas, before I began to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, it used to lie in a hard lump in my stomach, and cause me agonizing pain."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets always have this effect. They cure indigestion and Dyspepsia by removing the cause. They digest the food and tone and strengthen the stomach.

Told by the Bishop.

Some extracts from the notebooks of the late Bishop Walsham How have been appearing in Good Words. One story is to the effect that at the church of Strathfieldsaye, where the Duke of Wellington was a regular attendant, a stranger was preaching, and when he ended the verger went up the stairs, opened the pulpit door a little way, slammed it to and then opened it wide for the preacher to go out. The preacher asked the verger in the vestry why he had shut the door again while opening it, and the verger replied, "We always do that, sir, to wake the duke."

A clergyman in Lancashire gave out as his text "The devil as a roaring lion goeth about seeking whom he may devour" and then added, "The bishop of Manchester has announced his intention of visiting all the parishes in his diocese and hopes to visit this parish."



Mr. Monk—Hello, brother! Come right up. I am now thoroughly convinced of the Darwin theory.—New York Journal.

A Willing Giver.

"A burglar got into our house last night."

"Did he take anything?"

"The children are all sick, and we hope he got the measles."—Chicago Record.

Why These It Won't Fit Are Weeping

"Adelaide has a shirt waist with Vonderboolt's tailor's tag on it, and it cost $35."

"What extravagance!"

"Oh, she is getting her money back."

"How?"

"Renting it to other girls at $1 an afternoon."—Detroit Free Press.

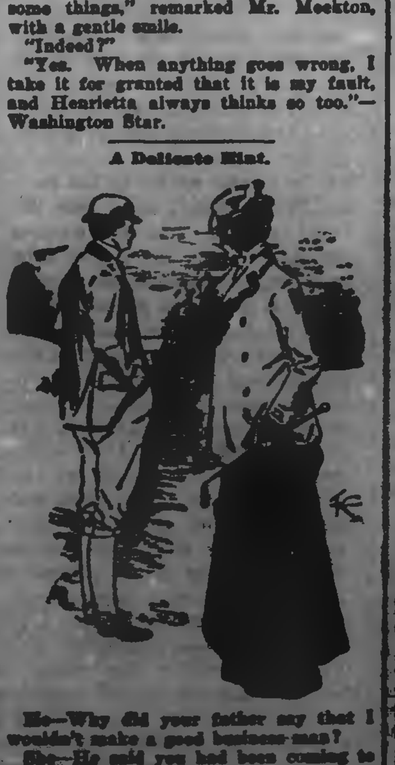
Perfect Accord.

"My wife and I agree perfectly about some things," remarked Mr. Meekton, with a gentle smile.

"Indeed?"

"Yes. When anything goes wrong, I take it for granted that it is my fault, and Henrietta always thinks so too."—Washington Star.

A Delicate Hint.



He—Why did your father say that I wouldn't make a good business-man?

She—He said you had been coming to the house for a year and hadn't talked business yet.—Types.

A BUSINESS BASIS.

It Is Always Best to Get Down to That Quickly.

"I think I should like to look at some of your brass bedsteads."

"Yes, ma'am. Step this way, please. You want to see our best, I presume?"

"It pays to buy the best, doesn't it?"

"Yes, it's economy in the long run. The price of this one is $60."

"Oh, I couldn't afford to buy anything as expensive as that."

"Well, we have some over here that are practically just as good. You can have one like this for $45."

"Haven't you something still cheaper?"

"Well, here's a special bargain and the cheapest all brass bedstead in the house. We can sell you this for $25."

"I can't afford to pay any such price as that, either. What is it about brass that makes it come so high?"

"A great many of our customers, ma'am, are buying bedsteads made of iron, painted in any color desired and trimmed with brass. They look almost as good and don't cost nearly as much."

"What can you sell me one of that kind for?"

"Here's one for $12.50."

"Haven't you some that"—

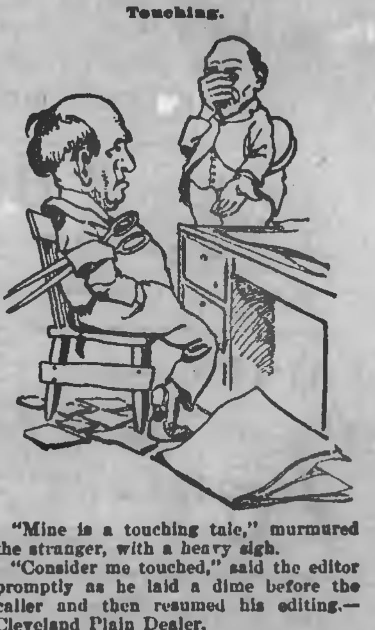
"Here's the greatest seller we've got in the store. It's iron, painted white, trimmed with brass, neatly made and ought to bring $14, but we're selling it for $9.75."

"Is that the cheapest you've got?"

"It's the cheapest bedstead trimmed and ornamented with brass you can find here or any place else. We guarantee it to"—

(With a sigh) "I see I'll have to give up the idea. Show me a folding cot with woven wire springs you can sell for about $2.25."—Chicago Tribune.

Touching.



"Mine is a touching tale," murmured the stranger, with a heavy sigh.

"Consider me touched," said the editor promptly as he laid a dime before the caller and then resumed his editing.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Realistic by Far.

"This story won't do at all," said the publisher to the ambitious writer. "The detective chases a man all over the world and never catches him."

"Well, you see, it's a realistic story," explained the writer. But the explanation was unsatisfactory.—Detroit Free Press.

Movable Festival.

Next Door Neighbor—Your birthday anniversary is on the same day as your husband's? That is quite a coincidence.

Mrs. Pneer—Yes; he changed the date of mine so they would both come together. He says it comes cheaper. The same present does for both.—Chicago Tribune.

Diversions of the Ancients.

"Acantha, my pet," said Apollo, passing his hand lovingly through her tresses, "why does the chariot of the sun move so swiftly when I am with thee?"

"I am not good at conundrums, O Apollo," answered the nymph, "but I think it is because its motor is of such a tremendously high candle power."

For which light and flippant reply Apollo immediately changed her into an herb.—Chicago Tribune.

DAVIES IN OFFICE AND OUT.

Minister of Marine Had a Hard Time With His Estimates.

Sharp Criticism of His Methods by Hon. Geo. E. Foster—The "Purchase" System of the Liberal Government at Ottawa in the Maritime Provinces—How Liberal M. P. P.'s Are Retained by the Liberal Federal Government.

Ottawa, May 26.—The bakers' dozen members who were stranded in the Capital yesterday spent a nice quiet day in the House tinkering with the estimates and two or three Government bills. Mr. Fielding and Sir Louis Davies did most of the talking, the former describing in detail his bill in regard to placing Canadian securities on the trustee list of Great Britain and the latter making a rather dismal attempt to justify the administration of the Fisheries Department in the Maritime Provinces.

Hon. Dr. Borden opened the program in the House by introducing his bill to incorporate the Dominion Rifle Association.

Hon. Mr. Fielding's Bank Act was read a second time and referred without discussion to the Committee on Banking and Commerce.

Canada's Subscribed Stock.

The Government bill respecting the inscribed stock of Canada in the United Kingdom was explained by the Hon. Mr. Fielding, who briefly described the history of the negotiations between the Canadian and the Imperial Governments leading up to the placing of Canadian bonds on the British Trustee list. In 1889 the question was considered by a committee, composed of representatives of the colonies, the Imperial Treasury Board and the Bank of England. On this committee Sir Charles Tupper represented Canada. Although the committee reported favorably on the scheme the Imperial Government decided that the time was not favorable for bringing in a bill giving effect to the committee's report. After that nothing material was done until last year, when the Canadian Government considered the time favorable for the renewal of the negotiations, and representations were made to the Imperial authorities suggesting that the securities of all the colonies, but more especially that of Canada, should be placed on the British Trustee list. Mr. Chamberlain replied favorably and named the conditions necessary to the carrying out of the Government's proposals.

The Conditions Named.

These conditions were that the Canadian Government should provide for the inspection and inscription of the stock; that financial agents of the Government should be appointed to pay dividends and interest and to withhold all moneys affected by judgments in the English courts; and that any legislation prejudicial to stockholders passed by the Canadian Government could be disallowed by the Imperial Government. These conditions Mr. Fielding considered fair and reasonable, and the present bill, he explained, simply gave effect to them. The provisions of the bill were in the main namely of a formal nature.

Sir Charles Endorsed It.

Sir Charles Tupper heartily endorsed the bill, which marked the consummation of the efforts of ten years past. He briefly told of the previous attempt that had been made by all the colonies in 1889 to secure the same privileges which the Imperial Government had now granted to Canada. At that time their efforts had been almost successful, and the Imperial Government was on the point of making the desired concessions when an unfortunate financial depression in the Australian colonies caused the bill to be laid over.

Mr. Fielding's bill was then given its second and third readings without further discussion.

The Apple Barrel Bill.

Sir Henry Joly's apple barrel bill was up in committee for discussion. He explained to the House that if the standard size of Canadian apple barrels was reduced from 112 quarts, as at present, to 96 quarts, which is now the standard size of the Nova Scotia and United States barrel, the business of Canadian apple exporters would be much more profitable. The American exporters of apples received in England as much for a 96 quart barrel of apples as the Canadian exporters received for a 112-quart barrel, which was not right. Sir Henri wanted the American apple barrel adopted as the Canadian standard, and suggested that all apples at present in use which did not meet the new standard be marked either "Large" or "Small" as the occasion required.

Mr. Taylor objected to the bill on the ground that apple barrel owners in Ontario who now had 112 quart barrels, would have to go to the expense of buying an entirely new stock in trade.

Mr. Clancy proposed that the bill apply [illegible] intended for export only. This would obviate to some extent the difficulty pointed out by Mr. Taylor.

After considerable discussion, Sir Henri agreed to let the bill stand over until he considered the advisability of adopting Mr. Clancy's proposal.

In Supply.

The House then went into Committee of Supply.

Sir Louis Davies asked for an appropriation of $25,000 to establish bait freezers in the Maritime Provinces. These bait freezers are intended to provide for the eastern fishermen a system of cold storage for bait.

There was a lengthy discussion on the item, which had not been passed at 6 o'clock, when the committee rose.

After recess the committee resumed consideration of the same item.

Mr. Foster charged that Sir Louis Davies had not kept faith with the House. Last year he had made a definite Ministerial promise that the work would be carried on by his own departmental officials. Now it appeared that he had taken into the Federal service one of the Liberal mainstays in Nova Scotia, who was a member of the Local House.

Sir Louis' New Role.

Sir Louis Davies replied that he had appointed Dr. Kendal as the best man for the position.

Mr. Foster asked if the Government approved of the policy of employing in the Federal service members of local legislatures.

Sir Louis Davies replied that the Government's policy must be judged by its action.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier added that the present was not a good time to discuss that question.

Sir Louis stated further that he had never had anything to do with Mr. Pineau of Prince Edward Island. The charge made against him in that connection was without the shadow of a foundation.

Mr. Foster returned to the charge by saying that Sir Louis had gone down to the Province of Prince Edward Island and had used his position as a Federal Minister to intimidate the people by threatening to withhold a Government vote of $200,000 unless Liberal candidates were elected.

The item was finally passed, after nearly three hours' discussion.

Inland Revenue Supplies.

The Inland Revenue supplies were taken up next. An item of $38,000 for salaries, etc., went through without opposition, as did also an item of $6,250 for sundries. On the item of $13,000 for preventive service Sir Henri Joly stated that tobacco smuggling was on the decrease, although there was still considerable smuggling going on. In all, $450,000 was voted to run the Excise Department for next year.

Further items voted for Sir Henri Joly's Department were $18,500 for culling timber and $97,000 for weights and measures, after a half hour address from Sir Henri on the metrical system.

The estimates for the Department of Inland Revenue were all passed and the House made a start on the customs estimates before adjournment. The House adjourned at 12.20.

NEWS NOTES.

The earnings of the C.P.R. for the traffic week ending May 21, were $594,000. For the same week last year the earnings were $529,000.

The body of Neil McKillop was found in the Assinaboine River, Man., on Friday. He went there from Ingersoll, Ont., and the police think, as the man was a drinking man, that it was a case of suicide.

S. B. Coleman went up the river at Oxford Mills fishing on Queen's Birthday. When he did not return for supper his wife became anxious, and a searching party was organized. The boat was found upside down, with the paddles floating near by. The body was not found until Friday morning.

The Boer envoys in the United States have issued a notice from Washington that they will visit Baltimore, Providence, Philadelphia and Boston within a week, and that if possible they will extend their stay to visit other cities that have expressed a wish to have them. Afterwards they return home via Europe.

At midnight on Wednesday fire broke out in the residence of Elisha Newton, Arden, near Kingston. The house was totally destroyed, and two children, aged 6 and 8, were burned to death. Both were girls. The rest of the family barely escaped with their lives. Mr. Newton, a driver on the Rathbun Company's logs, was away at the time.

Burned a British Flag.

Nyack, N.Y., May 26. — Robert Sneden of Monsey, an Englishman by birth, raised a British flag over his house Thursday to celebrate the Queen's Birthday. Several neighbors came on the premises and ordered the flag taken down. Mr. Sneden refused, when one of the men held him while the others climbed upon the house, tore down the flag and burned it. Mr Sneden says he will take legal proceedings to have the offenders punished.

Prohibition in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, May 26. — W. W. Buchanan, who has been representing the Dominion Alliance in the organization of the province for the issue of provincial prohibition, returned on Thursday from the trip over the northwestern section. He held meetings in each riding as far west as Birtle, and reports the organization of the electoral divisions to be most complete.

NOMINATION DAY.

The British Columbia Election Campaign Is Now at Red Heat.

Vancouver, May 26. — This is nomination day. The whips have been busy preparing things. It is only a fortnight to the elections, and feeling is running high. Camping literature begins to flood the country. Some is particularly violent against the Government. Martin is in splendid health and full of defiance, eagerly looking forward to the coming battle.

A Great Array of Factions.

The parties' factions now in the field are as follows: Government (Liberal), Straight Conservatives, Straight Labor, Independent Opposition, Labor, Socialist Labor, Provincial Party, Independent Liberal, Independent Conservative.

Canadian Pavilion at Paris.

Paris, May 26. — Canada's pavilion at the Exposition was opened yesterday without ceremony. Throngs visited the fur section, and it was greatly admired. The Queen's Birthday was celebrated in the evening with a dinner, which proved to be most enthusiastic and patriotic. The British commission and the representatives from India and Australia joined in the celebration. Canadian Commissioners Scott and Goudreau were congratulated on the excellent arrangements of the different sections of the Canadian pavilion.

GLEN EDEN REJOICES

Over the Recovery of Mr. James Paddon of Mt. Forest.

His Case was a Severe One of Kidney Disease Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him Thoroughly — Glen Eden People Rely on Dodd's Kidney Pills and their Faith is Justified.

Glen Eden, May 25.—The report of the recovery of Mr. Jas. Paddon, of Mt. Forest, from a severe attack of Kidney Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has caused great rejoicing here, where Mr. Paddon is well known.

Mr. Paddon's case was a very severe one. It was well known that he was a constant sufferer, and he had the sympathy of all his friends. Consequently it gives unbounded pleasure to all to know that he has at last conquered his bitter enemy.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that the people of this district will use for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Paralysis, Heart Failure, Urinary Diseases, Blood Impurities, and all other forms of Kidney Disease. They have cured hundreds of cases of these complaints in this neighborhood, and the people have the fullest confidence in the medicine.

There is only one way of curing Kidney Diseases. That is by curing the Kidneys. The only way of doing this is by using Dodd's Kidney Pills. They set the Kidneys in proper condition, thus ensuring a supply of pure, fresh blood and thoroughly healthy organs.

Safe of Secrecy.

"Why was it," they asked, "that you went back on your determination to be married by a woman preacher?"

The bride whose clandestine marriage had just been announced looked surprised.

"Dear me!" she exclaimed. "Wasn't it an elopement, and didn't we want our wedding to be a secret?"—Chicago Post.

Frank Criticism.

Pennington—Two of my latest poems appeared in the last issue of Duffey's Magazine.

Inkerly—Yes; I noticed them.

Pennington—And what did you think of them?

Inkerly—Well, to be candid, I thought the first awfully simple and the second simply awful.—Chicago News.

Half Crazy With Piles.

Mr. Isaac Foster, Erie View, Norfolk Co., Ontario, writes:—"I was troubled with itching piles for about two years and could not sleep at nights. In fact I was half crazy from the terrible itching. Reading about Dr. Chase's Ointment I purchased a box. After the second application I experienced relief and one box cured me thoroughly and permanently and that was two years ago." TAKING THE REINS.

Up to the close of 1899 15,827 trotters had taken standard records.

Letcher, 2:18¼, now in training at Jewettville, is considered a sure 2:10 candidate.

Clipper, 2:09¾, is showing well on the Pleasanton track and is put down for a 2:05 record.

Topic, 2:24¼, owned by Joe Coverdale of Elk Point, S. D., has taken to pacing and goes very fast.

Honor Bright, 2:28½, that swept everything on the New York Speedway on April 1, was sold for $85 as a 2-year-old.

Belmont (Philadelphia) horsemen are agitating a series of intercity races with Baltimore and New York road drivers, cups to be the prizes.

Lady Reel, dam of Hamburg, has foaled in England a bay colt by St. Simon. Lady Reel cost Marcus Daly $15,000, and she was sent to England 18 months ago. Mr. Daly paid $51,000 for Hamburg.

The veteran trainer, Charles Marvin, rises at 4:30 in the morning, takes a cold bath before breakfast, works like a Trojan with his horses all day and spends an hour in the evening before retiring with the dumbbells and punching bag.

Peter V. Johnston, Kalamazoo, Mich., has sold the gray trotting mare Abby Kelly, 2:25, by Pilot Medium, dam Alice M (dam of Aidene, 2:23), by France, 2:26¼, to Dave G. McDonald, Pittsburg. She has been miles in 2:15 and is sound, handsome and good headed.

Do You Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning; months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve force, and building up the system.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Poultry pays well in orchards.

Large hens are best in orchards.

Sit hens in a place by themselves.

A red head in a fowl denotes health.

Lice will gather in the nests, if anywhere.

The eggs in an incubator should be aired daily.

The eggs from overfat hens rarely hatch well.

Two-year-old hens lay the best eggs for hatching.

The guinea fowl is a great forager and destroys many insects that hens will not touch.

A hen that will sometimes refuse to eat bonemeal will readily eat broken bones.

A growing chicken is not easily made fat, and hence good feeding is necessary to fatten.

The time of hatching more than the breed regulates laying. Early hatched pullets make good winter layers.

One-half the chickens and turkeys hatched under hens die from lice, hence care must be taken to keep the nests and the hens as free from these pests as possible and then watch the chicks.—St. Louis Republic.

Without a Doctor's Examination

You can find out if the kidneys are clogged, deranged and diseased. Have you backache or a weak, lame back? Do you have pain or difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate? Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for 24 hours? If you have any of these symptoms not a moment should be lost in obtaining Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the world's greatest kidney cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

La Grippe Has Made Them so—But Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Will Bring Joy and Health.

La Grippe has left many a heart weak and diseased. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, because of its great merit as heart remedy, the magical quickness in in giving relief, and the almost incredible cures it performs, is snatching from death's door many who had been given over as hopeless cases. It's a wonder worker; it's a specific for all heart derangements, and no matter how acute or seemingly hopeless, will give relief inside of 30 minutes. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT.

WHEELING

One fact brought to notice on the 24th of May was the very large number of bicycles in use in town. As one observer put it—the place seemed infested with them. Another fact noticed was the large number of young girls who are riding with what is known as too long a reach, that is with the saddle so high that the foot has to be stretched almost upright in order that the rider keep hold of the pedals. This habit is one easily acquired, but none the less bad. The saddle should never be placed higher than than the rider, when comfortable seated may touch the pedal easily with the heel of the boot. In fact the heel should be placed on the pedal rather [illegible]. Parents should see that their daughters are properly seated.

St. John's Choir.

After the practice last night the choir boys of St. John's were addressed by the Rector who made several interesting announcements. In future a small present will be given to each boy whose conduct is satisfactory at the end of every month by the Wardens on behalf of the congregation.

Punctual attendance at services and practices will henceforth be absolutely insisted on under penalty of dismissal.

Mr. C. J. Rogers, the talented choir master, will put the boys through a course of training in voice culture, and it is expected that the singing will be greatly improved. There are now two vacancies to be filled after which no boy will be allowed to enter until a vacancy occurs. A prettily bound souvenir book was presented to each boy last night suitably inscribed.

Walter Phelan and Governor Roosevelt

Toronto Telegram:—Walter Phelan, the well-known hockey and lacrosse player of Peterborough, took a trip to New York the other day. While walking down Broadway, who should he meet but Governor Teddy Roosevelt, who, as soon as he got a peek at Canada's Francis Train, stopped his carriage by the kerb stone. "I may be wrong," said the Governor, "but you look uncommonly like one of my rough riders." "What made you think so, Governor?" said Phelan. "Well, because you look up at the high buildings while walking the streets, for that is now the pastime of my rough riders, who used to look to the tall timbers for shots from the Cuban insurgents. Besides you walk as if you had Charley horse, and evidence that you were at one time in action." "You're wrong, Governor," replied the Peterboroite, "It was the other fellow who was in action. You see, while holding the colonel's horse at Niagara camp last summer he—the horse—backed off with his left hind foot and landed me one. You can talk about the glories of the battlefield and tenting on the old camp ground, but the featherbed for mine, it's got them all skinned to death."

Every Day in the Year.

The Young Men's Christian Association has something to offer every day in the year for the benefit of its members. Its privileges meet the needs of all and keep pace with every season. A membership ticket is as valuable for the summer as for the winter. The programme for out door recreation this year is most attractive. The football club has been practicing for several weeks. The members will be glad to welcome new players. The Tennis courts are rapidly being put in shape, a fence is being erected and quite soon the grounds on the south side of the building will present a lively scene. It is expected that out door athletics, quoits, etc., will be added to the programme. The rush for the baths has begun and the accommodations will satisfy every one. Wheelmen especially will find the bath room a welcome and refreshing place after a dusty spin. The dark room for amateur photography on the third floor is also a first class summer feature for those interested in this art. The cost is within reach of all. Limited membership $3.00, includes the baths, in fact all except the physical and out door privileges. Full membership is $5.00. Special arrangements for young men under 18. Fees are payable in instalments if desired. If you are not a member you should join at once.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of Philadelphia, Pa., when Dr. King's New Discovery cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. She says:—"After all other remedies and doctors failed, it soon removed the pain in my chest, and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the universe." Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed to cure all troubles of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. Lynch's drug store.

A PLEASANT DAY AT LAKEFIELD.

duced was Mr. Ozias Laplante, Peterborough's latest acquisition to the legal profession. Mr. Laplante gives much promise of being a brilliant speaker, and his maiden speech was warmly applauded. Though French by birth, he is British in sympathy, and he denounced in no unsound terms, the bigotry and narrow-mindedness of those who attempt to stir up hostile feelings among the races which form the population of our young country. He also referred to the pleasure it gave him to be present at Father Fitzpatrick's picnic, as it served to recall the five happy years he spent in Ottawa College, as pupil under Father Fitzpatrick's advice and tuition.

Rev. Father McGuire, of Hastings, was next called upon, and the ovation he received, when he ascended the platform told plainly the anxiety of those present to hear him. For upwards of twenty minutes he kept the audience in a constant uproar. Many came to the picnic for no other purpose than to hear and see Father McGuire, and they all went away saying, "I am going to Muskoka with the Hastings C.O.F., June 14th, 1900."

Mr. D. O'Connell, of Peterborough, made a very able and patriotic speech on "The Day we Celebrate." He was proud of his nationality, proud of the undaunted valor of his countrymen on the Aftican veldt, but regretted the harsh and unjust treatment meeted out to Irishmen at home. Ireland had proved herself, England's truest and best friend on every well fought field, and the speaker thought it high time, that she should receive a more adequate reward than that which has in the past been accorded her.

The speaking was brought to a close, by Father Fitzpatrick, who in his own name in the name of his parishoners thanked the people from Peterborough, Hastings, Douro and Ennismore, who so kindly came so far, and at great inconvenience, to be present at the picnic. He thanked his many Protestant friends both of Lakefield and Peterborough who had done so much year after year to make his picnic a success.

The following clergymen were present, and helped on the picnic in no small measure:—Rev. D. O'Connell, of Peterborough; Rev. A. Waechter, C.R., of St. Jerome's College, Berlin; Rev. J. O'Sullivan and Dr. O'Brien, of the Cathedral; Rev. P. J. McGuire, of Hastings; Rev. W. J. McColl, of Ennismore; and Rev. J. Phelan, of Lindsay. The ticket contest will be decided next week.

Just Getting Warm.

An East Indian prince, on his first visit to this country, suffered so continuously from cold that he contracted pneumonia and died.

He was cremated, and, after being some ten minutes in the crematory, an attendant opened a small slide in the side of the furnace to note the result. The prince was sitting bolt upright on the slab and shouted, "Shut that door!"—Life.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilitites.

REPORT SAYS FRENCH IS IN JOHANNESBURG

And War Office Would not be Surprised if the Cavalry has Reached There--Roberts Will cut off the Railroad to Laing's Nek and This will Leave no Retreat for Boer Guns.

FRENCH REPORTED TO HAVE ENTERED JOHANNESBURG

Cape Town, May 28.—It is rumored here that General French has entered Johannesburg.

BRITISH OCCUPY SENEKEL

Senekel, Sunday, May 27.—General Rundle with artillery, the Yeomanry and the Wilts, the Middlesex and Leicester regiments under Major Dalbiac has occupied Senekel, whence the Boers were driven by a few shells. A field cornet and a number of other Boers were killed. The British casualties number 11. The Boers are believed to be concentrating near Bethlehem.

SUPPLIES AND RECRUITS FROM LORENZO MARQUES

London, May 28.—Advices received here assert that supplies continue to go the Boers from Lorenzo Marques and that foreign recruits for the Boer army are proceeding from the same point.

ROBERTS WILL CUT OFF RETREAT BY RAILROAD

London, May 28.—A despatch from Mafeking, dated May 23, says the total casualties since the commencement of the seige were 603. Among the white combatants, out of 44 officers 22 were killed, wounded or missing, and 190 men out of 975 were killed, wounded or missing. If no stand is made at Klip river, the safety of the Boer guns at Laing's Nek will be seriously imperilled, for there will be nothing to prevent Lord Roberts from seizing the Johannesburg Laing's Nek railroad. Indeed, it is already reported that the railroad has been cut. Lord Roberts may be forced to halt at the Vaal river to repair the bridge and get his guns and transports across, but the mounted men will not be delayed, and it is said in high quarters that the speedy announcement of the arrival of the British cavalry at Johannesburg will not surprise the war department.

How Gas Eats Up Air.

A significant hint in behalf of the use of lamps is found in the fact that in florists' greenhouses they are used exclusively. Gas is deadly to plant life, while burning kerosene is not. Where one is boarding and must sleep in the same room in which one sits during the evening a lamp should invariably be used. The same rule holds good for the family sitting room and for the rooms in which children are studying.

An experiment involuntarily tried by a mother recently demonstrated the effect of the ordinary illuminating gas on the air of an apartment. In a hall bedroom a single jet was left burning unnoticed for an hour or more, the door and window being shut. When the room was entered suddenly, the air, or want of it, was so overpowering that the person recoiled and could not cross the room either to open the window or put the gas out until the door had been left open for a minute or two.

All Talkers.

There is one small girl in Washington who has a poor opinion of women's conventions and congresses. She is but 10 and a decade later may change her mind. Her mamma was relating an incident of a recent woman's convention.

"The chair," she said, "had no remarks to make. Enough had already been said by the floor."

Right here the little miss broke in with, "Mercy me, mamma! Do the chairs and floor talk, too, down there?"

And the husband and father is laughing yet.—New York Mail and Express.

A Pocket Symphony.

"My piano is very much like my trousers pockets. When my wife goes into them, she often finds nothing but keys and then there is music."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Big Blaze in Montreal.

Montreal, May 28. — The Montreal firemen never had a harder job than they encountered early yesterday morning. It was a fierce fire in the big warehouse of Tellier, Rothwell & Company, chemical manufacturers, on St. Dizlen street. The four-story building was ablaze from basement to roof when the firemen arrived. Its destruction with its contents was a foregone conclusion, and it appeared to the first spectators who arrived that the adjoining buildings must go. The fire raged like a furnace and it appeared impossible to get near enough to fight it, but it was confined to the one warehouse, which was totally destroyed. The loss is about $30,000; covered by insurance.

Methodists Had Hot Time.

Chicago, May 28.—By a close vote, and after a debate which exceeded in bitterness anything yet heard during the session, the Methodist General Conference practically decided on Saturday to make no change in the attitude of the church in regard to card playing, dancing, theatre-going and other forms of amusement, which, since 1872, have been under the ban of the church.
